How Close Whirling Blades Came to Driver Andrew Bird

He Just Wanted to See 'Em Landing

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Seventy-year-old Andrew Bird, who just "wanted to watch the planes come in," had a brush with one of them while driving his car on the runway at Cleveland Hopkins Airport.

The aircraft, a huge four-engine Air Force Hercules C130A, whacked six neatly spaced gashes in the steel top of the car, inches above Bird's head.

Bird had arrived early to pick up his wife, Lida, who works for a catering firm. Instead of going to the airport parking lot he headed down a ramp leading to the field.

Apparently becoming confused, Bird drove the length of a 6,000-foot runway, only to find his way blocked by a fence.

"How do I get out of here?" he asked a startled guard in a shack.

"How did you get on it?" gasped the guard.

While the guard alerted the control tower, Bird was already on his way back along the runway, where the C130A had been warming up.

Bird explained later that he did not see the Air Force plane but had seen another plane coming in for a landing. Naturally, he stepped on the gas.

"My God, he's going to hit us!" cried Capt. William M. Bailey Jr. inside the plane.

Propeller tips ripped through the car, which continued on past the plane, turned around again and stopped near the C130A.

"I was afraid to look in the car," said Capt. Bailey, "for fear we'd find a decapitated body."

Bird, calm and uninjured, said it took him many minutes to realize what had happened.

Pending a detailed examination of the turbo-prop plane, Air Force officials said damage could run anywhere from $35,000 to $170,000.

Bird was released after a search of the city code turned up little that might pertain to driving on an airport runway.

2.6-Billion Housing Bill OKd

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Senate approved a Democratic-sponsored $2,675,000,000 six-year housing bill Thursday after making cuts totaling 250 million dollars as a concession to the economy pleas of President Eisenhower.

Despite the reductions, the bill totaled about a billion dollars more than the President requested for housing, slum clearance and related programs over periods of up to six years.

Final passage of the catch-all legislation by a 60-28 vote came at a night session climaxing two days of highly charged political debate on the housing issue.

The bill was approved after rejection of a last-ditch attempt by Sens. A. S. Mike Monroney (D., Okla.) Albert Gore (D., Tenn.) and other Democrats to eliminate a provision to raise the maximum interest rate on housing loans to veterans from 4¾ to 5¼ per cent.

Monroney said the higher rate would add $6.10 a month to the cost of buying a $13,000 house on a 30-year mortgage. But Monroney's proposal to freeze the rate at its present level was rejected by a vote of 58 to 27.

The bill goes to the House, which approved a single-shot measure Wednesday to increase the GI interest rate and to provide 300 million dollars for government loans to veterans in rural areas where private home financing is scarce.

In an economy move, the Senate chopped 150 million dollars from the direct GI mortgage loan program and another 100 million from loan authorizations for college housing.

As originally approved by the Banking Committee, the bill would have called for a six-year outlay of $2,925,000,000.

But the Senate went along with a request by liberal Democrats to boost from 350 to 500 million dollars the annual rate at which slum clearance grants would be parcelled out to states and cities.

There would be a six-year ceiling of $2,100,000,000, which is 750 million dollars more than the President requested. The President also asked for 100 million more for the program in this fiscal year in his original request.

Of Plot to Kill Castro

Nye Repudiates His 'Confession'

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

Alan Robert Nye, the "gentleman soldier" from Miami who was linked Thursday to a plot to assassinate Fidel Castro, reportedly denied making the "confession" attributed to him by the Cuban government.

National police in Havana announced that Nye, formerly of 107 Calabria Ave., Coral Gables, admitted Fulgencio Batista's forces promised him $100,000 if he killed Castro.

But correspondents of United Press International traced the lantern-jawed, mustachioed soldier -of-fortune to Camp Liberty outside of Havana, where he was taken by Cuban authorities after being held incommunicado Thursday.

He was quoted as labeling the confession as "spurious."

Nye, described as "a personable fellow, the type elderly ladies dote on," also had denied earlier from a Havana prison cell any implication in the plot.

In Washington an official of the State Department told The Herald by telephone:

"We have received no confirmation of an alleged confession. Consular officials in Havana are now looking into it."

He added that the State Department is in touch with Nye "to see that he is treated fairly."

According to Cuban police, the Batista plotters contacted Nye through Daniel Vasquez, a Cuban refugee who lives at 727 E. DiLido Dr., Miami Beach.

Vasquez and his wife, Marisol Alba, called the "Mata Hari of Cuba," rank high on the revolutionary government's list of traitors.

In Miami, neighbors and acquaintances of Nye offered their opinions of his personality.

Mrs. L. L. Gardner, who lived next door to him, called him "a perfect gentleman . . . a nice personality; he didn't seem to be that type of fellow."

She said he was frequently visited by Cuban friends.

Mrs. Paul Mickler, who lives in the same apartment where Nye lived, declared:

"I can't believe it. He didn't look very strong for that sort of thing."

Officials of Nye's former employer, the American Airmotive Corp., said he was dismissed from the firm last October after working there 10 months.

Reported an executive:

"He was just another aircraft salesman that come and go. He left here with mutual consent. We were dissatisfied with his work and he seemed unhappy, like he wanted something of a bigger scope."

He added that Nye frequently made trips to Latin American countries for the air cargo company.

Tall, slender and blond, Nye was reported to be a talented painter and pianist.

Havana police gave his age as 31. Neighbors in Coral Gables, however, said he told them he was 40.

In Whiting, Ind., his mother, Mrs. Helen Lynch, said, "I'm positive my son is innocent."

Her attorney, Joseph Sullivan, told newsmen:

"He looks like a kid who would carry a candle in a church procession. He was a gangling, skinny kid, mild-mannered and quiet-spoken."

FBI Hunts Milkman, Girl, 14

MADISON TOWNSHIP, N.J. —(AP)—The FBI has been called in to help locate a 38-year-old milkman who is believed to have run off with the 14-year-old daughter of a friend, state police said.

They said Ernest Corrao, father of three, disappeared Jan. 21 alone with Barbara Plaisted.

State police at the nearby New Brunswick Barracks called in the FBI after a 12-state police teletype alarm had failed to turn up any trace of the two.

They said Corrao and the girl are believed to have gone to either Arizona, California or Florida.

Corrao struck up a friendship with the blonde, blue-eyed girl during the eight-month period he delivered milk to her home, police said. The families have been friends for three years.

Frequently, police said, Corrao would drive Barbara and her nine-year-old sister, Sharon, to school.

On Jan. 21, according to the state police, he picked up the girls, dropped off Sharon and disappeared with Barbara.

Corrao has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. His wife has filed additional charges of desertion and non-support.

Lost Ship Clues Seen?

HALIFAX —(UPI)— An Air Force plane Thursday spotted what may be clues to the disappearance of the Danish ship Hanns Hedtoft which hit an iceberg Friday and disappeared with 95 persons aboard.

The plane said it spotted two objects and oil stains on ice about 50 miles east of Cape Farewell, Greenland. One of the objects was 10 by 30 feet. Another box-like object, possibly a hatch cover, was nearby.

The plane left the area due to the onset of Arctic darkness and a low fuel supply. The motor ship Umanak was dispatched to the scene to investigate the objects.

U.S. Cites Denial of Attack

Mikoyan Branded Liar About Plane

Come See Us, Nikita Invites Ike

President Mum For the Present

MOSCOW — (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Thursday publicly invited President Eisenhower to come to the Soviet Union, bring "anyone he likes" and go anywhere he wants.

(The White House had no immediate comment on the invitation. Press Secretary James Hagerty said no announcement will be made until the President receives the transcript of the invitation through regular channels.)

The invitation climaxed a long final speech to the 21st Congress of the Communist Party in which Khrushchev professed the Soviet Union wants nothing but to end the cold war and compete against the West on economic grounds, in peace.

But he remained adamant on two points which have been big stumbling blocks in East-West relations.

He said the Soviet Union will "never agree" to permit foreign inspectors on Soviet soil even though the U. S. and Britain are willing to accept them on their territory.

Secondly, he said Russia never will accept "liquidation" of Communist East Germany in any plan to reunite Germany.

It was announced in London and Moscow simultaneously a few hours after Khrushchev spoke that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will fly to Moscow Feb. 21 for talks on these and other cold war subjects.

Khrushchev decried the "discrimination" that keeps him from visiting the U. S. but he said he will not insist on going there in return for Eisenhower coming to Russia.

"Should the President decide to come to our country he would be met with sincere hospitality both by our government and the Soviet people," Khrushchev said.

"A visit of this kind would undoubtedly be useful to both countries and would meet with the approval of the peoples of the U. S. A. and the Soviet Union."

He said Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's trip to the U. S. in January "provided the reasons to hope for a further thaw in relations between our countries."

Khrushchev, who opened the congress of 1,296 voting delegates a week ago Tuesday with a six-hour speech, drew ovation after ovation with his closing speech Thursday.

The delegates voted unanimous approval of his report, his policies and of his seven-year design to catch up with the U. S. economically.

Khrushchev said Soviet claims to mass production of intercontinental ballistic missiles are "not just rhetoric."

But he insisted this is just stating the facts, not making a threat, and that the Soviet Union wants an end to the cold war.

Addressing a remark to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, he said, "We are even prepared to admit your victory in this war that is unwanted by the peoples . . . but end it quickly."

Debbie Reynolds Enters Hospital

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Actress Debbie Reynolds was hospitalized Thursday for treatment of a potentially serious blood clot in her left knee, a spokesman for 20th Century Fox studios disclosed.

Miss Reynolds, whose suit for divorce from husband Eddie Fisher goes to court Feb. 17, was told she must remain in the hospital for at least three days. She dislocated the knee last Monday when she stepped on a cable while rehearsing an intricate dance step.

'I'll Finish Him,' Said Soviet Pilot To His Partners

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The tape recording of radio conversations between the Soviet fighter pilots, accused of shooting down an unarmed U.S. transport plane, was filled with chit-chat about altitudes and positions. But the key portions dwelt on an attack.

They went like this:

"582, I see the target, to the right.

"I see the target, a large one . . .

"I am 201, I see the target, attack!
"I am 201, I am attacking the target . . .

"Attack, attack, 218, attack . . .

"The target is a transport, four-engined . . .
"Roger. 201, I am attacking the target . . .
"The target is burning.
"There's a hit . . .
"The target is burning, 582 . . .
"The target is banking . . .

"Open fire . . .

"218, are you attacking?
"Yes, yes . . .
"The target is burning . . .

"The tail assembly is falling off the target . . .

"Look!
"Oh?

"Look at him, he will not get away, he is already falling.

"Yes, he is falling, I will finish him off, boys, I will finish him off on the run.

"The target has lost control, it is going down . . .

"The target is falling . . .

"Yes . . . form up, go home.

"After my third pass, the target started burning . . .

"Well, let's form up, follow. Let's go . . ."

From study of the recorded conversations, Pentagon and State Department experts concluded that five Soviet jet fighters "scrambled" aloft to attack the U. S. transport and that four made passes at it. The fifth apparently arrived too late to take part in the attack.

From the recording, the Soviet aircraft numbers were 577, 582, 583, 201, and 218.

It appeared that 577 was a late arrival. At one point the transcript records a message to 577 to this effect: "Go home, why are you fooling around there some place."

Happiest Tax Form Filler-Outer in U.S.
. . . gleeful Mark Perks, held by mother

He Comes Out Ahead On the Income Tax

DETROIT —(AP)— Just because you're only nine months old don't think you can flee the country and avoid paying income tax.

Ask little Mark Perks. He was nabbed by the Internal Revenue Service on the eve of his departure for England.

But the agents let him go without paying a cent. He even came out 25 cents to the good.

Mark accompanied his mother, Mrs. Phyllis Jean Perks, to the Federal Building. Mrs. Perks, an American by birth, is leaving Detroit to return to England to live. Her husband, Peter, a British engineer, already is working in Birmingham.

Mrs. Perks was told that as a U.S. citizen she needed no tax clearance.

But, said the agents, Mark does. He is a British citizen.

So a form was duly filled out. After studying the situation, the agent waived the signature, patted Mark on the head and gave him a quarter.

Mark left, clutching the quarter, his passport — and his income tax clearance.

Tape Tells Story of Shooting

Khrushchev Aide Stuck to Disclaimer

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The U.S. offered dramatic proof Thursday that Russian fighter planes deliberately shot down an unarmed American transport plane last September. It practically accused Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan of lying about the incident.

Seventeen Americans were aboard the four-engine transport. Russia returned only six bodies, saying it had no information about the 11 other men aboard.

The State Department to back up its charges, released a transcript of what it said was an intercepted radio conversation among Soviet fighter pilots who attacked the C130 transport over Soviet Armenia near the Russian-Turkish border Sept. 2.

The English translation quoted the Red pilots as saying:

"I am attacking the target . . . There's a hit . . . The target is falling . . . The tail assembly is falling off . . . He will not get away, he is already falling . . . I will finish him off boys."

Four of the six bodies returned by the Russians were identified. The other two, whose identities still are not known, will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery here today with full military honors.

The State Department did not say how it intercepted the radio conversation among the Soviet pilots.

The Soviet government has insisted the American plane crashed and burned after it was intercepted and taken under escort by the Russian fighters. It flatly denied the transport was fired upon.

State Department documents released with the transcript showed that Mikoyan stuck to this story during his visit to the U.S. last month. When he was questioned about the incident by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Jan. 16, the documents said, Mikoyan "denied the plane had been shot down, asserting that it had crashed."

The department said Mikoyan "expressed the Soviet government's lack of understanding and irritation over the U.S. government's insistence concerning this case."

The department also quoted Mikoyan as telling Vice President Richard M. Nixon Jan. 7 that "the Soviet government had given all the information it had" on the plane.

He also told Nixon, the department said, that "there was no sense in their (the Russians') trying to hide anything and (that he) wondered why the Americans were so suspicious about this."

The department's documents showed that Mikoyan's statements came about two

Ike Asks for U.S. Laws Against Segregation Mobs

Submits Program For Civil Rights

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower asked a divided Congress Thursday to make it a federal crime to use force or mob violence to block racial integration of schools under court orders.

The President also asked the legislators to strengthen the FBI's hand in dealing with school and church bombing cases and to authorize federal funds and advice to help states make the change to desegregated schools.

These were key proposals in a seven-point civil rights program submitted to Congress in a brief, special message. The Justice, Welfare and Labor Departments immediately followed through with the dispatch of seven bills to the capitol.

This is what the program would do:

1. Make it a federal crime to use force or threats of force to obstruct court orders in school desegregation cases. The punishment would be up to two years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Eisenhower said this would plug a gap in present law and provide "a valuable enforcement power on which the government could rely to deter mob violence and such other acts of violence or threats."

2. Make it a federal offense — with a maximum penalty of $5,000 fine and five years imprisonment — for anyone who bombs or tries to bomb schools, churches or similar institutions to flee across state lines. This would open the way for the FBI to step in.

3. Provide financial and technical help to make it easier for states and communities to make the changeover from segregated to integrated schools. The cost for the next two fiscal years is estimated at $4,895,000. The bulk of the money would have to be matched by the states. Grants would pay for extra professional people — supervisers and administrators, but no teachers.

4. Let the government educate children of military personnel who had been attending public schools that were closed in integration disputes. The government would be able to take over schools built with the aid of federal funds, although it would pay rental on them.

5. Require preservation of federal election records and authorize the Justice Department to inspect them. Eisenhower said a gap in the 1957 civil rights law, designed to safeguard voting privileges, needs to be plugged because some state and local authorities have refused to allow inspection of voting records.

6. Give a basis of law rather than presidential executive order to a government committee which polices non-discrimination clauses in government contracts. The committee, now headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, would become a commission with somewhat broader powers, such as authority to hold hearings.

7. Continue the Civil Rights Commission for two years beyond its September expiration date.

Reaction was cut to a familiar pattern — the Eisenhower civil rights program either goes too far or not far enough, depending on whether a Southern segregationist or a Northern liberal is talking. And then there are the in-betweens, largely staunch administration supporters from GOP ranks, who said it was just right.

Southerners called the program offensive, a form of bribery and an intrusion into a field where the federal government has no business. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), a leader of Senate Southerners, said Eisenhower offers political legislation.

He predicted significantly that "a vigorous effort will be made to amend any civil rights bill that reaches the floor with punitive provisions requesting that the South be patrolled, policed and punished."

From the opposite camp, Chairman Emanuel Celler (D., N.Y.), of the House Judiciary Committee, commented:

"An empty gesture so far as the schools are concerned. It provides a snail's pace for enforcement."

Various Republicans called the program temperate and moderate, as Eisenhower himself did in advance of its submission.

From State Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas came assurances the Eisenhower suggestions "will be considered on their merits by fair-minded men seeking to resolve — rather than sharpen — the conflicts within our country."

Fans Rush Diana Dors At Funeral

LONDON — (UPI) — The funeral of Dennis Hamilton, estranged husband of Actress Diana Dors, was turned into bedlam by fans who crawled over church pews and demanded autographs from the mourning film star.

Four photographers who entered St. James Roman Catholic Church while a requiem mass was being said were ordered out. They took flash pictures of Miss Dors as she knelt praying and sobbing.

When the mass was over, Miss Dors tried to leave the church, but scores of women, many of them clutching children, jostled around and poked autograph books and pencils at her. One woman grabbed Miss Dors by the arm.

Miss Dors attended the funeral mass alone. She wore a mink coat, black scarf and dark glasses. She sat opposite Hamilton's family.

Hamilton, 34, died Saturday of a heart ailment. Miss Dors, separated from him for more than a year, was in the U.S. at the time.

Offers Reward in Case

Son Thinks His Dad Murdered in Miami

By ELVALEE SWIFT
Herald Staff Writer

A Connecticut man, convinced his wealthy father was murdered in Miami, offered $1,000 Thursday for any information leading to the arrest of the murderer.

The dead man, Henry Fabrizio, 69, a New York contractor, was found floating in the Miami River near the Flagler St. bridge Monday.

Detective D. E. Watkins of the Miami homicide department, said all evidence pointed to suicide.

"The man had $107 in his pocket, besides a savings account book worth $13,000," said Watkins, "and there wasn't a scratch on him. There was no motive."

He said Fabrizio's wife died two weeks earlier and that the contractor also had been in a hospital.

However, the man's son, Henry Fabrizio, Jr., Darien, Conn., said his father was in perfect health, not despondent and that $300 of his money was missing.

"Dad had a room at the Gibson Hotel," said the younger Fabrizio, "and usually ate in the M & M Cafeteria. He liked to go to Bayfront Park on Sundays to hear the concerts."

The elder Fabrizio had been coming to Miami for about eight years, said the son.

"We feel sure he was murdered," he said. "But the police seem to have written it off as suicide."

The police file on the case lists death by "accidental drowning."

Swift Virus Infection Fatal to Boy Scout

By RICK TUTTLE
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD—An 11-year-old sports-loving Boy Scout died at Memorial Hospital Wednesday of a deadly virus infection similar to the swift pneumonia attacks that claimed several lives here last year.

Michael A. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Phillips, 2515 Harding St., died three days after being admitted.

The disease is not contagious, a doctor said.

"The virus strikes so fast there was nothing we could do to save him," the boy's doctor said. "It is an overwhelming infection for which there is no cure as yet."

Dr. Jack Mickley, county medical examiner, said final reports on the case would not be ready for two days.

"I know the virus affected his brain and lungs," he said. "We have three or four cases similar to this every year."

"He was active in every kind of sport," Michael's father said. "A week before he got sick he was out with the Scouts," Phillips said. "It was cold and his feet got wet but it wasn't until last Friday that he complained of feeling sick."

The Phillips thought he had a cold.

House OKs Extension Of Draft

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House approved one of the key points in President Eisenhower's military program Thursday by overwhelmingly passing a bill to extend the draft for four years beyond June 30.

By voice vote, it sent the measure to the Senate after rejecting an attempt by Rep. Leonard G. Wolf (D., Iowa) and several other members to limit the extension to two years.

Wolf argued that a two-year extension would let Congress maintain its power over military conscription while it sought a way to maintain U.S. military strength without a draft.

Wolf's two-year amendment was opposed by Democratic and Republican House leaders alike. Democratic Leader John W. McCormack, (Massachusetts) said approval of the proposal would be viewed abroad as a sign of weakness on the part of the U.S.

Besides extending the draft for another four years, the measure would continue the authority of the armed forces to induct physicians and dentists and would extend the Dependents' Assistance Act for the same period.

U.S. Cites Transcript Of Attack

Charges Mikoyan With Lying

months after Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, gave Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov a full transcript of the intercepted radio conversation among the Russian pilots.

In addition to this transcript, the department Thursday handed newsmen photostats and translations of two articles — dated Sept. 19 and 10 — for "Soviet Aviation," official Russian air force newspaper.

The second described the "attack" on the "enemy" transport plane and identified four Russians who took part — Fighter Pilot Officers Lopatkov and Gavrilov and Senior Lieutenants Kucheryaev and Ivanov.

It also reported than an unidentified Soviet general met the pilots after the attack and "shook their hands warmly and thanked them for their successful execution of the mission."

The first article carried photographs of two Russian ground crew members shown "tracking the target" on what appeared to be a radar screen.

The department documents said that when Murphy insisted on Nov. 13 that Menshikov listen to a tape recording of the conversation among the Soviet fighter pilots, Menshikov refused.

He maintained "he was not competent to assess it from a technical point of view," the document said.

He still refused after Gen. Mikhail N. Kostiouk, Soviet air attache and an aviation expert, was invited to listen with him.

But finally, at Murphy's insistence, the department said, Menshikov accepted a transcript of the conversation in Russian and promised to send his government full details of Murphy's protest over the plane incident.

Murphy told Menshikov bluntly that Soviet fighters had shot down the American plane "without regard to the rules of civilized international practice," the department said.

Murphy also "emphasized that some or our men had been killed and that there were certain rules of conduct in the civilized world, and that the U. S. government hoped the desired information regarding the 11 missing men would be promptly forthcoming."

Reds Free U.S. Pilot, 4 Soldiers

HERLESHAUSEN, Germany — (AP) — Communist East Germany Thursday released U.S. Army Pilot Richard Mackin and four other American soldiers held in East Germany for several weeks.

Mackin, a 27-year-old lieutenant from Washington, D. C., parachuted into East Germany Dec. 3 after he got lost and his small plane ran out of gas.

The other four soldiers were Pvt. Elwyn Bell of Hill City, Kan., Specialist Kenneth G. Carlson of San Leandro, Calif., Pvt. James W. Hayes, of Baltimore, and Pvt. Melwyn Hampton.

The four disappeared in Berlin during November and December last year.

The release of the American soldiers was negotiated between the American Red Cross and the East German Red Cross, after the U.S. State Department stuck to its policy of refusing to negotiate with the East German regime.

North Miami Boss Fires 6 Patrolmen

North Miami City Manager Robert V. Youkey Thursday fired six North Miami police patrolmen and demoted three police sergeants in the renewal of a battle royal between a council majority and the police department.

Also fired was a woman clerk typist in the department and a woman traffic bureau employe was transferred to the city's public works department.

The Youkey order also had the effect of abolishing three patrolmen positions of officers who recently resigned — Richard Crume, George Frye and Ed Weirauch.

E. F. P. Brigham, attorney for the North Miami Police Benevolent Association, said he will go before the Third District Court of Appeals at 2 p.m. today in an attempt to delay Youkey's action until Circuit Judge Ray Pearson makes a final ruling in the dispute.

She Admits Plot to Kill Boss' Wife

Secretary Charged In 'Slay-Pay' Case

PHILADLEPHIA — (AP) — A tall, brunette private secretary was arrested Thursday for allegedly attempting to hire someone to murder her employer's wife.

Chief Inspector John J. Kelly said Miss Pauline Weiss, 48, admitted planning the death of Mrs. Muriel Griffin, 53, Devon, whose husband, Willard, is the manager of the R. L. Polk and Co. Inc., printers.

Miss Weiss was charged with solicitation to commit murder and attempt to commit murder.

Kelly said the investigation was started three weeks ago when a private citizen told police the secretary had asked his help in getting "someone to dispose of her boss' wife."

The informant, whose name was not disclosed, met the secretary several times, Kelly said, and told her it would cost $1,000 for the killing. Miss Weiss offered to pay $600, Kelly added.

Wednesday night the informant and Detective Peter Noga, a member of the burglary squad posing as the hired man, met with Miss Weiss. The inspector said Noga and Miss Weiss discussed methods of killing Mrs. Griffin. Kelly said the secretary gave Noga $75 as a down payment.

The warrant was obtained after that meeting.

Kelly said when Griffin was told of his secretary's plans he was "shocked and apparently unaware" of the alleged plot.

Dulles Flies To Paris For Talks

PARIS —(UPI)— U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew to Paris Thursday night for talks on the German issue with French President Charles de Gaulle and NATO Secretary-General Paul-Henri Spaak.

Dulles arrived from London on the second leg of his flying trip to European capitals to reinforce the Western alliance stand on Berlin and the overall German question.

He was fresh from two days of talks with British Prime Miister Harold Macmillan and foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. The London talks ended Thursday morning with a U.S.-British reaffirmation of their determination to stand firm against any Soviet threat and pressure to get them out of Berlin.

Dulles was greeted at Orly Airport by French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville. He declared in an airport statement that his talks today with De Gaulle and Spaak would be "an exchange of views on the important decisions we have to take."

He said the exchange was necessary "in order to ensure that we think on parallel lines."

UJA Meeting Opens at Beach

The National Inaugural Conference of the United Jewish Appeal opened Thursday at the Fontainebleau Hotel.

A dinner to start the 1959 national UJA campaign will be held Saturday to honor Abba Eban, Israel's ambassador to the U.S., and Jack Benny.

A few snow flurries continued over the Great Lakes region with the north central states mostly fair.

The northwest was cloudy with some rain over western Washington and snow over the higer elevations to the east. Mostly sunny skies and near normal temperatures prevailed over the southwest.

Except for occasional rain or showers in Southern Florida and diminishing snow over Southern Missouri fair to partly cloudy skies are expected to prevail over most of the Southern half of the country and northward over the Atlantic states.

Colder weather during the night from the Rockies to the Atlantic coast will maintain a cold pattern in the east on Friday while warming from the Pacific Northwest will reach portions of the Western plains.

Snow scattered over the northern and central rockies is expected to become locally heavy in the mountains of Montana.

Occasional rain in the Pacific Northwest should give way to showers, alternating with periods of sunshine, but light rain may dampen extreme northern California while flurries drift inland across portions of the Great Basin and northern plateau region.

Couple Offering Twins for Sale Granted Mercy

HOUSTON, Tex. — (AP) — A justice of the peace Thursday dismissed charges against a couple accused of selling their twin sons for $500.

"I have talked with these two people and I feel they need help instead of prosecution," District Attorney Dan Walton said in asking the dismissal.

At the same time, California authorities reported that the children involved legally were wards of the Riverside, Calif., Juvenile Court.

Officers charged Clark Dean Stillion and his British wife, Rosemarie, Wednesday with selling a minor child. A detective and a policewoman said they made a $300 down payment on the British-born twins, Thomas and George, while posing as a childless couple.

Walton said police files show the Stillions had contacted several charitable agencies in hopes of placing the twins in foster homes.

The twins are sons of Mrs. Stillion by a previous marriage. The Stillions also have two daughters, Nancy, four, and Tina, three.

U.S. Blamed For Crash Of Airliner

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Port of New York Authority Thursday blamed the federal government for stalling safety improvements at LaGuardia Field. An American Airlines plane crashed into the East River Tuesday night while approaching one of the airport's runways.

(A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Agency said in Washington an instrument landing system for Runway 22 at LaGuardia had been authorized and on order since July 1, 1957. It takes 18 months to two years to get the needed apparatus assembled, the spokesman said, adding that delivery had been promised for October, this year.)

The Port Authority, which operates LaGuardia, said it has been ready for three years to build a pier off Runway 22 to provide approach lights for aircraft. But a spokesman said federal approval of the project has been withheld.

"The entire responsibility for establishing navigation and safety aids rests with the Federal Aviation Agency," said the spokesman, who asked not to be identified.

Sixty-five persons, including the pilot and a stewardess, died when American's prop-jet Flight 320 — coming in from Chicago on instruments in fog and rain — undershot Runway 22 and smashed into the river. Three crew members and five passengers survived.

More broken debris of the new turbo-prop airliner was brought up during the day from the muddy depths of the river. Investigators sought from the wreckage to learn the cause of the crash.

Bar Group Offers Aid

The Dade County Bar Association voted Thursday to offer its services to Metro commissioners for the screening of prospective judicial appointees.

The Bar Association directors said they would stand ready to conduct a minute investigation into the background and qualifications of any candidate nominated by the commissioners.

The directors also voted unanimously to request the Florida Bar to set up a branch office in Miami. Approximately one-third of all the lawyers in Florida live here but headquarters is maintained only in Tallahassee.

Proposed Tough Traffic Laws Get Eye Today

Proposed "tough traffic laws" come up for a vote before the Legislative Highway Safety Committee meeting today and Saturday in Jacksonville.

EATON

Those proposals accepted by the committee will be recommended to the Legislative Council in March.

Sen. Joe Eaton, chairman of the Highway Committee, said the laws under consideration are designed:

"To help the driver who won't help himself."

Bills recommended to the committee by organizations around the state include:

Driver education in all Florida high schools; improved driver licensing controls, better control of the drinking driver through chemical tests for intoxication; use of speed control devices, and increased strength in the Florida Highway Patrol.

"These recommendations," Eaton said, "stemming mainly from an aroused public, certainly evidence that Florida drivers want a vigorous legislative program.

"There are other bills that undoubtedly will receive consideration during our Jacksonville hearings.

"There is a growing demand for more 'get tough legislation' to halt the rising accident picture in our state."

Eaton said the committee will strive to modernize the issuance program of drivers' licenses to permit a greater degree of control than that now exercised.

"These new laws will be designed to prevent the driver from destroying the lives of others," he said.

Crackdown

TOKYO — (AP) — Japan is cracking down on dim-lit all-night coffee houses as breeders of juvenile delinquency. A new law provides that a place where light is too poor to read a newspaper by is classed as a night club or cabaret, and it must bar youths under 18 and close by 11 p.m. Cops will carry light meters to test the potentials of iniquity.

Nationwide Steel Strike Expected June 30; Inflation Major Issue

By EDWIN A. LAHEY

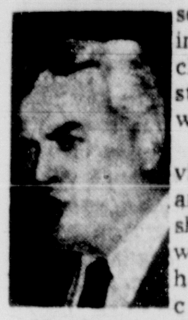
Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — A national steel strike on June 30 has become a virtual certainty.



MacDonald

This is now the opinion of some of the best informed men close to the steel industry wage question.

President David J. McDonald and the leadership of the steel workers' union have quietly committed themselves to ask the industry for a wage package of about 50 cents per hour when negotiations for a new contract begin this spring.

And the stage is being set for massive resistance by the industry, under the banner of a fight against further inflation.

The industry, led by U. S. Steel, resisted McDonald's wage demands in 1956, and took a strike rather than give the inflationary spiral another spin.

But the White House stepped in and persuaded the steel industry to settle, regardless of the consequences.

Under pressure from the then Secretary of the Treasury, George Humphrey, and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, the steel industry leaders signed up with McDonald and the steel workers, five days after the renomination of President Eisenhower at San Francisco.

The industry gave the steel workers a three-year wage package worth 45.6 cents an hour, and took for itself an $8.50 a ton price increase.

Along with the automatic cost of living increases of 17 cents since July, 1956, the steel workers have actually improved their position by 62.6 cents an hour.

Union President McDonald has already burned his bridges behind him, and cannot ask his wage policy committee to demand less than a 50-cent package from the industry this spring.

In the first of a series of advertisements by the steel workers, McDonald said that the union in its next contract would add a billion dollars to the annual income of the union members.

There are about a million workers in the industry, and a full work year totals 2,000 hours. By simple arithmetic, McDonald has committed himself to the 50-cent package.

Fifty cents multiplied by 2,000 hours multiplied by a million workers comes out as a billion dollars the figure used by McDonald in the steel union advertisements.

The industry's resistance to the union's wage demands can be adduced from the economic atmosphere.

In the first place, there will be no air of political urgency about a steel wage settlement in 1959, as there was in 1956. The steel strike three years ago was cut short only because it would have embarrassed the Eisenhower administration had it become long and bitter.

In the second place, the concern in Washington about the wage-price spiral is becoming intense.

It was pointed up in the President's budget message, in his renewed plea for moderation in his economic report to Congress. And over the weekend it was again emphasized by the appointment of a cabinet committee, headed by Vice President Richard Nixon, to do some constructive worrying about the problem of inflation.

The steel companies themselves, particularly U.S. Steel, have been most vociferous about the danger of inflation. Their voices were stilled in the summer of 1956 by the Eisenhower cabinet officers, Humphrey and Mitchell.

But they have been fretting about the problem ever since, and will be fretting about it when they sit down with McDonald for wage negotiations this spring. The outcome, it is believed, can only be a tough strike.

Some Case Of Truancy!

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—(AP) — A U.N. survey reported that only slightly more than half of the world's children between ages five and 14 are attending school.

The 1-387-page study made by the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization said 250 million children out of a total of 550 million are not receiving formal schooling.

The report stated, however, that school facilities are expanding more rapidly than populations.

British Smokers Begin Young

OXFORD, England —(UPI) —One-fourth of the boys between the ages of 11 and 19 in Oxfordshire County smoke regularly, according to results of a survey announced by medical authorities.

The survey embraced 8,314 school children. Dr. P. W. Bothwell said in an interim report that many of the boys questioned reported that they had begun smoking at the age of seven or younger.

Indonesia Invites Viet Nam Chief

LONDON — (UPI) — Radio Peiping reported that President Ho Chi Minh of Communist North Viet Nam will visit Indonesia soon at the invitation of President Sukarno.

The Chinese Communist broadcast said the announcement of the trip was made by the North Viet Nam foreign ministry in Hanoi.

Proving That We CAN Unite

Interama: Here It Comes!

INTERAMA is nearer reality today than at any time in its 25-year history. This fact gives people in Greater Miami double cause for rejoicing.

In the first place, nearly everyone has long agreed on the value of an Inter-American Trade and Cultural Center to this city, state, nation and hemisphere. The latest official action brings the center within reach.

Even more important, perhaps, is the proof that this community can unite for worthwhile action. As we said on this page last Dec. 7:

"If 27 men can agree, Greater Miami can have its long-sought Inter-American Center.

"The 27 men are the five Miami city commissioners, the 11 Metro commissioners and the 11 members of the Inter-American Center Authority, created by the State Legislature."

They have agreed.

THE three-way accord was completed Wednesday by the city commissioners. They voted to turn over to the Authority the city's 1,675-acre Graves Tract as the site for Interama. In payment for this property, which cost Miami taxpayers $495,000 in 1945, the municipality will get Interama bonds equal to the present appraised value of the acreage.

Metro commissioners already have pledged $500,000 to underwrite the Authority's running expenses during the two years allowed to arrange financing and start work.

Both local branches of government will be represented on the Authority's 11-member board until all money due them is paid.

The 1,675 acres of bayfront south of Sunny Isles Road will serve as the cornerstone for financing the multi-million-dollar center.

●

ENERGETIC and businesslike action by the Authority can translate the dream promptly into a handsome physical plant. Its existence will bring enormous benefits, tangible and intangible, not only to this Gateway of the Americas but to all the peoples of the Western Hemisphere.

No Call For An 'Expert'

GEORGE M. McSHERRY, director of the Port Authority, is concerned about his public relations. "Nearly everything I read about myself is critical," he says.

Despite the fact that the Port Authority has two so-called public relations men on its payroll (plus the County's publicity consultants at $27,000 a year) Mr. McSherry has hired a weekly newspaper columnist to find out what's wrong.

What's wrong is that Dade officials apparently have no idea what is meant by government public relations. There is justification for spending public money for public relations, but not for insuring a good press for public servants. The true function of such employes is to ease the flow of information from public agencies to the people, to protect the people's right to know what their government officials are doing.

Anything else is a misuse of public funds. It's not necessary for Mr. McSherry to hire an "expert" to discover this.

For The Air Age, Safety First

THE TRAGIC CRASH of an American Airlines plane as it approached New York's LaGuardia Airport for a landing shocked the nation. Federal investigators have found that adequate lighting and safety devices were lacking on the runway. This may or may not have caused the accident, for all the facts are not yet in. But it seems incredible that such a condition should exist at one of the nation's busiest airports.

The loss of 65 lives provides emphasis for a debate now in Congress on the fundamental question of aid to airports.

A group of senators headed by Oklahoma's Mike Monroney are asking $575 million to expand and improve the airport system. They rate the need so highly they succeeded in getting their measure offered as Senate Bill 1 and are determined to push it through despite almost certain veto by President Eisenhower.

The Monroney group calls the bill an absolute must in this Air Age. The surprising fact is that of the nation's 17,118 municipalities, only 1,511, or about 9 per cent, have airports and only a miniscule fraction of these — three-thousands of one per cent — can handle modern jets that are carrying passengers today and will become basic transportation in a decade.

●

THE administration is opposing this bill vigorously. E. R. Quesada, administrator of the new and powerful Federal Aviation Agency, has said that more safety in the air, not more and larger airports, should have top priority. Events at LaGuardia in Tuesday's early hours give point to Quesada's arguments.

"The greater expenditure (of federal funds) by far must go to the operation, expansion and improvement of our air traffic control system," he holds.

In a way both the FAA chief and the proponents of Senate Bill 1 are right. Aviation, rapidly nearing the point where it will handle more passengers than any other form of public transportation, has many needs. We in South Florida know this well.

Local communities can and do provide airport facilities, but must have federal aid to bridge the transition to jets. Air traffic control and air safety are federal areas and the need for improvement in each is urgent.

There is no question of choosing between more airports or more safety. Mr. Quesada's proposal is for a lesser amount of airport aid, gradually diminishing, and for more controls in the use of dwindling air space. He calls it a "positive program for meeting the true needs." It is the first demonstration that FAA is living up to advance billing as an agency of constructive leadership in aviation.

Just Across From Here

PRESIDENT Eisenhower's news conference Wednesday was the 49th of his second term of office and the second since Jan. 20 when he began his last two years in the White House.

The periodic Presidential news conference is a uniquely American institution, going back to Woodrow Wilson as originator and patent-holder. F.D.R. held an average of more than 80 a year. Through this device, of course, a President is able to speak directly to the people and to divulge some of the mysteries of the most important office in the world.

We are delighted to see President Eisenhower increasing the frequency of these meetings after a long spell when Ike was rarely at home to the news media. Surely it is evidence of a new vigor as he attacks the final two years of an eventful Presidency.

For some weeks past The Herald has been reproducing in abbreviated form the transcript of Mr. Eisenhower's news conferences where all is give and take and where the President, freely submitting to questions, projects his voice to the people. We regard this as a public service.

And you needn't even turn the page for the most recent account. Just look across there, on 7A . . .

Some Makers Of Footnotes

SOME sort of footnote to the scraggly pages of current history ought to be reserved for Rep. William Dawson (D., Ill.), a 19-year veteran of Congress and one of its three Negro members.

We might assign one also to Mrs. Clare Williams of St. Petersburg, head of the women's division of the Republican National Committee. But it'd be different.

Last week Representative Dawson nominated a 14-year-old Chicago Negro boy for a page job in the House. When the youngster arrived in Washington he learned that he couldn't have the job. The affair has produced a minor uproar with personal overtones of embarrassment for the disappointed youth and his family.

Mrs. Williams, we regret to note, leaped into the fray with a blast at Southern Democrats. "Certainly," she added, "we should have a Negro page, if the boy is qualified and has the respect of his congressman."

●

CERTAINLY we should, and in time we will. But the reason why the appointment failed had nothing whatever to do with race. In truth, there was just no vacancy among the corps of pages.

Representative Dawson's footnote will be the more indelible, we think, because he explained calmly that there had been a mistake. "The boy is not being denied an appointment because he is a Negro," said Mr. Dawson. And he laid the whole ruckus to unidentified persons who "are attempting to stir up the race issue and create trouble."

Racism is an ugly and evil thing. But it is not always onesided. Representative Dawson has rendered his race and his country a distinguished service in setting the record straight against those who would distort it on any pretext and at every opportunity.

On Cruelty To Witnesses

WE'VE HEARD of key witnesses in criminal cases remaining in jail for long periods while the persons against whom they would testify go free on bail.

At least one group of attorneys wants to do something about it, the Maryland Plaintiff's Bar Association.

It has suggested a legislative program to protect state's witnesses. They could be confined only in default of bond, only in felony cases and only where the testimony would be essential. This would be determined by a judge, not the arresting officers.

The lawyers also would have the state reimburse witnesses for bail bond fees and would lodge them in hotels like jurors, not in jail like defendants.

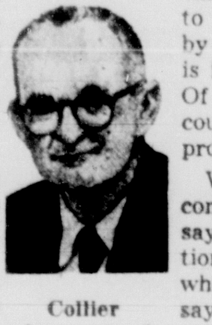
Developments will be interesting to watch.

Editorial Background — Segregation A Factor

Battle Line Drawn On Free Textbooks

By BERT COLLIER
Herald Editorial Writer

A NUMBER of Florida lawmakers want to cut out the state's free schoolbook program. The original request for $8.5 million for the next two years, which the school department says is a minimum need, has already been trimmed by $2.5 million in the budget commission and the program will be fighting for its life in the next few weeks.



Collier

Talk of this kind bobs up periodically in Tallahassee though it is hard to understand why. The free schoolbook idea has proved itself sound and Florida has had its present set-up — free books for all through high school — since the Minimum Foundation Program was adopted in 1948.

This year opposition is stronger than ever. It is predicted by some that the move will clear the Legislature, but with too few votes to override the certain veto by the governor, if the action is in the form of a special bill. Of course, the Legislature could simply refuse to appropriate any money at all.

Why has this suddenly become a big issue? Legislators say it is tied to the segregation question. Segregationists, who form a potent majority, say that if Negroes want to go to white schools, let them buy their own books. White children would have to buy their own books, too.

* * *

IF FLORIDA cuts out free text books it will be running counter to trends in education. It is true that few states have such an extensive program as we do. Only nine — California, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, New Mexico and Texas — furnish books for all grades through high school.

But 34 states and the District of Columbia have such programs in various degree and three states even buy books for pupils in private and parochial schools.

There are some interesting variations. California prints its own books, North Carolina rents books to high school students and other states sell books at less than cost.

* * *

THOMAS D. BAILEY, superintendent of public instruction, defends the present program vigorously. He says that it has big advantages. It makes certain every child has the books when they are needed, while central purchasing permits economies.

Books are used over and over again — the average use is five years — instead of being used only one year, as they would be if purchased by individuals.

It costs the state $16.25 per child per year to provide books. It would cost families at least $25 to buy the same books. For a family with several school-age children, this could be a hardship.

* * *

CENTRAL depositories permit greater variety. As an example, the state lists 52 basic readers for the first grade. There is also one social study text, one science text and four on health education.

Variety declines as the pupil passes to higher grades. But costs go up steeply. Some high school texts are expensive. The highest price tag in the catalog is for a band manual — $9.

Inflation is cutting deep into available funds. One sixth grade language book has increased 54 per cent since the last purchase order was placed. An elementary dictionary has jumped 38 per cent.

While books wear out, loss is also heavy from fire, storm, termites and rats. Tourist and migratory families forget to return them. It is not an easy program to administer.

* * *

HERE IN DADE County, some problems are acute. The county is allotted books on a drawing account based on the previous year's enrollment. Thus, with our spiralling enrollment, we are always behind.

"We never have enough money to buy the books we want and need," said W. W. Matthews, assistant superintendent.

"We can't afford to buy new books until the old ones are used up. So often a newly adopted book is of more value, but by the time we can get around to ordering it, a better book has become available.

"As it works out in Dade County, we must use books longer than any other county. We have to skimp and save to get by."

* * *

DESPITE difficulties, however, teachers and administrators say flatly that teaching efficiency would hit bottom if the free book program were abandoned.

"I can remember the old days," said a veteran teacher. "The whole first semester was a constant battle to get parents to buy all the necessary books. Many of the children didn't have them and teaching was very difficult.

"Every teacher had to organize a private welfare program to get books for children whose families couldn't afford them. We all had churches or civic clubs or generous individuals we could appeal to, and we often had to ask help."

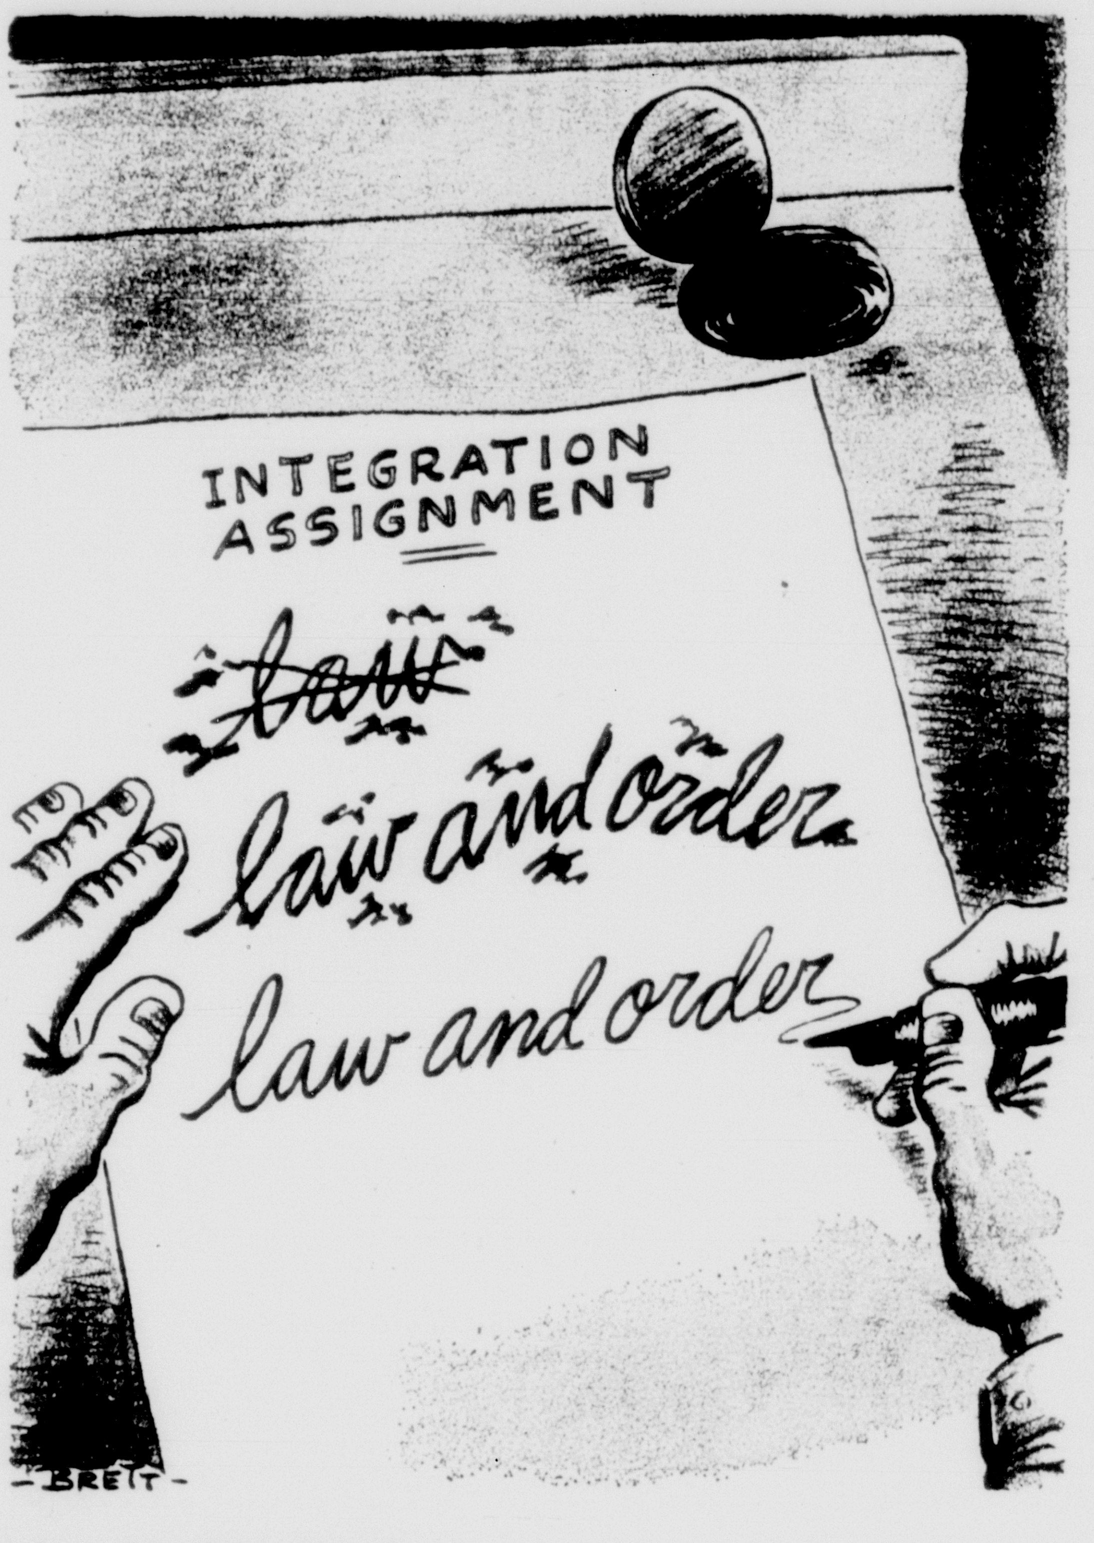
* * *

THE STATE school superintendent has what he thinks is the clinching argument against the would-be eliminators.

"It wouldn't save a cent for the taxpayers," says Bailey. "School needs are so acute the money would simply have to go for some other school purpose."

A less worthy purpose, probably.

Improvement In Penmanship



Voice Of The People

Editor The Herald: Somehow, the United States has a wonderful tendency toward putting its nose in the affairs of our neighbors, thus manufacturing its own course on losing friends and alienating people. The latest example is the intemperate action of one or more of our congressmen regarding the actions of the Cuban revolutionaries.

No one can ever say that revolutions are nice things conducted according to the Marquis of Queensbury rules. People die in the planning, the fighting, and in the aftermath of just or unjust retribution. Trials do not have the juditial calm of those conducted in quieter days. Military courts may not observe all the rules of evidence that civil courts are bound by. But is it necessarily true that justice is not done?

Unquestionably we all deplore the wave of executions following the victory of Castro's army. But does that fact justify our condemning the people of Cuba because we feel that we should not act in a similar manner?

It is most unfortunate that Rep. Hays of Ohio has made demands that the United States take steps against the Cuban regime. Fortunately, our State Department is wise and independent enough to refuse.

It cannot be our concern who rules Cuba. It is only for us to hope that Castro will not fall into the same habits of other Latin American revolutionaries who begin with every intention of establishing a just government and then are corrupted by power.

We need not agree with the actions of the victors, but there is no need to alienate them by futile and ridiculous talk.

Editor The Herald: Just got through reading your valuable editorial (John S. Knight's Notebook Feb. 1) on Ike's labor bill. It thrilled me greatly to feel that there is still a newspaper like yours that fights for what is right for all of the people instead of a few.

I come from the North, but most of the newspapers are catering to certain groups and splinter parties. They are simply afraid of them, but your courageous writing about the labor racketeers made me feel proud of being an American.

Hall's Stand Is Correct

Editor The Herald: Superintendant Joe Hall is strictly obeying the Constitution when he has to oppose aid to church schools.

Church schools do relieve pressure on public schools, it is true. But if the ones criticizing Dr. Hall will carefully study the Constitution, they will find reasons for his stand.

Behind The Front Page

Right-Of-Way Jam May Be Broken

By JOHN PENNEKAMP

SOMETHING may give to help the State Road Department's right-of-way situation when the State Legislature meets in April.

The department receives four-cents of the seven cents you pay as gasoline tax with which to build primary roads.

It refuses to pay any of this money for right-of-way, insisting that the counties provide it.

Pennekamp

Some sparsely populated counties in the state get their right-of-way free, or for little cost.

Others, like Dade — and the number is increasing — are confronted with mounting land costs so that they can't afford to buy right-of-way.

Thus, primary roads have been building in the counties having the rights-of-way available. That is where the roads are least needed. At the same time they are stalled where they are most needed.

Dade County now is borrowing some $25 million against future income to buy right-of-way and break the jam here. Others, also pressed, are doing the same.

There are indications that Dade County will see its biggest road building boom to date in the next two years.

* * *

JOE GROTEGUT, Road Department chairman, defends the rule against using primary funds for right-of-way purchases thus:

"Our total income for primary roads is approximately $50 million a year.

"Maintaining already built roads, administration, planning and similar costs absorb nearly half that amount, leaving us with about $30 million in the primary fund.

"If we spent half of that or $15 for right-of-way, we just couldn't come close to doing the needed road building job with the remainder.

"So, we stand by the rule requiring the counties to supply the right of way to get more roads built."

* * *

UNDER THE LEADERSHIP of an advisory committee, named by Gov. LeRoy Collins and with Sen. John E. Mathews Jr. of Jacksonville as chairman, an effort is being made to fit some of the secondary money into the right-of-way puzzle.

The secondary fund is made up of the remaining three cents of the seven cent gasoline tax you pay.

This money is distributed under a 28-year-old formula which further complicates the situation since it provides funds where the need is not great while strapping areas where it is.

There is general opposition to any new taxes and Mathews has said:

"The money is available in the framework of the present gasoline tax if it were allocated differently."

* * *

THE SECONDARY money now goes for retiring boom-time road bonds of the counties after which the surplus is divided 80 per cent to the State Road Department and 20 per cent to the counties for roads and bridges.

The 80 per cent is spent by the State Road Department for the same purposes by resolution of the county commission.

It is this money which Dade County is pledging to borrow right-of-way-funds.

One suggested solution is to get general legislative agreement to a plan under which the State Road Department could use two-thirds of the secondary money (2 cents of the 3) for statewide purposes, including right-of-way purchases.

Counties would be compensated by receiving in cash all, or nearly all, of the one-third (seventh cent) instead of only 20 per cent.

Strictly Personal

Big Parties Drive Syd To Bar

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I'M CONVINCED that a lot of social drinking has nothing to do with liquor, and a lot to do with boredom. A large cocktail party is enough to drive even an abstainer to the bar.

Harris

Liquor is something I can take or leave alone — and usually leave alone — but one of those jammed, smoky, stand-up cocktail parties always finds me weaving my way to the bar out of sheer ennui.

For one thing, I think most persons dislike large crushes. They feel strange and uncomfortable in a room with a hundred people, all babbling away about nothing in particular. They take liquor to deaden the pain.

Then, too, it is terribly easy to get trapped in a corner with a monumental bore — and the most acceptable way to shake loose is to excuse oneself and make for the bar. Even worse, is the sense that you are boring the eyeballs out of the person you are talking to.

* * *

THERE ARE two basic temperaments at such parties — the squatters and the flitters. The squatters are stoical souls who, early in the evening, pick a piece of floor space and stay there, come what may. I admire them enormously, but I cannot imitate their brave conduct.

I am a flitter. Five minutes in a little knot of guests, and I am off, looking for more fertile fields. I spend the evening wheeling in and out of groups, like a dizzy seagull seeking crumbs on the water. It is easy to achieve a massive reputation for rudeness this way, but temperamentally I am incapable of roosting anywhere for long periods.

Maybe I am just a small party man. A group of eight or 10 is the optimum size for me, where the conversation can be general, and one can sprawl carelessly on a sofa. At a large party, the need to keep a dialog going, the desire to seem animated and gay, can be more exhausting than running the high hurdles. The popularity of the bar is not so much a sign of deviltry as of desperation.

President Eisenhower Said:

Khrushchev Offered No New Hope to Free World

Again The Herald offers some of the questions and answers heard at President Eisenhower's press conference Wednesday and not fully explored by wire service reports.

★ ★ ★

Q (Dayton Moore, United Press International) Do you consider Virginia's orderly start on integration of public schools to be a good model for other Southern States?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, I would put it in this way. I certainly feel that all of us should compliment the State officials who determined that there was going to be no evidence and no occurrence of violence in this kind of thing. I am certainly very proud of the parents, the way they performed their duties, and the children themselves.

Q John Scall, Associated Press) Soviet border guards have stopped an American Army truck convoy, and they have demanded the right to inspect it before they allow it to proceed. Could you tell us whether we have any intention of allowing the Soviet border guards to inspect such cargoes, and could you comment on this situation, generally?

THE PRESIDENT: The position we have always held that the responsiblity voluntarily undertaken by the four occupying powers of maintaining their forces in Berlin was one that did necessarily give the right of supporting those forces.

Now we felt that since we had to perform that responsibility, we had the right to bring in the kind of supplies and remove the same kind of supplies from that particular spot, Berlin. Therefore, we have never acknowledged any right of inspection on the part of another of the participating powers with respect to our cargoes and the kind of equipment and supplies we are carrying forward.

Q (Rowland Evans, Jr., New York Herald Tribune) In view of the transition in Virginia, I wondered whether you thought that strong civil rights legislation touching on education and integration in the schools could be more harmful than beneficial, whether you would discuss that for a moment.

THE PRESIDENT: Well, I do not know what is strong legislation and what is not strong. I do believe that legislation that is certain to exasperate the whole situation, that is going to raise tempers and increase prejudices, could be far more harmful than good.

Now, I do believe there are certain aspects in which the laws show vacant spots, and certainly I, for one, will never propose anything of this kind where I do not believe that the American public would see it as moderate and decent and with the purpose of improving and not worsening the situation, and I believe if you try to do things that would give people the right, or at least even the possibility of saying the federal government is trying to set up a great federal police and give it the responsibility of seeing whether each citizen is doing his duty, is avoiding a violation of the law, that would be a wicked thing, and we are not trying to do anything like that.

Q (Sarah McClendon, Camden Courier-Post) In South Jersey there are hundreds of thousands of acres of land that could be had for a decent, adequate airport jet terminal to serve big cities, Washington and New York, by quick monorail facilities, and the officials in those counties have this plan well worked out.

Now, would you not say, on the contrary, that this New York airport terminal might have had something to do with that airplane crash, by reason of location, and maybe if there were more federal funds for locating airports away from big cities, it might be safer.

THE PRESIDENT: New York located the port, and I believe there was another one built out at Idlewild to take planes that were considered a little bit more difficult to handle.

Now, the particular kind of idea that you now describe, well, I have never heard it talked in circles, in governmental circles; I've never spoken to General Quesada, who I think is the authority in this field, still, I do believe it is informally.

It is something that people are talking quite a bit about to get these long flights coming into areas where the maximum safety will be achieved, and then from there, either by helicopter or any other kind of method, why, the distribution will be made.

Q(Rod MacLeish, Westinghouse Broadcasting Company) Could you give us your assessment of Mr. Khrushchev's 6-hour oration before the Communist Party Congress in Moscow, especially his contention that competition should be on the economic level above everything else between our two countries?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, naturally we have had a number of briefings, but I think it would be really futile at such a meeting as this to try to go through the whole thing and try to get behind what you believe he is trying to do. After all, these speeches, these long speeches, they are designed for domestic as well as foreign consumption.

I would merely say this: There is nothing that I can see in them that offers another avenue of hope for the free world.

Q(Garnett D. Horner, Washington Star) The Soviet Defense Minister bragged that they now have intercontinental missiles with hydrogen warheads that can hit any point in the world precisely and accurately, that make our nuclear weapons outdated. Could you comment on that, sir?

THE PRESIDENT: . . . I think there is always a design behind every Soviet pronouncement. Now I think you people probably know it already, but last night or this morning there was an Atlas firing that was absolutely successful and it was long range, and we think it was a very good performance.

I don't know what the words "pinpoint accuracy" mean. They sound to me like rather propaganda words.

Now I am not going to decry their accomplishments . . . We have got a very much more variegated, a more, we believe, balanced type of defensive organization than have they.

Q(Richard L. Wilson, Cowles Publication) On the point that you were just speaking about, a great deal of controversy seems to center on the idea that the Russians have achieved some capability of knocking out our retaliatory capacity before we could actually use it. Could you throw any light on that general subject? Does it have any substance, does that idea have any substance at all?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, we don't believe it has. Quite naturally, if they are going to attack by surprise, there are going to be some losses suffered by American forces, and possibly by America itself in some other ways. That is just implicit in the opportunity that a dictator has to start a war himself.

Now, that is the reason that we have to be so alert. But as I have told you before, we are constantly improving our warning equipment.

Q (Mrs. May Craig, Press Herald (Portland, Maine) Marshal Malinovsky also said that the United States should ponder the vulnerability of its shores. President Frondizi has told reporters that the Argentine Navy has depth-bombed submarines which refused to identify themselves off the Argentine shore. Will you tell us what you know of the activity of Russian submarines off our coasts and how vulnerable we are?

THE PRESIDENT: Well now, I will not tell you; but I will tell you this, for this simple reason: Most of the information that I have in this field is of course through briefings, and I cannot tell you at this moment whether such as I have is in the restricted or confidential area or not.

You can go to the Secretary of Defense and ask him exactly the same question, and if he knows anything about it and knows whether he can give it, he will talk to you.

Penicillin Loses Bit Of Punch

By ARTHUR J. SNIDER
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

CHICAGO — A short decade ago it was called a "miracle drug" — the first of a life-saving line of antibiotics.

Today, penicillin is in the doghouse because it has lost some of its punch.

Many germs have developed resistance to it. There are a growing number of infections after operations in which it is used.

Some doctors have called for abolition of use of penicillin or at least for a moratorium.

But Dr. Michael L. Mason, Northwestern University surgeon, dissents.

"We seem to forget," he says to members of the American College of Surgeons, "the great blessing which this antibiotic has been to mankind, the countless lives it has saved and the operative fields which have been opened under its protection.

"It is still a very useful and helpful agent and should not be condemned because nature has found a way of combatting it."

Dr. Mason likened the penicillin story to that of DDT. Many flies have become acclimated to DDT but it was that compound that saved Naples when the city was threatened with typhus.

The only trouble with penicillin, says Dr. Mason, is that it has been too competent a drug for its own good.

It seemed to be the answer to the doctors demand for a universal sterilizing agent and they have used it in prodigious quantities.

Wrong Door!

CHICAGO — (UPI) — All Frank Randall wanted to do at International Airport was to mail a package to Afghanistan.

But he opened the wrong door and found himself in a "restricted area." Before he was allowed out, he had to be vaccinated for smallpox.

Remember Living In Flower Deals

By ROBERT C. RUARK

I HAVE probably bought more flowers for living people than Tommy Manville, so I do not have to apologize for this piece.

But it seems to me that "the please omit flowers" note for departed friends is getting stronger and stronger as a sign of the times.

I am a real sucker for the posy. The house is generally lousy with flowers, at the expense of bread in the kitchen, and in a fit of insanity I recently built a greenhouse that cost more than the house I live in.

RUARK

This is no poke at the peony that I pen, no cuff at the calla. I am just dead set against wasting living flowers on dead people.

Every time I go to pay my respects to the dear departed, it seems to me that, at the going corsage cost, the blooms that are wasted on a corpse would come to a couple of thousand bucks.

I started to count on my fingers about how much heart research, how much cancer research, how many hungry people you could feed on what is clearly a waste, and I got real sore.

All I could think of was gangster funerals in connection with the floral debauch.

★ ★ ★

BACK TO FLOWERS per se, I should literally swamp a sick person with flowers. I would send flowers as a thank-you.

I would crown my true love with crocuses — in lieu of a baseball bat — and deck her fair frame in gardenias until the day she departs. Then my flower-giving ceases.

Flowers are for the living. They do the dead no good. They wither and die and the corpse doesn't care.

They represent profit for the florist and respect for the deceased and, in some cases, braggadocio for the giver.

I know that the sale of cut flowers for funerals must represent millions and millions of dollars of income to florists, but I also know what the markup on store-bought flowers amounts to.

As long as I am shelling out that margin of profit for a deck of roses, I would rather they adorned a vase in a living room than a coffin.

I think maybe the florists could scramble through the year without the mortician trade if they stepped up their selling with a firm eye on people who could still appreciate beauty.

IT IS POSSIBLE that the florists are not immune to cancer or heart affliction, even as you and I, and that someday even a florist will join the eternal compost heap from which the pretty blossoms glow.

On a long-term venture, as a florist, I would rather bet on the chances of cancer or heart research prolonging my life, so that I could smell or see a flower, than on a few tax-liable extra bucks to be extracted from tragedy.

I have noticed that when some of my friends — all too many lately — have been pulled down untimely by malignant fate, the bereaved have almost invariably suggested that the flower money be sent either to a recognized fund for research into disease, or to a designated charity.

More of a living monument might be erected by the feeding of a hungry family or the purchase of experimental mice than by all the blossoms ever blanketed on a bier.

People do not generally like to dwell upon death, but nobody has found a way to beat it so far, and it is the only permanent estate known to mortal man.

Cuba Hugs Democracy As Castro Ideas Rule

By JIM BISHOP

HAVANA — The city curves, like a rhinestone snake, along the edge of the jade sea. There are a million people in this area; there are only six million in all Cuba, and it stretches for eight hundred miles to the east.

Havana is the beating heart of this island. Today it is in the hands of the Barbudos.

The Barbudos are the bearded ones. Fidel Castro did not shave and did not cut his hair, so 2,000 of his little army roam the streets in their fatigue uniforms, rifles slung across their shoulders, looking like bearded ladies.

BISHOP

They did not win the war on a battlefield.

They hit and ran and they were still hitting and running when Fulgencio Batista's generals told him that his army no longer had a will to fight. The Barbudos won the war by default.

★ ★ ★

THIS IS NOT TO SAY that they lack courage. As an army, they had more heart than head. Two-thirds of them fought without arms. This is not an easy way to go to war.

Now, they have the rifles and the tommy guns and the tanks and the armored cars, but there is no one to shoot except some Batistas who did not get away quickly.

Jack Paar is with me in this city and we have traveled many miles to see the Barbudos. We have seen them in the streets and in the big hotels. They are polite.

They do not get paid. No one in the Castro Army has been paid. Many of the men have slept for a year or more in the Sierra Maestra Mountains.

Sometimes, they ate with a little regularity. Sometimes, they died of infected wounds because there were no doctors in the mountains.

Today, they are the victors. The girls of Havana cultivate the Barbudos with their eyes. The soldiers are afraid to show interest.

This is the big city and they do not want to do things that bring the frown to Castro's face.

The commandant does not permit drunkenness among his unpaid valiants; he does not permit immorality; he does not allow gambling nor fights nor vandalism.

Because of Castro and his monastic rules, there is democracy in Havana. The Batista police have been fired, and yet there is no sign of crime. Senor Castro has asked the Boy Scouts to act as temporary policemen, and the youngsters take their duties seriously.

★ ★ ★

HE TOO TAKES his rules seriously. No one can get inside a confiscated building without a military pass. Yesterday, Fidel Castro journeyed out to Wayjay to see the dictator's beautiful home, Kuquine.

He walked the grounds, smoking a cigar and nodding in wonder at the beauties commanded by his adversary.

When he tried to enter the house, one of his soldiers asked Castro for his pass to enter. He had none. The soldier looked embarrassed. Senor Castro shrugged, and walked off the porch.

Today, Mr. Paar and I went to the same house with our military passes. We were permitted to enter.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Befuddled Defense Picture Blamed on McElroy Loyalty

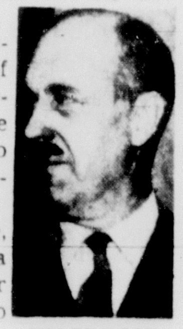
By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy is one of the most likeable members of the Eisenhower Cabinet. He is also one of the most loyal.

A big businessman who once sold soap to millions, McElroy has always taken time out to help his fellow men.

Before he entered the Cabinet, he served as chairman of the National Education Conference and served well. In the Cabinet, he still takes time to help raise money for educational projects.

As Secretary of Defense, however, he has been given a budget to defend, and whether he likes it or not he has to defend it. That is part of loyalty to the team.



PEARSON

That also explains why the public has been given such a confused picture of our defenses.

On Jan. 22, Secretary McElroy informed a press conference that there was "no positive evidence" that Russia will have an operational ICBM before the United States. He gave the impression that our missile position was safe and secure.

One week later, Jan. 29, when heckled by senators, the same secretary of defense admitted that the United States did not plan to match missiles with Russia, had no plans for catching up.

He was still being loyal to Ike. But this time he was under oath and hard-pressed by senators.

★ ★ ★

SINCE EUROPE is getting a careful look at the true American defense picture, the American people have a right to the same cold and impartial look. Here are the highlights:

The most important Eisenhower moves Secretary McElroy was asked by Senators to explain were:

1. A cutback in the missile program by $602,000,000 for the coming fiscal year, despite the fact that Russia is ahead.

2. Failure to use more than 25 per cent of the $1,130,000,000 which Congress voted the administration for the Minute Man, Polaris, and other vital projects.

The argument used by the big, lumbering, very pleasant secretary of defense from Cincinnati, was that we didn't want to put all our eggs in one weapons basket.

Admitting that Russia had more ICBMs, he pointed out that we had some other weapons to offset them. He mentioned the following, but at the same time failed to mention the fact that some of them don't yet exist:

1. THE MINUTE MAN — This will be an excellent solid-propellant missile which will not require the cumbersome, time-consuming count-down necessary for liquid-fueled missiles. However, it will not be operational for about five years. Furthermore, this missile was one for which Congress appropriated additional money which the administration refused to use. Thus, while McElroy was boosting the importance of the Minute Man to the Senators, he was curtailing money for developing the Minute Man.

2. THE IRBM or INTERMEDIATE RANGE MISSILE — The secretary of defense said we had IRBMs stationed in England and said this was one reason we didn't need to spend so much on ICBMs, or long-range missiles. However, we have only two dozen IRBMs in England, and at the end of the year will have only about 75.

In contrast, Russia is estimated to have 750.

3. THE POLARIS — McElroy cited this missile-firing sub as one reason for not needing more ICBMs. Yet, the first Polaris will not be ready until late 1960.

Meanwhile Russia has 100 missile-firing submarines which can fire missiles from under water for a range of 750 miles.

4. U.S. BOMBERS — McElroy argued that our bombers were a deterrent and this was one reason we hadn't pushed ahead with ICBMs. Russia, however, has bombers too. She has a total of around 18,000 to 20,000 combat planes of all types, while we have only 13,000 of all types.

5. FAULTY FIGURES IN ICBMS — Finally, the loyal Secretary of Defense testified that the United States would have a squadron of ICBMs operational in July. There are 10 ICBMs in a squadron.

This, however, was just not true. And both senators and newspapermen covering military matters knew it was not true. They knew we would have a squadron of ICBMs ready only in January 1960.

That was the confused and conflicting testimony of the very loyal Secretary of Defense — testimony that was carefully analyzed in Europe and which the American people need to analyze too.

Donna's a Living Doll, Just Like in Song

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — There really is a Donna, and she's a living doll.

The girl in rock'n' roll balladeer Richie Valens' hit song is 16-year-old Donna Ludwig, a pretty blonde with classic features turned poignant by Ritchie's tragic death.

Seventeen-year-old Ritchie, a million-record singer with only a short lease on the center of the stage, died Tuesday in a plane crash near Mason City, Ia.

Before leaving home on his last tour Valens called Donna to say goodby. Among the things he told her:

"My mother is so silly—she thinks I'm going to get hurt."

Donna and Ritchie went steady for a while, and today she's with his mother, Mrs. Concepcion Valenzuela, comforting her in the new home Ritchie bought his mother recently in suburban Pacoima.

"We broke up about a year ago," says Donna wistfully, "but not really . . .

"He'd call me on the phone and we'd talk, oh maybe an hour and a half.

"He'd make up songs while we were talking. And then he started making up this song about 'Donna,' and it was so . . . well, I started to cry."

Cohen Doesn't Trust Attorney

LOS ANGELES—(AP)— Mickey Cohen has his own grounds for refusing to testify before a federal grand jury investigating his financial affairs.

"It might incriminate me, and besides I don't trust you," the former gambler told U.S. Attorney's Aide Robert Jensen. Cohen had just refused to give the jury his address.

Cohen was excused with orders to return for another session in two weeks. The jury is trying to find out where the pudgy ex-convict gets his money and whether he owes any income tax on it.

Mom Banned From Wedding

Mrs. Thorndike

Purmort

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — A wealthy Pasadena manufacturer has obtained a court order that prohibits his mother from attending his marriage next Sunday in suburban San Marino.

Louis E. Purmort, 34, got the injunction after telling the court that his mother, Mrs. Tessie Purmort, 68, told him she would kill him rather than see him marry Mrs. Barbara Stanley Thorndike, a divorcee. Mrs. Purmort is the wife of George Purmort, 68, retired Milwaukee construction engineer.

The son informed the court that his mother wrote his lawyer, blaming the 26-year-old Mrs. Thorndike for breaking up his first marriage. The divorce became final last Friday.

"I would rather see you dead than married to Barbara," Purmort quoted his mother. "If you go ahead and get married in church, I'm going to be there and stop this marriage."

Superior Judge Ellsworth Meyer ordered Mrs. Purmort to stay away from the wedding, from the wedding reception and the going-away party. The couple will leave for Hawaii on their honeymoon.

Trabert's Wife Is Undisturbed

SALT LAKE CITY — (AP) — The wife of Tennis Star Tony Trabert says she isn't concerned over reports linking her husband with Movie Actress Ava Gardner.

"Tony is very upset," said Shauna Trabert, a former beauty queen here. "He just wrote another letter hoping everything was all right and hoping I would understand . . . which I do."

Australian newspapers have described Trabert as Miss Gardner's latest romantic interest. Mrs. Trabert said the stories started when her husband, Miss Gardner and the actress' sister, Beatrice, were photographed together.

Mrs. Trabert said Beatrice was cut out of the pictures before they were printed.

The Traberts maintain a home here. Trabert is in Australia with a professional tennis troupe. Miss Gardner is there making a picture.

$20-Million Research Center Planned for Cuba

By BERT COLLIER
Herald Staff Writer

Establishment of a 20-million-dollar research center on the Isle of Pines off Cuba, financed by Americans and headed in its initial stages by a Miami Beach physician, was announced Thursday in Miami.

"It will be like nothing else in the world," said Dr. Rudolph T. Wagner, Miami Beach, who will be visiting head of the research institute.

Watson and Deutschman, Miami architectural firm, have been commissioned with Dr. Carlos Perez, widely known Colombian architect, to prepare the plans. Work is well advanced.

Construction is expected to start as soon as conditions in Cuba stabilize after the recent government unheaval, backers said. The isle belongs to Cuba.

H. Samuel Kruse, partner in the Watson and Deutschman firm, said the project is expected to be extended within a two-year period to embrace a 50-million-dollar program intended to make the Isle of Pines "the most advanced and progressive center of its kind in the world."

The unique enterprise will have an international staff dedicated to pure research in every field of medicine. It will also call on allied fields of physics, mathematics, electronics and engineering to solve some of the complex problems. It will resemble in its program and approach the famous Institute of Advanced Studies at Princeton University.

Dr. Wagner said plans have been five years in the making and are financed chiefly by a group of wealthy Americans interested in this unusual approach to medical problems.

Almost three years have been spent in the search of a site, with most of the Western Hemisphere being under consideration. The Isle of Pines was chosen because of its climate and its proximity to medical skills of all kinds.

"We were interested in a good working climate that would attract scientists from various parts of the world," said Dr. Wagner. "The research program will be so vast that its prospects are practically unlimited."

A handful of picked men—all trained scientists — have been picked as a nucleus for a staff that eventually will include members from many countries. There will be no political or national affiliations.

For the early stages of the program, Dr. Wagner will serve as actual head, while continuing his Miami Beach practice. Later a director will be selected to guide the work of the staff and the visiting consultants. Dr. Wagner will then continue as visiting head, as consulting director of cardiovascular research and consultant cardiologist.

200 Debaters In One Meet

More than 200 students from 68 schools in the U.S. are participating in one of the nation's largest college debate tournaments now being held at Harvard University.

The three-day tournament began Thursday. Students are vying for the John Quincy Adams Memorial trophy in debate and the Edward Everett trophy in oratory.

Charles Lister, of Miami, is one of six national officers of the Harvard University Debate Council assisting in the tournament. They are working under Harvard Debate Council president, James Lorenz of Dayton, Ohio.

Federal Judge Raps 'Oligarchy' Of U.S. Supreme Court

JACKSONVILLE —(UPI)— A retired, but still active, U.S. district judge charged Thursday that the U.S. Supreme Court is pushing this country into judicial control by nine men.

Judge Dozier DeVane of Tallahassee told the Jacksonville Bar Association that if something isn't done soon to stop the judicial process by which Supreme Court decisions are reached, "this nation will soon be governed, insofar as its Constitution and its laws are concerned, by a judicial oligarchy."

DeVane, whose decision ultimately brought about graduate school integration to the University of Florida last fall, said if the doctrine of "stare decisis" is not followed, the Constitution and laws of Congress will not be the "supreme law of the land."

He explained that "stare decisis" means that when a court has once laid down a principle of law "as applicable to certain state of facts it will adhere to that principle and apply it to all similar future cases, regardless of whether the parties and property are the same."

DeVane charged that the present nine Supreme Court justices were not following this doctrine in many instances, including recent integration rulings.

"When the Supreme Court held that the children in our public schools could not be required to stand and salute the flag of the United States and pledge allegiance to the republic for which it stands, and when the Supreme Court condemned all forms of religious instruction in our public schools, it struck a death blow to the future welfare of the republic," DeVane exclaimed.

"What the Supreme Court has done in these later cases is to assert its right not be bound by its own decisions whenever it desires to construe the Constitution or an act of Congress otherwise."

Tighten Up Bidding --Collins

By JOHN BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. LeRoy Collins Thursday cracked down on the Florida Development Commission's printing practices but said he found that other agencies in his "little cabinet" had done an outstanding job in the handling of printing bids.

Collins said his investigation of state printing in "little cabinet" offices had not disclosed any law violation.

He said there were indications the Development Commission's printing operation was "perhaps not as tight as it should have been" and that the commission director has been ordered to "tighten up" the operation and broaden the bidding list.

Bid files of the development commission show that in many instances only three Tallahassee firms were asked to bid on jobs. Rose Printing Co., Tallahassee, was awarded 76 of 101 contracts.

Collins said he had not had time to study proposals for printing law reforms by a Miami printing association which charged earlier some state agencies had discouraged bidding by South Florida printers.

In a letter to the governor, Carl Westman, chairman of the Greater Miami Association, said that "persons or corporations who have interests in more than one printing concern be [illegible] to only one bid on each job from the total of his printing interests."

Target of the organization is Charles Rosenbert, wealthy Tallahassee printer who owns the Rose Printing Co. and other firms.

Collins Sees No New Taxes Needed for Next 2 Years

By Herald Services

News About Florida

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. LeRoy Collins said Thursday he is convinced Florida can get along two more years without new taxes.

Changes that will effect "substantial" savings and provide a margin for additional spending beyond the 726-million-dollar present tax revenue estimates will be recommended, Collins said.

Econony reforms he will suggest, Collins, said include a central purchasing agency to handle all state buying and tightening "loopholes" in the sales tax law.

Citrus Growers Get OK on New Dye Use

WASHINGTON — The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee Thursday approved a bill which would allow Florida citrus growers to color their fruit with a new dye, known as Citrus Red 2.

It was designed to replace Red 32, the coal-tar dye which has been used for more than 20 years and was removed from the government's certified list because of its toxic qualities. An amendment approved Thursday would allow growers to use Red 32 until May 1.

Early Vote Urged On Amendments

TALLAHASSEE — House Speaker Thomas W. Beasley and Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin agreed Thursday that any constitutional amendments dealing with Florida school segregation should be put into effect on an emergency basis.

That would mean a special referendum this year rather than waiting for the 1960 general election. Ervin said that delaying a vote of the people until then would mean that only those parents able to pay all the costs of private schooling would be able to withdraw their children from public schools under the parent option plan.

Childhood Heroes Have a Booster

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. LeRoy Collins Thursday came to the defense of Horatio Alger, Uncle Wiggly and the Bobbsey Twins.

Collins said he was raised on Horatio Alger and thinks the youth of today will get as much good from reading them as he did.

The governor's opinion was asked after state librarian Dr. Dorothy Dodd advised public libraries around the state to junk these old standbys of childhood and many others.

Tampa Brothers Pay Back Taxes

JACKSONVILLE — Two of Tampa's widely publicized brothers — Sam and Santo Trafficante Jr. — have agreed to pay the U.S. government more than $84,000 in disputed income taxes and penalties.

W. Preston White Jr., special assistant to the regional counsel for the Internal Revenue Service, disclosed the settlement Thursday at the conclusion of a U.S. Tax Court term in Jacksonville.

For Strike Fund

Auto Workers' Dues Go Up $1

DETROIT —(AP)— The United Auto Workers Union, in a move to bolster its sagging strike fund, has ordered a one-dollar increase in monthly dues, effective March 1.

UAW - Secretary - Treasurer Emil Mazey said the increase is necessary to build the union's strike fund back to 25 million dollars. The fund now is $16,630,806.

The UAW constitution calls for a dues hike whenever the strike fund dips below 20 million dollars. It has an automatic cutoff when the fund reaches 25 million.

Mazey said the UAW spent $22,127,402 from the strike fund last year in helping members in 279 idled plants. Expenditures were $3,337,408 last month, Mazey said.

Israel Patrol Is Attacked

TEL AVIV, Israel — (AP) An Israel security patrol moving along the Gaza Strip border was attacked south of Keren Avshalom village by infiltrators using rifles and machineguns, an Israel army spokesman said.

He said the patrol returned the fire, pursued the infiltrators into the Gaza Strip and withdrew later.

Subsequently, the infiltrators' attack was renewed, the spokesman added. He said a U.N. Emergency Force detachment also appeared on the scene but, according to the Israel announcement, was not involved in the encounter.

No casualties were reported on the Israel side of the frontier.

When your TV picture tube needs replacing, remember this..

NOW...AN RCA PICTURE TUBE TO FIT EVERY BUDGET!

Not just one RCA television picture tube... but a choice of two

When the picture on your TV fades, dulls or blacks out—when your TV technician tells you the picture tube should be replaced, remember you now have a choice of two kinds of RCA picture tubes:

- RCA SILVERAMA—A premium picture tube—constructed of all-new glass and parts. Made for the TV viewer who wants the finest picture his set can deliver.
- RCA MONOGRAM—A rebuilt picture tube of dependable quality for the budget-minded. Reprocessed and tested in the same factory as RCA's premium picture tubes.

Both RCA SILVERAMA and RCA MONOGRAM are warranted for one full year... and there's a size to fit virtually every make and model TV set. Your local TV service technician can give you complete information and prices. Remember: for the best in television be sure to say... RCA.

What is a picture tube?

The picture tube—in simple terms—is actually a glass or metal bulb containing a "gun", which emits a stream of electrons. These electrons strike a layer of phosphor on the inside surface of the glass face—causing the phosphor to "glow", thus "painting" a TV picture on the face of the tube.

Two kinds of tubes

There are two kinds of picture tubes—new tubes constructed of all-new materials and parts, and also picture tubes known as "rebuilts". A "rebuilt" is simply a used picture tube that has been repaired by replacing the gun and possibly the phosphor and then reprocessed.

Actually, there's nothing wrong with "rebuilts". Re-tread tires and many other reconditioned devices can give you satisfactory performance. But the quality of most rebuilt products is limited by the rebuilder's skill and know-how. With a rebuilt picture tube the big question is—will it provide you with the bright, sharp picture you want for greater TV enjoyment? Now you can be sure! There is no finer rebuilt picture tube made than the RCA MONOGRAM.

So now you have a choice in RCA picture tubes:

- RCA Silverama—A premium picture tube—made of all-new glass and all-new parts.
- RCA Monogram—No finer factory-rebuilt picture tube made.

Thug Beats Up Man Then Helps Him

By JOY REESE SHAW
Herald Staff Writer

"There's so much good in the worst of us and so much bad in the best of us . . ."

A hard-hitting, soft-drinking gunman left Frank M. Watson pondering that bit of poetic philosophy in Jackson Memorial Hospital Thursday.

Representing himself as a police officer, the gunman gained entry into Watson's South Miami home about 8:45 p.m. Wednesday.

He gave the elderly mortgage man a rough time for a horror-ridden 4½ hours and left with an unknown sum of money.

The gunman hit him over the head with a pistol four or five times and left him bound — bleeding and bruised—on the floor while he ransacked the house for money.

Periodically he kicked his victim in the stomach and held the pistol to Watkins head, threatening to shoot.

But he complimented 69-year-old Watkins admiringly: "You've got guts, buddy."

"And," Watkins said from his hospital bed, "I guess he felt sorry for me. He placed a pillow under my bleeding head, doused my face with water and put a cloth over my gashed, swollen eye. And he wet my dry lips."

When Watson questioned cleanliness of the cloth—hoping his wounds wouldn't get infected—the gunman changed it to a clean towel.

"He must have asked me 20 times 'how you feeling, now, buddy?" Watkins remembered.

At one point, roaming around in the kitchen, the imposter came across a bottle of whiskey.

"I told him to have a drink," said Watkins.

"Nope," replied the gunman. "I don't drink." Instead he chose a soda-pop from the icebox.

Watkins said he answered the door of his home at 530 SW 25th Rd. without turning on the porch light. He said the man was dressed nicely and wore a hat, and introduced himself as a police officer investigating some robberies in the area.

"He even took out a notebook," Watkins explained.

Besides a fractured cheekbone, 17 stitches and poetic philosophy, Watkins has a bit of positive psychology to think upon, too. Each time the gunman threatened to shoot, he replied: "You won't kill me. You're not a murderer."

He grinned a little, painfully, from beneath a big icebag: "I didn't think he was—and I was right. But he could sure hit hard."

AMINTORE FANFANI, premier of Italy; born: Feb. 6, 1908, in Pieve Santo Stefano, Arrezzo, Tuscany.

* * *

The Tom Thumb of Italian politics stands five feet, three inches. He keeps up long hours and a fierce pace with cat naps and apples. Son of a country doctor, "the little professor" is author of some 40 books. He once belonged to a religious group who lived ascetically in monastery cells and walked barefoot: is a deeply moral man. Of a teenage fling at fascism, he declares: "Temporary abberation."

Refuses to Reveal Sources

Writer Cited for Contempt

SEATTLE — (AP) — Emmett Watson, sportswriter and columnist for The Seattle Post Intelligencer, has been found guilty of contempt of court for refusing to disclose the source of an item published in his column.

Superior Judge Malcolm Douglas found Watson guilty, but said Watson has until Monday to change his mind.

Watson, the Hearst Publishing Co. and three Seattle restaurants are being sued for $175,000 libel by three Seattle men because of the article in Watson's column.

If Watson refuses to reveal the source of the item, Judge Douglas said he would enter an order of default as to Watson in the libel suit. Should this happen, Watson would lose the suit and a trial would be held to assess damages against him.

The libel suit stems from a portion of a Watson column published Nov. 6, 1956. It referred to the personal background of three unnamed men he said were engaged in the business of installing burglar alarm systems in Seattle.

Arthur B. Mitchell, his brother, J. Mitchell, and Arthur L. Augustine filed the suit.

An attorney for the plaintiffs said the restaurants were included because they were among the advertising sponsors of Watson's once-weekly column.

Police Issue 'Badge' Radio

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. —(AP)—Motorcycle cops will be keeping their radios under their hats. That's how small the set is.

The radio was developed by the police department's radio technician, Larry Smith. A patrolman is trying it out now.

It's so tiny he wears it behind the badge of his motorcycle helmet. Results are encouraging, Smith said. The helmet radio has a range of 12 to 14 miles. It is powered by five transistors, and costs a cent a day to operate.

Chief Sworn In

Franco Arrests Monarchist Foes

MADRID —(AP)— Generalissimo Franco's government has arrested three liberal monarchists who were active in the formation of an anti-Franco political party last week.

It was the government's first retaliation against the new party, the Spanish Union, which was formed at a public banquet in a hotel last Thursday. All parties except Franco's Falange are banned in Spain.

Those arrested are Joaquin Satrustegui Fernandez, a wealthy industrialist and the chief speaker at the banquet; the Marquis de Casa Arnuo and Mariano Yobles y Romero Robledo, whose grandfather was a minister of the monarchy 50 years ago.

Joaquin Satrustegui
. . . rich Franco enemy

The arrests came as no surprise, for failure to take action would have been interpreted as weakness in Franco's regime. But a prominent member of the group said it felt more could be accomplished to bring down the Franco regime by working in the open.

There had been no attempt to keep the banquet secret. Police permission was obtained beforehand and a police representative was present.

Satrustegui nevertheless spoke out firmly against the regime. He said Franco seized power illegally and has been kept in office by force. He also blasted the government's economic policy, saying it is "without present or future."

Austrian Leader Leaves for U.S.

VIENNA—(AP)—Austria's Socialist Vice Chancellor, Dr. Bruno Pittermann, has left by air for a two-week visit to the U.S.

En route he will stop in West Germany, Denmark and London, and will arrive in New York Saturday. He will deliver university lectures in New York and Chicago and in Washington will confer with President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard Nixon.

He Admits Plot For Extortion

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Herbert Strauch, 34, has pleaded guilty to a charge that he tried to extort $100,000 from Sol C. Siegel, production chief at MGM.

A probation hearing and sentencing were set for Feb. 24.

Navy Cautiously Says It Hasn't 'Sighted' Red Subs Near Our Coast

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Navy says it has made no verified sightings of Soviet submarines within 500 miles of American coasts.

In a carefully phrased statement, the Navy also said there have been no indications of extensive Soviet sub activity in the South Atlantic.

The Navy would not expand on the statement. This left uncertain whether "sightings" mentioned referred only to visual sightings or included contact by listening devices and electronic or magnetic detection systems.

President Eisenhower, asked about the Russian sub matter at his news conference Wednesday, bounced the query to the Navy. The President said most of his information is based on confidential briefings.

The Navy said most of the reports "of varying validity" of contact with unidentified submarines can be attributed to friendly submarines, surface vessels or marine life.

Freedom Crusade Head Warns

Russia to Keep Up Cold War

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

Russia will keep the Cold War hot—for a long time, the national chairman of the Crusade for Freedom warned in Miami Thursday.

PRICE

Gwilym A. Price, who also is chairman of Westinghouse, issued the warning in kicking off a $50,000 Florida fund-raising drive for Radio Free Europe.

RFE, headquartered in Munich, was launched in the Truman administration as a private venture to bring news of the Free World to 75 million oppressed people in Russia's satellite countries.

Today it is backed by the Eisenhower Administration, said Price.

"The Cold War will continue there are millions of thinking Russians who come to the fundamental conclusion that the dream of conquering the world is a myth," he told Miami business and civic leaders at a luncheon in the Columbus hotel.

He said the West must convince these Russians that the Allies are willing to "live and let live" and to permit the peoples of the world to decide for themselves whether they prefer communism or democracy.

Price said his own observations in Russia convinced him that the Soviet citizen of today is "brainwashed from cradle to the grave."

"I came away somewhat sobered by what I saw — not afraid, but sobered," he reported.

He pointed out that while the U.S. is far ahead of the Soviet Union in industrial production and potential, the Russians are catching up fast and are ahead in war production.

Need Not Embarrass
Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Cowgirl Yields to Horse Show Rule and Dons Blue Skirt

Around Miami

Diane Eckman, curvy 19-year-old cowgirl who threatened to sue for permission to wear pink shorts in the horse show here, relented Thursday and sewed a royal blue skirt on her shorts.

When horse show officials saw her original sequin and rhinestone shorts they told Diane the rules call for costumes resembling the Old West, Spain and Mexico.

Diane and her attorney wrote a complaint, never filed, asking an injunction giving Diane permission to wear the shorts.

Thursday she said "my only intention in wanting to wear the shorts was to be different. I certainly didn't want to cheapen the horse show. All my life I've worked to ride in it."

Metro Economy May Lop Off Some Jobs

In another corner-cutting economy move being considered Thursday by the Metro commissioners, the nine lawyers and assistants for the county and Port Authority would be pared.

County Attorney Darrey A. Davis said he and his five assistants could handle all the work for both the county and the Port Authority.

This would cut off James F. Eckhart, $17,500 Port Authority lawyer, and his two assistants who draw $15,000 together.

California Route Bids Before CAB

Three major Miami-based airlines Thursday had bids in with the Civil Aeronautics Board to operate the first Florida-to-California jet route.

The three carriers — Eastern, National and Delta — are competing for a permit to fly the 5½-hour southern transcontinental route.

But it will probably be at least a year before the coast-to-coast route will be in operations, the CBA indicated.

GI Is Charged In Korea Slaying

The U. S. Army Thursday charged Pfc. Kenneth M. Burke, 22, of Del Rio, Tex., with premeditated murder and attempted murder in the fatal shooting of Miami soldier Pvt. Frank Galgano and wounding of another soldier in Korea.

Galgano, 23, of 8245 NE First Ave. was killed Jan. 23.

Slum Buildings Ordered Torn Down

A dozen rickety slum buildings—some of them hazards—were ordered torn down by the Miami Building Board of Appeals Wednesday.

If the owners do not destroy the condemned buildings by the deadline, the city will tear them down and place liens against the property, a department spokesman said.

Feuders on Job Get a Warning

Union pipefitters feuding on the job at the 20th St. terminal of Miami International Airport must not interfere with work at the building, Circuit Judge J. Fritz Gordon said Thursday.

He ordered the two sides to meet today with the Port Authority attorney to "try to work something out." Work at the building, into which 21 airlines want to move next week, has been stalemated since Monday because of the dispute.

Wanted Man Ends Life

For 10 years, postal inspectors across the country tried to track down Robert P. Kline, alleged interstate mail fraud artist.

They finally arrested the 36-year-old Tulsa, Okla., accountant in a Biscayne Blvd. motel Monday, and let him out on $10,000 bond Tuesday.

But he'll never stand trial. Police Thursday found his body at the home of his attorney, Neil J. Dunn, 2530 S. Miami Ave.

Dr. Joseph E. Davis, medical examiner, said probable cause of death was an overdose of sleeping tablets.

Passport Office To Be in Bank

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The State Department has selected the new First National Bank building in downtown Miami as the site for a new passport issuing office, it was learned Wednesday.

The department's Passport Division is seeking 2,500 square feet of ground floor space in the building to house the nation's eighth issuing office.

It was reported that the General Services Administration, "landlord" agency for the federal government, is negotiating for a lease with the First National Building owners.

The Passport Division's second choice for a Miami site is the Ainsley Building on Flagler St. However, no ground floor space is presently available there.

The new office will cut the time for processing a passport application from the present 10 or more days to two or three days.

Passport applications are now filed in the Federal Court Clerk's office. The application is mailed to Washington, where the passport is prepared and mailed to Miami.

All this will be done in Miami under the new setup.

It is hoped to have the Miami office in operation within two months. It will be staffed by about five employes.

200 Gallons in Truck

Hunch Nets Moonshine

Busy agents of the State Beverage Dept. played a hunch that paid off.

While driving on a routine mission the agents ordered a "suspicious looking truck" to pull over to the curb.

Instead, the truck took off and the agents chased it from NW 71st St. and Seventh Ave. to NW 62nd St. and Eighth Ave., where a Negro and a white occupant fled on foot.

The driver, Jerry Ford, 30, of Arcadia, was not so lucky.

He was captured and arrested for the transportation and possession of moonshine whisky. Concealed in the truck were 200 gallons of moonshine.

Ford was held in $5,000 bond after a preliminary hearing before U.S. Commissioner Roger Davis.

In other raids:

—A moonshine still, including a 50-gallon pot and 200 gallons of mash, was found on the Dade-Broward line about ¼-mile east of U.S. 1 and destroyed.

—At 15625 NW 158th Rd. agents arrested Corrine Miller, 50, for the possession of moonshine. She was booked at county jail under $500 bond.

—In Southwest Dade, about ½-miles south of Silver Palm Dr. and Comfort Rd., agents uncovered a 200-gallon still pot and 300 gallons of mash.

Arrested were Harvey Benson, 37, and Claude J. Clemmons, 36, and Jerome Andrews Navratel, 26.

They were turned over to the Federal Alcohol and Tobacco tax unit of the Treasury Dept. U.S. Commissioner Roger Davis set $5,000 bond for each man.

Navy Airfields Transfer Cleared

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—A proposal to turn over the Naval air fields at Opa-locka to the Dade County Port Authority has been cleared for submission to Congress, Rep. Dante Fascell reported.

Fascell said he was advised the release of the property has been approved by the Defense Dept. and that the proposal will go to the House and Senate Armed Services Committees next week.

Fascell said the Defense Dept. has approved the Navy's release of Amelia Earhart, Master's Field, and Opa-Locka Air Station on the condition that they be used for airports and related purposes.

The Navy is to continue to occupy the Golden Glades housing development until June 30, 1960.

When the proposal is submitted to Congress, the Defense Dept. also will notify the General Services Administration, Uncle Sam's landlord.

GSA will then canvass federal agencies to see if any federal need exists for the property.

Fascell said the Federal Aviation Agency will recommend to GSA that the remaining property be released to the Port Authority for airport use.

Uncle Sam Slaps Tax On Gift Yule Turkey

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service at Tacoma, Wash., has ruled that an employe must pay tax on a turkey received from his boss at Christmas.

This was disclosed by Rep. Thor Tollefson (R., Wash.), who called the ruling ridiculous but technically correct. He said he will ask Congress to exempt such gifts worth less than $20.

Tollefson said a Tacoma business firm told him it had been instructed to add the value of the turkey to the employe's income statement on the tax withholding form. The ruling was retroactive for three years.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

BELL

BEFORE ME is the most fantastic scheme of modern times. Automatic Remote Systems Inc. is ready to open our defunct movie theaters, pay our taxes and build our roads, all six-lane.

This is to be done with off-track betting. They've got it all figured: 76 theaters, each seating 1,000 patrons means 9,576,000 patrons during the 126 days of Florida horse racing. Each patron's to bet $80 a day, making $766,080,000 total, with the state getting $49,795,200. The tracks are to get $65,116,800, purses will be increased, dog tracks will come into the theaters at night, and of course we'll go year 'round, with northern tracks to help us.

They're even figuring $1 admission per bettor per day. The plan is on the desk of Gov. LeRoy Collins (unless he has done something else with it) and it's in the hands of our legislators.

If this goes in effect the residents of Florida will be so busy betting that no work will be done, business will fold, tracks will go broke and we'll be right back to 1920.

Jim Buchanan of our city staff just looooves rock 'n' roll. So, sezze: "I've found a perfect vacation spot for rock 'n' rollers. It's a mountain peak in Mozambique called Gogogo. Not only is it a fur piece from Miami, but it's high. And if they rock on the rocks hard enough a goodly percentage could rock off."

Mrs. Helena Hall sent me photos of a couple of highway signs. One is from good old Georgia, up the line: "Warning: Drive Slo — Speed Trap; Courtesy Jessup Business Men's Association." The American Automobile Association is re-routing its members away from Jessup because of the speed trap. So Jessup store owners went after the trap of their own town police force.

The other sign is from a beautiful woodsy spot in Saskatchewan, Canada: "This is God's country; Don't drive through like hell."

Scouts Calling

Enthusiasm of young men (and some not so young) for Cub Scout work is good for the soul — and the community. There's a pow wow at Hialeah Auditorium from noon to 6:30 p.m. Saturday, and more than 100 prospective adult leaders already have accepted invitations. They'll get a complete fill-in on Scout work, with dinner at the finish line.

Nosey?

Well yes, in more ways than the obvious. This sad-eyed mule is quite curious as to what happened to her master. She was wandering around 207th St. and S. Dixie Highway when two humans began chasing her over haystacks and around Cadillacs. She was finally put into a trailer and carted off to the Humane Society. Forsman Anderson, the society's shelter manager, figures she's about 25 years old —being female, she's not braying.

Seminoles Cry 'Foul'

Indians Rap Caldwell For 'Tribe-Swapping'

Leaders of the Miccosukee branch of the Seminole Indian tribe were out Thursday after the scalp of former Gov. Millard Caldwell.

They charged that the ex-governor, who was one of their attorneys for a time in their efforts to get title to 200,000 acres of Everglades land, now is violating a verbal agreement with them and is trying to "change sides."

The charge is based on a petition filed by Caldwell's law firm in Tallahassee asking the court to determine whether he now can represent the opposing, or Muskogee faction of the tribe, who seek a huge cash settlement.

The Miccosukee faction, sometimes known as the "Trail Seminoles," wants the land. Caldwell, in a petition filed in Leon County (Tallahassee) Circuit Court, asks if he can withdraw from that case and represent the Muskogee, or "Reservation" Indians.

The reservation faction wants cash, lots of it. The sum of $50,000,000 has been asked from the federal government by Attorney John O. Jackson of Jacksonville, with whom the former governor now seeks to associate himself.

Silver would not discuss the recent development, saying it would be "improper" to do so while the case is in court. He referred questions to Tiger. The phone at Tiger's camp was reported to be "temporarily disconnected." His wife, reached in Miami, talked readily.

She said there were "several witnesses" at a meeting last summer in the Tamiami Trail headquarters when Caldwell asked to withdraw. She said her husband's group agreed only when he said he would not "change sides."

The petition asks the state to "allow for reasonable attorney fees" in the settlement—a line that drew sharp and adverse criticism from Gov. LeRoy Collins.

Cash payments asked by the Jacksonville attorney for the other faction is based on an old treaty, but one which he contends was legal and ratified by the U.S. Senate. This one gave the Seminoles a huge slice of Florida, northward from Lake Okeechobee through the Ocala region.

'War Is Near--'

Buffalo Tiger, leader of the Trail Seminoles, warned in Miami Thursday that a war between Indian factions is near.

"My people will go on the warpath if they (reservation Indians) get their cash and we are cheated of our land," he said.

"We mean business. We have nothing to lose, we might as well fight."

He said, "Many of my people feel they can not trust the white man any longer."

He said that if the "white man's government allows him (ex-Gov. Millard Caldwell) to go to the other side, it is true that the white man's word can not be trusted."

2 Seminoles Killed in Trail Crash

Two Seminole Indians, killed in a single-car smashup 15 miles west of Miami on the Tamiami Trail Thursday will be buried while fellow tribesmen chant an Indian burial ritual.

Killed when their auto skidded several hundred feet and hit a tree were:

JAMES CHESTNUT, 34, of 1875 NW South River Drive, the driver.

DUKE BILLY, 18, of Collier County, a passenger.

Their deaths brought Dade's road fatality toll to 24, compared with 18 at the same time last year.

Reed-Gautier Funeral Home in Miami said Indians were already making arrangements Thursday for an Indian burial for Chestnut. Funeral rites for Billy were not complete, but they will be similar to Chestnut's.

The two were returning to Miami after visiting Billy's brother, Bobby Billy, at John Pool Camp on the Trail. The accident occurred between 2 and 3 a.m.

At Variety Club Show

Ol' Trouper Jessel Pinch Hits for Hope

Egg-eyed Georgie Jessel, Toastmaster General of show business, came on like the cavalry Thursday after a blood clot kept Bob Hope from the Variety Show here.

JESSEL

Jessel, in Miami to emcee a private party for the polio fund, left a dinner engagement, without eating, and hurried to the Miami Beach Auditorium and the packed house for the "Show of Shows."

The show, for the benefit of Variety Children's Hospital, brought in more than $20,000.

Betty Grable, blonde and beautiful as ever, was the first act of the celebrity-powered program, which included Jack Benny, George Gobel, Duke Ellington and others.

"You know," said Jessel backstage, "I introduced Betty in the first movie I ever produced, 'The Dolly Sisters,' back in 1944. And this is the first time we've ever been on stage together."

Comedian Hope, forced to cancel his promise to emcee the show because of a blood clot in his left eye, sent a telegram to Sammy Walsh, show producer, expressing his regret.

". . . Other years are coming," he said, "so don't forget to call on me in the future."

Betty Grable Shines

. . . at show of shows

Hope wasn't the only one who suffered from bad luck at show time.

Tina Robin, Miami singer, started for the auditorium but was late when she got stuck in an elevator at the Diplomat Hotel during a power failure.

And a white-haired gentleman in the audience, perhaps overcome by the shapely Miss Grable, left the three-hour show early.

He suffered a heart attack and was carried out on a stretcher.

'Copter Makes Rescue on Key

Pair Turn Up on Tropic Isle

Two wildly waving, sunburned men were rescued by helicopter on a Florida key Thursday.

It was (almost) like in the movies:

SCENE ONE: Two men, tired, bruised, cling to a seawall, frantically waving for help.

SCENE TWO: Boat "Angle Bar" tries to move in; is beaten off by waves. Skipper radios Coast Guard.

SCENE THREE: U.S. Coast Guard Helicopter flies to rescue (theme music over and out).

However, Coast Guard officials said prospective producers of this epic may well want to leave out a few parts of the true-life story, since (1) the key was Key Biscayne and (2) the men were just two blocks from the residential district.

The unidentified men had wandered away from Crandon Park and gotten lost, Coast Guard officials said.

Only A Few Tarnished Spots

Tourists Shine On Gold Coast

Beach Crowds Point Up Increase in Tourist Travel to Dade

. . . but sunshine may be one factor in Hialeah racetrack drop-off

Influx Tops '58 Mark For Area

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

The winter tourist season hit its full stride Thursday and found itself in better shape than last year in many respects.

But so far there's no positive pattern that can label the 1958-59 season as either a whopping success or a dismal failure. It seems to be somewhere in between those extremes.

TOURIST TRAVEL into the area is heavier than last year, but betting and attendance at Hialeah — usually a prime economic indicator — is off.

HOTEL AND MOTELS on Miami Beach appear to be enjoying a healthy business, but garbage collections are down six per cent from last year at this time.

THE BEACHES have been crowded on these sunny days and dog track business is up, but if any really big spenders are here they are few.

BIG NIGHT CLUBS have good crowds at show time, but generally the owners are complaining that business could be a lot better.

"THERE'S every reason for this to be a good season," said Miami Beach's publicity chief, Hank Meyer. "The weather, the stock market and national economic conditions are all on our side."

Last year was the season of the big cold that kept tourists away in droves and led to a number of hotel bankruptcies. But new hotels opened this year, following a familiar pattern, causing many hotelmen to shake their heads and say, "The Beach is overbuilt."

In the first 16 days of Hialeah's season, attendance was off 6.7 per cent and wagering off 3.5 per cent.

In some quarters the betting fall-off was attributed to a new crop of bookies operating out of Miami Beach hotels and cabanas.

But John Ring, chairman of the State Racing Commission, blamed it on too much sunshine, of all things.

"When it's cloudy, cold or wet, the tourists flock to the race track in the afternoon," he said. "But when the sun is shining brightly, they go to the beach."

★ ★ ★

BUT THE FAVORABLE weather apparently is helping the dog tracks and jai alai frontons, which operate at night.

West Flagler Kennel Club closed its 80-day season with its total attendance of 425,622 registering a three per cent gain over 1957-58 and its betting total of $18,335,818 showing a six per cent rise.

Attendance and wagering both are up about 28 per cent at Miami Beach Kennel Club.

On the travel front, the air lanes and the highways are bringing in more people.

"We have three more airlines running in here this year (Northwest, Capital and TWA)," a Dade County Port Authority spokesman said, "and passenger traffic is up substantially."

"You can't consider the early part of last season bad in comparisons," said an official of First Research Corp., which keeps its finger on South Florida's economic pulse. "The actual effects of the cold weather in 1957-58 didn't really hit until last February."

His conclusion — and that of most informed tourist-watchers polled by The Herald:

"We're registering modest gains over last season."

Skindiver Lost on Repair Job

A power company skindiver was swept away by the tide and presumed drowned Thursday while attempting to repair a submerged cable at Norris Cut, just off the southern tip of Fisher Island.

Divers from the Miami and Miami Beach police departments searched the choppy waters of the cut until dusk, but found no trace of the body.

Beach police identified him as Frank D. Currey, 26, of SW Sixth St. and 15th Ave.

Patrolman Robert Vincent said members of the Florida Power & Light Co. repair crew, stationed on a nearby barge, went to Currey's aid after he apparently became sick in the water.

"A man swimming just above him said Currey ripped the diving mask from his face," Vincent said. "He had just entered the water — it was about 10 feet deep there — and the salt water may have made him sick."

Two other swimmers were towing the struggling man toward the barge when he broke free and was swept away by the four-knot incoming tide, witnesses told Vincent.

Currey was wearing an air tank and eight pounds of lead weights. Police said the area will be dragged today.

3rd Gunman Is Nabbed

Miami Beach police Thursday rounded up the third suspect in the armed robbery of a DiLido Island home with the arrest of Abe (Red) Katz, 51, of 795 NE 155th Ter.

Katz, and the two other gunmen arrested Wednesday, Benny Husick and Dave Yaras, all were out on $5,000 bond each.

"They stepped a little out of their league," said Lt. C. W. Huddleston, when the trio attempted to dupe $175,000 in Cuban pesos out of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Vasquez, 803 E. DiLido Dr.

Irregularities Charged

Zone Suit Called Off In Department Probe

By C. G. BERNING
Herald Staff Writer

The court trial of a zoning suit was abruptly called off Thursday as a probe began into charges of "irregularities" in Dade's building and zoning department.

Judge Grady Crawford stopped the trial, declaring:

"The circumstances are now being investigated by the state attorney (for) possible submission to the grand jury."

County Attorney Darrey Davis said he called in State Attorney Gerstein while preparing a defense against the suit.

The suit was filed by Harold Monuse, 18735 NW 11th Ct., North Miami, after:

1. Monuse obtained a zoning variance and permit last fall to build an auto repair shop in an area zoned for homes and some businesses.

2. The permit was revoked after homeowners protested they were not notified of the zoning board hearing.

Monuse is suing to get his permit back.

His attorney, Miami Mayor Robert King High, withdrew from the suit Thursday, saying he did not know there was "any taint connected with it."

Monuse owns four lots at NW 27th Ave. and 169th St. The garage foundation and part of the walls have been completed already.

Gerstein confirmed that an investigation is under way.

R. H. Eastwood, deputy director of the county planning, zoning and building department, said that he told Gerstein notices are sent out to all property owners as a routine matter. Sending of such notices is not a legal requirement but nevertheless regarded as a "must" by the department, Eastwood said.

Department Director Robert H. Cook could not be reached for comment.

Tony Curtis and She Refuse a Script a Day, Says Janet Leigh

LYNN FONTANNE and Alfred Lunt, Ozzie and Harriet, Mel Ferrer and Audrey Hepburn, Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy and the other husband-and-wife acting teams can breath easier now. The warm, pursuing breath of Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis is no threat to their standing. And that, in spite of their current success as a romantic team in "The Perfect Furlough," now showing at the Carib, Miami and Miracle Theaters.

Resting at the Saxony Hotel after a flight from Key West where she is acting only as an interested bystander while Tony plies his thespic art in "Operation Petticoat" opposite Cary Grant, Mrs. Curtis — Janet Leigh that is — says that there is no intention of making it a professional thing.

"I suppose we turn down a script a day," she says of the teaming offers. "We have made four films together — 'Houdini,' 'Black Shield of Falmouth,' 'The Viking' and the current 'The Perfect Furlough' — each about a year or a year-and-a-half apart."

But when Janet makes a movie with Tony she lives the part to a degree that goes beyond the requirements of the most advanced disciple of Stanislavsky. The script of "The Perfect Furlough," for instance, concerns a rumor that Miss Leigh is pregnant. You guessed it — she gave birth to her latest child nine months after the picture was filmed! This teaming realism can go too far!

Jack Teagarden in Hospital

JACK TEAGARDEN, who is to play several South Florida dates this spring, has been in Glendale Hospital in California with an abdominal obstruction . . . Roger Stevens is prepping "Motel," a play by Thomas W. Phipps, for a fall showing on Broadway . . . Oops! that ad in Variety erred in stating that Monte Cristo is in Fort Lauderdale — it's in Palm Beach.

Wonder if Leonard Levinson will mind if we work on a story called "The Plot to Shave Castro." He has a similar title about Jerry Colonna in the anniversary Variety mag.

Biggest laugh out of Ben Novack during the Jack Benny opener at the Fontainebleau Hotel La Ronde Room was when Benny, in a penny-pincher characterization, looked about the lavish premises and said: "I'll be, a hotel like this could cost all of $70,000."

Rumor has it that only a few hours earlier Novack and his associates had been handed an $18,000,000 offer by a hotel chain for Benny's $70,000 hotel." . . . Hotel above the 90's" on theocean is changing hands for something like $2,000,000—and we don't mean Russian rubles. And you'd need $1,000,000 cash to swing a deal on a well-known hostelry in the 30's.

Things - We - Never - Knew - Until - We - Opened-the-Mail: "Decorating the walls of the Venus (ladies) Room of Out of This World Inn are life-sized photos of musclemen." Vim-up boys? . . . "Janie Thomas, dancer in the Latin Quarter revue, 'Sky High,' vows that she will marry a poor guy. Claims that life has greater fulfillment when two people struggle towards common goals." Now in polo they have goal handicaps.

Drummer Rides Bicycle Seat

"KNOW HOW Chris Columbo gets all that bounce when he's drumming away at Ciro's Lounge? He doesn't sit on a regular chair — he uses a saddle-type bicycle seat." A new departure? . . . "Tubby Boots, 365-pound comedy star of the Gaiety, gets big laughs when he tells the audience he never "grew up' — he 'blew up." Tubby jokes good like a comedian should.

In what Louis Fiskin tells us will be a world premiere, the Lincoln Theater will offer "The Black Orchid" on Wednesday night as a benefit for the Greater Miami Heart Fund. Eugene Weiss is chairman for the sponsoring committee. The film will open at the Flamingo, Trail and Loew's 170th St. Theaters Thursday.

There are people in Cuba who tell you they've seen a check for $100,000 allegedly given by Errol Flynn to indicate good intentions in the actor's intent to film a movie in which he would play 32-year-old Fidel Castro! It will be a character role, no doubt . . . Elana, whose last name is Nelson and not something like Tokaruaimatauaia as you'd expect from a specialist in Hawaiian music and dancing is at the Vagabond club currently. And that lengthy monicker we used for comparative purposes is the legit name of a movie actor known on screen as Adam West! We don't blame him.

Britches Bardot has quit the Ringling Circus after four seasons of performing with an act that featured dogs, ponies and a llama. She's now working at the Admiral Vee lounge — but not with the animals, the racehorse Admiral Vee, for whom the spot is named won't permit it. Sa Britches is doing a rope act.

Riot Room's Lynn Taylor almost started a riot and almost got into a Miss America preliminary as Miss Greater Philadelphia some years ago. But sponsors found out she was only 15 . . .Guess Betty Grable is a star's star. She had Paul Whiteman, Dioso Costello and Keefe Braselle watching her on a recent night at the Latin Quarter.

Marilyn Naps As Art Fights Traffic Jam

CELEBS ABOUT TOWN: Shelley Winters (togged in white cloth coat and white babushka) studying a pipe shop's window display on Madison near 48th . . . Lucille Ball hiding her unusual orange tresses with a brunette frosted wig . . . Jackie Robinson (former Dodgers star), whose hair is now almost all-white . . . Esther Williams, completely dry (even to the martini), dining at the Bird 'n Glass . . . Judy Holliday being introduced to Billie Holiday at the Village Vanguard . . . Marilyn Monroe sleeping soundly on the front seat of her small German car as groom Arthur Miller snails his way through cross-town traffic . . . Pat Boone gorging himself from a heaping platter of vegetables at the 57th Street Automat near 6th . . . Martha Hyer, Sinatra's frustration in "Some Came Running" (a very good show), soda sipping in the Astor Hotel druggery . . . Zsa Zsa "dollinking" everyone in sight at Sardi's.

SALLIES IN OUR ALLEY: One of his aides walked into Frank Sinatra's dressing room the other day and announced: "Someone waiting to see you. He's very important" . . . "How important," chuckled Frank, "can a he be?" . . . Showgirls from "The World of Suzie Wong" and "The Flower Drum Song" were chatting about the new show, "Tall Story" . . . "Hmm," hmm'd one, "what an odd title."

BROADWAY SKETCH: Tallulah Bankhead was asked by an interviewer: "Do you ever smoke cigars in public? Or anything like that to attract attention?" . . . "No," said the star, "I don't have to smoke cigars to attract attention. I just stay at home and people wonder what I'm up to."

MEMOS OF A MIDNIGHTER: Separated Mrs. Q. Reynolds, (Virginia Pine) shopping for an Alabama abrogation to wed a socialite? . . . The James Hammersteins are asunder but not unmarried . . . The Half Moon Hotel (Montego Bay) is getting the big play from the Snob Set . . . Marjorie Fields, the playwright's daughter, merging with ad exec James Downey? . . . Vic Damone's Pretty Baby is Victoria Caldwell. She flew in from the coast to be closer . . . They say Anna Magnani lost her li'l ol' heart again. This time to Dr. Jonah Guido, noted Italian heart medic . . . Gertrude Ederle's memoirs, "Don't Weep For Me," have film studios and publishers bidding . . . Mrs. Roosevelt's column recently mentioned that a couple gave her a lift on a rainy morning. This is to inform Eleanor that the gracious man in that car was an associate of Johnny Dio, noted underworlder now doing 15 to 30 in prison.

BROADWAY NOVELET: Magazine writer Nanette Kutner was the press-agent for George White's "Scandals" in the long ago . . . The show had two prima donnas . . . Rose Perfect and Frances Williams . . . For their solos, each wore a low cut black velvet evening gown . . . One night Francis pinned a fresh white gardenia on her frock. . . The next show Miss Perfect, not to be outdone, pinned on two . . . Francis came back with three and so on . . . At Nanette's instigation the drama pages and columnists took it from there. They called it "The Battle of the Gardenias" and the war raged until the producer stopped it. He said audiences wanted to hear songs "not count flowers" . . . By that time Miss Perfect had reached six gardenias and the newspapers declared her the victor . . . Frances Williams felt she had been gypped . . . At her funeral last week Frances received seven gardenias . . . The card was signed: Nanette.

WHY CHEFS Wear Those Hats: The fashion was started in the 1700s by Vatel, first of the great Frenchefs . . . At that time kitchens of monarchs (and other nobility) had so many chefs Mons. Vatel started the vogue to distinguish the most important man in the kitchen . . . The higher the hat the more important the chef. Vatel, very temperamental, committed suicide because a dinner he was arranging for Madam de Sivigne had no fish. It came late . . . The original chef hats were pleated and worn straight up. Some used to decorate their hats with medals they won . . . August Escoffier, who considered himself superior to any chef, wore a black hat when he ruled the kitchens of the London Ritz . . . Most of the hats are made by the chef's wife or sweetie . . . Chefs, usually meek, mild people, become the opposite when they don their hats . . . When a chef resigns he merely puts his hat on the boss' desk and walks away. A chef can be fired by the owner walking into the kitchen and removing the chef's hat.

SOUNDS IN THE NIGHT: At Lindy's: "She's terribly cultured. Can bore you on any subject" . . . At Andre's: "My agent gets ten per cent of everything except my enemies" . . . At Cafe Leon: "Don't drag it out. Just give me the lies" . . . At the Golden Fiddle: "He's in his early 60s and she's in his late thousands."

VISITOR from space can read what is being thought behind his back in Gore Vidal's "Visit to a Small Planet," currently on stage at Coconut Grove Playhouse. Matt McCulloch, as a general's aide, is the mind being "read" here.

Harpo-oning?

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (AP) — Latest to join the memoirs writers is Harpo Marx. It should be a nifty, since Harpo was the darling of the New York intelligentsia.

Troupe Opens Here Tonight

Has 'New Things in Store' For Miamians, Says Greco

By DORIS RENO
Herald Music and Art Editor

People love to watch Spanish dancing because it makes a more direct and more human impact than other forms of dancing, such as the ballet, according to Jose Greco, probably the top exponent of the flamenco dance form in America.

"And we have several other new things in store for you," he told us from Ocala.

Greco, who is currently making a state-wide tour of Florida, says Spanish dancing must be presented as "good theater" to be effective, but people do not have to know as much about it technically to "get" it.

Greco and his all-Spanish troupe will present two performances in Miami this week, at 8:30 p.m. tonight and Saturday in Dade County auditorium.

Greco's troupe has danced in Miami a good many times previously, but Greco says that on earlier visits they have never presented their version of the Falla ballet, "The Three-Cornered Hat."

"Of course our performances are strenuous," he said, "but they do not wear us out because emotionally the dancing keeps our spirits high. If you love doing a thing, you do not get tired doing it."

Greco says his company has danced all over Europe except in Russia. "We cannot enter that country because Spain does not have diplomatic relations with Russia," he explained.

The current tour started Jan. 1 and will continue deep into the spring. After that the troupe will go to Europe for summer engagements.

Kerr, Brynner in Hungary Now

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (AP) — Deborah Kerr and Yul Brynner continue their Anna and the King of Siam relationship in "The Journey," but not with as propitious results.

The story of the Hungarian revolt was beautifully photographed in Austria, but the human values are too often muddied in the film.

Cooper, Schell In Fine Western

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UP) — Best Western in a long time is "The Hanging Tree." Gary Cooper plays a real character in this one, not just the stalwart man of the West.

Maria Schell gives the film real dimension with a fine acting job. Newcomer Ben Piazza should be the next sensation of the teenagers.

Writers Get 4 More Weeks Off

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (AP) — Betty Comden and Adolph Green are a hit with their two-person recital on Broadway. So Arthur Freed gave them an extra four weeks before reporting to MGM to write the movie version of "The Bells Are Ringing."

The producer adds: "Now they'll probably want to act in the picture, too".

Rooney Excellent In 'Last Mile'

By GEORGE BOURKE
Herald Amusement Editor

"The Last Mile," at the Florida, Coral and Colony Theaters, is a melodrama dealing with a revolt in the death house cellblock of a prison. In it Mickey Rooney turns in a bang-bang-up performance in the Killer Mears role which Spencer Tracy originated in the Broadway version back in 1930.

Movie Review

It is an exciting bit of melodrama once the ambitious but hopeless-from-the-start attempt to break out is under way but the early sequences, during which the threat of the chair is accentuated, are positively painful in their detail.

Only two sets are used — the cell block and the warden's office.

In the final reels Director Howard Koch skillfully keeps the action shifting back and forth via the inter-com system through which Rooney is doing his bargaining for safe passage out of the prison.

Koch has cast all parts in "The Last Mile" well.

Outstanding are those of Clifford Davis, as the prisoner awaiting a stay of execution with the chair only minutes away; Don Barry, as a cellblock guard who plays cat-and-mouse with his charges; Leon Janney, former child star as a sadistic officer, and Frank Overton, as a priest.

> IN BRIEF — Mickey Rooney scores as ruthless killer in remake of classic about a death cell escape attempt.

Film Beats a Familiar Path

Ex-Confederates Find Love, Action in 'Escort West'

"Escort West," at the Trail Theater, beats a familiar trail along the story line about former Confederate officers who get involved with frontier activities.

Movie Review

In this version Victor Mature is the officers and he is headed west with his young daughter, Reba Waters, when the trouble and the romance starts.

The first — the trouble — is alternatingly with the Union troops who are "protecting" the area and the Indians, the Modoc Indians in this case. The romance concerns Elaine Stewart who is a member of the Army party.

Then there is additional trouble, of the deadlier sort, from Faith Domergue, Miss Stewart's sister, and a violent oppositionist to the Confederate cause.

Francis D. Lyonn directed but he hasn't been given much story-wise with which to work.

Filling out the cast are Rex Ingraham, who does a standout job, Slim Pickens, John Hubbard and Syd Saylor. Old timers will recall the last for his silent comedy shorts.

> IN BRIEF — Victor Mature wears a Confederate uniform in another Dixie boy-meets-Union cavalry tale.

He Said Bathing Suits—Got 'Em

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Miss Sweden and Miss Norway, visiting Alan Ladd's "Man in the Net" set, asked the star for his autograph.

"I'll sign my name on your bathing suits," he joked to the fully clothed girls. The suits arrived by messenger the next day.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
2 ♣	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
6 ♣	Pass	6 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♣.

In bridge, unlike many other activities, it is sometimes possible to have one's cake and eat it, too.

Resort to the proper technique in today's hand, for example, would have permitted declarer to reconvert from one form of production to another without any wasted effort.

The slam contract, sound in all respects, was reached on a normal sequence of bids. North gave some thought to going all the way but finally decided to settle on the more conservative course.

West's opening lead of the ten of clubs drove out dummy's lone side entry and declarer had to decide whether to establish the spade suit, employing dummy's trumps as entries, or try the diamond finesse and then play for a cross-ruff. He dismissed the latter plan as somewhat hazardous. He chose instead to play for the establishment of the spades.

With an eye to avoiding the risk of an overruff, he led a low spade from dummy and trumped high. He reentered dummy with a heart and when East showed out on the next lead of spades, the hand collapsed.

There is no criticism of the manner in which declarer had mapped his over-all campaign. But on the execution of that campaign there was available to him a technique superior to the one he had chosen. His best play is to cash the ace and king of spades first. If they survive, declarer proceeds to establish the suit by ruffing two small spades with the jack and ten of trumps, needing now only a reasonable heart break.

On the recommended line of play, when South tries to cash the second high spade, East will, of course, ruff. Declarer overruffs and observing that the plan to establish that suit must be abandoned, proceeds to play for a crossruff, ruffing clubs in the dummy and taking the diamond finesse. By ruffing back and forth, he brings his total of tricks to 12.

Marionettes Replace Stars

Robin Hood will take precedent over the stars this weekend when the Museum of Science and Natural History forgoes its planetarium show to present a marionette version of Robin Hood.

The Kingsland Marionettes will star in Robin Hood exploits. One of the highlights will be the "Archery Contest at Nottingham Castle" when Robin Hood splits the arrow of Nottingham's sheriff's best archer, Sir Hugh-of-the-Moors.

"The Town Musicians of Bremen" and short scenes on the circus and ballet also will be enacted by the marionettes. There will be three shows on Saturday at 10:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. and a 3 p.m. Sunday show. Donation is 25 cents. The museum is at 1737 N. Bayshore Dr.

3 Classes Added At Night School

Courses in French, journalism, and child care are open at Miami High Adult Education Center, the after-dark version of Miami High at 2450 SW First Street.

Fee for each course is $2. Journalism and child care classes meet from 7 to 10 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday and French is taught from 7:30 to 9:30 on the same evenings.

The details on each course may be obtained by calling the school after 2 p.m., according to Keith N. Bennett, principal.

War Babies Foretell a Business Rise

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

The war babies of 1942-1945 will make a business boom in 1962-1965, a leading economist and securities analyst said Thursday.

N. Leonard Jarvis, who has been successful in the past in forecasting economic and stock market trends, sees a moderate business growth throughout the U.S. from now until 1962.

"But between 1962 and 1965, the growth will be greater than it has been in recent years," he said. "The war babies will be getting married and their needs will stimulate business."

JARVIS

Jarvis is here on a combined business and pleasure trip. He's a senior partner of Hayden, Stone and Co. which is associated with Miami Beach's Daniel F. Rice and Co.

Getting back to 1959, he has some tips on the stock market which are good right now.

Jarvis said this is going to be a good year in building, automobiles, cement, chemicals, copper, electrical appliances, shoes, retail trade, textiles, petroleum and paper.

★ ★ ★

IT WILL BE A fairly good year, he says, for airlines, baking, electrical equipment, finance companies, food chains, office equipment manufacturers and rubber.

And he foresees small gains in containers, soap, public utilities, sulphur and sugar.

Jarvis is a believer in cautious buying. Buy only after thoughtful, careful analysis is his thesis.

"If President Eisenhower balances the budget, this year will be bearish on the market," Jarvis said. "But on a long-term basis, it will be bullish on both the market and business in general."

If the budget is not balanced, the reverse will be true, he predicted.

★ ★ ★

JARVIS FEELS that the Dow Jones industrial average, now hovering around 592, will advance to 700 by the end of the year and to 800 within the next three years.

Think those are startling forecasts?

Jarvis foresees our gross national product hitting 440 billion dollars this year, as opposed to last year's 419 billion. By 1968, he says, it should reach 615 billion.

The reason for this optimism: those war babies again.

Stockholders Are Customers, Too

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. Often when a stock is split the reason given is "to permit the stock to be traded in a lower price range." And that is the point that puzzles me.

Why does a company have any interest in how actively its stock is traded? Why does the company care whether the price of its stock is high or low? Once a company has sold its issue of stock it has achieved its goal of getting additional capital, hasn't it?

So, trading back and forth between buyers and sellers of the stock doesn't change the amount of the company's capital one bit. Right?

DOYLE

A. There are several reasons why companies like to see a strong market for any of its securities in the hands of the public.

The first, and by far the most important, is that corporate financing is seldom a one-shot affair. After a company has sold its first issue of securities, it may want to sell other securities to raise additional cash for expansion or some other reason.

If there is a good market for its outstanding securities, the company usually finds it easier and less expensive to sell additional securities.

Besides that, stockholders normally make good customers. They are more likely to buy their own company's products than those of a competitor. And there's the political side of it. Any elected official with half an ounce of brains will think twice before making reckless charges against a company with thousands of stockholders who are also voters.

How does a split enter into this? Well, more people are likely to buy a low or medium-price stock than a high-price stock. That's human nature. When a company whose stock is trading at, say $100 splits the stock two-for-one (doubling the number of shares but reducing the trading price to $50), it invariably sees the number of shareholders increase.

Q. My husband and I will retire in about 12 or 15 years and would like to invest $1,500 or $2,000 in some growth stock. Our home is almost paid for. We have no dependents, no debts and about $14,000 in a credit union at 5 per cent, plus $2,000 in the bank.

We both like electronics stocks. What is your opinion of Northrop Aircraft and Radio Corp. of America? Or, should we put it all in Pacific Gas & Electric?

A. Now, here is a family that can afford to invest. And, with the amount of money you have socked away, you should logically aim at growth. All the stocks you mention have growth possibilities. The choice is up to you. Remember, though, that when you look for growth you take on added risk.

The exception here might be Pacific G&E. It has put on a nice steady climb. Its future may not be spectacular. But it looks good for a long haul.

Q. Do you feel that now is a good time to start investing in common stocks? I am interested in buying General Motors, Standard Oil of California and Warner-Lambert. However, it seems to me that too many stocks are too high at this time. Do you agree?

A. I don't know. If you are figuring values according to current earnings and dividends of each stock, there's no doubt that many (perhaps most) are selling "too high." If you are figuring values on potentials for the years ahead, then just as many stocks are undoubtedly priced right or even "too low."

I'll say this: No time is the right time for a beginner to dump his or her life savings into the market in one lump sum. But this, or any other time, is the right time to begin a steady investment program in the three stocks you have in mind, or in any other good securities.

Q. I am an 11-year-old girl. I have $400. My father wants me to invest in growth stocks and recommends Callahan Mining. Please tell me, is it a good investment.?

A. No, it is not. It is a speculation. That doesn't mean that your dad is trying to steer you wrong. But ask him for detailed definitions of investment and speculation. When he realizes how interested you are, he will probably change his recommendation or, at least, explain why he made it.

67 Hours to Move Bank

Lavish New Quarters Are Shown

While workmen hammered away on the first floor and bank employes punched at bookkeeping machines on the second, the First National Bank put on a sneak preview of its lavish new quarters at 100 Biscayne Blvd., South, Thursday night.

Part of the bank's machine-age bookkeeping department is in round-the-clock operation in the new building even as carpets are laid and furniture is uncased in preparation for a scheduled opening Monday morning.

"It may not look like it now but we'll be ready for business Monday," said Comer J. Kimball, chairman of the board of Florida's largest banking institution.

The First National will occupy the first four floors of the spanking new 18-story addition to Miami's skyline. In addition, there is a penthouse dining room for bank executives.

The challenging task of actually moving the bank—money, safe deposit boxes, and all — from the First National's present Flagler St. location will be done over the weekend.

To comply with federal law, a bank must be open on every scheduled banking day. The move will begin after close of business today and will be completed sometime Sunday.

There are only 67 hours in which to accomplish the transfer.

One oddity: the assistant to the president can see both views easily while the president, Ralph Crum, is limited to looking out at Biscayne Blvd.

Office space in the floors above bank-level won't be filled for some weeks yet, although it's 90 per cent rented or spoken for.

Some of the conveniences in the new structure include drive-in facilities accessible from two streets, a multi-level parking garage, 12 elevators (five of which travel 750 feet a minute), an air-conditioned vault with 30-inch-thick walls, a lobby floor made of Italian marble, and full-fidelity music pouring at you wherever you go.

"We were really cramped in the old building," said Kimball, "but this one is built for expansion. Where we have been operating with 70,000 square feet of floor space, we now have 120,000 — and there's 25,000 more to grow into."

Stock Firm Accused Of Fraud

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Securities & Exchange Commission Thursday accused the big Wall Street brokerage firm of Reynolds & Co., with fraud, deceit and forgery in security sales and management.

The brokerage and underwriting house has offices in eight states and includes among its partners President Eisenhower's golfing companion, Clifford Roberts. Its officials were ordered to appear at a hearing in San Francisco next Tuesday to answer charges.

A Spokane, Wash., brokerage firm, Cleek-Tindell Co., Inc., also was charged with "fraud and deceit" in connection with the Reynolds case. It similarly was ordered to be present at next Tuesday's hearing.

Some of the most severe charges, the result of two years of investigation, involved the sale by the two firms of securities in uranium properties.

Railroads Plan Campaign Against 'Featherbedding'

Dow-Jones, AP, UPI, CDN

American railroads will soon launch a major campaign against feather-bedding practices of their labor unions.

The campaign will be kicked off by Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Association of Railroads in a speech next week.

While principal points of the coming campaign have already been outlined to the nation's major railroad executives, they have been sworn to secrecy on the subject.

On Nov. 1 the three-year labor contracts between the railroads and their labor unions expire. Before that time the carriers will try to negotiate new contracts.

Elimination of feather-bedding practices, which call for pay for work not done, would permit the railroads to make a better pay offer without being hurt so deeply in the pocketbook.

Different Issue

Executives Talk Faith

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

CHICAGO — When La Salle St. executives meet for luncheon their talk usually is of stocks and bonds.

But this week some executives are facing a different kind of issue.

They're participating in a week-long faith and life mission—both around the luncheon table and in their North Shore homes and churches.

The mission is sponsored by the Winnetka Presbyterian Church and the Ministerial Fellowship of Winnetka and North field. It is believed to be the first of its kind held in the nation.

The question being asked is: "How can I relate Christ to my everyday business life?"

Food Price Spread Eyed by Economists

NEW YORK—(UPI)—Americans spend more than 20 cents of every dollar they earn after taxes for food.

The nation's food budget has soared from 16 billion dollars in 1939 to more than 75 billion dollars at present, reflecting a bigger population, a trend toward processed and pre-packaged foods, and higher prices.

Because food purchases are such an important part of the family's budget, food prices are watched closely by housewives and economists. Right now prices are going down, which is the reason the cost of living fell in December for the first time since August.

One of the things that has disturbed some economists in the postwar period is the growing price spread between what the farmer receives for his raw product and what the consumer pays at the grocery counter.

An example of the price spread is the difference in price of what the farmer gets for his wheat and what housewives pay for flour, cereals, bread or cake mixes.

There are some experts who argue the price spread is too big. They say in relation to what the farmer receives, the consumer is paying too much.

How big is the spread? The Agriculture Department uses a "farm food market basket," a standard assortment of domestic farm food products which the average family of four purchases during the course of a year, as a yardstick.

In 1946, the farm value of this basket was $397 while the retail value was $767—a spread of $370. In 1958 the estimated farm value was $425 and the retail value $1,055—a spread of $630.

This means that what the farmer got for his produce increased only $28 in the postwar period while what the consumer paid went up $288. The increase in the spread worked out to $260.

The food industry vigorously denies the allegation that this spread is too big or that the consumer is being soaked. The industry points to its meager profit-margin—the lowest for any major industry—as concrete evidence of this.

Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc., said average net profits of food processors and distributors now approximate three cents of the consumer's food dollar, compared with six cents in 1939.

Willis said the higher cost of labor, taxes and transportation "directly account for about 75 per cent of the postwar increase in spread."

Willis said "far from adding to the cost of spread, the declining rate of food industry profits has partially cushioned the impact of higher costs."

He noted that the food industry, now the nation's largest peacetime manufacturing business, has changed greatly from the days when it produced few foods in simple forms. The modern supermarket today carries around 7,000 food items, 85 per cent of which are processed and pre-packaged.

"The time spent by the homemaker in meal preparation is far less than it used to be," Willis said. "A few years ago it took 5½ hours a day to prepare meals for a family of four. Today, by using modern convenience foods, comparable menus can be prepared in only 1½ hours."

14 Per Cent Export Dip

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — U.S. export trade dropped 14 per cent during the recession year 1958, the government estimated.

A Census Bureau preliminary report pegged exports for the year at $17,860,000,000, compared to the all-time high of $20,809,700,000 in 1957. The drop of nearly three billion dollars was one of the factors that hobbled the economy last year.

Trade experts predict that 1959 exports will be higher than last year, but see no new record in prospect.

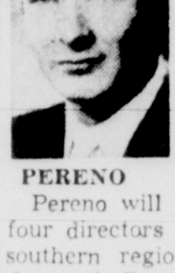
Dairyman Gets National Honor

J. C. Pereno Jr., treasurer of the Independent Dairy Farmers Association of Miami, was elected to the 1959 National Dairy Council Board of Directors.



PERENO

He was one of 50 dairy leaders in the U.S. to be elected a director during the 44th annual meeting of the NDC which closed Wednesday in Boston.

Pereno will serve as one of four directors representing the southern region. He is president of Royal Dairy Farms here.

700,000 Oil Wells Planned

NEW YORK —(UPI)— The domestic oil industry in the next decade is expected to drill between 600,000 and 700,000 new wells and spend approximately $70 billion to develop new oil and gas deposits.

In back of this huge expenditure is the nation's growing demand for energy. This demand, oil men say, will rise sharply in the next 10 years as industry and population grow to record levels.

A spokesman for Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) says in order to carry out this program, "producers must risk all the capital they recover from earlier investments through depreciation and depletion, about half of all their net income after taxes, and substantial additional sums of borrowed money."

In view of this ambitious exploration and development program, the oil industry is deeply concerned over the battle now brewing in Congress to reduce the depletion allowance from the present 27½ per cent to around 15 per cent.

Oil men warn that such action would have serious repercussions on the future supply and price of oil, because it would reduce incentive to invest in the "risky business of finding oil."

Sen. John J. Williams (R., Del.) and Rep. H. R. Gross (R., Iowa), are among those who have proposed a reduction in the depletion allowance to 15 per cent.

Opponents of depletion charge it is a "tax grab by big oil"—"a loophole in the tax laws"—and a "get rich scheme to mulct the public."

Oil men are worried about the fight this year because the opposition in Congress has been gaining strength. In 1951 an attempt to reduce the percentage depletion was beaten down by a whopping 71 to 9 vote. In the last Congress a somewhat similar bill was defeated by a vote of 58 to 31.

Miamian Eyeing Firm

DETROIT —(AP)— Shepherd Broad, a Miami financier, has offered to purchase 100,000 shares of stock in Bohn Aluminum & Brass Corp. of Detroit, at $25 a share.

Broad has designated National Bank of Detroit as purchasing agent and stockholders have until Feb. 2 to accept his offer.

A 100,000-share block would give Broad a 20 per cent interest in the firm, and while pledging himself to take 100,000 shares at $25 each, he reserved the right to take any amount over that which stockholders might tender. Bohn has 477,538 shares outstanding.

Bohn stock closed on the New York Stock Exchange Friday at $25.25 a share. Lewis Robinson, National Bank of Detroit vice president, said some stock is being tendered on Broad's offer, but that the number of shares had not yet been toted up.

Bohn's assets are estimated to be worth $28,500,000. It has plants in Detroit, South Haven, Adrian and Holland, Mich.; Greensburg and Butler, Ind., and Danville, Ill.

Broad is chairman of the Casualty Insurance Co., Burlington, N.C., chairman of the Insurance Co. of the South and Bar Harbor Island, Inc., and a director in two Florida banks.

Fire Station Sold for Taxes

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. —(AP)— City officials hastily started redemption proceedings after finding the site of its South Side fire station had been sold to a builder for delinquent taxes last April.

The city had failed to file a deed with the La Porte County recorder when the lots were bought in 1954.

The city has until April, 1960, to redeem the lots by paying the $200 sale price, plus about $50 penalty.

Newspaper Ads Spurred 80 Pct. Rise in Sales

CHICAGO —(UPI)— Newspaper advertising spurred an 80 per cent sales rise for one auto company despite an industry-wide 30 per cent drop in 1958, an advertising group announced.

The Bureau of Advertising, a division of the American Newspaper Publishing Association, made the estimate at a program honoring American Motors President George Romney for his use of newspaper advertising.

Romney, who spoke at the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association meeting, was presented a brochure showing how national advertising contributed to increased sales of the Rambler, American Motors' small car model.

The company's small car advertising campaign, said the bureau statement, "was a daring move. If it didn't pay off, there might not be a second chance."

After three months of the campaign, the company showed its first profit since June, 1955, and later counted an 80 per cent rise while the rest of the industry dropped 30 per cent in sales, the statement said.

Market in 2nd Decline In 2 Days

NEW YORK — (AP) — The stock market underwent a moderate decline Thursday for the second straight session as turnover continued to fall off.

Volume was 3,140,000 shares compared with 3,170,000 Wednesday. For the third straight day it was the smallest since Dec. 24.

A more cautious attitude was spreading in Wall Street. Some attributed this to the technical position of the market. Opinions differed on the effect of anti-trust investigations launched against the automotive manufacturing and steel industries.

Coppers continued their advance in early dealings but backed away by the close. Oils, steels, motors, rails, chemicals, airlines and most aircrafts declined.

American Motors was the most active stock, dropping 1¼ to 34¼ on 128,700 shares.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were irregular in light trading.

New Orleans Firm Seeks Tampa Unit

WASHINGTON — (AP) — De Bardeleben Marine Corp., New Orleans, Thursday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to acquire a majority of the voting stock of Tampa (Fla.) Marine Co.

De Bardeleben said it proposes to buy 150,000 shares of Tampa Marine's outstanding 275,000 shares of Class B stock for $350,000, plus an exchange of 16,000 shares of De Bardeleben's capital stock.

De Bardeleben said its purpose is to acquire control of Blue Stack Towing Co., Tampa, which operates between Tampa and New Orleans via the Gulf of Mexico and the Gulf intracoastal waterway.

The New Orleans company now controls Coyle Lines, Inc., which operates on the waterway in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and a portion of Florida.

The application said the operating routes of the two towing companies are complementary rather than competitive and the proposed association would result in more efficient service.

Harrison Doesn't Remember Bus Ride

Miamian James E. Harrison, believed murdered during a mysterious 110-day disappearance, says he doesn't remember a bus ride from Los Angeles to Phoenix on the day he turned up alive.

A woman, Mrs. Judith Schenid of Phoenix, told officers she gathered from her conversation with the 32-year-old Harrison on a bus that he had been living in the Los Angeles area and was going to Phoenix for a vacation.

Jacksonville Police Lt. H. L. Sands confirmed a report that Harrison declined to take a lie detector test after he returned to Jacksonville concerning the "lost" days.

Harrison disappeared Oct. 7 at Titusville, Fla., then turned up 110 days later in Phoenix and told police there he suffered an attack of amnesia.

Jacksonville police found his blood-stained car and a California convict later "confessed" to slaying Harrison.

Horse Show Is Big League; OBC to Choose from Trio

LITTLE STORIES about big people and incidents:

—The horse show which opened Thursday night at Dinner Key is big league in every respect—horses and riders, too . . . Offering high class competition, the four-night show benefits the Miami Cancer Institute, which last year realized more than $12,000.

Lynch

Yarborough

Clay

—Most people think Terry Brennan, fired by Notre Dame, made the right decision by going into the investment business. It is more remunerative and will cause fewer ulcers, and there are no disgruntled alumni to harass him. A few say Brennan should have taken another coaching job and vindicated himself. Terry's record with the Irish proves he was a capable coach. Notre Dame lost more face that Brennan.

—The Orange Bowl Committee next Monday will choose a new president, it being customary to rotate the presidency. Successor to Hood Bassett will be chosen from three vice presidents, Steve Lynch, Jr., business executive; Jess H. Yarborough, realtor and former county commissioner, and Everett Clay, Hialeah Race Course secretary and publicist . . . Any one of the three will make an excellent chief executive.

—Carmen Basilio, ambitious to regain the middleweight championship he lost to Sugar Ray Robinson, has chosen a unique means of tuning up physically for the return go—if and when it materializes. He is appearing in a series of exhibitions in Florida and is booked for a six-rounder on Promoter Chris Dundee's card next Tuesday against a sparring partner. It should be an interesting added attraction for the fans.

Good Weather Is Blamed

HIALEAH'S ANTICIPATED gains have failed to materialize, with the attendance off 17,000 and the betting down around $800,000 for the same 1958 period. Last year the slight decline was attributed to a shortage of tourists.

"It could be that the good weather has hurt us," said Secretary Clay. "The sunshine and warm temperatures have lured people to the beaches and golf courses and inspired many to go fishing. The weather was unfavorable for these sports most of our 1958 season."

Another factor could be people not parting with their money so recklessly. There is the chance things will pick up during February, big month of the tourist season.

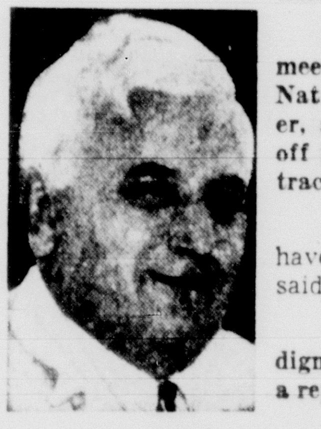
Mori Denies Hialeah Sale Rumor

AS FAR back as Tropical's meeting, rumors were being circulated that Gene Mori would sell his Hialeah Race course. Various individuals and groups were mentioned as prospective purchasers.



GENE MORI

Shortly after Hialeah opened its meeting, the rumor was revived with Nat Herzfeld, former Tropical owner, as the buyer. This one was set off probably because Nat visited the track one day.

Rumors of an impending note have persisted, so Thursday Mori said:

"Ordinarily we would not lend dignity to such baseless rumors by a reply.

"The persistence, however, compels me to say that Hialeah is not for sale to any one at any price now, or in the foreseeable future. We take great pride in the operation of one of the world's finest tracks, which through the years has come to symbolize the best in American racing to millions of fans."

Explanation for Golfing Gains

LEONARD OTT, Riviera pro, raised the point that increased play on municipal courses in Dade and Broward counties cannot be accepted as proof there are more tourists here.

"The difference in weather could be responsible," said Ott. "Last year the cold and rainy days were disagreeable ones for golfers. Even if we have no more visitors than in 1958, the number of golfers could be up."

When a foursome comprised of Phil Jochem, Clure (Scrooge) Mosher, Paul Woolley and this duffer reached the 11th tee, a taxi-cab was waiting. The driver apparently had pulled off the road to rest.

"Did you order the cab because you're playing so poorly?" Paul inquired of Mosher.

"No," said Jochem. "He'll do better." Instead Mosher cost Jochem a chance to win the team match and left him wishing Scrooge had departer in the cab.

Johansson Rich in Own Rights

IGEMAR JOHANSSON, Swedish heavyweight champion who is being given a shot at Floyd Patterson's title, could exist without fighting . . . He has a thriving contracting business and is worth more than half a million . . . Glenn C. Mincer, assistant state attorney of Dade county, sends a clipping of Don Bryant's column in the Lincoln, Neb., Star in which he takes a few whacks at the Orange Bowl Committee . . . "Somehow the Orange Bowl wheels make it very difficult to radiate warmth towards them. When Nebraska made the junket, they screamed bloody murder about the rematch. The same yippings went up on the Colorado-Clemson game . . ." Commissioner Ford C. Frick nixed the Texas League's plan to have a batter who was to be intentionally walked take his base without the formality of four pitches . . . It was contrary to baseball rules, plus which Frick discovered there were only 324 intentional bases on balls issued in 612 games last year . . . The new system would have saved only one minute on each batter, or five hours and 24 minutes.

In Hospital

Ussery 'Resting Well'

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

Bobby Ussery, leading rider of the Hialeah meeting, was "resting well" and in "quite satisfactory" condition Thursday night after being rushed to Hialeah Hospital.

Ussery suffered acute pains in his side Thursday morning at the track. He was first believed to be suffering a heart attack. But an attending physician said Ussery most likely had a kidney ailment.

"His condition is quite satisfactory and not anything critical," the doctor said.

Nurses at the hospital said Ussery was "resting well."

Ussery has had 119 mounts at Hialeah and has won with 22. He was second 14 times and third 18.

At the recent Tropical Park meeting, Ussery finished in a tie for the leading jockey award with F. A. Smith. Ussery did not start at Tropical until late in December.

HOOFBEATS — Dandy Blitzen continues to amaze Hialeah clockers, going six furlongs in 1:11 Thursday . . . Austin stepped five furlongs in :59 3-5 and King Grail scooted a mile and an eighth in 1:52 3-5 . . . Alfred Vanderbilt has shipped five horses here from Maryland for Trainer George Poole . . . Hedley Woodhouse will ride Happy Princess and Walter Blum will be aboard Dandy Blitzen in next Wednesday's Columbiana . . . Hialeah has decided to cut the time between races by two minutes, thus speeding up the program. It will be a saving of 16 minutes daily, allowing fans to get home earlier for dinner . . . Trainer Joe Piarulli plans to give the good handicap horse Vertex a prep sprint race in advance of the $100,000 Widener.

Loetscher 'Improves'

TAMPA —(AP)— Eddie Loetscher of St. Louis continued to show improvement Thursday in a Tampa hospital after suffering serious injuries in an auto race crash at the State Fair.

Loetscher's Offenhauser bounced off a wall Wednesday and collided with a car driven by Mickey McCormick of Hutchinson, Kan.

Attendants at the hospital said a surgeon performed an operation to remove Loetscher's spleen.

Tux Meets T-Shirt: Horse Show Gets Underway at Dinner Key

By EDWIN POPE
Assistant Sports Editor

Tuxedoed socialites rubbed elbows with T-shirt-clad stableboys Thursday night as Miami sports' grand opera — the Charity Horse Show — slid colorfully into a four-day run at Dinner Key Auditorium.

The first sampling of some six million dollars' worth of horseflesh pranced and leaped through 10 events during the evening. Seven more showings today through Sunday night complete the 86-event program benefitting the Cancer Institute of Miami.

There's talk that show officials are shooting to bring the world championships here in the future. But even that would have to go some to match the tuneful elegance of this card.

It's the only athletic event at which program salesmen wear evening gowns. Even an usher needs a tux.

Organ music brought the horses into the dirt-covered arena. Formal riding habits flopped wildly during jumping events. Brilliant red T-shirts blazed in the seldom-seen polo pony competition.

And trainers waved white handkerchiefs from the sidelines to bring up their entries' heads as three-gaited ponies paraded for the near-capacity crowd of 4,200.

One well-smacked polo ball caromed off the noggin of a box-seat customer, but the crowd's gasp was brief. The ball was only rubber.

Just the judges' roster read like a who's who of horse show business — Mrs. Paul Stueber, Col. and Mrs. C. C. Jadwin, Dr. William Warren, Steve Hill and Welsh Greenwell. The box-seat list bore a strong thor-

Clem Out of McLennan; Bardstown Heavy Choice

By RUSS HARRIS
Herald Turf Writer

Calumet Farm's Bardstown Thursday loomed a top-heavy favorite for Hialeah's McLennan Handicap Saturday as misfortune knocked his main rival, Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Clem, out of the race.

Clem pulled up lame after a workout Thursday morning and Trainer Bill Stevens announced that his five-year-old star had suffered a pulled ligament in the left hind leg.

Clem's future is uncertain. It appears that he might also miss the $100,000-added Widener Handicap Feb. 21.

Until Clem's withdrawal, a field of eight or ten had been expected in the nine-furlong McLennan. With Clem on the sidelines, several other owners began weighing their chances for at least second money in the $50,000-added event.

At the moment, nine probable starters are listed:

Bardstown, Sharpsburg, Nadir, A Dragon Killer, Amerigo, Admiral Vee, Ricci Tavi, Village Idiot and Grey Monarch.

A Dragon Killer and Amerigo will go only if the track is fast.

Callooh Dropped One Notch

Recheck Gives Nassau Race To Rhubarb

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

NASSAU—Speaking of rhubarb, the winner of the 21st annual Miami to Nassau yacht race was not Callooh after all.

The winner it turns out, was Rhubarb, 40-foot yawl skippered by Benjamin B. duPont, Pine Orchard, Conn.

DuPont had to wait, however, until a tardy race committee finished figuring handicaps and results at noon Thursday to learn his sweet sailing fibreglass yawl had won the 184-mile race by three minutes and six seconds.

That was Rhubarb's slim margin over Callooh, 42-foot yawl that had been announced as unofficial victor late Wednesday night in the absence of Race Chairman Arthur Bosworth.

His arrival had been delayed until after midnight because the Coast Guard Cutter Aurora on which he was traveling was delayed taking George Locke's broken-masted Intermezzo in tow.

Rhubarb was overlooked in Wednesday night's calculations because officials inadvertently listed the Class C boat in Class B. The extra 15 minutes given Rhubarb as a Class C boat shoved Callooh from apparent winner to runnerup.

Slipping into Nassau harbor practically unnoticed by fellow yachtsmen who were congratulating Callooh Skipper Emil (Bus) Mosbacher, Rhubarb logged a corrected time of 25 hours, 51 minutes and 58 seconds.

Such a performance by the William Tripp-designed hull in her maiden Nassau start relegated Callooh to second position over-all with a corrected time of 25:55.04.

Callooh actually finished fifth as Caribbee paced the 28-boat fleet. Rhubarb was ninth in elapsed time.

Third place went to a "sister" yawl of Rhubarb; in fact, fashioned from the same mold — M. W. Mullen II's Southern Star from Richmond, Va.

The look-alike yawls, incidentally, battled virtually side-by-side throughout the race that started at noon Tuesday off Miami Beach. With only two hours to go they were still so close together the skippers could have thrown rocks at one another.

Then, on the advice of navigator George Johnson of New York, DuPont spun his Rhubarb from starboard to port tack and knifed down on the finish line.

However, thinking Rhubarb had tacked too soon, Mullen held course for six minutes and,

Harrison Doesn't Remember Bus Ride

Miamian James E. Harrison, believed murdered during a mysterious 110-day disappearance, says he doesn't remember a bus ride from Los Angeles to Phoenix on the day he turned up alive.

A woman, Mrs. Judith Schenid of Phoenix, told officers she gathered from her conversation with the 32-year-old Harrison on a bus that he had been living in the Los Angeles area and was going to Phoenix for a vacation.

Jacksonville Police Lt. H. L. Sands confirmed a report that Harrison declined to take a lie detector test after he returned to Jacksonville concerning the "lost" days.

Harrison disappeared Oct. 7 at Titusville, Fla., then turned up 110 days later in Phoenix and told police there he suffered an attack of amnesia.

Jacksonville police found his blood-stained car and a California convict later "confessed" to slaying Harrison.

Horse Show Is Big League; OBC to Choose from Trio

LITTLE STORIES about big people and incidents:

—The horse show which opened Thursday night at Dinner Key is big league in every respect—horses and riders, too . . . Offering high class competition, the four-night show benefits the Miami Cancer Institute, which last year realized more than $12,000.

Lynch

Yarborough

Clay

—Most people think Terry Brennan, fired by Notre Dame, made the right decision by going into the investment business. It is more remunerative and will cause fewer ulcers, and there are no disgruntled alumni to harass him. A few say Brennan should have taken another coaching job and vindicated himself. Terry's record with the Irish proves he was a capable coach. Notre Dame lost more face that Brennan.

—The Orange Bowl Committee next Monday will choose a new president, it being customary to rotate the presidency. Successor to Hood Bassett will be chosen from three vice presidents, Steve Lynch, Jr., business executive; Jess H. Yarborough, realtor and former county commissioner, and Everett Clay, Hialeah Race Course secretary and publicist . . . Any one of the three will make an excellent chief executive.

—Carmen Basilio, ambitious to regain the middleweight championship he lost to Sugar Ray Robinson, has chosen a unique means of tuning up physically for the return go—if and when it materializes. He is appearing in a series of exhibitions in Florida and is booked for a six-rounder on Promoter Chris Dundee's card next Tuesday against a sparring partner. It should be an interesting added attraction for the fans.

* * *

Good Weather Is Blamed

HIALEAH'S ANTICIPATED gains have failed to materialize, with the attendance off 17,000 and the betting down around $800,000 for the same 1958 period. Last year the slight decline was attributed to a shortage of tourists.

"It could be that the good weather has hurt us," said Secretary Clay. "The sunshine and warm temperatures have lured people to the beaches and golf courses and inspired many to go fishing. The weather was unfavorable for these sports most of our 1958 season."

Another factor could be people not parting with their money so recklessly. There is the chance things will pick up during February, big month of the tourist season.

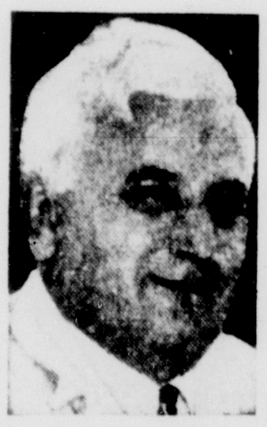
Mori Denies Hialeah Sale Rumor

AS FAR back as Tropical's meeting, rumors were being circulated that Gene Mori would sell his Hialeah Race course. Various individuals and groups were mentioned as prospective purchasers.



GENE MORI

Shortly after Hialeah opened its meeting, the rumor was revived with Nat Herzfeld, former Tropical owner, as the buyer. This one was set off probably because Nat visited the track one day.

Rumors of an impending note have persisted, so Thursday Mori said:

"Ordinarily we would not lend dignity to such baseless rumors by a reply.

"The persistence, however, compels me to say that Hialeah is not for sale to any one at any price now, or in the foreseeable future. We take great pride in the operation of one of the world's finest tracks, which through the years has come to symbolize the best in American racing to millions of fans."

Explanation for Golfing Gains

LEONARD OTT, Riviera pro, raised the point that increased play on municipal courses in Dade and Broward counties cannot be accepted as proof there are more tourists here.

"The difference in weather could be responsible," said Ott. "Last year the cold and rainy days were disagreeable ones for golfers. Even if we have no more visitors than in 1958, the number of golfers could be up."

When a foursome comprised of Phil Jochem, Clure (Scrooge) Mosher, Paul Woolley and this duffer reached the 11th tee, a taxi-cab was waiting. The driver apparently had pulled off the road to rest.

"Did you order the cab because you're playing so poorly?" Paul inquired of Mosher.

"No," said Jochem. "He'll do better." Instead Mosher cost Jochem a chance to win the team match and left him wishing Scrooge had departer in the cab.

Johansson Rich in Own Rights

IGEMAR JOHANSSON, Swedish heavyweight champion who is being given a shot at Floyd Patterson's title, could exist without fighting . . . He has a thriving contracting business and is worth more than half a million . . . Glenn C. Mincer, assistant state attorney of Dade county, sends a clipping of Don Bryant's column in the Lincoln, Neb., Star in which he takes a few whacks at the Orange Bowl Committee . . . "Somehow the Orange Bowl wheels make it very difficult to radiate warmth towards them. When Nebraska made the junket, they screamed bloody murder about the rematch. The same yippings went up on the Colorado-Clemson game . . ." Commissioner Ford C. Frick nixed the Texas League's plan to have a batter who was to be intentionally walked take his base without the formality of four pitches . . . It was contrary to baseball rules, plus which Frick discovered there were only 324 intentional bases on balls issued in 612 games last year . . . The new system would have saved only one minute on each batter, or five hours and 24 minutes.

In Hospital

Ussery 'Resting Well'

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

Bobby Ussery, leading rider of the Hialeah meeting, was "resting well" and in "quite satisfactory" condition Thursday night after being rushed to Hialeah Hospital.

Ussery suffered acute pains in his side Thursday morning at the track. He was first believed to be suffering a heart attack. But an attending physician said Ussery most likely had a kidney ailment.

"His condition is quite satisfactory and not anything critical," the doctor said.

Nurses at the hospital said Ussery was "resting well."

Ussery has had 119 mounts at Hialeah and has won with 22. He was second 14 times and third 18.

At the recent Tropical Park meeting, Ussery finished in a tie for the leading jockey award with F. A. Smith. Ussery did not start at Tropical until late in December.

HOOFBEATS — Dandy Blitzen continues to amaze Hialeah clockers, going six furlongs in 1:11 Thursday . . . Austin stepped five furlongs in :59 3-5 and King Grail scooted a mile and an eighth in 1:52 3-5 . . . Alfred Vanderbilt has shipped five horses here from Maryland for Trainer George Poole . . . Hialeah has decided to cut the time between races by two minutes, thus speeding up the program. It will be a saving of 16 minutes daily, allowing fans to get home earlier for dinner . . . Trainer Joe Piarulli plans to give the good handicap horse Vertex a prep sprint race in advance of the $100,000 Widener.

Loetscher 'Improves'

TAMPA —(AP)— Eddie Loetscher of St. Louis continued to show improvement Thursday in a Tampa hospital after suffering serious injuries in an auto race crash at the State Fair.

Loetscher's Offenhauser bounced off a wall Wednesday and collided with a car driven by Mickey McCormick of Hutchinson, Kan.

Attendants at the hospital said a surgeon performed an operation to remove Loetscher's spleen.

Tux Meets T-Shirt: Horse Show Gets Underway at Dinner Key

By EDWIN POPE
Assistant Sports Editor

Tuxedoed socialites rubbed elbows with T-shirt-clad stableboys Thursday night as Miami sports' grand opera — the Charity Horse Show — slid colorfully into a four-day run at Dinner Key Auditorium.

The first sampling of some six million dollars' worth of horseflesh pranced and leaped through 10 events during the evening. Seven more showings today through Sunday night complete the 86-event program benefitting the Cancer Institute of Miami.

There's talk that show officials are shooting to bring the world championships here in the future. But even that would have to go some to match the tuneful elegance of this card.

It's the only athletic event at which program salesmen wear evening gowns. Even an usher needs a tux.

Organ music brought the horses into the dirt-covered arena. Formal riding habits flopped wildly during jumping events. Brilliant red T-shirts blazed in the seldom-seen polo pony competition.

And trainers waved white handkerchiefs from the sidelines to bring up their entries' heads as three-gaited ponies paraded for the near-capacity crowd of 4,200.

One well-smacked polo ball caromed off the noggin of a box-seat customer, but the crowd's gasp was brief. The ball was only rubber.

Just the judges' roster read like a who's who of horse show business — Mrs. Paul Stueber, Col. and Mrs. C. C. Jadwin, Dr. William Warren, Steve Hill and Welsh Greenwell. The box-seat list bore a strong thor-

Clem Out of McLennan; Bardstown Heavy Choice

By RUSS HARRIS
Herald Turf Writer

Calumet Farm's Bardstown Thursday loomed a top-heavy favorite for Hialeah's McLennan Handicap Saturday as misfortune knocked his main rival, Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Clem, out of the race.

Clem pulled up lame after a workout Thursday morning and Trainer Bill Stevens announced that his five-year-old star had suffered a pulled ligament in the left hind leg.

Clem's future is uncertain. It appears that he might also miss the $100,000-added Widener Handicap Feb. 21.

Until Clem's withdrawal, a field of eight or ten had been expected in the nine-furlong McLennan. With Clem on the sidelines, several other owners began weighing their chances for at least second money in the $50,000-added event.

At the moment, nine probable starters are listed:

Bardstown, Sharpsburg, Nadir, A Dragon Killer, Amerigo, Admiral Vee, Ricci Tavi, Village Idiot and Grey Monarch.

A Dragon Killer and Amerigo will go only if the track is fast.

Trainer Elliott Burch decided Oligarchy, last year's Widener winner, would pass up the McLennan and continue preparing for the Widener.

Among the "new faces" which may try the McLennan are Mister Jive, One-Eyed King, Talent Show, Saim and Hoop Band.

The jockey picture for Saturday's feature also is being shuffled.

Hall Loses Third Fight In 10 Days

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Unbeaten Ed Beattie, not even on the card Thursday afternoon, TKO'd Billy Hall, who shouldn't have been on the card at all, in 51 seconds of the fourth round of a scheduled six-rounder at Bayfront Auditorium Thursday night.

It was Beattie's seventh victory — second since returning from a November, 1957 heart operation—in a row. It was Hall's third fight—and loss — in 10 days.

"I don't remember a thing about the fight," said Hall, who wanted to continue when Referee Cy Gottfried stopped the bout.

Beattie, who didn't know he was fighting until late Thursday afternoon, floored Hall with a short left just as the bell rang in the first, switched his attack to the body in the second and third rounds, and had Hall helpless on the ropes with short combinations in the fourth.

Asked what punch knocked him down in the first, Hall grinned.

"Who're you kidding?" he asked. "He didn't knock me down."

Hall, who has had a total of 101 fights, said he had made six appearances in the last two and a half weeks. He was beaten by Dick DiVeronica at Miami Beach Tuesday a week ago, and lost a four-rounder in Tampa Monday night.

Despite a 14-pound weight advantage (152½ to 138½), Hall was never in the fight. He flurried ineffectively, failed to cover on Beattie's body punches, and dropped his hands to open his head to Beattie's polished attack in the final round.

"He's a good fighter," said Hall. "But are you sure he really knocked me down?"

Other results:

Levi Pearson, 157, and Willie Giles, 149, fought to a six-round draw; Perfecto Garcia, 127, KO'd Calvin Vincent, 135, in 1:26 of the first round; Dave Simpson, 143, decisioned Joe Clements, 133, four rounds; John Pew, 178½, decisioned Jim Killman, 222, four rounds; Hymie Budow, 142, KO'd David Gator, 136½, 1:14 of the first; Jose Edwin, 151¼, KO'd Lew Hadley, 153, 1:34 of the second.

Pistons Set To Trade Yardley

DETROIT — (AP) — The Detroit Pistons indicated Thursday they are prepared to trade high-scoring George Yardley.

The veteran Yardley, who led the National Basketball Association last year with a record 2,001 points, said earlier in the day he and the Pistons are through "by mutual agreement."

In Detroit, General Manager W. Nick Kerbawy said "we're not opposed to trading our top player if we get a top player in return."

Stetson Tops Miami, 110-97

DeLAND—(AP)—Gene Wells scored 19 points in the first 10 minutes and got Stetson University enough of an early lead to coast to an 110-97 Florida Intercollegiate Conference basketball victory over Miami Thursday night.

It was Miami's first league defeat although the Hurricanes held onto first place in the standings with five won and one lost. Stetson has won four and lost one.

Wells led the Stetson fast break which quickly built a big lead and had the Hatters on top at halftime, 60-37. Miami rallied in the second half but never closed enough to be a threat.

With six minutes to play and Stetson in front 97-75, Coach Glenn Wilkes pulled his regulars. In less than a minute, Dick Hickox, Ron Godfrey and Jerry Davis scored 10 points for Miami. Stetson's regulars returned to the floor and stalled out the game — sinking many free throws in the closing minutes.

Wells was high scorer with 33 points. Hickox led Miami with 23.

Marlins Get Speedy Lajoie

When General Manager Joe Ryan of the Miami Marlins signed Pepper Martin as his manager for 1959, Pepper said he wanted a team with lots of speed.

Ryan took another step in that direction Thursday when he announced the acquisition of Bill Lajoie, a 24-year-old outfielder-first baseman from the Baltimore Orioles.

One of the fastest men in Triple A Baseball, Lajoie also excels defensively at both positions. He played both spots last season with Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League where he hit .276.

He broke into organized baseball with Texas City in 1956, hitting .327 with 16 home runs and 84 RBI's, plus 16 stolen bases.

He saw action in the International League with Montreal in 1957 when he hit .296 in 66 games before being sent to St. Paul to help that club in its drive toward a playoff berth in the American Association. He hit .293 in 64 games for the Saints, with six home runs and 39 RBI's.

Lajoie (pronounced Laz-u-way) is six feet and weighs 170 pounds. He bats and throws left-handed.

Baseball's Pay TV Set For 'July 1'

NEW YORK — (AP)— Skiatron of America, a subscription television firm, said Thursday it is prepared to begin telecasts of major league baseball games on the Pacific Coast this summer, and would like to televise college football games in the fall.

Reaction to the pay TV was swift and, in some cases, skeptical.

Skiatron, believed closely allied with the 1957 franchise shifts of the Brooklyn Dodgers (to Los Angeles) and the New York Giants (to San Francisco), said it expects to cable baseball games into the two West Coast cities by approximately July 1.

Preps' OB Rental Fee Unchanged

The Orange Bowl Stadium Advisory Board voted Thursday not to hike the rental fee on high school football teams.

Figures presented by Miami High Business Manager Bob Conarroe convinced the six-man committee that the stadium averaged a fair profit ($1,306) in last season's 14 prep games.

Coaches, principals and business managers from Miami High, Edison, Jackson, Curley and Coral Gables attended the hour and a half meeting at the Orange Bowl.

Dan Hodge . . . With Future Foe?
a look at Floyd Patterson now; a punch later?

Ring Experts, Laud Olympic Wrestler

Hodge: Lone Doubting Thomas About His Pro Boxing Future

One fight expert who won't admit Dan Hodge, the Olympic wrestler turned professional boxer, has a terrific future is . . . Dan Hodge.

"People say nice things," said Hodge Thursday, the modesty cutting through his thick Oklahoma drawl. "I appreciate it. I hope they're right.

"But I can't say for sure. I do know I'll try. I'll sure try to please everybody."

Hodge, an NCAA and AAU wrestling champion who finished second in the 1956 Olympics, won the national Golden Gloves heavyweight boxing title before turning pro last summer. He's now working out at Miami Beach's Fifth Street Gym, waiting a spot on one of Chris Dundee's weekly Beach fight cards.

"I just like boxing," says Hodge, explaining his switch from wrestling.

Boxing experts like 6-1½, 190-pound Hodge.

"I think that within two years he'll be ready for a title fight," says George Gainford, co-manager of Middlweight Champion Sugar Ray Robinson and advisor to Hodge.

"He has the punch, physique, strength and the ability to learn fast. He needs ring experience, but he's getting that now."

"He's a bull" says Miami Beach Trainer Angelo Dundee, "a real banger. He'll definitely be a rated heavyweight."

Hodge, 26, has won six of seven pro fights to go with a 17-0 amateur record. His only loss — a fourth-round knockout by Art Norris — was avenged two weeks later.

All his pro fights have been 10-rounders, an unusual situation.

"I'm still learning the ropes," says Hodge, "but I've got excellent teachers in Gainford and Manager-Trainer Al King.

"The first time I walked in a gym, I didn't even know how to hit the heavy bag. It was two weeks before things the guys were telling me began to make sense."

Five of Hodge's pro victories have been by knockout, mostly on right hand punches. Currently, he's working on developing his left.

"It's coming," says Hodge. "When I fight here, I should have two hands."

And how strong is his punch?

"Oh, I don't know" says Hodge. "I've never been hit with it." — MEL DERRICK.

Nation's Top Dog Tracks Form National Conference

The nation's top greyhound race tracks today joined in forming the National Conference of Greyhound Racetrack Operators for the purpose of protecting, maintaining and improving various aspects of the sport.

All four Miami area tracks—Biscayne, Flagler, Hollywood and Miami Beach — are included in the new conference.

At Thursday's initial meeting at the DuPont Plaza hotel, the group named as its first president, Joseph M. Linsey, owner of the Taunton track in Massachussetts.

The board of directors also selected George F. McCarthy of Denver's Mile High Kennel club and Biscayne's James C. Knight as first and second vice presidents, respectively.

Hollywood's owner, William J. Syms Jr., became the secretary, while the office of treasurer went to John G. Masoni of the Palm Beach Kennel club.

In addition to these officers, the board includes Isadore Hecht of Miami's Flagler track; William H. Johnston of Miami Beach and Jacksonville; St. Petersburg's John E. Brooks; Jerry Collins, Sarasota; Louis L. Lobel, owner of the Revere, Mass. plant; Murray Kemp from Oregon's Multinomah track; and Leo B. Harmon, owner of the Southern Dakota track at North Sioux City, S. D.

The board also named two assistant secretaries, Harold R. Allen, president of the Massasoit Kennel club in Raynham, Mass., and Paul J. O'Connor, executive secretary of the American Greyhound Track Operators Association.

Further organization and the adoption of by-laws will be taken up at a second meeting on March 23.

'Gentry' Moves Up At Beach

Three Grade B winners make their first starts against Grade A opposition in the featured seventh and ninth races over the O. P. Smith course tonight at the Miami Beach Kennel club.

Top Gentry figures to have a tough time hurdling the rivals he'll face in the seventh.

They include such good dogs as Space Command, J. R.'s Image, Bet I Can, Miss Monica, Big Stick and Short Key. Space Command appears to be the favorite.

Carl Nug and Cactus Moe make their "A" debuts in the ninth, with the flashy juvenile, Pat Vinci, heading the opposition. With a fair break in racing luck, Pat Vinci could come up with a winning effort here.

Bud Jack Goes For 10th Win

Unbeaten over the marathon course, Bud Jack goes after his 10th victory of the Hollywood Kennel club season in tonight's 11th race at 3-8 mile. It will be his final tuneup for the $10,000 Silver Anniversary stake which opens Tuesday night.

Three other stake entrants, Mar Rusty, Keep Hunting and Run Best, are in the field with the flashy Lillian Ryan ace.

Bud Jack is rapidly drawing close to the Hollywood record of 16 victories posted by Neshoba three years ago.

Penrose 70 Paces LaGorce

By JIMMY BURNS
Herald Sports Editor

Offsetting four bogeys with five birdies, Jack Penrose posted the low individual score of 70, one under par, Thursday at LaGorce as his team defeated Tequesta, 55-17, in the Country Club Golf League competition.

Riviera golfers, paced by Dr. R. W. Piper's 77, beat Coral Ridge, 44-28, and LaGorce's B team won over Coral Ridge's B group, 40-32.

Penrose and his partner, Tim Holland, had the best ball of 66. Penrose also had individual low net, but this prize went to Terry Carlilse, Coral Ridge, 81-8-73.

Penrose, LaGorce captain, scored a pair of 35s. He knocked in an 18-footer for a birdie-four on the fourth and on the eighth, chipped in from the edge with a nine-iron for a birdie-two.

On the 13th, Penrose downed a two-foot putt for his birdie-two and had putts of three and eight feet for his birdies on the 14th and 18th holes.

Three-putting the first and third greens cost Penrose and he failed to match par on the 10th and 16th holes.

The LaGorce golfers were hosts at a cocktail party following the golfing competition. The next round of matches in the league organized by Harry Daumit of LaGorce will be played at Coral Ridge.

The team scoring follows:

'Tag' Rematch Tops Mat Show

A rematch between the Graham Brothers and the tag team of Don Eagle and Ray Villmer heads tonight's wrestling card at Miami Beach Auditorium. Two referees will be used in an attempt to prevent last week's near-riot.

Dick The Bruiser faces the Mighty Jumbo, 517-pound bear rassler from Montana. A women's match between Judy Grable and Ella Waldek opens the card at 8:45.

Feeling of Correctness
Every man desires the best possible value in a suit of clothes — these include comfort, handsomeness, durability, but most of all the feeling of correctness that brings approving glances . . . that opens new doors of acceptance everywhere.

Rising Stitch Fights Ortega on TV Tonight

NEW YORK — (AP) — Rudell Stitch, an unranked comer from Louisville, Thursday was made an 8-5 favorite over slipping, sixth ranked Gaspar Ortega. The welterweights clash in the television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight at 10 p.m. (Ch. 10).

This is the big one for Stitch, a 26-year-old meat packer, church elder, and father of four sons and a daughter. A victory in his Garden debut would move him high among the challengers to Don Jordan, king of the 147-pounders.

A victory is a must for Ortega if he hopes to stay up with the elite 10.

TV FIGHT

Ranked No. 1 among the contenders at the beginning of 1958, the free-swinging Mexican Indian has skidded on three straight split decision defeats. Two of them were to Jordan, who went on to win the title from Virgil Akins and the last was to baby-faced Denny Moyer on Jan. 2.

An amateur for eight years, Stitch has posted a 17-4 record in less than three years of fighting for cash. He moved into fast company last year, fighting 12 times and winning 10 bouts. His victims included Charlie Cotton, Duke Harris, Isaac Logart (he lost a return to Ike), Yama Bahama and Chico Vejar. He has nine knockouts to his credit.

Scoring will be by rounds. A supplementary point system also will be used to help break draws. The winner of each round gets from one to four points, the loser none.

Jax Quints 'Invade' Miami

An invasion by Jacksonville's "Big Three" and strong Orlando Boone heads Greater Miami's high school basketball card tonight.

Twice-beaten Jacksonville Jackson, one of the state's tallest — and possibly most talented — quintets, takes on Edison. Fast-breaking Lee visits defense-minded Coral Gables, and always-tough Landon plays Miami Jackson.

Boone, which at one stretch this season won eight straight, tackles Miami High.

Miami High and Jacksonville Jackson are leading the Big Ten Conference basketball race. Both are outstanding condidates for the state Class A tournament title.

An interesting Gold Coast Conference game is scheduled at Hialeah, where the Thorobreds host improving South Broward in a northern division clash.

Join Parade, MPS Urged

The Miami Power Squadron has canceled its February Rendezvous, and is urging its members to participate in the Feb. 22 Aqua Parade, a function of the Miami International Boat Show.

Commodore E. C. Aller said that from 25 to 30 members have indicated they will pilot their boats in the parade. Power Squadron members are being organized as a unit by Fleet Captain Walter Schrader.

The squadron's February Rendezvous was canceled in order not to have two major group boating activities in February, Aller said.

Baseball Dinner Set

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Florida will play host to the nation's top baseball officials in the 13th annual Governor's Baseball Dinner to be held March 2 at Tampa, Gov. LeRoy Collins announced Thursday.

Rhubarb Skipper Benjamin duPont and 'First Mate' Chart Course

. . . expert sailing pays off in Miami-Nassau race victory for husband-wife team

Callooh Edged by Class C Boat

Rhubarb Wins Nassau Race On Refigured Handicap

as it turned out, the mistake forced him to settle for a corrected time of 25:58.56 and third place.

"I thought Rhubarb had gone around too soon," said Mullen. "But he got a lift from the wind and that made the difference."

"When I suggested tacking, I knew it was a marginal decision. Thank goodness the lift came along," Johnson said.

Fourth place went to another new face on the Southern Ocean Racing Circuit, Horace Binney's 44-foot yawl Ariel V of Miami.

Locked in a duel with Callooh until Mosbacher shot the green-hulled yawl to windward in sensational style and pulled away in the closing hours, Ariel's adjusted time was 26:-25.42.

In the division breakdown David Morrison's Salty, Beaufort, S.C., won Class A; Callooh won Class B and Rhubarb captured C laurels.

Dupont credited Rhubarb's victory to "a darn good crew." Aboard were his wife Dorothy, Ed Raymond, Gifford Warner, D. W. Blunt White, Pete Widemer, John MacPherson and Johnson.

Asked how he selected the name Rhubarb, duPont said: "When somebody asks me that, I always tell them — sail with us and you'll find out."

In the cockpit of the winning yawl is a sign which reads: "Don't follow me, I am lost."

Twenty-seven beaten skippers will disregard such a warning next time Rhubarb shows up at a starting line.

The finishers, with corrected times, (elapsed times in parentheses):

Bowling Runs in Perpich Clan; New Palm Springs Hires Trio

By DICK EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

Frank Perpich is the best known bowler in the Perpich family.

But wife Fran and mother-in-law Rose Warner take a back seat to no one—not even Frank, a 190 averager.

Last week Fran posted a 624. It was her first 600 set since coming to Miami in 1947.

Rose, who runs a trailer park in Hollywood, is a former WIBC singles champion. The 158 averager at Holiday Lanes won the title in 1937 with a 637 set. The WIBC tournament ended in a tie and Rose won the rolloff.

* * *

PALM SPRINGS Lanes, which opens March 1, is completing its staff.

Manager Jim Facente announced Thursday that Frieda Johnson, Pete Cagnina and Helen Steffens have been hired. The two women will work as instructors, Pete as night deskman.

* * *

MEN'S CITY secretary Gene Seidler bought himself a pair of specs.

"Maybe now," moans Gene, "I'll be able to convert a few splits."

* * *

HELEN BAKER will oppose Ruth Hall for the first vice president position during the Feb. 15 election of women's city bowling officers.

The election will be held at the McAllister Hotel starting at 2:30.

Nominated for second vice president are Ethel Cooper and Lois Beller. Alice Flynn, Hilda Seidler and Marie Sparks will run for secretary and Hilda Hansen and Sue Hirsh for treasurer.

Esther Zissen, Peggy Wortman and Gloria Pedersen have been nominated for sergeant-at-arms.

Eleven board of directors members will be selected from this group:

Mary Sheffler, Mary Karpchuk, Mary Hetzel, Edna Christensen, Marcella Arnold, Lucille Harmon, Beverly Rosenthal, Mae Goodrich, Lil Cicerelli, Toni Sorrencey, Ruth Hoskins, Kay Tretiak, Gladys Traxel, Joan Kaminsky, Marcella Otstot, Oneda Kansman, Agnes Garrett, Nan Chase, Beth McKnight, Babe DeVivo and Kaye Lawrence.

Frias, Laca Team At Dania

Rebote specialist Laca, the Dania Jai Alai Palace's Mr. Pepperpot, has an excellent chance to pick up ground tonight in the National Doubles Championship front court race.

Only two wins behind Vergara, Laca has the powerful back court performer, Frias, as a partner in the 12th game tonight.

However, Laca-Frias must be at peak form tonight, because Laca's chief competitor, Vergara, has the advantage of the No. 3 post position with Aldecoa.

◆

Larri Returns To Cesta Duty

Larri, out much of the current season with a shoulder injury, returns to full time action at Miami Fronton tonight.

A talented backcourt veteran from Marquina, Spain, Larri draws the No. 2 spot in the sixth game singles before plunging into two doubles contests.

British TRIUMPH carries big load—with savings to match

Estate Wagon costs $1500 less than average station wagon—and it's the "best engineered" of all economy cars

"Just the car I was looking for," writes the owner of a TRIUMPH Estate Wagon. "It's more than spacious enough to do all our hauling. And the savings are paying off our home improvement loan."

TRIUMPH costs $1500 less than the average station wagon ...gives you up to 40 m.p.g. But no other economy car can match its performance. No wonder. It's made by the British engineers who make TRIUMPH TR-3 sports cars.

TRIUMPH can cruise all day at 65—with no strain on the quiet engine. It goes up to 60,000 miles without a major overhaul. Often 100,000 miles.

Only 12 feet long, TRIUMPH handles and parks with great ease. Yet inside there's a full 38 cu. ft. of load space—more than any other car in its class. More front seat head and leg room, too.

Safety? TRIUMPH's body is solid Sheffield steel. Visibility is excellent. And it can turn about face in less than 3 car lengths.

To get a demonstration, just phone the dealer nearest you. He'll drive the car right to your door for a demonstration. There's no obligation. Or drop in on him. (See list this page.)

But don't delay. Drive it and discover the pleasure a TRIUMPH brings back to driving.

TRIUMPH ESTATE WAGON ONLY $1899*
*At U. S. Ports of Entry, plus taxes. Sedan only $1699, Port of Entry.

SCRATCHES: Rosemere Greer, Oscaleta, Hasty Flight, Carolyn Lee.

OO LA LA raced along the inside while dueling with FLORIDA KID, disposed of that rival to attain a commanding advantage in early stretch and just lasted. DARK LEGACY, after having been slow to respond, was wearing down the winner. FIGHTING GENERAL lacked the needed late response. BELLESEEM showed nothing.

BRUD outsprinted the opposition immediately after the start and responded well to hold sway. OUIJA BOARD was well placed throughout and lasted over COACH WALLY. The latter was slow to settle into stride and should improve. OMORA failed to enter contention.

SCRATCHES: Pen And Pencil, Royal Mango, Kitty Up, Ricci C.

ADMIRAL'S WATCH moved between horses to wrest command in early stretch and held sway after drifting out slightly and brushing FAIR TRIUMPH. The latter challenged following a steward's inquiry. CHARCOAL GREY lacked speed for a half and closed with good energy.

SCRATCHES. Joanis Z., Jupiter C., Well Tanned, Song And Dance.

TURKSON set the pace under rating and was sharply roused to hold sway. BLACK SATIN pressed the pace from the outset and lacked the needed response. DR. ONE MORE RING attained a commanding early advantage, was challenged by RED HOT MAMA nearing the stretch and clung tenaciously to a narrow advantage. RED HOT MAMA lacked the needed late surge after having challenged boldly. Dever's claim of foul against the winner for alleged interference entering the stretch was disallowed. CHENDZOD was allowed to drop far out of contention, moved boldly on the final turn and failed to continue his rally when his rider lost his whip near the furlong pole.

Ingenuity $31.80, 10.70, 8.50; Wayward Miss $5.40, 4.30; Annsie Pie $10.80.

OWNERS: 1. O. Phipps; 2. Cain Hoy Stable; 3. Spring Hill Farm; 4. Elmendorf; 5. Mrs. D. Bures; 6. Mrs. N. M. Schenck; 7. W. L. Huntley; 8. Harbor View Farm; 9. Audrey Davies; 10. C. M. Kline; 11. J. N. Andrews Jr.; 12. S. Andrews.

INGENUITY assumed command immediately and enjoyed a clear advantage throughout while being kept to mild pressure. WAYWARD MISS raced closest to the pace, swerved badly approaching the furlong pole and held ANNSIE PIE safe. The latter was in close quarters leaving the backstretch, stumbled badly when she apparently clipped the heels of a rival, then recovered well to turn in a good effort.

SCRATCHES. Scotch Cross, Sit This Out, Tagama, Meadows Miss.

Ambehaving $16.60, 8.90, 3.90; Wise Margin 16.40, 5.40; Fabius 2.40.

AMBEHAVING, under restraint while following the pace, improved his position steadily on the final turn, drove through a narrow opening on the inside of the leaders to attain command and drew clear under pressure. WISE MARGIN rallied sufficiently to wear down FABIUS. The latter, hard held while following the pace closely, made his run from the outside to engage the leader but lacked a late response.

SCRATCHES: Misty Flight, El Bermejo, Nah Hiss.

Salt Water Fishing Off, But Oh, The Fresh Water

FISHING with Vic Dunaway

Whether the fishing outlook for the next few days is good or bad depends strictly on point of view. For some species it's seldom better; for others, it's hardly worth talking about.

On the glum side is the lack of any big "runs" of fish, particularly kingfish, around Greater Miami. Local anglers are accustomed to hitting the jackpot on kings this time of year. Among avid seekers of kingfish, you won't find a smile anywhere.

DUNAWAY

To make the most of the poor situation, however, try drifting live bait along the outer extension of Government Cut. Pick the incoming tide and you have a good chance to pick up some nice fish. You might even do better, weightwise, than if kings were thick offshore. The few catches have been averaging pretty big.

Tarpon are rolling in the Cut now, too. Inside, along the main ship channel and around the markers, some fair-sized drum are being taken on shrimp.

South Bay boasts prime bonefishing—or it did before staunch winds broke it up in the middle of the week. Bottom fishing for snapper, grouper, sand perch and the like is fine.

* * *

Dolphin Sighted in Gulfstream

OFFSHORE FISHING has waned somewhat in Miami territory, but odds on catching sailfish are still good. Some bonito, quite a few blackfin tuna, and barracuda are being taken in the Gulfstream. At least two charter craft ran into schools of dolphin.

Sailfishing is also on the decline farther up the coast, which is only natural in view of the fabulous catches racked up recently in such areas as the Palm Beaches and Stuart. Things up that way are settling back to normal—which still means pretty good.

* * *

Field Day for Fresh Water Fans

IN FRESH WATER, anglers are having a field day. Lake Okeechobee is smack in the middle of its best fishing month, and this year it's hotter than it has been in several seasons.

The big bass are roaming shallow areas in search of bedding spots, and few of them are refusing to smack artificial bait tossed in their path.

Reports from every section of the big lake are the same—limit catches are common, and the bass are averaging around four pounds.

Pictorial evidence has come in from J-Mark Camp in South Bay; Uncle Joe's Camp in Clewiston; Sportsman's Village and Calusa Lodge at Moore Haven; and from the northwest hotspots around the town of Okeechobee.

Speckled perch (crappie) also are available in limit quantities in the deeper water.

Bass fall to topwater lures, spoon-and-rind offerings, and artificial eels.

The Tamiami Canal can rival—even surpass—Lake Okeechobee for numbers. Bass out that way run from one to two pounds on the average.

Busy at Ten Thousand Islands

DUNK DUNKIN at Alabama Jack's Camp on Card Sound says fishing is perfect. Groupers—big ones up to 14 pounds—have popped up in just about everybody's bag, along with vast quantities of snapper.

To the West, balmy weather has turned the outside areas of the Ten Thousand Islands into a fishing heaven. Trout, redfish and sheepshead strike most frequently. Stanley Brown of the Chokoloskee Small Boat Docks says snook have surprised with an appearance around outside islands, and adds that tides for this weekend are perfect.

The Everglades Rod and Gun club sends statistics that show the average catch in the hundreds on their charter boats, mostly by bottom fishing and trolling.

With fishable weather, Keys anglers hit bonefish, tarpon—most any kind of inshore fish. Kingfish continue to swarm around Marathon and Key West, and if bridge fishing is your dish, give it a whirl at Channel 5 for fare that ranges from mackerel to tarpon.

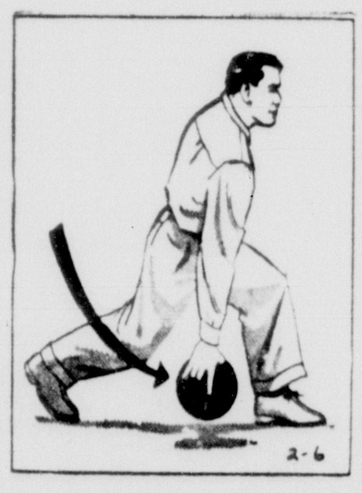
To Remedy Big Hook

If Alley Is 'Tacky' Try Lofting Ball

By BILLY SIXTY

A power hook is a pretty thing to see, but it can be a problem on a run alley. When an alley (lane, if you please) is slow or tacky you've got to have know-how to master it.

And you've got three methods of doing it: 1—Move to alley-center and bend the ball outward, to the right with No. 3 pin as the payoff angle; 2—Finish with a straight arm, stretching it as far as you can, in order to delay the ball break; 3—Pitch the ball well over the foul line, as the sketch shows. Lofting is another name for it.



Don't rush your footwork or your arm. You can't overpower a bowling ball. Swing it, always. Swing is the thing.

While lofting may be in direct violation of good form or house rules, so is an alley that "runs out of the window."

And if lofting is the surest solution to hold the ball in the right-side strike pocket, there should be no qualms about doing it.

Just remember that lofting a ball requires no added, sudden thrust of the arm at the foul line. It's simpler, far more effective than that. Merely straighten out the elbow as the downswing begins and keep it stiff to the point of ball release. (See sketch).

With a reach-out of the arm at the foul line, but without any arm lift, the ball action changes into longer rotation before swerving into a hook. The more loft, the farther down the alley the ball will rotate, and the easier it will be to control.

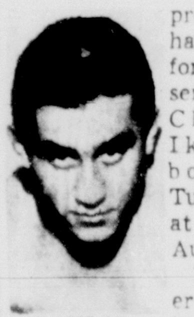
Beach Cards Hungarian KO Artist

Hungarian knockout specialist Charley Pavlis — who has let only one opponent in 17 go the distance with him in his pro career — has been signed for the 10-round semifinal on the Chico Medina-Ike Vaughn boxing show Tuesday night at Miami Beach Auditorium.



PAVLIS

Promoter Chris Dundee has paired Pavlis with Willie Mack, of Jacksonville.

Pavlis, winning 297 of 315 amateur fights in Europe, annexed the simon-pure welter, middle and light-heavyweight titles.

Dundee also added a six-round bout, matching Charley Titone, of Brooklyn, and Ray Estepa of Puerto Rico. The pair recently fought to a draw here. One other bout will complete the card.

Vaughn stepped up his drills yesterday with a brisk four-round sparring session. Medina arrives late this evening and will begin local drills Saturday afternoon.

D'Agostino Signs

CHICAGO — (UPI) — Frank D'Agostino, a 250-pound guard who played in the Canadian professional football league last season, has signed with the Chicago Cardinals, it was announced Thursday.

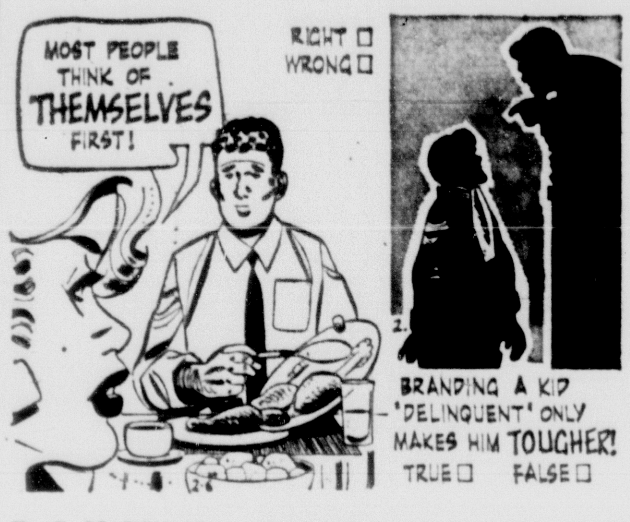
EXPLORE YOUR MIND

Selfish Mind



MOST PEOPLE THINK OF THEMSELVES FIRST!
RIGHT ☐ WRONG ☐
2.
BRANDING A KID 'DELINQUENT' ONLY MAKES HIM TOUGHER!
TRUE☐ FALSE☐

By S. M. DUVALL and EVELAN M. DUVALL, Ph.Ds

FALSE. THE SO-CALLED "selfish" person is usually not thinking of himself as a total person, but only of some part of himself. He may be thinking of his stomach, or his sex desires, or of his pride, or his desire for money. If more people thought of themselves as total persons, they would be far better off themselves, they would be better friends and neighbors, and the world would be a better place.

2. It certainly might! Chicago's ex-Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman, reminds us, "The young offender carries back to his community the brand of an experience that will remain with him permanently. His experience makes him sure of only one thing: that he is somehow different from, and worse than, other youngsters. This opinion is dramatized for him by the whole range of law enforcement, detention, and judicial procedures that he has undergone. On his return to the community this new view of himself is reflected not only in the eyes of the adults but also in the eyes of young people his own age."

Continuing

ATLAS ICBM

and accelerated, highly advanced

SATELLITE PROGRAMS

have created an immediate need for engineers in the following areas:

FACILITIES ENGINEERS

For construction surveillance at operational missile sites. The men for this assignment must be graduate engineers with substantial recent experience on heavy construction projects. Responsible positions are open NOW.

OPERATIONS ENGINEERS

Men who are graduate engineers, but whose experience extends beyond design work. Experience in aircraft modification, or maintenance and equipment requirements is the kind of background we seek in the men we will hire — men whose experience has taught them to think of an airplane or missile as a WHOLE rather than COMPONENTS.

FIELD SERVICE ENGINEERS

For work at off-site Convair-Astronautics missile facilities. Requires a professional background in rocket propulsion, pneumatics, propellant handling, ground handling equipment, flight control and guidance systems, electrical and electronic systems, and instrumentation (line & telemetry).

LIFE WITH LARRY THOMPSON

Easy to Quiet Kids Now

IN OUR SHORT experience with it we have found that a station wagon is the ideal vehicle for a family with three small children.

It can be used as a patrol wagon with three cells when your young passengers get out of hand.

When the little darlings get in a fight, we can order one into the front seat, another to the back seat, and the third to the rear compartment. Thus separated, they find it impossible to fight.

They don't like this arrangement one bit. A curious thing about children—at least about our children—is that they seem to be most unhappy when they can't be fighting with one another.

This is a very strange thing, and some day I must ask a child psychologist to explain it.

We have used this segregation policy several times, and it has worked wonders. Now, when a riot starts in the back seat I merely look around and mention that separate seats seem to be in order.

The bedlam stops instantly and three little demons become three little angels. After I have turned around, they resume hostilities in whispers and I pretend not to hear them.

At least we get peace and quiet for long periods, and I think station wagon salesmen ought to start stressing this point in their pitches.

AN INTERESTING QUESTION is posed by Fred Howe 511 Beacom Blvd.: "How many people realize how important in their lives is a chance meeting with someone?"

For instance, Mr. Howe says, in 1922 he and a friend were talking about the severe winter they'd just had in their home town of Hamilton, Ontario. The friend mentioned he had once spent a warm winter in Miami.

And that chance conversation caused Mr. Howe to move to Miami.

"If I had not accidentally run into this friend, I would not be living here now," he says. "That chance meeting changed my life."

Another incident: "I met a friend on the street one day. He was out of a job. I recommended him to a certain firm. He got the job, remained with the company 35 years, was pensioned at 65. If I had been walking on the other side of the street that day, this man's life would have been entirely different."

WE MADE A READER famous, and isn't that a fine service?

Back in November, Charles N. Ascheim, 3814 Riviera Dr., Coral Gables, wrote in to insist that when we mentioned X towns that Xenia, O., be given top billing.

Somebody sent a copy of the column to the Xenia Daily Gazette and the editor wrote to Mr. Ascheim to ask more about this Floridian who was standing up so strongly for his home town in Ohio.

Now, The Daily Gazette has published a long story with a two-column headline: "Xenia Defender In Florida Was Born Here In 1883."

They printed a one-column picture of Mr. Ascheim and the story told how his father used to run a men's store on the main street, around the corner from the county building.

"From the little item in your column, I was catapulted into the limelight, at least in my home town," Mr. Ascheim proudly reports, and we share in his happiness at the recognition.

A SOLUTION to a perplexing problem, as offered by Henri Rouillard, Key West:

"Concerning that most important topic, what to do with arms in bed? Why not forget them?

"Get so doggoned tired physically that nothing exists but sleep. Your arms then take care of themselves."

Sound advice, probably, but I don't want to get that tired. It would be too much work.

Mr. Rouillard, incidentally, is author of a book of poems called "Provocatives," and I think that's a right provocative title.

Jack Kofoed Says

Castro Must Know U.S. Is Big Friend

FIDEL CASTRO is, no doubt, a dedicated patriot, and a courageous leader of guerilla fighters.

As a spokesman for his liberated country, the bearded one leaves something to be desired. During the past few weeks his attacks on the United States have been vitriolic.

Our country and Cuba have been traditional friends since we helped free her from the yoke of Spain.

Her tourist and sugar industries are dependent on the United States.

The new government faces a Herculean task in getting its economy on a sound basis. To start by attempting to alienate America's friendship and keep tourists away can only guarantee failure.

Idealist Castro should realize this. Perhaps he will.

When he entered Havana in triumph, he announced there would be no more gambling.

Cries of protest rose from practically everyone including labor unions, which have millions of dollars invested in swank hotels.

Fidel altered his dictum to the extent that casinos might operate with only tourists as customers.

It may be that, giving another look at recent statements, he may decide it is better to have America as a friend than an aloof neighbor. All of us hope so.

The Cubans are a fine people, and most of them want good relationships continued. We do, too.

It's time for Castro to stop being a belligerent fighter and become a statesman.

THERE'S A ROAD camp at Deep Lake. The convicts there are on the honor system. That is to say, they are men who have proved they can be rehabilitated, and when their terms are completed, will "go outside," and live honest lives. They don't need guards with guns and clubs to keep them in line.

Life in confinement is dreary under any conditions. The boys at Deep Lake need help. They like to play soft ball, and can arrange games with other teams.

Toward that end, they have leveled ground, laid out a diamond. The drawback is that they have practically no equipment.

Perhaps some sporting goods people, or soft ball teams with excess bats, balls and so on, would be willing to help. If so, I wish they'd call me. These men are being made into potentially good citizens. A little help will be a big thing for them.

NOTES ON A SHABBY CUFF:

Don't forget the premiere of Walt Disney's Sleeping Beauty at the Sheridan Theater Feb. 10. It's for the Lend-a-Hand Summer Camp, and your dollars will buy happiness for youngsters, who won't have it if you don't attend.

When Ed Sullivan was in town, he took several lessons from George Astor, Fontainebleau golf pro. "Smiley" says he shaves several strokes off his game after being tutored in Astor's "delayed hip action" theory . . . Jerry Nussbaum, of the Newark Star-Ledger, New Jersey's most popular columnist, checked into the Fontainebleau for a month's stay.

Joey Maxim, one of the best boxers to hold the light heavyweight title, now fights wrestlers on a carnival circuit. How far can a champion slip, once he grows fat and slow?

I didn't think anybody would remember, but Morris Cohen writes that many years ago he used to read a weekly sports feature I did for the Jewish Forward's English section. They told me I was the only guy who ever wrote for that paper.

If Charlie May sees this, will he please give me a call?

Aside to a reader: Homestead exemption is granted only to those whose legal residence is in Florida. Naturally, if you retain Massachsetts citizenship, you can't claim that exemption . . .

Lindsay Crosby was doubtful about accepting an offer to play a killer in a television show. Thought it might be a smirch on the family name.

The drinking, gambling and girls chasing of the Crosby kids isn't a smirch?

Pretty women aren't always gentle. A story out of New York says Anita Ekberg rammed her sports car into a street light, and when a policeman suggested the scrumptious Swede might have taken on too big a cargo of alcoholic beverage, she tried to belt him with the heel of her shoe.

The Cafe St. Denis in New York reports that Brigitte Bardot's favorite dish (outside of sex, naturally) is Blanquette de Veau . . .

Ruth Foreman's production of "Robin Hood" resumes tomorrow at Pied Piper Playhouse, with an extra performance at Barry College Sunday . . . The silliest idea of the century is the three-in-one golf course they're planning to build at Miami Springs.

Horse Show Crowd Is Dressy

Hartnell Skirts Longer

LONDON — (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth's dressmaker gave his prestige to the longer skirt that other designers had featured at London's spring fashion shows.

Norman Hartnell placed the length at 16 inches from the floor.

Hartnell's English tweeds displayed to the press and American buyers also had slight padding in the shoulders and a squared shoulder line for the first time in years. He gave pleated skirts to many daytime dresses and gently-fitted waists to them all.

Otherwise, his "safe and sound" collection of timeless clothes held no surprises and could have been worn 10 years ago, or perhaps even 10 years from now.

But other London designers tuned in their spring line to to the lively Paris edict of belts and bosoms.

Worth gave more business to the belt manufacturers by putting leather belts on everything from daytime dresses to evening gowns.

A brown-and-white print afternoon dress was enlivened by a wide rust-colored suede belt. The "new look" in midriffs extended to a lime-colored satin floor-length evening gown with a wide belt and buckle of the same fabric.

All the cocktail and evening gowns made up for the longer skirt lengths by having revealing low necklines, draped or plunging.

Designer John Cavanagh's designs also could have women doing waist-bending exercises. Everything was snug in the waist, often full-skirted and always belted.

One favorite was a pale yellow short but fluffy evening dress of taffeta, its cinch belt buckling in the back and holding up side panels.

4,200 Turn Out for Opening Of Cancer Institute Benefit

By NORA OPHULS
Herald Staff Writer

If any one of the 4200 who went to the ninth annual Charity Horse Show at Dinner Key Auditorium Thursday night expected to see a few horses, a handful of passable riders and some onlookers in blue jeans, he received the surprise of his life.

As Stefanie Zachar put it, as she climbed down from High Tide, "We're big show now." She looked smart in her riding ensemble which included a tattersall vest and tweed jacket.

Indeed, they are "big show" for not counting over 75 equitation entries, youngsters who don't compete with the most advanced riders, nearly 400 horses are entered in the 4-day show. The riders, who came from 25 states, put them through their paces over a layer of earth more than a foot thick, an oval which covered most of the auditorium floor.

* * *

Golden Horseshoe

BIG, TOO, was the attitude toward the show of the onlookers. Spanning much of the far end of the auditorium was the Golden Horseshoe Box which seated 50 guests beneath 3 glittering gold horseshoes and several dozen bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

These guests were served champagne during the show.

Among those sitting in the Golden Horshoe Box which was organized by Marge (Mrs. Walter) Pierce were Dr. J. Holden Beckwith and Mrs. Beckwith with Dr. B's daughter, Mrs. Harry E. Rockefeller.

The Leslie T. Lees and the S. F. Whitakers, sat in second of two rows in the box behind the L. M. Lowrys and the Duffield Matsons. Others in the box were Mrs. Helena R. Elliot, and her guest Mrs. Una Casanave; Betty and Lynn Nielsen and Mary and Arnold Ross, she stunning in a white crepe sheath; Toney McDonald, in a blue silk print, and her husband H. B.

* * *

Box Seats

Surrounding the oval were reserved seats and boxes. Interested box holders were the James D. Norrises whose little daughter Susie has been making a name for herself in riding circles.

Their box was next to that of the E. L. Cottons. Bud and Jane Frischkorn were having a purely social evening, but come Saturday and Sunday nights, Jane will ride their mare Princess Denmark. They had reserved a box near the E. E. Dale Shaffers.

More indication of the dressiness of the first night of the horse show which is sponsored by the Women's Corps of the Cancer Institute of Miami was the Robert E. Fields' box. Mrs. Field had on a princess style cocktail dress of blue velvet. With them were his brother and wife, the N. R. Fields, Mrs. Fields in an aqua and white silk print.

Herbert S. Stevens, general chairman of the show and Mrs. Stevens, had box number 1 and among their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Carey. Mrs. Fred F. Ravlin, co-chairman, looked attractive in a red chiffon draped sheath.

The show will continue today through Sunday, with matinee preformances each day at 1:30, evening at 7:30.

AIB Dance

The Miami chapter of the American Institute of Banking expects some 600 members and guests at its Valentine Dance Saturday evening.

The party will be held in the Gulfstream Room of Bayfront park auditorium. Time is 9 p.m. Al Schoen's orchestra will play.

GIRL ASKS 'WHY?'

Boys Can Get Away With More Things

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

My girl friends and I are all respectable. Recently we were talking about why boys can get away with things that a girl can't.

Fifteen-year-old-boys, for example, can smoke, stay out late, go where they want to, have bad reputations and it still doesn't mean much, but if girls act this way they are considered tramps.

Dorothy Ricker

If boys flunk in school, act dumb, or skip homework it is nothing, but if girls do the same things there is a lot of talk about it.

Isn't it more important for boys to finish school and have good educations since they are the ones to support a family?

It really doesn't matter if a girl finishes school or not because her job is to cook and be a wife and mother. Right?

R.O.W.

You are definitely wrong if you believe that 15-year-old boys (or those of any age) can get away with sub-standard behavior. It may appear that they do since some people are less critical of boys than girls.

But, in the end, boys have to pay dearly for lax morals or goldbricking their way through school. They fail to make the grade as solid citizens and good husbands.

You said a girl has less need for education because she will end up as a "cook, wife and mother."

In this, too, you are wrong since education, or the lack of it, will largely determine whether a girl becomes a GOOD wife and mother or just a drudge and scrubwoman for the family.

An educated girl can help tremendously in the training and development of her children. She can raise the cultural level of her family's life. She can understand and take part in community, civic and church activities.

* * *

Should Girl, 10, Be Going Steady?

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

My name is Susan. I am a little girl, 10 years old. I have a boy friend whose name is Ricky. He is very smart and handsome.

In your next column will you tell me if I should go steady with him? He said he loves me but a lot of other boys in my class love me, too.

SUSAN

You ARE a little girl — one who is much too young to be thinking seriously about boys, love or going steady.

I suggest you get smart, too, and stop "playing grown-up." Find a nice group of girls to pal with and take up activities which are suitable for a 10-year-old.

If you don't already belong, the Girl Scouts would be a good place to start.

Dorothy Ricker

The Guest List Snowballed for Millers' Party

BY HELEN WELLS
Herald Society Editor

Guests were everywhere in the house and in the enormous tent in the garden when Ivah and Neil Miller entertained at a cocktail buffet on Wednesday at their home on Sunset Island II.

"We haven't had a big party in two years . . ." expounded Ivah, and explained that her guest list snowballed to 250!

The house was a bower of flowers sent by friends to this warm hearted and hospitable couple.

Col. Reinhardt

Mrs. Best

Long-time friend of the Millers "Willie" Col. William R. L. Reinhardt, lent aid and assistance. Caught a glimpse of him calmly having dinner in the breakfast nook in the kitchen away from the throng!

No one could go hungry or thirsty at this soiree. There were two groaning buffet tables and three refreshment bars, the latter thoughtfully supplied with special brands for certain guests.

The green and white striped tent was decorated with festive colored lights and floored with canvas. Sitting at one of the tables here were Alfred Barton, Mary Jane and Kentucky Colonel Lino Sertel.

Sunset Island neighbors, Ethel and George Kennedy came with Lorena Butler and A. J. Henderson; Hilde and Gary Kullack merely walked across the street; Phyllis. and Gordon Hoover walked up the street.

Irene and Ralph Crum were in the gang and so were Charlie Moon, there minus Celeste, Nina Mangus, minus Spratt, Yvonne and Jeff Ford, Polly and Bill Stevens Fan and George Obrecht, Virginia and Jim Gerity.

Dena Merritt's date was George O'Brien, Ann Van Sciver was with John Astor. Olive Wofford, Sadie and Pat Cummings Zoe and Bob Armstrong the Rex Rutherfords were more.

May (Mrs. Floyd) Best, just down from Elkhart, Ind., was saying "hello" to her friends. She's staying at the Seaway. May motored down through snow and ice with her brother Rex (sometimes known as Uncle Fud) Sanders and her sister, Hazel (Mrs. Fred) Cecil of Louisville, Ky.

En route they skidded into a car ahead and smashed the fender on May's brand new shiny black Cadillac. Heart breaking but repaired now.

* * *

Post-Party Steaks

After the Millers' party Helen and Loren Berry took their houseguests, Marian and Fred Learey of Columbus where he is a v.p. of the telephone company, and more friends from Ohio Naomi and Bill Denison of Columbus, Walter Steuer, Loren's "right hand man" and his Clara of Dayton to Indian Creek Country Club for charcoal broiled steaks and champagne.

Here Larry Siry and his "boys" serenaded with old favorites for singing, supper was served on the terrace and the company danced to lively tunes.

* * *

On California Front

An enticing color post card of Shadow Mountain Terrace in Palm Springs, Calif., is from Gretchen and George Livesey.

They say they are spending their time horseback riding in the canyons there, attended an exciting rodeo and are meeting friends from all corners of the U.S. On Monday the Liveseys are flying to Las Vegas to "try our luck."

* * *

Guests Were Fashionable, Too

With the stirring roll of drums and to lilting music, fashion models pirouetted on stage for a fashion show luncheon Wednesday at the Surf Club.

At the well-filled tables in the grand ball room and green room, spectators were eyeing not only these resort and cruise fashions but each other's smart costumes.

There was brunette Florence (Mrs. Jose) Ferre's stunning cherry red linen dress and jacket worn with a delightful straw hat, medium wide of brim, and trimmed with poppies.

Maude (Mrs. William) McKnight in pink linen and matching sweater, paused to say that she and "Mac" had had a whirlwind junket over the weekend. They left Sunday in their private plane for the snow and ice of New York, and gladly flew back on Tuesday. While there Maude sandwiched in a performance of The Flower Drum Song.

Others at the table with Mrs. McK. included Wilma (Mrs. George) Baker, her chum, Vi (Mrs. Clifford) Heinz, Rene (Mrs. Heman) Hooper among others.

Mrs. Marshall Alworth, recently arrived at her and Mr. Alworth's La Gorce Island home, was another spectator in pink under the pink lights. These latter were remarked upon by artist Jean Appleton who was fired with a desire to use a pink spotlight on her "sitters"—the pink is so very flattering.

Caught a glimpse of Edith (Mrs. Edward) Leslie, Mrs. Mark Honeywell looking lovely in gold print, Mrs. Ned Griffin in cafe au lait lace.

Miss Williams Weds

Miss Virginia Rose Williams and David Borden Simonton was married Thursday in Gesu Catholic Church. Reception was at the McAllister Hotel.

Mrs. Simonton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Williams, 3012 NW 17th St. Mr. Simonton's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Simonton of Baltimore.

The bride graduated from Miami High School and attended Jackson Memorial Hospital school of nursing. The bridegroom, who recently returned from France where he served with the Air Force, attended schools in Baltimore.

The couple will live in Falls Church, Va., after a honeymoon in the Florida Keys.

They Keep Up Family's Tradition

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sargeant Reynolds
. . . young horse owners in Hialeah's paddock

By REGRET
Herald Columnist

Their families are as old as the South itself, and the Sargeant Reynoldses are examples of its young married set at its best.

Winners' Circle

Fair-haired, fair-skinned Mrs. Reynolds, who not too long ago was Betsy Veeneman, and her good-looking, plaid-jacketed husband watched the flying silks this week from the clubhouse box belonging to her grandfather William Veeneman.

The young couple aren't down from their Richmond, Va., home on a purely social visit with the Veenemans. Keeping up the family horse-owning tradition they just bought their first horse Raven Wing, a two-year-old black colt, from Ocala Stud Farm. Grandpa Veeeneman is part owner. Could they possibly be eyeing future competition?

Betsy Reynolds is the daughter of the William Veeenemans Jr. and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reynolds of Richmond. His grandmother is Mrs. Richard S. Reynolds of Miami Beach.

* * *

Winners' Circle Was Colorful

THE WINNERS' circle was a colorful sight on Bahamas Day at Hialeah when Sir Victor Sassoon presented the handsome silver tray to Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Sharp of Middletown, Del., whose three year-old Troilus captured the Bahamas Stakes.

A young, popular and attractive racing couple, Mrs. Sharp is a blonde, he's a red head. And with Sir Victor was his niece Mrs. Francine Clore of Paris, France, a slim, stunning brunette with lustrous dark curls and big dark eyes. Poor Troilus had competion for attention!

Also with Sir Victor were his Nassau house guests the Robert Bouchers who own a distinguished English racing stable. They owned Wilwyn, the horse that in 1952 won the very first Washington, D.C. International, a turf race for thoroughbreds from all over the world.

English literary tradition surrounds Mr. Boucher's newest hopeful, a little two-year-old filly who has just touched a tentative hoof to the racing game. She's Syndale Valley, named for a region where Mr. Boucher has farms near the Dover Road, the stagecoach road that figures in countless 18th century English novels.

Syndale Valley's sire is Abanant whose daughter Liberal Lady is performing prettily at Hialeah this meeting. Her dam is Mr. Boucher's own mare Devon Vintage who won, among others, the Queen Mary and the Coronation Cup.

* * *

A familiar face appeared for the first time at Hialeah on Bahamas Day. Ada L. (Mrs. Daniel F.) Rice, who has been laid up with pneumonia, came to watch the two horses she had in the Bahamas Stakes race and saw Rare Rice come in third.

* * *

Cary's Horse Was Surprise

LADY LUCK put female rivalry aside Tuesday and whispered sisterly tips in the ears of feminine mortals instead. At Hialeah several dainty purses went home bulging.

You'd have thought they were giving minks away at the screams that went up when post-deb Cary Latimer's own Pildoron finished second in the fourth race. And when the show price appeared on the board — $155.80 — well, no one fainted but the gasps were ominous.

There wouldn't have been so much stir except that Petie Clay, wife of Hialeah publicity director Everett Clay, and her bridge club were pooling their money and betting on the long shots. These gals were still happily fingering their wealth when Real Sincere, whose odds were 80-1, finished first in the seventh race. A redeemed win ticket brought $178.50, place $38.90.

More squeals? What do you think?

To get back to Cary Latime's Pildoron, this four-year-old gray gelding has only raced once before anywhere. That was last June at Belmont Park where he finished last 38 lengths behind the first horse. Needless to say his trainer Horacio Luro, who is Cary's stepfather, wasn't too keen on cultivating this Argentine-bred horse.

Asked what she's wagered on Pildoron Cary's mother Frances Luro grinned, "Two dollars across the board for Cary."

Bay Oaks Residents Move Into New Wing at Home

It's moving time at Bay Oaks the home for the aged sponsored by the Miami Soroptimist Club.

Residents are moving their belongings from the old frame house at 435 NE 34th St. into the first unit of the adjacent Mary Moore Memorial Wing, newly constructed at a cost of $134,000.

When the occupants have moved, the old house will be torn down to make room for the west unit of the wing, which is dedicated to the memory of the late Mrs. T. V. (Mary) Moore, pioneer Miamian and civic leader.

Contributions from Miamians who remember Mrs. Moore's contributions to the community are being received by the Citizens Memorial Committee headed by Henry O. Shaw.

The newly completed unit consists of nine bedrooms, a large assembly room and a fully equipped kitchen.

Now Medicine's Taste Must Match the Color

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — Color and taste both play a big role in the psychology of medicine.

That's the word from Mrs. Shirley Morabito, who has tasted some 700 medicines in the last three years. Owner of one of the most educated palates in the world of drugs, she is chief medicine taster for the Charles Pfizer Pharmaceutical Company.

—Associated Press Wirephoto

Shirley Morabito
. . . brown is out

The taste test is the last step in research, she explained, because new medicines have to taste right today to win public acceptance.

"Most everyone seems to dislike a brown-colored medicine," said Mrs. Morabito. "Of hundreds of children I tested, only one — a boy — said that brown was his favorite color.

"Older people often like a mint-flavored medicine. Once I tested a new geriatric product which had quite a bit of alcohol in it. The old people seemed to like it very much.

"Children prefer fruit flavors. They like red and orange colors, and they like medicines with a cherry or orange flavor. But the color and taste must match. If you give them a blue medicine with an orange flavor, they wouldn't like it.

"Chocolate is a popular flavor but isn't used widely because too many children are allergic to it."

One antinausea capsule for expectant mothers has done very well. It is pink at one end and blue at the other.

$10,000 Gift Sets Pace At CJA's First Luncheon

By MARCIE FEINGOLD
Herald Staff Writer

Mrs. Elise Adams' $10,000 donation was the pace-setter at the premier luncheon of the Women's Division of Combined Jewish Appeal Thursday at La Bastille.

This is the second year in a row that Mrs. Adams has donated $10,000, and hers is the largest recorded donation from one woman in the history of Miami's CJA.

Mrs. Adams is the widow of the late Arthur Frank Adams, once chairman of the Automatic Electric Telephone Co. He installed Israel's telephone system in 1951.

More than 275 local Jewish women brought their gifts.

A total of $112,000 was raised at the event, the first of five fund-raising luncheons. Goal for the day had been $100,000.

Thousand dollar bills flowed freely as the "big gift" affair that kicked off the women's fund raising activity.

"Plus gifts" is the term used by American Jewish women for the contributions they make to CJA in addition to their husbands' gifts.

Proceeds of the 90-day drive, which began Jan. 1, are used for rehabilitating refugees G Israel, for national Jewish organizations, and Jewish agencies in Dade County. More than one third of the Miami goal of $2 million stays in Dade County for use in such agencies as Mount Sinai Hospital, Jewish Family Service, Greater Miami Jewish Community Center.

The guests, representing women leaders of the local community, heard Reuven Dafni, former Israel delegate to the U.N., describe the unexpected influx of immigrants into Israel from behind the Romanian Iron Curtain.

Dafni urged the women to open their pocketbooks and give the money needed to take care of approximately 10,000 persons monthly unexpectedly entering Israel.

"After closed doors for the past 10 years, the Romanian government has suddenly and unexpectedly opened them to allow Romanian Jews to reunite with their Israeli families.

"It is beyond Israel's capability by itself to cope with this sudden influx of an entire population. We just don't have the resources of the United States. We need your help."

Contributions to the appeal were announced by Mrs. A. J. Harris, chairman of the luncheon and Mrs. Aaron Faar, women's campaign chairman.

She Finds Needed Work For Handicapped People

Mrs. Tinter

You could call Mrs. Stanley Tinter a go-between. She is chairman of the employment of physically handicapped for the B'nai B'rith Women's Council of South Florida.

As such, she coordinates the efforts of chapter chairmen working on the project and the Florida State Employment Agency which knows handicapped people who need a job.

Here's how the project works. When the Florida State Employment Agency or the state vocational rehabilitation agency has a handicapped person who needs a job, they call Mrs. Tinter.

She relays the information to one of the chapter chairmen. She'll say, for instance, "There's a young lady, trained to operate a switch board. She uses a wheel chair. See what you can find for her."

Then the chapter chairman gets on the phone contacting the local businesses which have indicated they could employ a handicapped person. She calls around to see if one of them needs a switch board operator and if they will interview Miss X.

Incidentally, the B'nai B'rith women never know the names of the handicapped people they are trying to find jobs for. Numbers are used instead of names.

Mrs. Tinter, who's in charge of chaneling these efforts, is new at this kind of work but she thoroughly enjoys it. This week the B'nai B'rith men's council presented a citation to her for "outstanding efforts" in her work.

This is a pilot project for the B'nai B'rith Women's Council and Mrs. Frank Smulson, council president, says that about 35 handicapped persons have been placed in jobs since the project started this fall.

If the job seeker needs car fare or financial help during the first week on the job, there's a fund for this purpose supplied by the local committee of the National Employ the Physically Handicapped committee.

"We're trying to promote the project nationally in B'nai B'rith," she added.

At the outset of the project, the chapter chairman called on local clubs and organizations to ask if they would hear a speaker on employing the physically handicapped.

'Capitalism Succeeds in the U.S.'

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK — Judging from the news emanating from Moscow these days, it appears that the Soviet Communist party's ruling presidium thinks that capitalism is having a harder and harder time to succeed.

MRS. FDR

Of course, the Soviet Union is putting most of its emphasis on the development of heavy industry and the modernization of its steel industry to catch up with the United States, which seems to have succeeded fairly well under its capitalist system — or else the Soviet Union would not be having such a time to catch up.

The Soviets seen to ignore for some reason the fact that capitalism is no more static than their own type of socialist economy.

Capitalism in the U.S. is successful, I believe, because we had great natural resources and because our people are flexible enough to change when change is needed.

The changes made in our country during the great depression of the thirties are what saved our capitalist system. And if we are wise, we are going to continue to adjust our system of capitalism to our needs.

The really important thing is that people be free to make their adjustments and their own decisions in these areas, that these decisions are not sometnıng imposed upon them from the top.

We have been fortunate in the U.S. in having for the most part enlightened people in business and usually in government.

All of us agree that we need to fight inflation, but the means of fighting it are the point on which many of us disagree. I think we lose more by cutting down on production through unemployment than we could possibly lose if we had full employment and full production and in that way brought down prices.

Wages cannot come down unless prices come down. People cannot have more unless more is produced.

How Can She Add Scent to Home-Made Soap?

By JEAN WARDLOW
Herald Staff Writer

Now for a little soft soap. Hand-made at that.

Mrs. A. B. of Miami has been making her own soap for years. Hasn't bought commercial soap powder in 10 years. But the scent bug finally bit. And that's her problem.

READERS' EXCHANGE

"What can I put in the soap to give it a little scent? And when should the scent be added during the soap making?" she asks.

Mrs. B., originally from New England, uses fat, sugar and borax to make her soap, which she says is "white as milk and very good."

She lets it stand for three months to harden before she grates it and uses it for washing.

She'll be glad to share her home-made soap "recipe" if anyone wants it. Send your request with a self-addressed, stampled envelope to Readers' Exchange, The Miami Herald, Miami 30.

Oil Paintings Need Cleaning

Let's talk about the finer things. Oil paintings, for instance. Mrs. E. J. K. of Miami would certainly like to talk about them. They're causing her a serious problem.

"I have some very old oil paintings that are dark and drab. Could someone please tell me how to clean them. I'd appreciate it so much."

* * *

They Knew Old Poem

Four readers sent in copies of "Annie and Willie's Prayer" for Mrs. E.V.K. of Key West. They came from Mrs. F.E.W. and Mrs. H.V.H.S. of West Palm Beach, Mrs. L.D. of Hialeah and Mrs. A.V. of Miami.

The poem is on its way to Mrs. K.

* * *

Mrs. A.B.'s problem stems from bananas. In fact, it is banana stems—stains thereof.

She pleads: "Could a reader help me in removing stains. They're of juice from a stem."

Bet You Didn't Know

Bet you've been sitting around wondering which kind of cheese has the highest vitamin B-6 content. Well, you don't have to fret anymore.

University of Nebraska made a study of 31 cheeses and found the answer. Camembert, Liederkranz and Bleu cheese.

Thought we'd pass it along in case you wanted healthy mice.

What Will Cover Red Tile Sills?

Mrs. P. C. is seeing red. And she doesn't want to. Oh, shes' not angry about anything. At least not angry enough to see red.

But she is upset. About her red tile window sills. She wants to do away with the red. And she doesn't know how.

"Paint won't hold and I'd like to cover the red. What to do?" she asks.

So, readers. What to do?

This is a Sunday, Tuesday and Friday column for the Florida homemaker. Hints, questions and answers may be mailed with full name and address to Readers' Exchange, The Miami Herald, Miami, 30. The Herald is not responsible for the safety or efficiency of methods recommended by our readers.

Is Institution Best For Retarded Son

By DR. J. G. MOLNER

DEAR DR. MOLNER:

My youngest son is mentally retarded, severely so according to my doctor who feels he may well be able possibly to run and play, feed himself, be toliet trained, etc., but never plan for himself or reach school age mentally.

Dr. J. C. Molner

"The doctor mentioned the possibility that the child will be better off in a home when he gets older (he is 15 months old now) because of our other children.

"Please give me your opinion. This child does not seem to know us. Do you think he ever will? He has been examined by a neurologist but I received no hope.

"I can't help but look ahead, and would like your advice for future reference. Is a child of this type better off with other children like himself, or with his family?

—MRS. R. S. F.

I have seen hundreds of such children, some "brighter," some with far less mental ability. Never will I forget one such retarded (but happy) child whom I saw at a picnic at a home for such children.

His parents, and his brothers and sisters, two older and two younger, and perfectly normal, went to the home to give this defective child a simple holiday. He had a tasty picnic lunch, they pushed him in the swing, they petted and fussed over him, they showed that they loved him for all his mental incapacity. And he enjoyed it.

He looked forward to these occasional events in his simple life. He remembered them, vaguely but lovingly, afterward. In the interim, he remained in a state school for defective children.

Had he stayed with his family, he would have been persistently struggling with problems that he could not understand, much less meet adequately. He would have been a constant care for his parents, which they could have borne.

But eventually he would have become the responsibility of one of his brothers or sisters. Which one? Who shall choose? It is not fair to other children to saddle one with lifelong responsibility of caring for such a child.

There is no known reason why a defective child is occasionally born, but we know it will happen in a few out of every thousand births, regardless of the health, mental and physical, of the parents.

My own feeling is very strong on this. By all means place the child in a home for such children, where he will live in an environment to which he will be equal.

Don't abandon him. That was the sin of past generations, but not of the present. Once he is in that home, visit him from time to time. Not every week. Perhaps not every month. (This depends on his reaction to your visits.) But certainly visit him on an occasional holiday. See that he has Christmas presents as all children do; see that he has birthday presents or treats, because these give him, within his understanding, a feeling of being important and loved.

Love this child. But let him live in a world to which he can be adequate. Do not saddle him with living in a world that he cannot comprehend.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. Always write to him in care of The Miami Herald.

Spicy Two-Crust Papaya Pie Wins First Prize in Contest

Papaya, spiced with cinnamon and nutmeg and sharpened with lemon juice, makes a golden filling for Mrs. H. N. Pheneger's pie. Her recipe wins first prize in this week's contest.

Mrs. A. G. Raab's pie, second prize winner, has a Florida grapefruit filling. It is a two-crust pie, made much like a conventional apple pie.

Third prize goes to Mrs. Dorothy Snyder for a different apple pie. Poultry seasoning flavors the crust. The pie has a bacon topping. And the pie is to serve with pork or veal, not as dessert.

PAPAYA PIE
(First Prize, $5 in cash)

Pastry for 2-crust pie
¼ cup sugar
1½ tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
1 very ripe papaya
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter

Line 9-inch pie pan with half the pastry. Combine sugar, flour, cinnamon, salt and nutmeg. Spread half the mixture in pastry lined pie pan.

Prepare papaya by peeling and cutting into pieces about 2x½ inch. Prepare enough papaya to heap high in pie shell. Sprinkle with remaining sugar mixture. Sprinkle with lemon juice and dot with butter. Cover with ½-inch strips of pastry arranged lattice fashion.

Bake on lower shelf of oven at 425 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes. Lower heat to 350 degrees and bake 15 minutes longer or until fruit is a clear golden color.

MRS. H. N. PHENEGER
191 NW 67th St.

TWO CRUST FLORIDA GRAPEFRUIT PIE
(Second Prize, $3 in cash)

Pastry for 2-crust pie
2½ cups fresh grapefruit sections
⅓ cup brown sugar (or more, if liked)
2½ tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 tablespoon butter

Line 9-inch pie pan with half the pastry. Keep remainder of pastry cool until grapefruit sections are prepared.

To section grapefruit cut peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove all membrane. Then cut slice from top and bottom. Go over fruit again to remove any white membrane remaining. Cut along side of each section from outside to center and remove section by section, retaining juice.

Mix brown sugar, flour, cinnamon and nutmeg. Place half the grapefruit sections in unbaked pastry shell. Sprinkle with half the sugar mixture. Add remaining grapefruit sections and all juice which has seeped from the sections. Sprinkle with remaining sugar mixture. Dot with butter. Cover with top pastry, seal edges and slit pastry. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) about 40 minutes.

MRS. A. G. RAAB

Homestead

APPLE-BACON CRISSCROSS PIE
(Third Prize, $2 in cash)

⅔ cup pie crust mix (firmly packed)
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
2 to 2½ tablespoons cold water
2 cups sliced firm apples
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
⅓ cup evaporated milk (undiluted)
8 slices bacon

Combine pie crust mix with poultry seasoning. Sprinkle with water. Toss and stir with fork. Roll out on floured board and fit into 9-inch pie pan.

Combine apples, sugar, cinnamon and cloves. Fill pie shell with apple mixture. Add evaporated milk. Top with bacon in crisscross design.

Bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees. Reduce heat to 375 degrees and bake 40 minutes longer or until apples are tender. Serve hot as a side dish with pork or veal.

They Trim The Fellows And Love It

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (UPI) — Giving men a good trimming is all in a day's work for three women here. They're lady barbers.

Jewell Bennett, Doris Billingsley and Mary Jackson cut only men's hair.

Miss Bennett is the boss. She took over when the former owner set up another shop—for men, with men barbers.

She was a manicurist in an all-male shop when she decided to become a barber about two and a half years ago.

"We handle customers just the way men do," Miss Bennett said.

"We talk about anything they feel like talking about, and we give them better haircuts than men do. We're not in such a rush to finish a job.

Miss Bennett likes hunting and fishing, so conversation is easy.

"We don't worry too much about politics and serious things," she added. "We think men like a change from it all, too."

Plastic Shoes For Play Wear

—Herald Staff Photo

New Plastic Playshoes
. . . colorful and washable

By BEVERLEY WILSON
Herald Fashion Editor

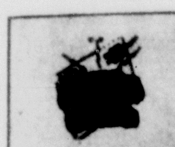
Now you're going to wear colored plastic on your feet.

Playshoes just arrived in town are made entirely of a new non-transparent vinyl. Though they're budget-priced, they're styled with fashion touches such as Italian-type rounded heels. Colors include gay yellows and reds, two-toned turquoises and whites.

Straps may be worn over the instep, as a sling behind the heel, or removed altogether to create scuffs.

What's the advantage of wearing plastic shoes? They're washable, they're waterproof, and they're extremely durable.

For information where the shoes may be bought in Miami, call the Herald Shopping Service at the number shown here.



Where To Buy?

Call FR 9-3826 after 9:30 a.m. today. After 24 hours, write to The Miami Herald Shopping Service, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

AFTER MARRIAGE

'We Found Faith Together'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I agree with Contented Wife's philosophy on being a wife.

My husband and I were married almost four years ago. We had known each other in school but never dated until a year after graduation.

We were of different religions so we did a lot of serious thinking before we decided to marry. We both knew we couldn't change to the other's religion and that I could not bring up our children in a religion I didn't believe in.

So, after much thought, we decided to find a church that was neither my denomination nor his.

We were married in my husband's church so that neither would be forced to give up our religion until we found the one that was right for us.

As he was in service at the time, I went with him to where he was stationed. We lived in a tiny furnished apartment for eight wonderful months. When he was discharged, we went home and lived with my mother while my husband went to college.

We had been home a year when we had our son. Due to unforeseen circumstances, we had extra bills we hadn't planned on, so my husband left college with a year to go. Our son was christened when he was six months old, but my in-laws refused to come because he wasn't christened in the church they wanted.

We had been debating about coming to Florida, and after the christening we did. We have just bought our home and I've been working for eight months to help out. My son goes to a wonderful nursery school.

God has blessed us in many ways. Every Sunday we go to church together and thank Him for our blessings. So I'm more than a contented wife. I am happy, contented and

BLESSED
(Fort Lauderdale)

Marriage between persons of differing faiths is an increasing phenomenon in America. While most clergymen do not encourage such unions, some will agree that the emotionally mature man and woman of different faiths can achieve happiness . . . if the parents truly understand what they have to work with and work to make the marriage a success.

KATHY, 14: If this boy has "changed," you'll hear from him again. If he hasn't, you're better off if you don't. In that event, the "tough girls" deserve him.

And don't waste time asking his best friend what the boy thinks about you . . . For words are but the shadows of actions!

'We Are All Sadder, Wiser'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

To Too Good a Mother — yes, it's sad but all too true, we cannot buy the love and respect of our children with material things.

To love them and give them a feeling of being wanted is the basic thing and I feel the mother of today is far more intelligent along these lines than the mother of yesteryear.

But still, mother, if your daughter has forgotten all too soon your kindly deeds, God has not. By our deeds the Lord shall know us.

I have had much heartache and sorrow similar to yours, but I rejoice in my trials and tribulations, for they have made me a better person. In fact, they brought me a new kind of life.

Many of us find, through the years, we are all a bit sadder, but wiser.

MOTHER OF YESTERYEAR

"Have you learned lessons only of those who admired you and were tender with you, and stood aside for you? Have you not learned great lessons from those who reject you, and brace themselves against you, or who treat you with contempt, or dispute the passage with you?"

The words are Walt Whitmans, but the challenge is for all. Thank you for writing.

Eleanor Hart.

Your Horoscope: Quit Worrying

By CARROLL RIGHTER
Friday, February 6, 1959

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Puzzling situation in your business or social world cannot be adjusted by worry over it. Forget it for a while and it will work itself out naturally. P.M. is then fine for having a relaxed and enjoyable time with comrades.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Get out of that small, isolated world in which you live currently and mingle with great minds, getting advice from finest expert you know, and follow it. FOR YOUR COPY of Carroll Righter's individual 16-page Forecast for March send your birth date and 50c in coin (no stamps) to Carroll Righter Forecast, Miami Herald, Box 1895, Grand Central Sta., N.Y. 17, N.Y.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Before you take any action, try to reconcile intelligently that which you yourself wish to do with what financiers or advisors want you to do. Reach a happy medium.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Associate and a higher up are in some sort of disagreement with which it would be foolish for you to get involved. Adhere strictly to own duties and know how to gain advancement.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) While your head is buzzing with fine, creative ideas and plans, it is imperative you put behind you all that detail work that awaits your attention first. Do this quickly.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although the tension is high where another individual is concerned right now, be sure you maintain equilibrium and cheerful exterior. If you rise above this, you will gain much.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't permit home agruments to keep you away from business or other outside interests now. Absence from home will clear the air naturally. P.M. have real understanding.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Attend to all business dealings and shopping, other outside interests early. Then you can delve into new ideas, look into most modern trends, machinery, methods, etc.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) While you are most anxious to have fun, important work awaits you. See that it is cleared off quickly during A.M. Then off to the races, sports, amusements of your choice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Do not permit some situation at home to so engulf you that you are unable to work out a more palpable personal problem successfully today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Provided that you let go of that private worry, you can still be out in the world of action and work controlled and relaxed at some vital interest. Be productive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure you do not fly off somewhere with one who is very materialistic in his or her thinking and acting. Be loyal to tested and true mate or close ally.

It's No Crime To Coat Meter

Covering a parking meter with an overcoat isn't a crime, according to a ruling by Dade Circuit Judge John W. Prunty.

He refused to hold Policeman Peter Montano for Freehold, N.J., authorities. Montano was arrested at Miami Beach on a New Jersey warrant charging him with tampering with parking meters.

Montano contended the warrant simply alleged he and others in a group put a coat on a meter.

JACK ANDERSON — About TV and Radio

Stereophonic Program Couldn't Be Arranged

ANDERSON

A WEEK AGO on his ABC television show, Walt Disney presented a filmed biography of the Russian composer, Peter Tschaikovsky.

In order to make the most of the composer's sinuous and lovely melodies which backgrounded the drama, ABC arranged for a stereophonic hook-up between its affiliated radio and TV stations across the nation.

ABC has done this before—several months ago with the Saturday night Lawrence Welk Show.

Here in Miami ABC wanted its radio affiliate, WKAT, and its TV affiliate, WPST-TV (Ch. 10), to team up for the stereophonic sound transmission but the hook-up simply couldn't be arranged.

There immediately arose a protest from the stereophonic music fans here. Knowing that WKAT president, Frank Katzentine, and WPST-TV president, George T. Baker, aren't exactly pals, the complainants assumed this was the reason for the nix on the stereo collaboration.

After this department received several of these calls, I checked into the matter, although I had a pretty good idea the Katzentine-Baker FCC differences had nothing to do with it. I was correct.

To begin with, there was no contact between the two stations. ABC approached them separately by telephone from New York.

The Disney show is not carried on ABC radio and so most of the network's contact was with WKAT in an effort to get that station to take the sound portion of the show on a one-time only basis.

Fred Wagenford, manager of WKAT, explained to me that taking the hour-long show would have meant having to cancel an hour's worth of its local programming and the revenue that goes with it.

"We couldn't afford that," said Wagenford. "We also had a couple of news programs from the Mutual network (with which WKAT is also affiliated) and we couldn't get out of taking those.

"We suggested to ABC that it offer the program to WWPB here instead. However, the network wanted any other station to take the broadcast without being paid for it. I assume that WWPB wasn't interested under those circumstances.

"We wouldn't mind cooperating in these stereophonic hook-ups with Channel 10 or any other television station if they were on a regular weekly basis. But these off-and-on arrangements just can't be managed."

* * *

KATZENTINE emphatically dismissed his old battles with Baker as having anything to do with the problem.

"I may have my differences with Mr. Baker," he told me, "but when it comes to my radio station, its first and foremost function is to serve the public. My personal affairs don't enter its programming in any way."

And so, while I hate to spoil anybody's expectations of a second battle in the Okay Corral, that's the story on why there wasn't stereophonic transmission of the Disney program. As it was told to me, at least.

WKAT did collaborate with a competitor radio station — WCKR — last year in a series of stereophonic broadcasts of music.

They were planned well in advance and carried at a late hour when the two stations had no trouble clearing time in their respective schedules for them.

In between, we'll watch Cab Calloway with his old bread-and-butter number, "Minnie the Moocher," some tunes from "Porgy and Bess" by Cab and Johnny Desmond and Dorothy Collins, via a split screen and tape technique, re-creating her old Peter Pan blouse style and dueting with herself on "Dearie."

7—PHIL HARRIS — Phil and friends will gather around the camera for a lively musical hour tonight. Best Bet It's Phil's first TV show of his own and it pretty much reflects his personality. He didn't want too many skits, so it's mostly singing. There are some comic interludes, with Phil and his guests chitchatting in the approved Hollywood style. One has him with Dean Martin and the subject is humility. The music is all done in lavish production numbers—Betty Hutton will sing "When the Saints Go Marching In" in a courtroom setting. Phil and Betty do "Hogwash" around a phony white house. Phil does the old Bert Williams' tune, "No Body," against a railroad station scene. Red Nichols and his band are also down for a number. Color.

10—WALT DISNEY — We're back with Baca tonight, as the fifth of six in the Elfego Baca series is aired. This one is mostly an indoor story, with Baca in the courtroom. Robert Loggia, who has bursitis when this was filmed, was delighted he didn't have too much action to do. Mousketeer alumnus Annette Funicello appears as an ex-convict's daughter and Lynn Bari and James Dunn are others in the cast.

2—CHRISTOPHERS — "Fight for Your Convictions" with Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Tom Harmon.

U.S. Listened In As Our Plane Was Shot Down

I'll Finish Him Off, Said Red Pilot

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The tape recording of radio conversations between the Soviet fighter pilots, accused of shooting down an unarmed U.S. transport plane, was filled with chit-chat about altitudes and positions. But the key portions dwelt on an attack.

They went like this:

"582, I see the target, to the right.

"I see the target, a large one . . .

"I am 201, I see the target, attack!

"I am 201, I am attacking the target . . .

"Attack, attack, 218, attack . . .

"The target is a transport, four-engined . . .

"Roger. 201, I am attacking the target . . .

"The target is burning.

"There's a hit . . .

"The target is burning, 582 . . .

"The target is banking . . .

"Open fire . . .

"218, are you attacking?

"Yes, yes . . .

"The target is burning . . .

"The tail assembly is falling off the target . . .

"Look!

"Oh?

"Look at him, he will not get away, he is already falling.

"Yes, he is falling, I will finish him off, boys, I will finish him off on the run.

"The target has lost control, it is going down . . .

"The target is falling . . .

"Yes . . . form up, go home.

"After my third pass, the target started burning . . .

"Well, let's form up, follow. Let's go . . ."

From study of the recorded conversations, Pentagon and State Department experts concluded that five Soviet jet fighters "scrambled" aloft to attack the U. S. transport and that four made passes at it. The fifth apparently arrived too late to take part in the attack.

From the recording, the Soviet aircraft numbers were 577, 582, 583, 201, and 218.

It appeared that 577 was a late arrival. At one point the transcript records a message to 577 to this effect: "Go home, why are you fooling around there some place."

Six Neatly-Spaced Holes Ripped in Car's Top by C130A

He Just Wanted to See 'Em Landing

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Seventy-year-old Andrew Bird, who just "wanted to watch the planes come in," had a brush with one of them while driving his car on the runway at Cleveland Hopkins Airport.

The aircraft, a huge four-engine Air Force Hercules C130A, whacked six neatly spaced gashes in the steel top of the car, inches above Bird's head.

Bird had arrived early to pick up his wife, Lida, who works for a catering firm. Instead of going to the airport parking lot he headed down a ramp leading to the field.

Apparently becoming confused, Bird drove the length of a 6,000-foot runway, only to find his way blocked by a fence.

"How do I get out of here?" he asked a startled guard in a shack.

"How did you get on it?" gasped the guard.

While the guard alerted the control tower, Bird was already on his way back along the runway, where the C130A had been warming up.

Bird explained later that he did not see the Air Force plane but had seen another plane coming in for a landing. Naturally, he stepped on the gas.

"My God, he's going to hit us!" cried Capt. William M. Bailey Jr. inside the plane.

Propeller tips ripped through the car, which continued on past the plane, turned around again and stopped near the C130A.

"I was afraid to look in the car," said Capt. Bailey, "for fear we'd find a decapitated body."

Bird, calm and uninjured, said it took him many minutes to realize what had happened.

Pending a detailed examination of the turbo-prop plane, Air Force officials said damage could run anywhere from $35,000 to $170,000.

Bird was released after a search of the city code turned up little that might pertain to driving on an airport runway.

They Say Gableite Admitted Plot to Kill Castro

U.S. Probes American's Case in Cuba

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

The U.S. State Department opened an investigation Thursday into Cuban government claims that a "gentleman soldier" from Miami has confessed a plot to assassinate Fidel Castro.

National Police in Havana announced that Alan Robert Nye, formerly of 107 Calabria Ave., Coral Gables, admitted he was promised $100,000 by the forces of Fulgencio Batista if he killed the revolutionary hero.

Nye, described as "the type elderly ladies like," earlier denied from his Havana prison cell any implication in the plot. He claimed he went to Cuba to help the rebels in their fight against Batista.

In Washington an official of the State Department told The Herald by telephone:

"We have received no confirmation of an alleged confession. Consular officials in Havana are now looking into it."

He added that the State Department is in touch with Nye "to see that he is treated fairly."

According to Cuban police, the Batista plotters contacted Nye through Daniel Vasquez, a Cuban refugee who lives at 727 E. DiLido Dr., Miami Beach.

Vasquez and his wife, Marisol Alba, called the "Mata Hari of Cuba," rank high on the revolutionary government's list of traitors.

In Miami, neighbors and acquaintances of Nye offered varying shades of opinion of his personality.

Mrs. L. L. Gardner, who lived next door to him, called him "a perfect gentleman . . . a nice personality; he didn't seem to be that type of fellow."

She said he was frequently visited by Cuban friends.

Mrs. Paul Mickler, who lives in the same apartment where Nye lived, declared:

"I can't believe it. He didn't look very strong for that sort of thing."

Officials of Nye's former employer, the American Airmotive Corp, said he was dismissed from the firm last October after working there 10 months.

Reported an executive:

"He was just another aircraft salesman that come and go. He left here with mutual consent. We were dissatisfied with his work and he seemed unhappy, like he wanted something of a bigger scope."

He added that Nye frequently made trips to Latin American countries for the air cargo company.

Tall, slender and blond, Nye was reported to be a talented painter and pianist.

Havana police gave his age as 31. Neighbors in Coral Gables, however, said he told them he was 40.

In Whiting, Ind., his mother, Mrs. Helen Lynch, said, "I'm positive my son is innocent."

Her attorney, Joseph Sullivan, told newsmen:

"He looks like a kid who would carry a candle in a church procession. He was a gangling, skinny kid, mild-mannered and quiet-spoken."

Nye saw service in the Korean War as a U.S. Navy flier. He later became a member of the U.S. Naval Reserve in Miami.

Before joining American Airmotive, he was a test pilot for Douglas Aircraft and in Florida's agricultural air spraying service.

Cuban police said Nye arrived in Havana Nov. 12, later staying at the Commodoro Hotel under the name of George R. Collins.

A Cuban air force plane reportedly flew him to Oriente Province Dec. 19 and he set out to join the rebels. He was marching in the rebel ranks on Dec. 26 near Santa Rita, in the Bayamo sector, when two rebels seized him and disarmed him. The police said he was carrying an automatic rifle with a telescopic sight and pistol.

Meanwhile, in Havana Friday, Nye was being kept incommunicado.

Cuban officials refused to distribute copies of the alleged confession or allow newsmen to talk to him.

Come, See Us, Nikita Invites Ike

President Mum For the Present

MOSCOW — (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khruschev Thursday publicly invited President Eisenhower to come to the Soviet Union, bring "anyone he likes" and go anywhere he wants.

(The White House had no immediate comment on the invitation. Press Secretary James Hagerty said no announcement will be made until the President receives the transcript of the invitation through regular channels.)

The invitation climaxed a long final speech to the 21st Congress of the Communist Party in which Khrushchev professed the Soviet Union wanted nothing but to end the cold war and compete against the West on economic grounds, in peace.

But he remained adamant on two points which have been big stumbling blocks in East-West relations.

He said the Soviet Union will "never agree" to permit foreign inspectors on Soviet soil even though the U. S. and Britain are willing to accept them on their territory.

Secondly, he said Russia never will accept "liquidation" of Communist East Germany in any plan to reunite Germany.

It was announced in London and Moscow simultaneously a few hours after Khrushchev spoke that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will fly to Moscow Feb. 21 for talks on these and other cold war subjects.

Khrushchev decried the "discrimination" that keeps him from visiting the U. S. but he said he will not insist on going there in return for Eisenhower coming to Russia.

"Should the President decide to come to our country he would be met with sincere hospitality both by our government and the Soviet people," Khrushchev said.

"A visit of this kind would undoubtedly be useful to both countries and would meet with the approval of the peoples of the U. S. A. and the Soviet Union."

He said Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's trip to the U. S. in January "provided the reasons to hope for a further thaw in relations between our countries."

Khrushchev, who opened the congress of 1,296 voting delegates a week ago Tuesday with a six-hour speech, drew ovation after ovation with his closing speech Thursday.

The delegates voted unanimous approval of his report, his policies and of his seven-year design to catch up with the U. S. economically.

Khrushchev said Soviet claims to mass production of intercontinental ballistic missiles are "not just rhetoric."

But he insisted this is just stating the facts, not making a threat, and that the Soviet Union wants an end to the cold war.

Addressing a remark to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, he said, "We are even prepared to admit your victory in this war that is unwanted by the peoples . . . but end it quickly."

Mikoyan Lies About Plane, U.S. Charges

Modest Gains Made

A 'Great' Season --Maybe--If--But

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

The winter tourist season hit its full stride Thursday and found itself in better shape than last year in many respects.

But so far there's no positive pattern that can label the 1958-59 season as either a whopping success or a dismal failure. It seems to be somewhere in between those extremes.

TOURIST TRAVEL into the area is heavier than last year, but betting and attendance at Hialeah—usually a prime economic indicator—is off.

HOTEL AND MOTELS on Miami Beach appear to be enjoying a healthy business, but garbage collections are down six per cent from last year at this time.

THE BEACHES have been crowded on these sunny days and dog track business is up, but if any really big spenders are here they are few.

THE BIG NIGHT CLUBS have good crowds at show time, but generally the owners are complaining that business could be a lot better.

★ ★ ★

Many Favorable Factors

"There's every reason for this to be a good season," said Miami Beach's publicity chief, Hank Meyer. "The weather, the stock market and national economic conditions are all on our side."

Last year was the season of the big cold that kept tourists away in droves and led to a number of hotel bankruptcies. But new hotels opened this year, following a familiar pattern, causing many hotelmen to shake their heads and say, "The Beach is overbuilt."

Beach merchants are reported to be doing "not too well," another indication of what cautious spenders are the current crop of tourists.

In the first 16 days of Hialeah's season, attendance was off 6.7 per cent and wagering off 3.5 per cent.

John Ring, chairman of the State Racing Commission, blames this on too much sunshine, of all things.

"When it's cloudy, cold or wet, the tourists flock to the race track in the afternoon," he said. "But when the sun is shining brightly, they go to the beach."

But the favorable weather apparently is helping the dog tracks and jai alai frontons, which operate at night.

West Flagler Kennel Club closed its 80-day season with its total attendance of 425,622 registering a three

Rites Become Bedlam

Fans Mob Diana Dors At Husband's Funeral

LONDON — (UPI) — The funeral of Dennis Hamilton, estranged husband of Actress Diana Dors, was turned into bedlam by fans who crawled over church pews and demanded autographs from the mourning film star.

Four photographers who entered St. James Roman Catholic Church while a requiem mass was being said had to be ordered out. They took flash pictures of Miss Dors as she knelt praying and sobbing.

When the mass was over, Miss Dors tried to leave the church, but scores of women, many of them clutching children, jostled around and poked autograph books and pencils at her. One women grabbed Miss Dors by the arm.

Miss Dors attended the funeral mass alone. She wore a mink coat, black scarf and dark glasses. She sat opposite Hamilton's family.

Hamilton, 34, died Saturday of a heart ailment. Miss Dors, separated from him for more than a year, was in the U.S. at the time.

Cites Tape To Prove Jet Attack

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The U.S. offered dramatic proof Thursday that Russian fighter planes deliberately shot down an unarmed American transport plane last September. It indirectly accused Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan of lying about the incident.

Seventeen Americans were aboard the four-engine transport. Russia returned only six bodies, saying it had no information about the 11 other men aboard.

The State Department to back up its charges, released a transcript of what it said was an intercepted radio conversation among Soviet fighter pilots who attacked the C130 transport over Soviet Armenia near the Russian-Turkish border Sept. 2.

The English translation quoted the Red pilots as saying:

"I am attacking the target . . . There's a hit . . . The target is falling . . . The tail assembly is falling off . . . He will not get away, he is already falling . . . I will finish him off boys."

Four of the six bodies returned by the Russians were identified. The other two, whose identities still are not known, will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery here today with full military honors.

The State Department did not say how it intercepted the radio conversation among the Soviet pilots.

The Soviet government has insisted the American plane crashed and burned after it was intercepted and taken under escort by the Russian fighters. It flatly denied the transport was fired upon.

Ike Asks for U.S. Laws Against Segregation Mobs

Submits Program For Civil Rights

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower asked a divided Congress Thursday to make it a federal crime to use force or mob violence to block racial integration of schools under court orders.

The President also asked the legislators to strengthen the FBI's hand in dealing with school and church bombing cases and to authorize federal funds and advice to help states make the change to desegregated schools.

These were key proposals in a seven-point civil rights program submitted to Congress in a brief, special message. The Justice, Welfare and Labor Departments immediately followed through with the dispatch of seven bills to the capitol.

This is what the program would do:

1. Make it a federal crime to use force or threats of force to obstruct court orders in school desegregation cases. The punishment would be up to two years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Eisenhower said this would plug a gap in present law and provide "a valuable enforcement power on which the government could rely to deter mob violence and such other acts of violence or threats."

2. Make it a federal offense — with a maximum penalty of $5,000 fine and five years imprisonment — for anyone who bombs or tries to bomb schools, churches or similar institutions to flee across state lines. This would open the way for the FBI to step in.

3. Provide financial and technical help to make it easier for states and communities to make the changeover from segregated to integrated schools. The cost for the next two fiscal years is estimated at $4,895,000. The bulk of the money would have to be matched by the states. Grants would pay for extra professional people — supervisors and administrators, but no teachers.

4. Let the government educate children of military personnel who had been attending public schools that were closed in integration disputes. The government would be able to take over schools built with the aid of federal funds, although it would pay rental on them.

5. Require preservation of federal election records and authorize the Justice Department to inspect them. Eisenhower said a gap in the 1957 civil rights law, designed to safeguard voting privileges, needs to be plugged because some state and local authorities have refused to allow inspection of voting records.

6. Give a basis of law rather than presidential executive order to a government committee which polices non-discrimination clauses in government contracts. The committee, now headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, would become a commission with somewhat broader powers, such as authority to hold hearings.

7. Continue the Civil Rights Commission for two years beyond its September expiration date.

Reaction was cut to a familiar pattern — the Eisenhower civil rights program either goes too far or not far enough, depending on whether a Southern segregationist or a Northern liberal is talking. And then there are the in-betweens, largely staunch administration supporters from GOP ranks, who said it was just right.

Southerners called the program offensive, a form of bribery and an intrusion into a field where the federal government has no business. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), a leader of Senate Southerners, said Eisenhower offers political legislation.

He predicted significantly that "a vigorous effort will be made to amend any civil rights bill that reaches the floor with punitive provisions requesting that the South be patrolled, policed and punished."

From the opposite camp, Chairman Emanuel Celler (D., N.Y.), of the House Judiciary Committee, commented:

"An empty gesture so far as the schools are concerned. It provides a snail's pace for enforcement."

Various Republicans called the program temperate and moderate, as Eisenhower himself did in advance of its submission.

From State Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas came assurances the Eisenhower suggestions "will be considered on their merits by fair-minded men seeking to resolve — rather than sharpen — the conflicts within our country."

He Had No Cash So I Killed Him

A tile layer has confessed the slaying of a Miami bar owner because "I was mad because he didn't have any money in the cash register," Newport, R.I., police told Sheriff Thomas Kelly Thursday.

They identified the man as Charles W. McCarthy, 27, whose Miami address was not known.

Bar Owner Vernon Brubaker, 54, was shot on the night of Jan. 24 at his Melody Lane Bar, 18320 Biscayne Blvd.

Firemen warned Thursday that a firebug may be loose, after a blaze gutted the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hooks, 3500 SW 90th Ave.

Chief L. H. Greer said neighbors saw a youth in his late teens enter the Hooks empty house shortly after 10 p.m. Wednesday. The fire blazed up a few minutes later.

Puerto Rican Migration Off

Migration from Puerto Rico to the U.S. dropped off one-fourth in 1958, immigration officials said Thursday.

Officials said the drop was due to a lack of job opportunities.

Migration during 1958 was among the lowest in recent years, officials said.

Open Question

Among the puzzling problems facing rebel leader Fidel Castro is whether to heed these children's pleas and open up some of the boxes of toys being loaded aboard a Cuban Air Force plane at Bayamo for air drop over farms and villages. Some of the toys later were dropped in the Bayamo area.

Attendance and wagering both are up about 28 per cent at Miami Beach Kennel Club.

The Miami Jai-Alai Fronton has drawn about three per cent more spectators so far this season and has recorded almost a 10 per cent jump in pari-mutuel play.

On the travel front, the air lanes and the highways are bringing in more people.

"We have three more airlines running in here this year (Northwest, Capital and TWA)," a Dade County Port Authority spokesman said, "and passenger traffic is up substantially."

Turnpike Revenues Are Up

National Airlines said its new jet service between Miami and New York "is the most lucrative situation we ever imagined." From Dec. 10 to Jan. 10, National said, its jet flights were 90 per cent filled.

On the Sunshine Parkway, revenues for January were up $25,000 over the $364,000 collected in January of 1958.

"You can't consider the early part of last season bad in comparisons," said an official of First Research Corp., which keeps its finger on South Florida's economic pulse. "The actual effects of the cold weather in 1957-58 didn't really hit until last February."

His conclusion—and that of most informed tourist-watchers polled by The Herald:

"We're registering modest gains over last season."

Carrier Joins Search For Lost Weather Plane

HAMILTON, Bermuda —(UPI)—Planes from the carrier Tarawa joined five land-based aircraft Thursday in a search for a U.S. Air Force weather plane reported to have crashed in flames midway between New York and Bermuda with 12 men aboard.

The Coast Guard in New York said the Tarawa, escorted by six destroyers, was coordinating the search for the missing WB-50 which vanished Wednesday shortly after sending in a routine report on its weather reconnaissance mission.

The cutter Mackinac also joined the hunt for the missing converted bomber.

The Coast Guard said the ships and planes mapped out a search area of 75,000 square miles, centered several hundred miles east of Norfolk, Va.

House OKs Extension Of Draft

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House approved one of the key points in President Eisenhower's military program Thursday by overwhelmingly passing a bill to extend the draft for four years beyond June 30.

By voice vote, it sent the measure to the Senate after rejecting an attempt by Rep. Leonard G. Wolf (D., Iowa) and several other members to limit the extension to two years.

Wolf argued that a two-year extension would let Congress maintain its power over military conscription while it sought a way to maintain U.S. military strength without a draft.

Wolf's two-year amendment was opposed by Democratic and Republican House leaders alike. Democratic Leader John W. McCormack, (Massachusetts) said approval of the proposal would be viewed abroad as a sign of weakness on the part of the U.S.

Besides extending the draft for another four years, the measure would continue the authority of the armed forces to induct physicians and dentists and would extend the Dependents' Assistance Act for the same period.

U.S. Cites Transcript Of Attack

Charges Mikoyan With Lying

ments released with the transcript showed that Mikoyan stuck to this story during his visit to the U.S. last month. When he was questioned about the incident by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Jan. 16, the documents said, Miloyan "denied the plane had been shot down, asserting that it had crashed."

The department said Mikoyan "expressed the Soviet government's lack of understanding and irritation over the U.S. government's insistence concerning this case."

The department also quoted Mikoyan as telling Vice President Richard M. Nixon Jan. 7 that "the Soviet government had given all the information it had" on the plane.

He also told Nixon, the department said, that "there was no sense in their (the Russians') trying to hide anything and (that he) wondered why the Americans were so suspicious about this."

The department's documents showed that Mikoyan's statements came about two months after Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, gave Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov a full transcript of the intercepted radio conversation among the Russian pilots.

In addition to this transcript, the department Thursday handed newsmen photostats and translations of two articles — dated Sept. 19 and 10 — for "Soviet Aviation," official Russian air force newspaper.

The second described the "attack" on the "enemy" transport plane and identified four Russians who took part — Fighter Pilot Officers Lopatkov and Gavrilov and Senior Lieutenants Kucheryaev and Ivanov.

It also reported than an unidentified Soviet general met the pilots after the attack and "shook their hands warmly and thanked them for their successful execution of the mission."

The first article carried photographs of two Russian ground crew members shown "tracking the target" on what appeared to be a radar screen.

The department documents said that when Murphy insisted on Nov. 13 that Menshikov listen to a tape recording of the conversation among the Soviet fighter pilots, Menshikov refused.

He maintained "he was not competent to assess it from a technical point of view," the document said.

He still refused after Gen. Mikhail N. Kostiouk, Soviet air attache and an aviation expert, was invited to listen with him.

But finally, at Murphy's insistence, the department said, Menshikov accepted a transcript of the conversation in Russian and promised to send his government full details of Murphy's protest over the plane incident.

Murphy told Menshikov bluntly that Soviet fighters had shot down the American plane "without regard to the rules of civilized international practice," the department said.

Murphy also "emphasized that some or our men had been killed and that there were certain rules of conduct in the civilized world, and that the U. S. government hoped the desired information regarding the 11 missing men would be promptly forthcoming."

This is to be done with off-track betting. They've got it all figured: 76 theaters, each seating 1,000 patrons means 9,576,000 patrons during the 126 days of Florida horse racing. Each patron's to bet $80 a day, making $766,080,000 total, with the state getting $49,795,200. The tracks are to get $65,116,800, purses will be increased, dog tracks will come into the theaters at night, and of course we'll go year 'round, with northern tracks to help us.

They're even figuring $1 admission per bettor per day. The plan is on the desk of Gov. LeRoy Collins (unless he has done something else with it) and it's in the hands of our legislators.

If this goes in effect the residents of Florida will be so busy betting that no work will be done, business will fold, tracks will go broke and we'll be right back to 1920.

$20 Million Research Plant Set

Center Planned On Isle of Pines

By BERT COLLIER
Herald Staff Writer

Establishment of a 20-million-dollar research center on the Isle of Pines off Cuba, financed by Americans and headed in its initial stages by a Miami Beach physician, was announced Thursday in Miami.

"It will be like nothing else in the world," said Dr. Rudolph T. Wagner, Miami Beach, who will be visiting head of the research institute.

Watson and Deutschman, Miami architectural firm, have been commissioned with Dr. Carlos Perez, widely known Colombian architect, to prepare the plans. Work is well advanced.

Construction is expected to start as soon as conditions in Cuba stabilize after the recent government unheaval, backers said. The isle belongs to Cuba.

H. Samuel Kruse, partner in the Watson and Deutschman firm, said the project is expected to be extended within a two-year period to embrace a 50-million-dollar program intended to make the Isle of Pines "the most advanced and progressive center of its kind in the world."

The unique enterprise will have an international staff dedicated to pure research in every field of medicine. It will also call on allied fields of physics, mathematics, electronics and engineering to solve some of the complex problems. It will resemble in its program and approach the famous Institute of Advanced Studies at Princeton University.

Dr. Wagner said plans have been five years in the making and are financed chiefly by a group of wealthy Americans interested in this unusual approach to medical problems.

Almost three years have been spent in the search of a site, with most of the Western Hemisphere being under consideration. The Isle of Pines was chosen because of its climate and its proximity to medical skills of all kinds.

"We were interested in a good working climate that would attract scientists from various parts of the world," said Dr. Wagner. "The research program will be so vast that its prospects are practically unlimited."

A handful of picked men—all trained scientists — have been picked as a nucleus for a staff that eventually will include members from many countries. There will be no political or national affiliations.

For the early stages of the program, Dr. Wagner will serve as actual head, while continuing his Miami Beach practice. Later a director will be selected to guide the work of the staff and the visiting consultants. Dr. Wagner will then continue as visiting head, as consulting director of cardiovascular research and consultant cardiologist.

DeVane Hits High Court

9-Man Control Of U.S. Soon, Warns Judge

JACKSONVILLE —(UPI)— A retired, but still active, U. S. district judge charged Thursday that the U. S. Supreme Court is pushing this country into judicial control by nine men.

Judge Dozier DeVane of Tallahassee told the Jacksonville Bar Association that if something isn't done soon to stop the judicial process by which Supreme Court decisions are reached, "this nation will soon be governed, insofar as its Constitution and its laws are concerned, by a judicial oligarchy."

Judge Dozier DeVane
. . . 'judicial oligarchy'

DeVane, whose decision ultimately brought about graduate school integration to the University of Florida last fall, said if the doctrine of "stare decisis" is not followed, the Constitution and laws of Congress will not be the "supreme law of the land."

He explained that "stare decisis" means that when a court has once laid down a principle of law "as applicable to certain state of facts it will adhere to that principle and apply it to all similar future cases, regardless of whether the parties and property are the same."

DeVane charged that the present nine Supreme Court justices were not following this doctrine in many instances, including recent integration rulings.

"When the Supreme Court held that the children in our public schools could not be required to stand and salute the flag of the United States and pledge allegiance to the republic for which it stands, and when the Supreme Court condemned all forms of religious instruction in our public schools, it struck a death blow to the future welfare of the republic," DeVane exclaimed.

He explained that he mentioned the above examples because it "enables me to avoid comment on" recent integration decisions by the high tribunal.

"What the Supreme Court has done in these later cases is to assert its right not be bound by its own decisions whenever it desires to construe the Constitution or an act of Congress otherwise. If this is the 'law of the land,' then the Constitution and acts of Congress mean nothing," DeVane said.

In solving the problem, DeVane called for "a constitutional amendment providing that the judicial powers of the Supreme Court of the United States shall not be construed as giving that court power to overrule, modify or change any prior decision of that court construing the Constitution of the United States and acts of Congress promulgated pursuant thereto."

Indians Suing Government

Caldwell 'Swapping' Seminole Tribes?

By STEVE TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

Leaders of the Miccosukee branch of the Seminole Indian tribe cried "foul" Thursday at former Gov. Millard Caldwell.

They charged that in withdrawing as one of their attorneys and asking a court opinion as to whether he can represent another tribal faction in litigation over 200,000 acres of land he violates a verbal promise.

The Miccosukee faction, sometimes known as the "Trail Seminoles," wants the land. Caldwell, in a petition filed in Leon County (Tallahassee) Circuit Court, asks if he can withdraw from that case and represent the Muskogee, or "Reservation" Indians.

The reservation faction wants cash, lots of it. The sum of $50,000,000 has been asked from the federal government by Attorney John O. Jackson of Jacksonville, with whom the former governor now seeks to associate himself.

Caldwell could not be reached immediately Thursday. He is currently mentioned as a potential candidate for governor again.

If interest were allowed from the date of an old treaty it would bring the sum to $350,000,000.

Leo Foster, one of his associates in the law firm, said the court petition there "merely asks the court to determine whether, under the circumstances, he can represent the other faction."

Foster said that, as he understood the case, Caldwell was called in to help get the two factions together. Finding that impossible, the partner said, the ex-governor now wants to work with the Jacksonville attorney.

Official news of the Caldwell move came here with the serving of a notice on Morton Silver, attorney for the Miccosukee faction, which is headed by Buffalo Tiger.

Record Sales Tax Collected

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Sales tax collections for January reached a record high of more than 15 million dollars, reflecting a quickening of Florida's economic pulse.

U.S. Jury Rebuffed By Court

By JOHN BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE—The Florida Supreme Court refused Thursday to turn over records of the Florida Bar concerning a West Florida lawyer to a federal grand jury.

The lawyer, whose name was not disclosed is under investigation by the Florida Bar for alleged unethical conduct and reportedly is the target of a federal probe. Federal Court at Miami issued a subpena for the records.

It called on Paul B. Comstock, executive director of the Florida Bar to hand over the records and to testify in the federal case.

The court did not specify that it was invoking the doctrine of state's rights in refusing to honor the federal subpena.

It emphasized that investigative records of the Bar are confidential and cannot be made public until the Bar's board of governors have filed a judgment with the court.

Charges are made public prior to a judgment by the board of governors if the accused attorney makes such a request. This has not been done, the state court said.

It is the second time that the Florida Court has refused to follow the dictate of a federal court.

The State Supreme Court ruled in the case of Virgil Hawkins, a Daytona Beach Negro, that he could not be denied admission to the University of Florida Law School because of race.

But the court said it had the authority to determine when Hawkins could and should be admitted without causing injury to the public welfare.

It refused to follow a U.S. Supreme Court directive that it immediately implement its decision in the Hawkins case and has never yielded its position.

Acting on the petition of J. Lewis Hall, president-elect of the Florida Bar, the State Supreme Court said "the rules of this court provide that investigations and hearings shall be made public upon the filing of the judgment of the board of governors.

"Upon the happening of such event, this court will, on application, entertain any request of the District Court for use of the documents or other evidence in said cause."

Under Florida law the Florida Bar is an agency of the Supreme Court and is subject to control by the court. Hall contended that proceedings and records of the Bar are not subject to the call of any other court except with the consent of the State Supreme Court.

Nosey?

Well yes, in more ways than the obvious. This sad-eyed mule is quite curious as to what happened to her master. She was wandering around 207th St. and S. Dixie Highway when two humans began chasing her over haystacks and around Cadillacs. She was finally put into a trailer and carted off to the Humane Society. Forsman Anderson, the society's shelter manager, figures she's about 25 years old —being female, she's not braying.

'58 Vote On Mixing Ban Urged

TALLAHASSEE—(AP)—House Speaker Thomas W. Beasley and Attorney General Richard Ervin agreed Thursday that any constitutional amendments dealing with Florida school segregation should be put into effect on an emergency basis.

That would mean a special referendum would be held this year rather than waiting for a vote of the people in the Nov., 1960 general election.

Ervin and School Supt. Thomas Bailey have proposed the parent option tuition plan, under which parents could switch their children from integrated public schools to private schools and get about $250 a year state money to help pay tuition costs.

Ervin said that delaying the referendum until 1960 would mean that only those parents able to pay all the costs of private schooling would be able to withdraw their children from schools which might be integrated.

Red 2 to Replace Red 32

Senate Group OKs New Citrus Dye

WASHINGTON — The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee Thursday approved a bill which would allow Florida citrus growers to color their fruit with a new dye.

The new dye is known as Citrus Red 2 and was designed to replace Red 32, the coal-tar dye which has been used for more than 20 years.

Red 32 was removed from the government's certified list because of its toxic qualities.

Red 2 is also a coaltar dye but is much less toxic.

Under a special law, citrus growers can use Red 32 until March 1. An amendment approved Thursday would extend that time until May 1.

The Food and Drug Administration has conceded that Red 32 is safe for use on citrus skins but has taken the position that it has no authority to okay its use on citrus without okaying its use on all foods.

Ol' Corral Being Sold

The saddles in Eddie Hughes, old corral just wouldn't stay empty.

So Hughes is selling his Rockin' TV ranch 10 miles south of Miami.

He complained night riders were wearing out his six horses.

"I put big padlocks on the stable doors and they broke the locks and chopped holes in the walls," he said. "Every couple of nights, a gang would get out the horses and go yelling and whooping through the town."

Hughes, who opened his stable in an attempt to capitalize on the craze for TV westerns, looked gloomily at his prize steed, Diablo.

"His tendons are swollen from galloping on paved streets," mourned Hughes. "He'll never be any good again."

Governor Probes Printing Awards In State Agency

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Gov. LeRoy Collins said Thursday he is convinced absolutely Florida can get along two more years without new taxes.

But Collins told his news conference the next Legislature must enact "economy" law reforms if it plans spending beyond the $725,000,000 state budget recommended by the Cabinet.

He said he will recommend specific law changes that will effect "substantial" savings and provide a margin for additional spending beyond the $726,000,000 present taxes are expected to produce in the next biennium.

He said he also will recommend programs requiring revenue beyond the proposed general appropriations budget and he knows individual legislators have some spending projects of their own.

Economy reforms he will suggest, he said, include a central purchasing agency to handle all state buying, including printing, and tightening "loopholes" in the sales tax law.

Collins declined to say whether he will recommend that tuition be charged at the state-supported universities.

He said his mind is still "open" on a proposal to repeal the increased intangible tax on stocks, bonds and cash deposits enacted by the last Legislature. He conceded this doubled tax had harmed the state to some extent, but stressed it cannot be wiped out unless some other way is found to replace the $16,000,000 it produces.

The governor said his recent investigation of printing practices in the nine agencies under his direction convinced him that all but the State Development Commission are not following the law, but going far beyond it.

Records show that in most instances, only three Tallahassee printers are asked to bid on commission jobs and Rose Printing Co. gets most of them.

Collins' administrative aide, William Durden, said the governor's office has directed Development Commission Director B. R. Fuller to investigate to determine if Charles Boogher, promotion chief for the agency, has conducted himself in accordance with policies of the administration in connection with printing.

Boogher admitted that on one occasion, the sales manager of Rose Printing Co. brought along the bids of two competitors when he came by to leave the Rose bid.

'Can Save Million $' --Green

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Comptroller Ray Green told legislators Thursday he can increase sales tax collections more than one million dollars next biennium with the addition of 10 new auditors to his staff.

Green filed a supplementary budget with a joint House-Senate Appropriations Subcommittee seeking ways to provide state services without new taxes.

He guaranteed the additional sales tax auditors would bring back to the state $10 for every $1 invested in their salaries, which would run about $106,364 for the next two years.

As a result of investigations by his present staff, the comptroller said, some $80,000 was recently returned to the treasury, and the highest amount ever regained was $130,000.

He emphasized the auditors would be dealing with "big money." He said five would be stationed in Miami, one in Fort Lauderdale, one in Orlando, two in Jacksonville, and one in the state at large.

Green also warned legislators who have been talking of repealing the 1957 doubled intangible tax, that if it was thrown out the state would have to find some other source for the needed 15 million dollars. He added, however, that a three per cent tax on whiskey would fill the gap.

Crushed Car in Which Two Seminole Indians Died
. . . state trooper investigates accident on Tamiami Trail

Two Seminoles Car Victims

Two Seminole Indians, killed in a single-car smashup 15 miles west of Miami on the Tamiami Trail Thursday will be buried while fellow tribesmen chant the ritual of an Indian burial rite.

Killed when their auto skidded several hundred feet and hit a tree were:

JAMES CHESTNUT, 34, of 1875 NW South River Drive, the driver.

DUKE BILLY, 18, of Collier County, a passenger.

Reed-Gautier Funeral Home in Miami said Indians were already making arrangements Thursday for an Indian burial for Chestnut. Funeral rites for Billy were not complete, but they will be similar to Chestnuts.

The two were returning to Miami after visiting Billy's brother, Bobby Billy, at John Pool Camp on the Trail. The accident occurred between 2 and 3 a.m.

Florida Highway Patrolman Charles W. Johnson estimated the car's speed at about 70 mph and said it swerved off the wrong side of the road, rolled over several times and sideswiped a tree. The car was demolished.

Offstreet Facilities Best Bet

Let Her Park—She'll Buy Out Town

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — The housewife — that much-maligned fender-scraping, money-spending creature.

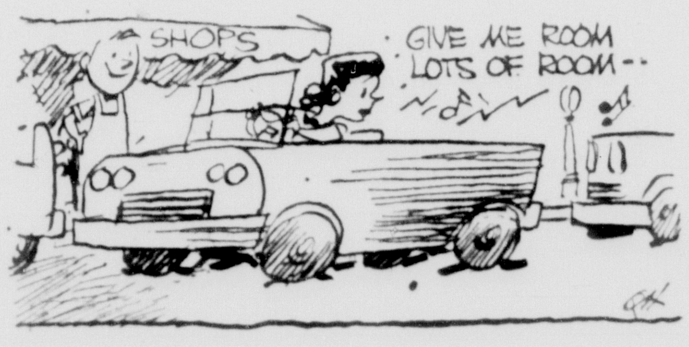
ALLEGATO

Don't underestimate her, fellas. She makes the business world go 'round.

The little lady of the house — that gal who busts the budget every time she goes to town for just let's say a pair of stockings and returns with bundles piled higher than her head.

Get this gal on your side and your worries are over — or almost.

An Orlando parking official gave West Palm Beach businessmen pointers on the power of the housewife this week.



SHOPS
GIVE ME ROOM LOTS OF ROOM--

In a capsule, he advised: get women on your side and you can mow down any opposition to a municipal parking program.

Claude Wolfe, Orlando Parking Commission chairman, says city off-street parking facilities are a favor to the little lady of the house.

The harried but unhurried housewife delights in tripping from store to store, looking, comparing, and oh, yes, spending. The community shopping center, with its oodles of parking spaces, can never fulfill the feminine shopper's penchant for "variety and comparison," he said.

The gals still want to come downtown and will if they can find a place to park the family chariot.

"The shopper doesn't want to walk more than 500 to 600 feet," he warned in urging "prime" locations for parking facilities.

The little woman may troop miles once she alights from her car and travels in and out downtown stores but that's beside the point. She doesn't want to walk many feet to the first store.

City officials and businessmen are attempting to launch a low-cost parking program. Wolfe was invited here to tell of Orlando's successful program.

He warned officials not to look upon the program as merely a protection of downtown interests.

It's also — and more importantly — a favor to the little lady of the house. The power of women, he said, helped Orlando's program to succeed.

Tony Curtis and She Refuse a Script a Day, Says Janet Leigh

LYNN FONTANNE and Alfred Lunt, Ozzie and Harriet, Mel Ferrer and Audrey Hepburn, Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy and the other husband-and-wife acting teams can breath easier now. The warm, pursuing breath of Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis is no threat to their standing. And that, in spite of their current success as a romantic team in "The Perfect Furlough," now showing at the Carib, Miami and Miracle Theaters.

Resting at the Saxony Hotel after a flight from Key West where she is acting only as an interested bystander while Tony plies his thespic art in "Operation Petticoat" opposite Cary Grant, Mrs. Curtis — Janet Leigh that is — says that there is no intention of making it a professional thing.

"I suppose we turn down a script a day," she says of the teaming offers. "We have made four films together — 'Houdini,' 'Black Shield of Falmouth,' 'The Viking' and the current 'The Perfect Furlough' — each about a year or a year-and-a-half apart."

But when Janet makes a movie with Tony she lives the part to a degree that goes beyond the requirements of the most advanced disciple of Stanislavsky. The script of "The Perfect Furlough," for instance, concerns a rumor that Miss Leigh is pregnant. You guessed it — she gave birth to her latest child nine months after the picture was filmed! This teaming realism can go too far!

Jack Teagarden in Hospital

JACK TEAGARDEN, who is to play several South Florida dates this spring, has been in Glendale Hospital in California with an abdominal obstruction . . . Roger Stevens is prepping "Motel," a play by Thomas W. Phipps, for a fall showing on Broadway . . . Oops! that ad in Variety erred in stating that Monte Cristo is in Fort Lauderdale — it's in Palm Beach.

Wonder if Leonard Levinson will mind if we work on a story called "The Plot to Shave Castro." He has a similar title about Jerry Colonna in the anniversary Variety mag.

Biggest laugh out of Ben Novack during the Jack Benny opener at the Fontainebleau Hotel La Ronde Room was when Benny, in a penny-pincher characterization, looked about the lavish premises and said: "I'll be, a hotel like this could cost all of $70,000."

Rumor has it that only a few hours earlier Novack and his associates had been handed an $18,000,000 offer by a hotel chain for Benny's $70,000 hotel." . . . Hotel above the 90's" on theocean is changing hands for something like $2,000,000—and we don't mean Russian rubles. And you'd need $1,000,000 cash to swing a deal on a well-known hostelry in the 30's.

Things - We - Never - Knew - Until - We - Opened-the-Mail: "Decorating the walls of the Venus (ladies) Room of Out of This World Inn are life-sized photos of musclemen." Vim-up boys? . . . "Janie Thomas, dancer in the Latin Quarter revue, 'Sky High,' vows that she will marry a poor guy. Claims that life has greater fulfillment when two people struggle towards common goals." Now in polo they have goal handicaps.

Drummer Rides Bicycle Seat

"KNOW HOW Chris Columbo gets all that bounce when he's drumming away at Ciro's Lounge? He doesn't sit on a regular chair — he uses a saddle-type bicycle seat." A new departure? . . . "Tubby Boots, 365-pound comedy star of the Galety, gets big laughs when he tells the audience he never "grew up' — he 'blew up." Tubby jokes good like a comedian should.

In what Louis Fiskin tells us will be a world premiere, the Lincoln Theater will offer "The Black Orchid" on Wednesday night as a benefit for the Greater Miami Heart Fund. Eugene Weiss is chairman for the sponsoring committee. The film will open at the Flamingo, Trail and Loew's 170th St. Theaters Thursday.

There are people in Cuba who tell you they've seen a check for $100,000 allegedly given by Errol Flynn to indicate good intentions in the actor's intent to film a movie in which he would play 32-year-old Fidel Castro! It will be a character role, no doubt . . . Elana, whose last name is Nelson and not something like Tokaruaimatauaia as you'd expect from a specialist in Hawaiian music and dancing is at the Vagabond club currently. And that lengthy monicker we used for comparative purposes is the legit name of a movie actor known on screen as Adam West! We don't blame him.

Britches Bardot has quit the Ringling Circus after four seasons of performing with an act that featured dogs, ponies and a llama. She's now working at the Admiral Vee lounge — but not with the animals, the race-horse Admiral Vee, for whom the spot is named won't permit it. Sa Britches is doing a rope act.

Riot Room's Lynn Taylor almost started a riot and almost got into a Miss America preliminary as Miss Greater Philadelphia some years ago. But sponsors found out she was only 15 . . .Guess Betty Grable is a star's star. She had Paul Whiteman, Dioso Costello and Keefe Braselle watching her on a recent night at the Latin Quarter.

An Airplane Propeller Did This

—Associated Press Wirephoto

How Close Whirling Blades Came to Driver Andrew Bird

He Just Wanted to See 'Em Landing

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Seventy-year-old Andrew Bird, who just "wanted to watch the planes come in," had a brush with one of them while driving his car on the runway at Cleveland Hopkins Airport.

The aircraft, a huge four-engine Air Force Hercules C130A, whacked six neatly spaced gashes in the steel top of the car, inches above Bird's head.

Bird had arrived early to pick up his wife, Lida, who works for a catering firm. Instead of going to the airport parking lot he headed down a ramp leading to the field.

Apparently becoming confused, Bird drove the length of a 6,000-foot runway, only to find his way blocked by a fence.

"How do I get out of here?" he asked a startled guard in a shack.

"How did you get on it?" gasped the guard.

While the guard alerted the control tower, Bird was already on his way back along the runway, where the C130A had been warming up.

Bird explained later that he did not see the Air Force plane but had seen another plane coming in for a landing. Naturally, he stepped on the gas.

"My God, he's going to hit us!" cried Capt. William M. Bailey Jr. inside the plane.

Propeller tips ripped through the car, which continued on past the plane, turned around again and stopped near the C130A.

"I was afraid to look in the car," said Capt. Bailey, "for fear we'd find a decapitated body."

Bird, calm and uninjured, said it took him many minutes to realize what had happened.

Pending a detailed examination of the turbo-prop plane, Air Force officials said damage could run anywhere from $35,000 to $170,000.

Bird was released after a search of the city code turned up little that might pertain to driving on an airport runway.

Tempers Flare Over Spending

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Battle of the Budget flared on the Senate floor Thursday with Sen. Barry Goldwater (R., Ariz.), branding Democrats as "wild-riding spenders" and Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson shouting a denial.

Addressing GOP senators as "you Republicans," Johnson said "a lot of this talk about (President Eisenhower) balancing the budget is pure bunk."

Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson said, meanwhile, that the nation "could live with higher taxes" if it had to, and that the administration would ask for them "if there develop real requirements for additional revenue" for national defense.

Testifying before the Joint Congressional Economic Committee, Anderson said such a need has not arisen. He also indicated there is no likelihood of an early tax cut. He said tax relief must depend on the rate of the nation's economic growth, the degree of government spending, reduction of the federal debt and avoidance of inflation.

Anderson denied a suggestion by Committee Chairman Paul Douglas (D., Ill.), that he is "obsessed with inflation." He said he was concerned about it, not obsessed.

He said inflation may revive "if we do not finally close the budget gap."

On the Senate floor, Johnson said neither Democrats nor Republicans have "a monopoly on saving or spending." He said the last Congress, which also was controlled by the Democrats, cut $5,600,000,000 from Eisenhower's budget.

He also recalled that Eisenhower last year asked him to work to "add several hundred million dollars" for foreign aid. Johnson said he succeeded in doing so, but "I didn't get on television and say he (Eisenhower) is a spender."

"I defended his aid bill last year," Johnson shouted. "Who was the spender then?"

Debbie Reynolds Enters Hospital

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Actress Debbie Reynolds was hospitalized Thursday for treatment of a potentially serious blood clot in her left knee, a spokesman for 20th Century Fox studios disclosed.

Miss Reynolds, whose suit for divorce from husband Eddie Fisher goes to court Feb. 17, was told she must remain in the hospital for at least three days. She dislocated the knee last Monday when she stepped on a cable while rehearsing an intricate dance step.

Accused in Plot

U.S. Probes Case Of Yank in Cuba

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

The U.S. State Department opened an investigation Thursday into Cuban government claims that a "gentleman soldier" from Miami has confessed a plot to assassinate Fidel Castro.

National Police in Havana announced that Alan Robert Nye, formerly of 107 Calabria Ave., Coral Gables, admitted he was promised $100,000 by the forces of Fulgencio Batista if he killed the revolutionary hero.

Nye, described as "the type elderly ladies like," earlier denied from his Havana prison cell any implication in such a plot. He claimed he went to Cuba to help the rebels in their fight against Batista.

In Washington an official of the State Department told The Herald by telephone:

"We have received no confirmation of an alleged confession. Consular officials in Havana are now looking into it."

He added that the State Department is in touch with Nye "to see that he is treated fairly."

According to Cuban police, the Batista plotters contacted Nye through Daniel Vasquez, a Cuban refugee who lives at 727 E. DiLido Dr., Miami Beach.

Vasquez and his wife, Marisol Alba, called the "Mata Hari of Cuba," rank high on the revolutionary government's list of traitors.

In Miami, neighbors and acquaintances of Nye offered their opinions of his personality.

Mrs. L. L. Gardner, who lived next door to him, called him "a perfect gentleman . . . a nice personality; he didn't seem to be that type of fellow."

She said he was frequently visited by Cuban friends.

Mrs. Paul Mickler, who lives in the same apartment where Nye lived, declared:

"I can't believe it. He didn't look very strong for that sort of thing."

Officials of Nye's former employer, the American Airmotive Corp, said he was dismissed from the firm last October after working there 10 months.

Reported an executive:

"He was just another aircraft salesman that come and go. He left here with mutual consent. We were dissatisfied with his work and he seemed unhappy, like he wanted something of a bigger scope."

He added that Nye frequently made trips to Latin American countries for the air cargo company.

Tall, slender and blond, Nye was reported to be a talented painter and pianist.

Havana police gave his age as 31. Neighbors in Coral Gables, however, said he told them he was 40.

In Whiting, Ind., his mother, Mrs. Helen Lynch, said, "I'm positive my son is innocent."

FBI Hunts Milkman, Girl, 14

MADISON TOWNSHIP, N.J. —(AP)—The FBI has been called in to help locate a 38-year-old milkman who is believed to have run off with the 14-year-old daughter of a friend, state police said.

They said Ernest Corrao, father of three, disappeared Jan. 21 alone with Barbara Plaisted.

State police at the nearby New Brunswick Barracks called in the FBI after a 12-state police teletype alarm had failed to turn up any trace of the two.

They said Corrao and the girl are believed to have gone to either Arizona, California or Florida.

Corrao struck up a friendship with the blonde, blue-eyed girl during the eight-month period he delivered milk to her home, police said. The families have been friends for three years.

Frequently, police said, Corrao would drive Barbara and her nine-year-old sister, Sharon, to school.

On Jan. 21, according to the state police, he picked up the girls, dropped off Sharon and disappeared with Barbara.

Corrao has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. His wife has filed additional charges of desertion and non-support.

Plan to Speed Mail Delivery In Northeast Florida Readied

More State News P. 24A, 25A, 1B, 2D

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

COCOA—The post office department hopes to complete plans for speeding mail deliveries in Northeast Florida and Southeast Georgia by March 1, The Herald learned Thursday.

The speedup will end two and three-day delays in intercity mail deliveries, a source said.

Details of the speedup aren't complete, but the regional operations manager for the post office department said it will come because "metropolitan service" will be extended to an area centered on Jacksonville.

William L. Crawford of Atlanta also said Cocoa — and the other cities of central Brevard — will be included in the area although most of it will lie within 100 miles of Jacksonville.

Cocoa is about 160 miles south of Jacksonville, but the "metropolitan service" will reach it because the city is convenient to postal transportation systems, Crawford explained.

Another post office source explained the coming of "metropolitan service" will place northeast Florida cities on high-speed delivery routes fanning out of Jacksonville and eliminate the complex existing routing on which delays are encountered.

Crawford says he has had a committee "working on the setup for three weeks." The committee, which is working out of Jacksonville, expects to finish its task by March 1, he added.

The postal official said although details of the "metropolitan service" haven't been "firmed up," it will be based on similar services instituted in other parts of the U.S. last year.

Crawford said the "metropolitan service" committee has been working in secrecy because the department didn't want to allow "premature releases" about the coming service.

Local postmasters throughout the proposed metropolitan area have been instructed not to discuss the plans until they are finished and publicity material has been prepared in Atlanta.

However, The Herald learned 25 northeast Florida postmasters met with the "metropolitan service" committee Wednesday. The meeting was held at the Cocoa post office.

U.S. Cites Denial of Attack

Mikoyan Branded Liar About Planes

Come, See Us, Nikita Invites Ike

President Mum For the Present

MOSCOW — (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Thursday publicly invited President Eisenhower to come to the Soviet Union, bring "anyone he likes" and go anywhere he wants.

(The White House had no immediate comment on the invitation. Press Secretary James Hagerty said no announcement will be made until the President receives the transcript of the invitation through regular channels.)

The invitation climaxed a long final speech to the 21st Congress of the Communist Party in which Khrushchev professed the Soviet Union wants nothing but to end the cold war and compete against the West on economic grounds, in peace.

But he remained adamant on two points which have been big stumbling blocks in East-West relations.

He said the Soviet Union will "never agree" to permit foreign inspectors on Soviet soil even though the U. S. and Britain are willing to accept them on their territory.

Secondly, he said Russia never will accept "liquidation" of Communist East Germany in any plan to reunite Germany.

It was announced in London and Moscow simultaneously a few hours after Khrushchev spoke that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will fly to Moscow Feb. 21 for talks on these and other cold war subjects.

Khrushchev decried the "discrimination" that keeps him from visiting the U. S. but he said he will not insist on going there in return for Eisenhower coming to Russia.

"Should the President decide to come to our country he would be met with sincere hospitality both by our government and the Soviet people," Khrushchev said.

"A visit of this kind would undoubtedly be useful to both countries and would meet with the approval of the peoples of the U. S. A. and the Soviet Union."

He said Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's trip to the U. S. in January "provided the reasons to hope for a further thaw in relations between our countries."

Khrushchev, who opened the congress of 1,296 voting delegates a week ago Tuesday with a six-hour speech, drew ovation after ovation with his closing speech Thursday.

The delegates voted unanimous approval of his report, his policies and of his seven-year design to catch up with the U. S. economically.

Khrushchev said Soviet claims to mass production of intercontinental ballistic missiles are "not just rhetoric."

But he insisted this is just stating the facts, not making a threat, and that the Soviet Union wants an end to the cold war.

Addressing a remark to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, he said, "We are even prepared to admit your victory in this war that is unwanted by the peoples . . . but end it quickly."

'I'll Finish Him,' Said Soviet Pilot To His Partners

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The tape recording of radio conversations between the Soviet fighter pilots, accused of shooting down an unarmed U.S. transport plane, was filled with chit-chat about altitudes and positions. But the key portions dwelt on an attack.

They went like this:

"582, I see the target, to the right.

"I see the target, a large one . . .

"I am 201, I see the target, attack!
"I am 201, I am attacking the target . . .

"Attack, attack, 218, attack . . .

"The target is a transport, four-engined . . .
"Roger. 201, I am attacking the target . . .
"The target is burning.
"There's a hit . . .
"The target is burning, 582 . . .
"The target is banking . . .

"Open fire . . .

"218, are you attacking?
"Yes, yes . . .
"The target is burning . . .

"The tail assembly is falling off the target . . .

"Look!
"Oh?

"Look at him, he will not get away, he is already falling.

"Yes, he is falling, I will finish him off, boys, I will finish him off on the run.

"The target has lost control, it is going down . . .

"The target is falling . . .

"Yes . . . form up, go home.

"After my third pass, the target started burning . . .

"Well, let's form up, follow. Let's go . . ."

From study of the recorded conversations, Pentagon and State Department experts concluded that five Soviet jet fighters "scrambled" aloft to attack the U. S. transport and that four made passes at it. The fifth apparently arrived too late to take part in the attack.

From the recording, the Soviet aircraft numbers were 577, 582, 583, 201, and 218.

It appeared that 577 was a late arrival. At one point the transcript records a message to 577 to this effect: "Go home, why are you fooling around there some place."

Happiest Tax Form Filler-Outer in U.S.
. . . gleeful Mark Perks, held by mother

He Comes Out Ahead On the Income Tax

DETROIT —(AP)— Just because you're only nine months old don't think you can flee the country and avoid paying income tax.

Ask little Mark Perks. He was nabbed by the Internal Revenue Service on the eve of his departure for England.

But the agents let him go without paying a cent. He even came out 25 cents to the good.

Mark accompanied his mother, Mrs. Phyllis Jean Perks, to the Federal Building. Mrs. Perks, an American by birth, is leaving Detroit to return to England to live. Her husband, Peter, a British engineer, already is working in Birmingham.

Mrs. Perks was told that as a U.S. citizen she needed no tax clearance.

But, said the agents, Mark does. He is a British citizen.

So a form was duly filled out. After studying the situation, the agent waived the signature, patted Mark on the head and gave him a quarter.

Mark left, clutching the quarter, his passport — and his income tax clearance.

Cites Tape To Prove Jet Attack

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The U.S. offered dramatic proof Thursday that Russian fighter planes deliberately shot down an unarmed American transport plane last September. It practically accused Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan of lying about the incident.

Seventeen Americans were aboard the four-engine transport. Russia returned only six bodies, saying it had no information about the 11 other men aboard.

The State Department to back up its charges, released a transcript of what it said was an intercepted radio conversation among Soviet fighter pilots who attacked the C130 transport over Soviet Armenia near the Russian-Turkish border Sept. 2.

The English translation quoted the Red pilots as saying:

> "I am attacking the target . . . There's a hit . . . The target is falling . . . The tail assembly is falling off . . . He will not get away, he is already falling . . . I will finish him off boys."

Four of the six bodies returned by the Russians were identified. The other two, whose identities still are not known, will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery here today with full military honors.

The State Department did not say how it intercepted the radio conversation among the Soviet pilots.

The Soviet government has insisted the American plane crashed and burned after it was intercepted and taken under escort by the Russian fighters. It flatly denied the transport was fired upon.

State Department documents released with the transcript showed that Mikoyan stuck to this story during his visit to the U.S. last month. When he was questioned about the incident by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Jan. 16, the documents said, Mikoyan "denied the plane had been shot down, asserting that it had crashed."

The department said Mikoyan "expressed the Soviet government's lack of understanding and irritation over the U.S. government's insistence concerning this case."

The department also quoted Mikoyan as telling Vice President Richard M. Nixon Jan. 7 that "the Soviet government had given all the information it had" on the plane.

He also told Nixon, the department said, that "there was no sense in their (the Russians') trying to hide anything and (that he) wondered why the Americans were so suspicious about this."

The department's documents showed that Mikoyan's statements came about two

Ike Asks for U.S. Laws Against Segregation Mobs

Submits Program For Civil Rights

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower asked a divided Congress Thursday to make it a federal crime to use force or mob violence to block racial integration of schools under court orders.

The President also asked the legislators to strengthen the FBI's hand in dealing with school and church bombing cases and to authorize federal funds and advice to help states make the change to desegregated schools.

These were key proposals in a seven-point civil rights program submitted to Congress in a brief, special message. The Justice, Welfare and Labor Departments immediately followed through with the dispatch of seven bills to the capitol.

This is what the program would do:

1. Make it a federal crime to use force or threats of force to obstruct court orders in school desegregation cases. The punishment would be up to two years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Eisenhower said this would plug a gap in present law and provide "a valuable enforcement power on which the government could rely to deter mob violence and such other acts of violence or threats."

2. Make it a federal offense — with a maximum penalty of $5,000 fine and five years imprisonment — for anyone who bombs or tries to bomb schools, churches or similar institutions to flee across state lines. This would open the way for the FBI to step in.

3. Provide financial and technical help to make it easier for states and communities to make the changeover from segregated to integrated schools. The cost for the next two fiscal years is estimated at $4,895,000. The bulk of the money would have to be matched by the states. Grants would pay for extra professional people — supervisors and administrators, but no teachers.

4. Let the government educate children of military personnel who had been attending public schools that were closed in integration disputes. The government would be able to take over schools built with the aid of federal funds, although it would pay rental on them.

5. Require preservation of federal election records and authorize the Justice Department to inspect them. Eisenhower said a gap in the 1957 civil rights law, designed to safeguard voting privileges, needs to be plugged because some state and local authorities have refused to allow inspection of voting records.

6. Give a basis of law rather than presidential executive order to a government committee which polices non-discrimination clauses in government contracts. The committee, now headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, would become a commission with somewhat broader powers, such as authority to hold hearings.

7. Continue the Civil Rights Commission for two years beyond its September expiration date.

Reaction was cut to a familiar pattern — the Eisenhower civil rights program either goes too far or not far enough, depending on whether a Southern segregationist or a Northern liberal is talking. And then there are the in-betweens, largely staunch administration supporters from GOP ranks, who said it was just right.

Southerners called the program offensive, a form of bribery and an intrusion into a field where the federal government has no business. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), a leader of Senate Southerners, said Eisenhower offers political legislation.

He predicted significantly that "a vigorous effort will be made to amend any civil rights bill that reaches the floor with punitive provisions requesting that the South be patrolled, policed and punished."

From the opposite camp, Chairman Emanuel Celler (D., N.Y.), of the House Judiciary Committee, commented:

"An empty gesture so far as the schools are concerned. It provides a snail's pace for enforcement."

Various Republicans called the program temperate and moderate, as Eisenhower himself did in advance of its submission.

From State Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas came assurances the Eisenhower suggestions "will be considered on their merits by fair-minded men seeking to resolve — rather than sharpen — the conflicts within our country."

Fans Rush Diana Dors At Funeral

LONDON — (UPI) — The funeral of Dennis Hamilton, estranged husband of Actress Diana Dors, was turned into bedlam by fans who crawled over church pews and demanded autographs from the mourning film star.

Four photographers who entered St. James Roman Catholic Church while a requiem mass was being said were ordered out. They took flash pictures of Miss Dors as she knelt praying and sobbing.

When the mass was over, Miss Dors tried to leave the church, but scores of women, many of them clutching children, jostled around and poked autograph books and pencils at her. One woman grabbed Miss Dors by the arm.

Miss Dors attended the funeral mass alone. She wore a mink coat, black scarf and dark glasses. She sat opposite Hamilton's family.

Hamilton, 34, died Saturday of a heart ailment. Miss Dors, separated from him for more than a year, was in the U.S. at the time.

A 'Great' Season, With Some 'Ifs'

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

The winter tourist season hit its full stride Thursday and found itself in better shape than last year in many respects.

But so far there's no positive pattern that can label the 1958-59 season as either a whopping success or a dismal failure. It seems to be somewhere in between those extremes.

TOURIST TRAVEL into the area is heavier than last year, but betting and attendance at Hialeah—usually a prime economic indicator—is off.

HOTELS AND MOTELS on Miami Beach appear to be enjoying a healthy business, but garbage collections are down six per cent from last year at this time.

THE BEACHES have been crowded on these sunny days and dog track business is up, but if any really big spenders are here they are few.

THE BIG NIGHT CLUBS have good crowds at show time, but generally the owners are complaining that business could be a lot better.

* * *

Many Favorable Factors

"There's every reason for this to be a good season," said Miami Beach's publicity chief, Hank Meyer. "The weather, the stock market and national economic conditions are all on our side."

Last year was the season of the big cold that kept tourists away in droves and led to a number of hotel bankruptcies. But new hotels opened this year, following a familiar pattern, causing many hotelmen to shake their heads and say, "The Beach is overbuilt."

Beach merchants are reported to be doing "not too well," another indication of what cautious spenders are the current crop of tourists.

In the first 16 days of Hialeah's season, attendance was off 6.7 per cent and wagering off 3.5 per cent.

House OKs Extension Of Draft

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House approved one of the key points in President Eisenhower's military program Thursday by overwhelmingly passing a bill to extend the draft for four years beyond June 30.

By voice vote, it sent the measure to the Senate after rejecting an attempt by Rep. Leonard G. Wolf (D., Iowa) and several other members to limit the extension to two years.

Wolf argued that a two-year extension would let Congress maintain its power over military conscription while it sought a way to maintain U.S. military strength without a draft.

Wolf's two-year amendment was opposed by Democratic and Republican House leaders alike. Democratic Leader John W. McCormack, (Massachusetts) said approval of the proposal would be viewed abroad as a sign of weakness on the part of the U.S.

Besides extending the draft for another four years, the measure would continue the authority of the armed forces to induct physicians and dentists and would extend the Dependents' Assistance Act for the same period.

U.S. Cites Transcript Of Attack

Charges Mikoyan With Lying

months after Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, gave Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov a full transcript of the intercepted radio conversation among the Russian pilots.

In addition to this transcript, the department Thursday handed newsmen photostats and translations of two articles — dated Sept. 19 and 10 — for "Soviet Aviation," official Russian air force newspaper.

The second described the "attack" on the "enemy" transport plane and identified four Russians who took part — Fighter Pilot Officers Lopatkov and Gavrilov and Senior Lieutenants Kucheryaev and Ivanov.

It also reported than an unidentified Soviet general met the pilots after the attack and "shook their hands warmly and thanked them for their successful execution of the mission."

The first article carried photographs of two Russian ground crew members shown "tracking the target" on what appeared to be a radar screen.

The department documents said that when Murphy insisted on Nov. 13 that Menshikov listen to a tape recording of the conversation among the Soviet fighter pilots, Menshikov refused.

He maintained "he was not competent to assess it from a technical point of view," the document said.

He still refused after Gen. Mikhail N. Kostiouk, Soviet air attache and an aviation expert, was invited to listen with him.

But finally, at Murphy's insistence, the department said, Menshikov accepted a transcript of the conversation in Russian and promised to send his government full details of Murphy's protest over the plane incident.

Murphy told Menshikov bluntly that Soviet fighters had shot down the American plane "without regard to the rules of civilized international practice," the department said.

Murphy also "emphasized that some or our men had been killed and that there were certain rules of conduct in the civilized world, and that the U. S. government hoped the desired information regarding the 11 missing men would be promptly forthcoming."

BEFORE ME is the most fantastic scheme of modern times. Automatic Remote Systems Inc. is ready to open our defunct movie theaters, pay our taxes and build our roads, all six-lane.

This is to be done with off-track betting. They've got it all figured: 76 theaters, each seating 1,000 patrons means 9,576,000 patrons during the 126 days of Florida horse racing. Each patron's to bet $80 a day, making $766,080,000 total, with the state getting $49,795,200. The tracks are to get $65,116,800, purses will be increased, dog tracks will come into the theaters at night, and of course we'll go year 'round, with northern tracks to help us.

They're even figuring $1 admission per bettor per day. The plan is on the desk of Gov. LeRoy Collins (unless he has done something else with it) and it's in the hands of our legislators.

If this goes in effect the residents of Florida will be so busy betting that no work will be done, business will fold, tracks will go broke and we'll be right back to 1920.

$20 Million Research Plant Set

Center Planned On Isle of Pines

By BERT COLLIER
Herald Staff Writer

Establishment of a 20-million-dollar research center on the Isle of Pines off Cuba, financed by Americans and headed in its initial stages by a Miami Beach physician, was announced Thursday in Miami.

"It will be like nothing else in the world," said Dr. Rudolph T. Wagner, Miami Beach, who will be visiting head of the research institute.

Watson and Deutschman, Miami architectural firm, have been commissioned with Dr. Carlos Perez, widely known Colombian architect, to prepare the plans. Work is well advanced.

Construction is expected to start as soon as conditions in Cuba stabilize after the recent government unheaval, backers said. The isle belongs to Cuba.

H. Samuel Kruse, partner in the Watson and Deutschman firm, said the project is expected to be extended within a two-year period to embrace a 50-million-dollar program intended to make the Isle of Pines "the most advanced and progressive center of its kind in the world."

The unique enterprise will have an international staff dedicated to pure research in every field of medicine. It will also call on allied fields of physics, mathematics, electronics and engineering to solve some of the complex problems. It will resemble in its program and approach the famous Institute of Advanced Studies at Princeton University.

Dr. Wagner said plans have been five years in the making and are financed chiefly by a group of wealthy Americans interested in this unusual approach to medical problems.

Almost three years have been spent in the search of a site, with most of the Western Hemisphere being under consideration. The Isle of Pines was chosen because of its climate and its proximity to medical skills of all kinds.

"We were interested in a good working climate that would attract scientists from various parts of the world," said Dr. Wagner. "The research program will be so vast that its prospects are practically unlimited."

A handful of picked men—all trained scientists — have been picked as a nucleus for a staff that eventually will include members from many countries. There will be no political or national affiliations.

For the early stages of the program, Dr. Wagner will serve as actual head, while continuing his Miami Beach practice. Later a director will be selected to guide the work of the staff and the visiting consultants. Dr. Wagner will then continue as visiting head, as consulting director of cardiovascular research and consultant cardiologist.

Frankie Nearby; Beauty Is Mum

PALM SPRINGS, Calif.—(AP)—Among the visitors in this desert resort is England's Lady Beatty. Among the resort's notable residents is Frank Sinatra.

But whether the singer and the 36-year-old British beauty will stage a sequel to their romantic interlude in England last fall remains to be seen.

"No comment," said Lady Beatty when she arrived here and checked into a hotel for a week's stay. "No comment," echoed Sinatra, whose home is a short distance away.

County on Verge of Taking First Step

Is Metro the Answer to Brevard's Boom?

By BILL BUNGE
Melbourne Bureau Chief

MELBOURNE — Will Brevard County's great length and missile-inspired boom force eventual creation of a Metro government?

The answer to that one is anybody's guess. But the county government is on the verge of taking the first step toward Metro, according to courthouse sources.

BUNGE

A permissive local act was approved by the last Legislature that allows the county commission to name a county manager, who is now being sought.

The current county commission budget sets up funds for the creation for such a job.

A county manager would operate somewhat like a city manager in area municipalities having that type of government. "He would be available to taxpayers at all times," one source explained.

The manager's headquarters would be in the courthouse at Titusville, but the present idea is for him to spend time in soon to be constructed courthouse branch offices at Melbourne and Cocoa. He would be the fulltime eyes and ears of county commissioners.

Under such a plan, the county commission will revert to its original purpose of being a policy making board. Now commissioners must assume dual roles of holding a private job and running the county government.

Running the government of this county, whose population shot up from a 1950 count of 23,000 to an estimated 114,500 today is a big task.

Commissioners must do everything from handing out $5 grocery orders to needy families to seeing that crews keep on schedule in their road-patching work.

Some officials feel the appointment of a county manager is a step in the direction toward establishment of a Metro form of government.

However, Commission Chairman Max K. Rodes said the county board will not campaign for Metro in Brevard. "If Metro is wanted here," he declared, "it will be up to the citizens to go through their municipal governments to ask the county to adopt that form of government."

A private group of citizens in South Brevard started this week to take a close look at the pros and cons of Metro and consolidation. Some city officials here are booming the two ideas. They are hot subjects now.

But this isn't the first time Brevard residents — especially those in the southern section — have tried to bring about governmental changes.

Some seven years ago the county's 72-mile length bothered many folks here, and they tried to divide the county into two political subdivisions.

A meeting was held in former Mayor Rudi Oudshoff's office in Melbourne. The representatives from the various corners of South Brevard picked out a steering committee at that meeting to dig into the procedure for spliting lengthy Brevard.

This group worked for weeks, and when it announced its findings at a meeting that packed the big Melbourne Airport recreation hall to capacity, the hope of division backers was somewhat dimmed.

This committee reported that it would be a tremendous job to cut the county in half. In fact, the task was seen as being so large that it asked for and got a sub-committee to help with preliminary details.

And the issue died when meeting chairman Thomas Waddell Jr., now assistant state attorney, closed the session.

But, some years later, Junior Chambers of Commerce in South and Central Brevard — headed by the Eau Gallie group — beat the drums for moving the county seat to a more central location.

This was pushed so hard that the northern part of the county, where the courthouse is located, became so fired up that its residents threatened to secede from Brevard and join neighboring Orange County.

Legal problems became thick, and the movement lost steam faster than backers could build it up.

And the county went back to operating as best it could under boom conditions — "Which has been possible only because commissioners in each district bend backwards to cooperate and help each other out," commented one top Brevard official.

Here's How Schools Rate In Martin

By ZOLA SWARTHOUT
Herald Correspondent

STUART—How high are Martin County school standards as compared to formula worked out by the Educational Policies Commission, and published in The Miami Herald Jan. 29.

Are the teachers in Martin County paid enough? Are there enough teachers in the Martin County school system?

Here is how Martin County's school system measures up with the experts' standards and how Martin County stacks up with Dade County, considered the best in the state.

Experts standards: teachers should start at a yearly salary equal to other starting salaries for college graduates in the community. University of Miami placement office estimates this at $4,200.

Martin County beginning teachers pay is $3,750. Dade County pays $3,800.

Experts say that a school system the size of Martin County should hire about 150 teachers if the pupil population was 3,000. Martin County has 2,943 pupils and has 120 professional employes.

Dade County has 147,147 pupils and 6,500 employes.

Experts say that based on the size of Martin school system, and the wages that should be paid, the annual operating budget should be $1,324,350.

Martin school budget is $1,164,425. Dade County's budget is fifty million dollars.

Martin County spends $272.21 per child for a year. The national average is $340 per child. Dade county spends $337 per child.

Martin County stacks up well statewide in salaries, with only Dade and Fort Lauderdale paying more.

Top teacher's salary with a bachelor's degree, with 13 years teaching record in Martin County is $5,150.

Teachers with a master's degree, with 13 years of teaching in the county receive a top of $5,500.

A total of 17 new positions for teachers have been added to the school system in Martin County this year.

There are 485 more students in the Martin County school system at the present time than there were last year at the same period.

Highway Deaths Set Fast Pace

By BILL BUNGE
Melbourne Bureau Chief

MELBOURNE — Because too many drivers are leaving their "thinking caps" home when they slide behind the wheel of their cars, Brevard County's 1959 vehicle death rate already is rolling merrily on to new record highs.

It's the opinion of Sgt. Hope Carlan of Melbourne, head of the Brevard unit of the Florida Highway Patrol, that the 10 persons killed during the first 34 days of this new year might still be alive if the drivers of the involved cars "had done a little more thinking."

He said the auto death rate this year is far worse than during any other similar period — even for some previous 12-month periods—in the county's history. Brevard auto fatalities reached an all-time high of 25 last year.

But even in 1958, St. Carlan said, six months elapsed before 11 persons were killed. That was only one more than the toll for slightly longer than one month in 1959. There were 16 vehicle deaths in 1957.

In explaining the cause of the 1959 deaths, Carlan said that excessive speed went right along with the death car drivers "not thinking when behind the wheel."

The lawman said the county's latest highway death, on U.S. 1 north of Eau Gallie, apparently was caused by a truck driver not keeping his speed down to meet weather conditions.

A thick fog covered the area when this drive, who was the victim, rammed an auto stopped for a school bus.

The most horrible auto accident on record here came when seven Orlando youths were killed when their car hit a pipeline stretched across a section of Cocoa Beach. "Here again," Carlan said, "speed and weather played an important role." A heavy fog hid the pipeline.

In another accident, a driver attempted to pass a car on U.S. 1, near Cocoa, and a motorcycle was headed at him when he swung out into the adjoining traffic lane. The cyclist was killed.

Carlan, who charged the auto driver with improper passing, also charged this crash to a case of "a driver not thinking."

Brevard's fourth fatality came when a fast-moving car upset on U.S. 1, south of Rockledge. A passenger was seriously injured.

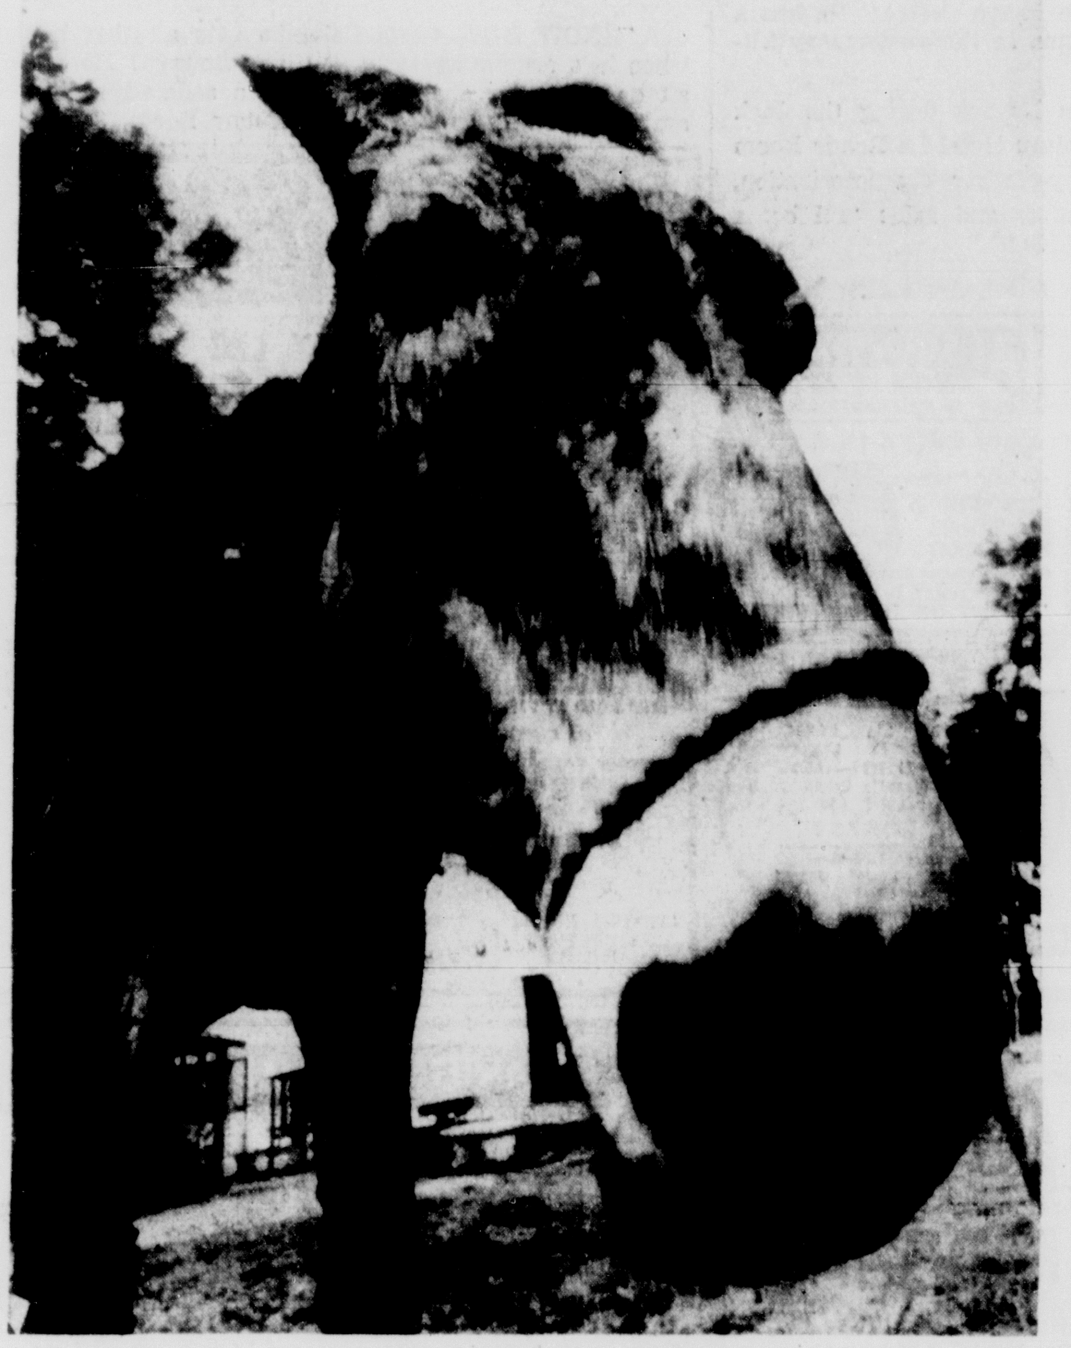
The officer also noted a change in the accident pattern this year. Most of the 90 accidents a month during 1958 happened around the jammed Air Force Missile Base area.

State Roads 520, 401 and A1A around the missile base, are still bad spots, but Sgt. Carlan said the "accidents are now becoming more scattered."

However, the fatal ones and the "fender fights" still can be attributed mostly to "not thinking, because we are getting a lot better driving conditions through improved roads," Sgt. Carlan declared.

Brevard Road Work to Start

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The Road Department said Tuesday work will begin Feb. 14 on rebuilding State Road 3 in Brevard County.



Nosey?

Well yes, in more ways than the obvious. This sad-eyed mule is quite curious as to what happened to her master. She was wandering around 207th St. and S. Dixie Highway when two humans began chasing her over haystacks and around Cadillacs. She was finally put into a trailer and carted off to the Humane Society. Forsman Anderson, the society's shelter manager, figures she's about 25 years old —being female, she's not braying.

Preserve Schools, He's Told

EAU GALLIE — State Rep. James H. Pruitt has reported that letters "are pouring in" from Brevard County residents, asking that "I fight any move in the 1959 Legislature" that might endanger Florida's present free public school system.

Quoting one letter as typical, Pruitt said the writer pointed out that "free public schools are a keystone of our American way of life."

This flood of mail, he said, contains letters from many people who strongly back segregation.

A number are requesting a state law, insuring the existence of the present school system under any circumstances that could come up in the future.

Brevard has never had any public demonstration for or against segregation in the schools, so Rep. Pruitt believes that his heavy mail on this subject "is a result of having a lot of thinking people in Brevard."

The lawmaker also said his mail has been running heavy against the suggestion by some legislators to discontinue providing free textbooks in Florida schools.

Some legislators stated that a end of this practice would save the state money and help solve its financial problems.

To Cost $2.5 Million

Brevard Plans School Projects

TITUSVILLE—Brevard County's school board will kick off a 2.5-million-dollar school construction project Feb. 27, school officials said Thursday.

Five new schools will be built and two enlarged under the project on which bids are due Feb. 27.

The project is expected to take more than half of 4.5-million-dollar sold Dec. 18. It is the first project under the bond issue.

The issue is to be coupled with an estimated six million dollars in state and federal funds to pay for a 17-school construction program.

The new schools to be built under the project are Whispering Hiss elementary, Cocoa elementary, Cocoa Negro Elementary, Eau Gallie Elementary and Melbourne Elementary. All will be 26-classroom plants.

The project also calls for six classrooms and a cafetorium at the Mims Elementary School and locker rooms at Titusville High School.

Engineer Hired

TITUSVILLE — The Brevard County commission Thursday hired John J. Greever of Eau Gallie as county engineer. He is the first man to fill the post.

Greever, who will be paid $8,000 per year, is a former civil service engineer at Patrick Air Force base who served as consulting engineer for Melbournes' $6,750,000 municipal water system.

Land Given

MELBOURNE — Alva Richards, president of the Melbourne Beaches Association, said that the county and state would have no right-of-way troubles in extending State Route A1A to the south side of Sebastian Inlet.

He said the beach organization already has "secured right-of-way deeds free of charge from about 75 per cent of the property owners" along that stretch of the road, leading to a proposed bridge over the inlet.

The remaining property owners, Richards said, indicated that they also would be willing to donate right-of-way without charge if minor ocean front changes would be made.

St. Lucie Urges Work Proceed On Water Plan

Causeway Idea Gets Backing

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

COCOA — J. Rolfe Davis of the State Road Board Thursday said he "likes" a Port Canaveral Authority plan for building a causeway across the Banana River, but doesn't know "if it can be worked out." The Authority Thursday asked the State Road Department to build the causeway and widen State Rd. 401 — only road to the port and the south gate of Cape Canaveral — because the "port is being stymied by a lack of roads."

It urged the SRD to use its own and Air Force funds for the project, but said it would provide all necessary rights of way for the causeway which would cross the river on port-owned fill and connect the post with State Rd. 3 on Merritt Island.

About 1.8 million dollars of Air Force and SRD money earmarked for State Rd. A1A improvements near Cape Canaveral has not been spent. The authority asked the sum be used on 401-causeway project which it wants designed as part of A1A.

Cocoa Beach property owners have donated about 40 per cent of the land needed for four-laning 401 — which carries an estimated 20,000 cars per day — and a property owners campaign to obtain right of way is continuing. The right of way is worth an estimated $750,000.

The road board member said, "I like the (401-causeway) idea, and I can see it would really relieve traffic congestion in that area."

But, he added, "I've got to talk to the Air Force and the (Brevard) county commission before I know whether or not we can build the road."

Davis pointed out the Port Authority proposal runs counter to a Brevard County Commission plan to build a toll causeway from Cocoa to Port Canaveral.

Melville Raulerson Dies in Okeechobee

OKEECHOBEE — Melville Beasley Rauelrson, 70, died Tuesday night. He had lived in Okeechobee County all his life and was a real estate operator and manager of the drive-in theater.

Project Begun

MELBOURNE — Construction was started Thursday on 20 store buildings for the Public Supermarkets Shopping Center on Babcock Street. The center is expected to be completed by early fall.

Ol' Corral Being Sold

The saddles in Eddie Hughes, old corral just wouldn't stay empty.

So Hughes is selling his Rockin' TV ranch 10 miles south of Miami.

He complained night riders were wearing out his six horses.

"I put big padlocks on the stable doors and they broke the locks and chopped holes in the walls," he said. "Every couple of nights, a gang would get out the horses and go yelling and whooping through the town."

Hughes, who opened his stable in an attempt to capitalize on the craze for TV westerns, looked gloomily at his prize steed, Diablo.

"His tendons are swollen from galloping on paved streets," mourned Hughes. "He'll never be any good again."

Melbourne Presents Water Plan

Herald Bureau

MELBOURNE — A 10-year bulk sale water contract presented Thursday by this city to Eau Gallie may have won Melbourne a big customer for its new multi-million dollar water system that will be put into operation next month.

Eau Gallie officials said the contract is more in line with what the city wanted, and explained that the neighboring community "no doubt would purchase from Melbourne at least some of the water it will need to stay an expected shortage later this year."

Layne-Atlantic Co. of Virginia also has presented Eau Gallie a deal for boosting its water supply, and officials stated that Eau Galie could purchase water from both sources — if all of it is not bought from Melbourne.

Vance Bell, councilman handling Eau Gallie's negotiations, said the only weakness in the Melbourne offer is that his city would have to construct a storage tank.

Bell said this could cost $100,000, and might bring Melbourne's rate up even with Layne-Atlantic's.

The private firm has offered to construct a treatment plant, drill a new well field, provide storage facilities and tie the system into the one now being used. Eau Gallie would own the new system in 20 years.

Funeral Scheduled For Adam Wagner

Project Termed 'Justified'

By ANNE WILDER
Herald Correspondent

FORT PIERCE — The St. Lucie County Commission lined itself squarely behind the plans of the Central and Southern Flood Control District Wednesday.

The commission acted after receiving a copy of a Martin County resolution censuring the proposed work in St. Lucie and Martin counties.

In a letter to the Martin County Commission, St. Lucie chairman B. Y. Free wrote:

"We feel that the overall plans for water control in this area will benefit Martin County interests as well as help solve the water problems of Okeechobee and St. Lucie counties."

The letter, approved by the commission Wednesday, states the commission's belief that the flood control and water conservation plans proposed are "justified, sound and necessary to protect life and property in this area."

It concludes, "We hope that there will be no further delay in starting this important program in this area."

In other action Wednesday, the commission approved an electrical code to be administered by the county zoning office.

A report from the building and zoning department, which went into operation with county-wide zoning on Jan. 1 shows that permits for $251,677 worth of construction were issued during January.

In what Louis Fiskin tells us will be a world premiere, the Lincoln Theater will offer "The Black Orchid" on Wednesday night as a benefit for the Greater Miami Heart Fund. Eugene Weiss is chairman for the sponsoring committee. The film will open at the Flamingo, Trail and Loew's 170th St. Theaters Thursday.

There are people in Cuba who tell you they've seen a check for $100,000 allegedly given by Errol Flynn to indicate good intentions in the actor's intent to film a movie in which he would play 32-year-old Fidel Castro! It will be a character role, no doubt . . . Elana, whose last name is Nelson and not something like Tokaruaimatauaia as you'd expect from a specialist in Hawaiian music and dancing is at the Vagabond club currently. And that lengthy monicker we used for comparative purposes is the legit name of a movie actor known on screen as Adam West! We don't blame him.

Britches Bardot has quit the Ringling Circus after four seasons of performing with an act that featured dogs, ponies and a llama. She's now working at the Admiral Vee lounge — but not with the animals, the racehorse Admiral Vee, for whom the spot is named won't permit it. Sa Britches is doing a rope act.

Riot Room's Lynn Taylor almost started a riot and almost got into a Miss America preliminary as Miss Greater Philadelphia some years ago. But sponsors found out she was only 15 . . .Guess Betty Grable is a star's star. She had Paul Whiteman, Dioso Costello and Keefe Braselle watching her on a recent night at the Latin Quarter.

Report Leaves Details Unanswered

Navy Cautiously Says It Hasn't 'Sighted' Red Subs Near Our Coast

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Navy says it has made no verified sightings of Soviet submarines within 500 miles of American coasts.

In a carefully phrased statement, the Navy also said there have been no indications of extensive Soviet sub activity in the South Atlantic.

The Navy would not expand on the statement. This left uncertain whether "sightings" mentioned referred only to visual sightings or included contact by listening devices and electronic or magnetic detection systems.

President Eisenhower, asked about the Russian sub matter at his news conference Wednesday, bounced the query to the Navy. The President said most of his information is based on confidential briefings.

The Navy said most of the reports "of varying validity" of contact with unidentified submarines can be attributed to friendly submarines, surface vessels or marine life.

Senate Group OKs New Citrus Dye

WASHINGTON — The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee Thursday approved a bill which would allow Florida citrus growers to color their fruit with a new dye.

The new dye is known as Citrus Red 2 and was designed to replace Red 32, the coal-tar dye which has been used for more than 20 years.

Red 32 was removed from the government's certified list because of its toxic qualities.

Red 2 is also a coaltar dye but is much less toxic.

Under a special law, citrus growers can use Red 32 until March 1. An amendment approved Thursday would extend that time until May 1.

The Food and Drug Administration has conceded that Red 32 is safe for use on citrus skins but has taken the position that it has no authority to okay its use on citrus without okaying its use on all foods.

Sunny Weather Is Here to Stay

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH—You don't need to worry about South Florida's losing its reputation as "the place where summer comes to spend the winter."

The way the U.S. Weather Bureau looks at it, winter visitors who cut their visits short because of a few cold nights a couple of weeks back, were unduly alarmed.

And any tourist who is staying away from Florida because of last winter's "unprecedented" cold spell, is taking needless precautions.

The Weather Bureau not only said South Florida's weather has returned to normal but explained why.

Bill Culberson, meterologist, said that last winter's cold developed when a low pressure trough which normally hangs around over the West Coast of the U.S. moved into Florida and refused to budge.

That low pressure trough under normal conditions, remains in the west or rambles around a bit, Culberson said. It is not unusual for it to dip into Florida for a brief stay and get out of here later.

But last winter the trough brought bag and baggage, and was so insistent on spending the season in Florida it pushed out the high pressure or "Bermuda high" which keeps cold fronts from moving into South Florida.

Culberson said this year the low pressure trough and the Bermuda high are where they belong.

Result is, while Florida might have a nippy day or two, there is nothing in the picture to indicate prolonged cold spells or extended wet weather.

As if everybody down here didn't know after taking one gander at the thermometer and bright sunshine!

Motorists--Watch All School Buses!

MELBOURNE — Florida only has "single highways" when it comes to vehicles stopping for school buses, according to Dale Jacobus, local school board member.

Brevard County which is gradually adopting the four-lane highway system, asked the Florida Highway Patrol and Attorney Gen. Richard Erwin for an opinion.

Both agreed, Jacobus said, that the same rules on stopping for school buses apply to every highway—despite the width and parkways.

However, there still is confusion among motorists, and many warnings and arrests have been made.

Jacobus said the school board has a policy that prevents children from crossing four-laned highways when boarding and leaving buses. "But the state law says vehicles must halt when meeting a stopped bus on the other side of a parkway dividing a four-laned highway," he stated.

Although speed and thick fog had a lot to do with a recent fatal accident on U.S. 1, north of Eau Gallie, this problem may have had a part in causing the mishap—at least indirectly.

A school bus had stopped in the southbound section of the four-laned highway to load children.

An oncoming dump truck in the northbound lane of this divided roadway stopped for the bus.

A car came behind the truck, started to pass it and halted when the driver saw the bus.

Meanwhile, another truck came up behind the other two vehicles. The car was hit by the third vehicle and its driver was killed.

Hush, Birds Nesting

LAKE WORTH — This city is for the birds — and when the 1959 nesting season begins (whenever that is) people may have to tiptoe around within the city limits.

Reason is that this second largest city in Palm Beach County, by official fiat of the commission, made itself a bird sanctuary at the request of the Audubon Society of the Everglades.

Cattlewoman Sued in Crash

FORT PIERCE—Two prominent familes are involved in a damage suit filed Thursday, in which Margarette Bludworth of Sunrise Blvd., is asking damages of Mary Carlton of 1908 Colonial Rd., cattlewoman and ranch owner.

Miss Bludworth, who is a well-known woman golfer and the daughter of local durggist E. E. Bludworth, is asking damages for injuries sustained in an auto accident Nov. 7. Amount of damages is specified only as "over $5,000."

The suit charges that Miss Carlton was driving in a reckless, negligent, or willfull manner, causing her car to collide with the vehicle driven by Miss Bludworth.

The suit claims the plaintiff sustained severe and permanent injuries.

The accident occurred at 7:05 a.m. at Sunrise Boulevard and Virginia Avenue, under a traffic light which the city had installed less than 24 hours previously.

Frank Schnur, grandather of Miss Bludworth, was a passenger in her car and died in the collision.

Running Out Of Names?

WEST PALM BEACH — It may not be long before we have streets with such names as Rotten Rd. and Laxity Lane.

Roy Weber apparently envisioned such a state of affairs when he warned the County Commission this week there was not much left to choose from in the way of new street names.

"We've used up all of Ireland for names already and now we're getting some really terrible ones," said Weber, an engineer with the firm of Brockway & Weber.

He urged the commissioners either to relax the rule prohibiting any two streets in the county from having the same name, or initiate a modern street-numbering program.

Dies In Crash

TALLAHASSEE— (UPI) — Earl Shelby Baxley, 22, of Cypress, was killed instantly near here late Tuesday when his car crashed head-on into a truck.

Highway Patrolman J. T. Vurdeshaw said Baxley's car was on the wrong side of the road when it piled into the big truck, owned by the Minute Maid Corp. of Orlando.

Look Who's Talking

WEST PALM BEACH — Palm Beach ain't got no manners either.

Commissioner W. P. Holland this week defended West Palm Beach against a recent blast from Alfred Kay, president of the Palm Beach Civic Association.

Kay criticized the city's "homely approach" to "lovely" Palm Beach.

Holland had a comeback.

"Their garbage trucks don't make our city look so pretty."

Palm Beach trucks its garbage through West Palm Beach to reach the county dump on Okeechobee Rd.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere. —Adv.

Collins: No New Taxes Needed in 2 Years

Gov. Collins
. . . economy reforms

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Gov. LeRoy Collins said Thursday he is convinced absolutely Florida can get along two more years without new taxes.

But Collins told his news conference the next Legislature must enact "economy" law reforms if it plans spending beyond the $725,000,000 state budget recommended by the Cabinet.

He said he will recommend specific law changes that will effect "substantial" savings and provide a margin for additional spending beyond the $726,000,000 present taxes are expected to produce in the next biennium.

He said he also will recommend programs requiring revenue beyond the proposed general appropriations budget and he knows individual legislators have some spending projects of their own.

Economy reforms he will suggest, he said, include a central purchasing agency to handle all state buying, including printing, and tightening "loopholes" in the sales tax law.

Collins declined to say whether he will recommend that tuition be charged at the state-supported universities.

He said his mind is still "open" on a proposal to repeal the increased intangible tax on stocks, bonds and cash deposits enacted by the last Legislature. He conceded this doubled tax had harmed the state to some extent, but stressed it cannot be wiped out unless some other way is found to replace the $16,000,000 it produces.

The governor said his recent investigation of printing practices in the nine agencies under his direction convinced him that all but the State Development Commission are not following the law, but going far beyond it.

Records show that in most instances, only three Tallahassee printers are asked to bid on commission jobs and Rose Printing Co. gets most of them.

Collins' administrative aide, William Durden, said the governor's office has directed Development Commission Director B. R. Fuller to investigate to determine if Charles Boogher, promotion chief for the agency, has conducted himself in accordance with policies of the administration in connection with printing.

Boogher admitted that on one occasion, the sales manager of Rose Printing Co. brought along the bids of two competitors when he came by to leave the Rose bid.

Green Says Can Save $$

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Comptroller Ray Green told legislators Thursday he can increase sales tax collections more than one million dollars next biennium with the addition of 10 new auditors to his staff.

Green filed a supplementary budget with a joint House-Senate Appropriations Subcommittee seeking ways to provide state services without new taxes.

He guaranteed the additional sales tax auditors would bring back to the state $10 for every $1 invested in their salaries, which would run about $106,364 for the next two years.

As a result of investigations by his present staff, the comptroller said, some $80,000 was recently returned to the treasury, and the highest amount ever regained was $130,000.

He emphasized the auditors would be dealing with "big money." He said five would be stationed in Miami, one in Fort Lauderdale, one in Orlando, two in Jacksonville, and one in the state at large.

Green also warned legislators who have been talking of repealing the 1957 doubled intangible tax, that if it was thrown out the state would have to find some other source for the needed 15 million dollars.

Passport Office To Be in Bank

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The State Department has selected the new First National Bank building in downtown Miami as the site for a new passport issuing office, it was learned Wednesday.

The department's Passport Division is seeking 2,500 square feet of ground floor space in the building to house the nation's eighth issuing office.

It was reported that the General Services Administration, "landlord" agency for the federal government, is negotiating for a lease with the First National Building owners.

The Passport Division's second choice for a Miami site is the Ainsley Building on Flagler St. However, no ground floor space is presently available there.

The new office will cut the time for processing a passport application from the present 10 or more days to two or three days.

Passport applications are now filed in the Federal Court Clerk's office. The application is mailed to Washington, where the passport is prepared and mailed to Miami.

All this will be done in Miami under the new setup.

It is hoped to have the Miami office in operation within two months. It will be staffed by about five employes.

For and about WOMEN

'HOW'S THAT FOR SIZE?' asks U.S. chief of protocol Wiley Buchanan, center, as he tries on a straw woven shoe belonging to Pakistan Ambassador Mahammed Ali, left. The fancy shoes have long pointed toes which curl all the way back to the instep. The shoe try-on episode happened at a recent White House reception in Washington, with Lebanese Ambassador Nadima A. Dimechkie, right, looking on.

6 War Orphans Call Miss Fuller 'Mother'

SONOMA, Calif. — (UPI) — Jean May Fuller, a former WAC, is rearing six Japanese-American orphans as her own youngsters because she believes that "one parent is better than none."

In 1944, Miss Fuller, then a WAC captain stationed in Japan, took a gift of clothing to Our Lady of Lourdes baby home at Yokohama.

"I can't explain it. It was as though someone pushed a button. The next thing I knew I had adopted three little girls," she said.

The youngsters are offspring of GI fathers and Japanese mothers.

"It took two acts of Congress to get the children here, but I believe you can do anything if you want to badly enough," said Miss Fuller.

After her discharge in 1955, Miss Fuller remained in Japan for two years as a civilian employee, waiting for Congress to pass a bill admitting her five children — three girls and two boys. Then she saw a sixth child, ear-old Marianne, and couldn't resist" adopting her.

When the bill came through in September, 1957, she sailed with her brood, leaving Marianne with American friends. Another special congressional act was passed, and Marianne joined the family in September, 1958.

They live on a 15-acre chicken ranch, a joint venture among Miss Fuller, her parents, and Dorothea Miller, another ex-WAC.

* * *

"IT'S HARD WORK, and all us share the chores, including the children," explained Miss Fuller as she stopped drive a nail into a new chicken brooder.

"The older girls do the dishes, set the table, iron their own clothes and help Dorothea with other housework. They call me 'mother,' and Dorothea, 'mother-honey.'

"The boys take care of the household pets, pig, and goats, and help me with other ranch work. We all tend the garden and our three acres of wine grapes.

"I swap clothes with my sisters. My brothers-in-law are a great help, especially with carpentering," she explained.

"Besides my father, there is always a cousin or uncle around the house to keep the children from missing a father too much. I see no reason why a single woman should not be allowed to adopt children."

Miss Fuller has learned to cut corners on the grocery bill. Two large freezers, the gift of a TV program, are crammed with ranch-grown meats and vegetables.

TWO PRETTY YOUNG THINGS on the Washington social scene are Beverly Benson, left, and Natasha Menshikov. Beverly is the daughter of secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson; Natasha, of Russian Ambassador Menshikov.

No Wonder Trio of Sisters Makes Such Heavenly Music

HOLLYWOOD — (UPI) — It may not be a coincidence that the music of the Immaculate Heart Trio sounds heavenly.

All three members of the chamber group are nuns. Their harmony as sisters in religion has other roots as well. They were born sisters.

The nuns — sisters Mark, Denis, and Anthony — have cut their first professional recording of Schubert's Trio No. 2 in E Flat Major, Op. 100.

"We try not to get too commercial about things," said Sister Mark, the spokesman. "After all, our first duty is as teachers at Immaculate Heart College.

"We get money from the recording and about $500 for each performance on concert tours, but all the money goes for projects at the college."

Sister Mark, who got her Ph. D. at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., is an associate professor at Immaculate Heart in Hollywood.

Sister Mark plays the piano, Sister Denis the violin and Sister Anthony the cello.

Said Sister Mark:

"After giving most of the money to help build a student union and a music and drama building, we had enough left over to buy Sister Anthony a new cello. Well, not exactly new — I think it's a 1786 model."

The sisters are slender, of medium build, in their early 30's. They travel constantly throughout California as music supervisors for Roman Catholic parochial schools.

* * *

INTERVIEWED in a college reception lounge, Sister Mark explained:

"We've been playing music together since we were kids in Seattle. Father was a letter carrier, and he and mother encouraged us. They're living near here in Burbank (Calif.) now, and they still encourage us."

A fourth sister, also a nun, lives in Seattle, and a married brother resides in Van Nuys, Calif.

"As sisters, we're not rare among nuns. In our order of 500 nuns, there are five sets of three sisters and 30 sets of two," said Sister Mark, oldest member of the trio.

Another recording session has been planned for spring, and a coast-to-coast tour is in prospect for fall.

"Our first tour," she added, "was in 1957 after we were contacted by New Artists of America, a non-profit booking organization in Pittsburgh. It had never occurred to us to tour.

"We tour only colleges and universities because we feel it's more in line with our work. And we play only regular classical programs — no parties or teas.

"We usually play three major works, including a serious contemporary composition. We think contemporary pieces are the most exciting to play because we know the audiences haven't heard them before."

AIB Dance Will Be Saturday

The Miami chapter of the American Institute of Banking expects some 600 members and guests at its Valentine Dance Saturday evening.

The party will be held in the Gulfstream Room of Bayfront park auditorium. Time is 9 p.m. Al Schoen's orchestra will play.

This is the second dance of the year sponsored by the chapter.

GIRL ASKS 'WHY?'

Boys Can Get Away With More Things

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

My girl friends and I are all respectable. Recently we were talking about why boys can get away with things that a girl can't.

Fifteen-year-old-boys, for example, can smoke, stay out late, go where they want to, have bad reputations and it still doesn't mean much, but if girls act this way they are considered tramps.

Dorothy Ricker

If boys flunk in school, act dumb, or skip homework it is nothing, but if girls do the same things there is a lot of talk about it.

Isn't it more important for boys to finish school and have good educations since they are the ones to support a family?

It really doesn't matter if a girl finishes school or not because her job is to cook and be a wife and mother. Right?

R.O.W.

You are definitely wrong if you believe that 15-year-old boys (or those of any age) can get away with sub-standard behavior. It may appear that they do since some people are less critical of boys than girls.

But, in the end, boys have to pay dearly for lax morals or goldbricking their way through school. They fail to make the grade as solid citizens and good husbands.

You said a girl has less need for education because she will end up as a "cook, wife and mother."

In this, too, you are wrong since education, or the lack of it, will largely determine whether a girl becomes a GOOD wife and mother or just a drudge and scrubwoman for the family.

An educated girl can help tremendously in the training and development of her children. She can raise the cultural level of her family's life. She can understand and take part in community, civic and church activities.

Should Girl, 10, Be Going Steady?

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

My name is Susan. I am a little girl, 10 years old. I have a boy friend whose name is Ricky. He is very smart and handsome.

In your next column will you tell me if I should go steady with him? He said he loves me but a lot of other boys in my class love me, too.

SUSAN

You ARE a little girl — one who is much too young to be thinking seriously about boys, love or going steady.

I suggest you get smart, too, and stop "playing grown-up." Find a nice group of girls to pal with and take up activities which are suitable for a 10-year-old.

If you don't already belong, the Girl Scouts would be a good place to start.

Deaconess Wins Exchange Club's Gold Deeds Book

By DORIS REYNOLDS
Herald Correspondent

NAPLES — The fish are biting; the sun is glowing brilliantly and all's well in Naples.

Sunday (the first fair one in several weeks) brought the sun seekers out by the hundreds. Water skis were back in the water, and fishing lines were singing across the surf. Monday we spied several severe sunburns, but all agreed it was worth it.

MRS. REYNOLDS

Monday evening Bill Barrett showed up to preside at "lady's night" at Exchange Club with a well bronzed face. He and Emilee had three guests over the weekend, and they'd been fishing for two days. Charles Diamond and Jim Crawford, football players from the University of Miami, and Mike Carcher of the UM staff, helped Bill track down the kingfish, just beginning to run over this way.

It was through Mike's efforts that the Naples football squad went, en masse, to Miami for the Oregon-Miami contest in the Orange Bowl.

At the Monday night gathering Deaconess Harriett Bedell of Everglades addressed the members and their ladies. Afterwards, much to her stunned surprise, she was awarded the Exchange Club's annual Book of Golden Deeds, a plaque honoring a resident of the county who has contributed to the welfare of the area.

Certainly Deaconess Bedell has given more than her share of Golden Deeds to everyone in the county; especially the Seminole Indians.

She's served her mission in Everglades for over twenty-seven years. Prior to that she was in Alaska and Oklahoma.

The Deaconess will be back in Naples this afternoon to address a group at the Woman's Club building. The Public Affairs Committee of the Woman's Club is sponsoring a silver tea.

The public is urged to attend and hear the Deaconess talk about the Indians. All proceeds will go to the Deaconess' work.

It's Time for Fashion Shows

THE SEASON'S BEEN VERY SLOW in getting started, and maybe it's all for the best. From the looks of the calendar we all needed to gear ourselves to the pace. This evening the Jane Derby showing of fashions takes place at the Beach Club. There will be a dinner dance, and tomorrow the clothes will again be on display at Zita.

Then next Friday there's the Woman's Club annual fashion to-do. Show will be held in the afternoon and again in the evening (gives all the menfolk a chance to get a look-see at what they'll be spending their money for).

All of Naples' shops will be represented with such well known local models as Shirley Shipton, Ginny Cox, Carole Capelle, Jacque Frank, Sylvia Williams, Caroline Downing, Marge Darling and Lucy Brinkman.

These are only a few of the attractive girls who'll be showing resort and spring fashions plus a few other surprises. As usual a model will show Thrift Shop selections.

Every season the same thing is bound to happen. Two important events planned for the same day. This year Feb. 28 is the fatal day; but don't get excited . . . you can go to both.

The annual Home and Garden Tour sponsored by the Garden Club is slated for that day as is the Hospital Auxiliary White Elephant Sale.

The Home and Garden Tour will feature five lovely Naples homes including the interesting residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Cowles. This unique home has had much publicity and is known locally as "The Butterfly House."

Journalist, Playwright in Town

THE FLEISCHMANN ESTATE on Naples' beachfront is being occupied this season by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Meyers of Washington. Mr. M is publisher of The Washington Post. Currently the Meyers are in the Capital, but will be Naples-bound before long.

Right now the house is being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Phil Graham (Mrs. G is the Meyers' daughter). Her capable husband is one of the executives of The Post. Joining the Grahams for a brief vacation here are Mr. and Mrs. James Reston. Mr. Reston is with The New York Times.

Another luminary to grace our presence recently is playwright Kenyon (Ken) Nicholson. The Nicholsons are spending six weeks in Fort Lauderdale after sojourning in the Virgin Islands.

On Tuesday Ken Nicholson drove over to Naples to see his long time friends Marian and John Byram. He stayed briefly and went on to the Marco Island Inn for a fishing excursion, but not before he promised to come back to Naples.

Mr. Nicholson is best known for his Broadway success although he's written for the motion pictures, radio and television. Remember "The Barker," "Sailor Beware," "Swing Your Lady" and "Eva the Fifth?" They were all written by Ken Nicholson.

Ballantine Writes Circus Book

BILL BALLANTINE, probably the most controversial name in Naples since his Holiday article some time back, has come up with a fascinating book that's just off the presses.

Bill spent several years with the circus, and his book "Wild Tigers and Tame Fleas" is about circus people and the animals that are so much a part of life under the big top.

In writing the book, Bill has not only proved his ability as a writer but has done a fine job on the illustrations.

Another quality not to be overlooked is his business acumen. In order to provide for his family while he was engaged in writing, Bill sold stock in "Wild Tigers and Tame Fleas" and now has his stockholders more than interested in seeing that the publication is a huge success.

Among those mentioned in the foreword of the book are the John Slaters and Jane Tibbett.

By the way, the Toastmistress Club is looking for charter members for the group. They meet every Wednesday at 7:30 a.m. at the Fish House. They'll be having meetings for some months now, but all those joining before April will be charter members.

Spanish Dancers Take PB by Storm

By HELEN VAN HOY SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

PALM BEACH — Rhythmic rattle of castenets, twirling ruffled petticoats in flamboyant colors, gorgeous girls and handsome young men — the Jose Greco Spanish Dancers.

The troup appeared Wednesday night before a capacity house at the Society of the Four Arts, brought here by the Four Arts Music Committee, Mrs. Julius Wentworth Noyes, chairman, and Mrs. Edward F. Hutton, vice chairman.

It was a memorable evening. Spectacular, with vibrant and beautiful music from Spanish guitars and piano, the machine gun dance tempo was liberally sprinkled with tabasco. It was magnificent entertainment.

Dominated by Jose Greco, every dance by the ensemble, group numbers and solos, were perfection. The piano solo by Roger Machado and the guitar number by Ricardo were warmly applauded. The exquisite castellana danced by Lola de Ronda, Maria Angeles and Jose Greco, was encored.

Only regret was that the Four Arts auditorium wasn't large enough for all who wanted to attend.

STAR of the Palm Beach Musicarnival's production of "The King and I" will be Broadway and film actress Irene Manning. The musical is scheduled to open Feb. 10 and run through Feb. 22.

'Prince' To Benefit Mentally Ill

WEST PALM BEACH — First large mental health benefit to be staged in Palm Beach County will be the Musicarnival's opening night performance of "The Student Prince," on Feb. 24.

Proceeds of this rollicking operetta will be used to assist mental patients upon return to their home communities and to expand the guidance center to include services to some adult cases next fall.

Work of the association during the past years has included marriage counseling to 118 couples and assistance to more than 100 familes where there was mental illness.

Education programs were presented to 120 clubs and organizations during 1959.

There is a slight increase in price for tickets for the benefit. Reservations may be made through the Mental Health Association office, 409 Fifth St.

JACK ANDERSON — About TV and Radio

Stereophonic Program Couldn't Be Arranged

A WEEK AGO on his ABC television show, Walt Disney presented a filmed biography of the Russian composer, Peter Tschaikovsky.

In order to make the most of the composer's sinuous and lovely melodies which backgrounded the drama, ABC arranged for a stereophonic hook-up between its affiliated radio and TV stations across the nation.

ANDERSON

ABC has done this before—several months ago with the Saturday night Lawrence Welk Show.

Here in Miami ABC wanted its radio affiliate, WKAT, and its TV affiliate, WPST-TV (Ch. 10), to team up for the stereophonic sound transmission but the hook-up simply couldn't be arranged.

There immediately arose a protest from the stereophonic music fans here. Knowing that WKAT president, Frank Katzentine, and WPST-TV president, George T. Baker, aren't exactly pals, the complainants assumed this was the reason for the nix on the stereo collaboration.

After this department received several of these calls, I checked into the matter, although I had a pretty good idea the Katzentine-Baker FCC differences had nothing to do with it. I was correct.

To begin with, there was no contact between the two stations. ABC approached them separately by telephone from New York.

The Disney show is not carried on ABC radio and so most of the network's contact was with WKAT in an effort to get that station to take the sound portion of the show on a one-time only basis.

Fred Wagenford, manager of WKAT, explained to me that taking the hour-long show would have meant having to cancel an hour's worth of its local programming and the revenue that goes with it.

"We couldn't afford that," said Wagenford. "We also had a couple of news programs from the Mutual network (with which WKAT is also affiliated) and we couldn't get out of taking those.

"We suggested to ABC that it offer the program to WWPB here instead. However, the network wanted any other station to take the broadcast without being paid for it. I assume that WWPB wasn't interested under those circumstances.

"We wouldn't mind cooperating in these stereophonic hook-ups with Channel 10 or any other television station if they were on a regular weekly basis. But these off-and-on arrangements just can't be managed."

* * *

KATZENTINE emphatically dismissed his old battles with Baker as having anything to do with the problem.

"I may have my differences with Mr. Baker," he told me, "but when it comes to my radio station, its first and foremost function is to serve the public. My personal affairs don't enter its programming in any way."

And so, while I hate to spoil anybody's expectations of a second battle in the Okay Corral, that's the story on why there wasn't stereophonic transmission of the Disney program. As it was told to me, at least.

WKAT did collaborate with a competitor radio station — WCKR — last year in a series of stereophonic broadcasts of music.

They were planned well in advance and carried at a late hour when the two stations had no trouble clearing time in their respective schedules for them.

4—SEA HUNT — An electronic test boat sinks during a hurricane and Mike is hired to recover it.

7—TWENTY SIX MEN—The rangers are forced to protect an Apache from his own people when the Indians defy Arizona law.

10—FRONTIER — The true story of an officer who planned to invade California.

7:30

2—BALANCE — "Nutrition in the Armed Forces."

4—HIT PARADE — Nostalgia reigns supreme tonight, expect for the opening medley ("The Children's Marching Song" and "Gotta Travel On") and the top three at the end. In between, we'll watch Cab Calloway with his old bread-and-butter number, "Minnie the Moocher," some tunes from "Porgy and Bess" by Cab and Johnny Desmond and Dorothy Collins, via a split screen and tape technique, re-creating her old Peter Pan blouse style and dueting with herself on "Dearie."

7—TARGET —A nurse is kidnaped by three bandits and ordered to save the life of one of them or lose her own.

10—RIN TIN TIN — Recovering from a wound, a matador is challenged to a bullfight competition.

8

2—NATURE'S REALM—"Bird Watching in the Tropics."

4—RAWHIDE—A diehard Confederate sympathizer tries to set up his own free and independent state in North Texas.

7—PHIL HARRIS — Phil and friends will gather around the camera for a lively musical hour tonight. It's Phil's first TV show of his own and it pretty much reflects his personality. He didn't want too many skits, so it's mostly singing. There are some comic interludes, with Phil and his guests chitchatting in the approved Hollywood style. One has him with Dean Martin and the subject is humility. The music is all done in lavish production numbers—Betty Hutton will sing "When the Saints Go Marching In" in a courtroom setting, Phil and Betty do "Hogwash" around a phony white house, Phil does the old Bert Williams' tune, "No Body," against a railroad station scene. Red Nichols and his band are also down for a number. Color.

Best Bet

10—WALT DISNEY — We're back with Baca tonight, as the fifth of six in the Elfego Baca series is aired. This one is mostly an indoor story, with Baca in the courtroom. Robert Loggia, who has bursitis when this was filmed, was delighted he didn't have too much action to do. Mousketeer alumnus Annette Funicello appears as an ex-convict's daughter and Lynn Bari and James Dunn are others in the cast.

2—PREFACE — "The Children's Literary World."

4—PHIL SILVERS — Where there's money to be made, there you'll find Ernie Bilko, so it's only natural that he sees the possibilities in credit cards. Before tonight's show is over, he has his own credit card concern going with the expected unexpected happening to cramp his style.

7—M SQUAD — A beautiful musical comedy star, aware that she is marked for death, prefers to fight for her life rather than ask for police protection.

10—MAN WITH A CAMERA —A crazed gunman forces Mike to go with him on a holdup spree.

9:30

10 — 77 SUNSET STRIP — Murder stalks the campus of a California college (where all the girls are glamorous and all the boys Greek gods) and Jeff Spencer enrolls to keep his eye on a girl who could easily be the next victim. One of the comic highspots is Kookie's beatsville version of the life and times of Julius Caesar.

Hospital Expansion Assured

FORT PIERCE — Members of the Fort Pierce Memorial Hospital Association, at the annual meeting earlier this week, heard a mixture of good and bad news.

Good news is that the $450,000 expansion for the hospital is now assured and work on the two new wings is expected to begin early this spring.

On the less cheerful side was the news that this year the hospital ended up the year in the red. Increased costs of operation, due in part to the last year's enlargement, was one factor in the higher expenses. Also there was a sharp increase in the amount of free work done, and in the uncollectible accounts.

Three new hospital directors were elected, E. W. Lins, Fred Monahan, and Arthur Rubin.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

Deaconess Wins Exchange Club's Gold Deeds Book

By DORIS REYNOLDS
Herald Correspondent

NAPLES — The fish are biting; the sun is glowing brilliantly and all's well in Naples.

Sunday (the first fair one in several weeks) brought the sun seekers out by the hundreds. Water skis were back in the water, and fishing lines were singing across the surf. Monday we spied several severe sunburns, but all agreed it was worth it.

MRS. REYNOLDS

Monday evening Bill Barrett showed up to preside at "lady's night" at Exchange Club with a well bronzed face. He and Emilee had three guests over the weekend, and they'd been fishing for two days. Charles Diamond and Jim Crawford, football players from the University of Miami, and Mike Carcher of the UM staff, helped Bill track down the kingfish, just beginning to run over this way.

It was through Mike's efforts that the Naples football squad went, en masse, to Miami for the Oregon-Miami contest in the Orange Bowl.

At the Monday night gathering Deaconess Harriett Bedell of Everglades addressed the members and their ladies. Afterwards, much to her stunned surprise, she was awarded the Exchange Club's annual Book of Golden Deeds, a plaque honoring a resident of the county who has contributed to the welfare of the area.

Certainly Deaconess Bedell has given more than her share of Golden Deeds to everyone in the county; especially the Seminole Indians.

She's served her mission in Everglades for over twenty-seven years. Prior to that she was in Alaska and Oklahoma.

The Deaconess will be back in Naples this afternoon to address a group at the Woman's Club building. The Public Affairs Committee of the Woman's Club is sponsoring a silver tea.

The public is urged to attend and hear the Deaconess talk about the Indians. All proceeds will go to the Deaconess' work.

It's Time for Fashion Shows

THE SEASON'S BEEN VERY SLOW in getting started, and maybe it's all for the best. From the looks of the calendar we all needed to gear ourselves to the pace. This evening the Jane Derby showing of fashions takes place at the Beach Club. There will be a dinner dance, and tomorrow the clothes will again be on display at Zita.

Then next Friday there's the Woman's Club annual fashion to-do. Show will be held in the afternoon and again in the evening (gives all the menfolk a chance to get a look-see at what they'll be spending their money for).

All of Naples' shops will be represented with such well known local models as Shirley Shipton, Ginny Cox, Carole Capelle, Jacque Frank, Sylvia Williams, Caroline Downing, Marge Darling and Lucy Brinkman.

These are only a few of the attractive girls who'll be showing resort and spring fashions plus a few other surprises. As usual a model will show Thrift Shop selections.

Every season the same thing is bound to happen. Two important events planned for the same day. This year Feb. 28 is the fatal day; but don't get excited . . . you can go to both.

The annual Home and Garden Tour sponsored by the Garden Club is slated for that day as is the Hospital Auxiliary White Elephant Sale.

The Home and Garden Tour will feature five lovely Naples homes including the interesting residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Cowles. This unique home has had much publicity and is known locally as "The Butterfly House."

Journalist, Playwright in Town

THE FLEISCHMANN ESTATE on Naples' beachfront is being occupied this season by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Meyers of Washington. Mr. M is publisher of The Washington Post. Currently the Meyers are in the Capital, but will be Naples-bound before long.

Right now the house is being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Phil Graham (Mrs. G is the Meyers' daughter). Her capable husband is one of the executives of The Post. Joining the Grahams for a brief vacation here are Mr. and Mrs. James Reston. Mr. Reston is with The New York Times.

Another luminary to grace our presence recently is playwright Kenyon (Ken) Nicholson. The Nicholsons are spending six weeks in Fort Lauderdale after sojourning in the Virgin Islands.

On Tuesday Ken Nicholson drove over to Naples to see his long time friends Marian and John Byram. He stayed briefly and went on to the Marco Island Inn for a fishing excursion, but not before he promised to come back to Naples.

Mr. Nicholson is best known for his Broadway success although he's written for the motion pictures, radio and television. Remember "The Barker," "Sailor Beware," "Swing Your Lady" and "Eva the Fifth?" They were all written by Ken Nicholson.

Ballantine Writes Circus Book

BILL BALLANTINE, probably the most controversial name in Naples since his Holiday article some time back, has come up with a fascinating book that's just off the presses.

Bill spent several years with the circus, and his book "Wild Tigers and Tame Fleas" is about circus people and the animals that are so much a part of life under the big top.

In writing the book, Bill has not only proved his ability as a writer but has done a fine job on the illustrations.

Another quality not to be overlooked is his business acumen. In order to provide for his family while he was engaged in writing, Bill sold stock in "Wild Tigers and Tame Fleas" and now has his stockholders more than interested in seeing that the publication is a huge success.

Among those mentioned in the foreword of the book are the John Slaters and Jane Tibbett.

By the way, the Toastmistress Club is looking for charter members for the group. They meet every Wednesday at 7:30 a.m. at the Fish House. They'll be having meetings for some months now, but all those joining before April will be charter members.

Spanish Dancers Take PB by Storm

By HELEN VAN HOY SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

PALM BEACH — Rhythmic rattle of castenets, twirling ruffled petticoats in flamboyant colors, gorgeous girls and handsome young men — the Jose Greco Spanish Dancers.

The troup appeared Wednesday night before a capacity house at the Society of the Four Arts, brought here by the Four Arts Music Committee, Mrs. Julius Wentworth Noyes, chairman, and Mrs. Edward F. Hutton, vice chairman.

It was a memorable evening. Spectacular, with vibrant and beautiful music from Spanish guitars and piano, the machine gun dance tempo was liberally sprinkled with tabasco. It was magnificent entertainment.

Dominated by Jose Greco, every dance by the ensemble, group numbers and solos, were perfection. The piano solo by Roger Machado and the guitar number by Ricardo were warmly applauded. The exquisite castellana danced by Lola de Ronda, Maria Angeles and Jose Greco, was encored.

Only regret was that the Four Arts auditorium wasn't large enough for all who wanted to attend.

STAR of the Palm Beach Musicarnival's production of "The King and I" will be Broadway and film actress Irene Manning. The musical is scheduled to open Feb. 10 and run through Feb. 22.

'Prince' To Benefit Mentally Ill

WEST PALM BEACH — First large mental health benefit to be staged in Palm Beach County will be the Musicarnival's opening night performance of "The Student Prince," on Feb. 24.

Proceeds of this rollicking operetta will be used to assist mental patients upon return to their home communities and to expand the guidance center to include services to some adult cases next fall.

Work of the association during the past years has included marriage counseling to 118 couples and assistance to more than 100 familes where there was mental illness.

Education programs were presented to 120 clubs and organizations during 1959.

There is a slight increase in price for tickets for the benefit. Reservations may be made through the Mental Health Association office, 409 Fifth St.

Flower Exhibit Is Slated

JUPITER—Traveler's Palm Garden Club will hold its sixth annual flower show at Salhaven Recreation Hall (Retirement Village of Upholsterers Union, A1A, Jupiter) Saturday, Feb. 21, from 3 to 9 p.m., and Sunday, Feb. 22, from 1 to 9 p.m.

Theme, "Shedding Light on Gardening," will be accented by the various exhibitions of horticulture, junior garden club activities, educational displays and an artistic design division.

Artistic design classifications will include "Divine Light," "Gift of Light," Moonlight," "Dawn's Early Light," and "Gourmet's Delight."

Commercial displays will show how to get rid of bad bugs and how to encourage good ones; also soil mixtures, and various plants, including ramie.

Dentist Wins JC Award

BELLE GLADE — Dr. J. Mendal Luce, local dentist, was chosen as the outstanding young man of the year by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and was presented an award at their annual Bosses Night dinner recently at the municipal Country Club.

The award is based on leadership, personal business progress and contributions to community welfare during the past year by men under 35. Dr. Luce was especially cited for his contributions in scout work.

Dr. Luce came to Belle Glade three years ago from Pahokee.

JACK ANDERSON — About TV and Radio

Stereophonic Program Couldn't Be Arranged

ANDERSON

A WEEK AGO on his ABC television show, Walt Disney presented a filmed biography of the Russian composer, Peter Tschaikovsky.

In order to make the most of the composer's sinuous and lovely melodies which backgrounded the drama, ABC arranged for a stereophonic hookup between its affiliated radio and TV stations across the nation.

ABC has done this before—several months ago with the Saturday night Lawrence Welk Show.

Here in Miami ABC wanted its radio affiliate, WKAT, and its TV affiliate, WPST-TV (Ch. 10), to team up for the stereophonic sound transmission but the hook-up simply couldn't be arranged.

There immediately arose a protest from the stereophonic music fans here. Knowing that WKAT president, Frank Katzentine, and WPST-TV president, George T. Baker, aren't exactly pals, the complainants assumed this was the reason for the nix on the stereo collaboration.

After this department received several of these calls, I checked into the matter, although I had a pretty good idea the Katzentine-Baker FCC differences had nothing to do with it. I was correct.

To begin with, there was no contact between the two stations. ABC approached them separately by telephone from New York.

The Disney show is not carried on ABC radio and so most of the network's contact was with WKAT in an effort to get that station to take the sound portion of the show on a one-time only basis.

Fred Wagenford, manager of WKAT, explained to me that taking the hour-long show would have meant having to cancel an hour's worth of its local programming and the revenue that goes with it.

"We couldn't afford that," said Wagenford. "We also had a couple of news programs from the Mutual network (with which WKAT is also affiliated) and we couldn't get out of taking those.

"We suggested to ABC that it offer the program to WWPB here instead. However, the network wanted any other station to take the broadcast without being paid for it. I assume that WWPB wasn't interested under those circumstances.

"We wouldn't mind cooperating in these stereophonic hook-ups with Channel 10 or any other television station if they were on a regular weekly basis. But these off-and-on arrangements just can't be managed."

* * *

KATZENTINE emphatically dismissed his old battles with Baker as having anything to do with the problem.

"I may have my differences with Mr. Baker," he told me, "but when it comes to my radio station, its first and foremost function is to serve the public. My personal affairs don't enter its programming in any way."

And so, while I hate to spoil anybody's expectations of a second battle in the Okay Corral, that's the story on why there wasn't stereophonic transmission of the Disney program. As it was told to me, at least.

WKAT did collaborate with a competitor radio station — WCKR — last year in a series of stereophonic broadcasts of music.

They were planned well in advance and carried at a late hour when the two stations had no trouble clearing time in their respective schedules for them.

He didn't want too many skits, so it's mostly singing. There are some comic interludes, with Phil and his guests chitchatting in the approved Hollywood style. One has him with Dean Martin and the subject is humility. The music is all done in lavish production numbers—Betty Hutton will sing "When the Saints Go Marching In" in a courtroom setting. Phil and Betty do "Hogwash" around a phony white house. Phil does the old Bert Williams' tune, "No Body," against a railroad station scene. Red Nichols and his band are also down for a number. Color.

10—WALT DISNEY — We're back with Baca tonight, as the fifth of six in the Elfego Baca series is aired. This one is mostly an indoor story, with Baca in the courtroom. Robert Loggia, who has bursitis when this was filmed, was delighted he didn't have too much action to do. Mousketeer alumnus Annette Funicello appears as an ex-convict's daughter and Lynn Bari and James Dunn are others in the cast.

Hospital Expansion Assured

FORT PIERCE — Members of the Fort Pierce Memorial Hospital Association, at the annual meeting earlier this week, heard a mixture of good and bad news.

Good news is that the $450,000 expansion for the hospital is now assured and work on the two new wings is expected to begin early this spring.

On the less cheerful side was the news that this year the hospital ended up the year in the red. Increased costs of operation, due in part to the last year's enlargement, was one factor in the higher expenses. Also there was a sharp increase in the amount of free work done, and in the uncollectible accounts.

Three new hospital directors were elected, E. W. Lins, Fred Monahan, and Arthur Rubin.

How Close Whirling Blades Came to Driver Andrew Bird

He Just Wanted to See 'Em Landing

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Seventy-year-old Andrew Bird, who just "wanted to watch the planes come in," had a brush with one of them while driving his car on the runway at Cleveland Hopkins Airport.

The aircraft, a huge four-engine Air Force Hercules C130A, whacked six neatly spaced gashes in the steel top of the car, inches above Bird's head.

Bird had arrived early to pick up his wife, Lida, who works for a catering firm. Instead of going to the airport parking lot he headed down a ramp leading to the field.

Apparently becoming confused, Bird drove the length of a 6,000-foot runway, only to find his way blocked by a fence.

"How do I get out of here?" he asked a startled guard in a shack.

"How did you get on it?" gasped the guard.

While the guard alerted the control tower, Bird was already on his way back along the runway, where the C130A had been warming up.

Bird explained later that he did not see the Air Force plane but had seen another plane coming in for a landing. Naturally, he stepped on the gas.

"My God, he's going to hit us!" cried Capt. William M. Bailey Jr. inside the plane.

Propeller tips ripped through the car, which continued on past the plane, turned around again and stopped near the C130A.

"I was afraid to look in the car," said Capt. Bailey, "for fear we'd find a decapitated body."

Bird, calm and uninjured, said it took him many minutes to realize what had happened.

Pending a detailed examination of the turbo-prop plane, Air Force officials said damage could run anywhere from $35,000 to $170,000.

Bird was released after a search of the city code turned up little that might pertain to driving on an airport runway.

Tempers Flare Over Spending

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Battle of the Budget flared on the Senate floor Thursday with Sen. Barry Goldwater (R., Ariz.), branding Democrats as "wild-riding spenders" and Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson shouting a denial.

Addressing GOP senators as "you Republicans," Johnson said "a lot of this talk about (President Eisenhower) balancing the budget is pure bunk."

Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson said, meanwhile, that the nation "could live with higher taxes" if it had to, and that the administration would ask for them "if there develop real requirements for additional revenue" for national defense.

Testifying before the Joint Congressional Economic Committee, Anderson said such a need has not arisen. He also indicated there is no likelihood of an early tax cut. He said tax relief must depend on the rate of the nation's economic growth, the degree of government spending, reduction of the federal debt and avoidance of inflation.

Anderson denied a suggestion by Committee Chairman Paul Douglas (D., Ill.), that he is "obsessed with inflation." He said he was concerned about it, not obsessed.

He said inflation may revive "if we do not finally close the budget gap."

On the Senate floor, Johnson said neither Democrats nor Republicans have "a monopoly on saving or spending." He said the last Congress, which also was controlled by the Democrats, cut $5,600,000,000 from Eisenhower's budget.

He also recalled that Eisenhower last year asked him to work to "add several hundred million dollars" for foreign aid. Johnson said he succeeded in doing so, but "I didn't get on television and say he (Eisenhower) is a spender."

"I defended his aid bill last year," Johnson shouted. "Who was the spender then?"

Debbie Reynolds Enters Hospital

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Actress Debbie Reynolds was hospitalized Thursday for treatment of a potentially serious blood clot in her left knee, a spokesman for 20th Century Fox studios disclosed.

Miss Reynolds, whose suit for divorce from husband Eddie Fisher goes to court Feb. 17, was told she must remain in the hospital for at least three days. She dislocated the knee last Monday when she stepped on a cable while rehearsing an intricate dance step.

Accused in Plot

U.S. Probes Case Of Yank in Cuba

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

The U.S. State Department opened an investigation Thursday into Cuban government claims that a "gentleman soldier" from Miami has confessed a plot to assassinate Fidel Castro.

National Police in Havana announced that Alan Robert Nye, formerly of 107 Calabria Ave., Coral Gables, admitted he was promised $100,000 by the forces of Fulgencio Batista if he killed the revolutionary hero.

Nye, described as "the type elderly ladies like," earlier denied from his Havana prison cell any implication in such a plot. He claimed he went to Cuba to help the rebels in their fight against Batista.

In Washington an official of the State Department told The Herald by telephone:

"We have received no confirmation of an alleged confession. Consular officials in Havana are now looking into it."

He added that the State Department is in touch with Nye "to see that he is treated fairly."

According to Cuban police, the Batista plotters contacted Nye through Daniel Vasquez, a Cuban refugee who lives at 727 E. DiLido Dr., Miami Beach.

Vasquez and his wife, Marisol Alba, called the "Mata Hari of Cuba," rank high on the revolutionary government's list of traitors.

In Miami, neighbors and acquaintances of Nye offered their opinions of his personality.

Mrs. L. L. Gardner, who lived next door to him, called him "a perfect gentleman . . . a nice personality; he didn't seem to be that type of fellow."

She said he was frequently visited by Cuban friends.

Mrs. Paul Mickler, who lives in the same apartment where Nye lived, declared:

"I can't believe it. He didn't look very strong for that sort of thing."

Officials of Nye's former employer, the American Airmotive Corp, said he was dismissed from the firm last October after working there 10 months.

Reported an executive:

"He was just another aircraft salesman that come and go. He left here with mutual consent. We were dissatisfied with his work and he seemed unhappy, like he wanted something of a bigger scope."

He added that Nye frequently made trips to Latin American countries for the air cargo company.

Tall, slender and blond, Nye was reported to be a talented painter and pianist.

Havana police gave his age as 31. Neighbors in Coral Gables, however, said he told them he was 40.

In Whiting, Ind., his mother, Mrs. Helen Lynch, said, "I'm positive my son is innocent."

FBI Hunts Milkman, Girl, 14

MADISON TOWNSHIP, N.J. —(AP)—The FBI has been called in to help locate a 38-year-old milkman who is believed to have run off with the 14-year-old daughter of a friend, state police said.

They said Ernest Corrao, father of three, disappeared Jan. 21 alone with Barbara Plaisted.

State police at the nearby New Brunswick Barracks called in the FBI after a 12-state police teletype alarm had failed to turn up any trace of the two.

They said Corrao and the girl are believed to have gone to either Arizona, California or Florida.

Corrao struck up a friendship with the blonde, blue-eyed girl during the eight-month period he delivered milk to her home, police said. The families have been friends for three years.

Frequently, police said, Corrao would drive Barbara and her nine-year-old sister, Sharon, to school.

On Jan. 21, according to the state police, he picked up the girls, dropped off Sharon and disappeared with Barbara.

Corrao has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. His wife has filed additional charges of desertion and non-support.

Plan to Speed Mail Delivery In Northeast Florida Readied

More State News P. 24A, 25A, 1B, 2D

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

COCOA—The post office department hopes to complete plans for speeding mail deliveries in Northeast Florida and Southeast Georgia by March 1, The Herald learned Thursday.

The speedup will end two and three-day delays in intercity mail deliveries, a source said.

Details of the speedup aren't complete, but the regional operations manager for the post office department said it will come because "metropolitan service" will be extended to an area centered on Jacksonville.

William L. Crawford of Atlanta also said Cocoa — and the other cities of central Brevard — will be included in the area although most of it will lie within 100 miles of Jacksonville.

Cocoa is about 160 miles south of Jacksonville, but the "metropolitan service" will reach it because the city is convenient to postal transportation systems, Crawford explained.

Another post office source explained the coming of "metropolitan service" will place northeast Florida cities on high-speed delivery routes fanning out of Jacksonville and eliminate the complex existing routing on which delays are encountered.

Crawford says he has had a committee "working on the setup for three weeks." The committee, which is working out of Jacksonville, expects to finish its task by March 1, he added.

The postal official said although details of the "metropolitan service" haven't been "firmed up," it will be based on similar services instituted in other parts of the U.S. last year.

Crawford said the "metropolitan service" committee has been working in secrecy because the department didn't want to allow "premature releases" about the coming service.

Local postmasters throughout the proposed metropolitan area have been instructed not to discuss the plans until they are finished and publicity material has been prepared in Atlanta.

However, The Herald learned 25 northeast Florida postmasters met with the "metropolitan service" committee Wednesday. The meeting was held at the Cocoa post office.

U.S. Cites Denial of Attack

Mikoyan Branded Liar About Planes

Come, See Us, Nikita Invites Ike

President Mum For the Present

MOSCOW — (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Thursday publicly invited President Eisenhower to come to the Soviet Union, bring "anyone he likes" and go anywhere he wants.

(The White House had no immediate comment on the invitation. Press Secretary James Hagerty said no announcement will be made until the President receives the transcript of the invitation through regular channels.)

The invitation climaxed a long final speech to the 21st Congress of the Communist Party in which Khrushchev professed the Soviet Union wants nothing but to end the cold war and compete against the West on economic grounds, in peace.

But he remained adamant on two points which have been big stumbling blocks in East-West relations.

He said the Soviet Union will "never agree" to permit foreign inspectors on Soviet soil even though the U. S. and Britain are willing to accept them on their territory.

Secondly, he said Russia never will accept "liquidation" of Communist East Germany in any plan to reunite Germany.

It was announced in London and Moscow simultaneously a few hours after Khrushchev spoke that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will fly to Moscow Feb. 21 for talks on these and other cold war subjects.

Khrushchev decried the "discrimination" that keeps him from visiting the U. S. but he said he will not insist on going there in return for Eisenhower coming to Russia.

"Should the President decide to come to our country he would be met with sincere hospitality both by our government and the Soviet people," Khrushchev said.

"A visit of this kind would undoubtedly be useful to both countries and would meet with the approval of the peoples of the U. S. A. and the Soviet Union."

He said Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's trip to the U. S. in January "provided the reasons to hope for a further thaw in relations between our countries."

Khrushchev, who opened the congress of 1,296 voting delegates a week ago Tuesday with a six-hour speech, drew ovation after ovation with his closing speech Thursday.

The delegates voted unanimous approval of his report, his policies and of his seven-year design to catch up with the U. S. economically.

Khrushchev said Soviet claims to mass production of intercontinental ballistic missiles are "not just rhetoric."

But he insisted this is just stating the facts, not making a threat, and that the Soviet Union wants an end to the cold war.

Addressing a remark to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, he said, "We are even prepared to admit your victory in this war that is unwanted by the peoples . . . but end it quickly."

'I'll Finish Him,' Said Soviet Pilot To His Partners

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The tape recording of radio conversations between the Soviet fighter pilots, accused of shooting down an unarmed U.S. transport plane, was filled with chit-chat about altitudes and positions. But the key portions dwelt on an attack.

They went like this:

"582, I see the target, to the right.

"I see the target, a large one . . .

"I am 201, I see the target, attack!

"I am 201, I am attacking the target . . .

"Attack, attack, 218, attack . . .

"The target is a transport, four-engined . . .

"Roger. 201, I am attacking the target . . .

"The target is burning.

"There's a hit . . .

"The target is burning, 582 . . .

"The target is banking . . .

"Open fire . . .

"218, are you attacking?

"Yes, yes . . .

"The target is burning . . .

"The tail assembly is falling off the target . . .

"Look!

"Oh?

"Look at him, he will not get away, he is already falling.

"Yes, he is falling, I will finish him off, boys, I will finish him off on the run.

"The target has lost control, it is going down . . .

"The target is falling . . .

"Yes . . . form up, go home.

"After my third pass, the target started burning . . .

"Well, let's form up, follow. Let's go . . ."

From study of the recorded conversations, Pentagon and State Department experts concluded that five Soviet jet fighters "scrambled" aloft to attack the U. S. transport and that four made passes at it. The fifth apparently arrived too late to take part in the attack.

From the recording, the Soviet aircraft numbers were 577, 582, 583, 201, and 218.

It appeared that 577 was a late arrival. At one point the transcript records a message to 577 to this effect: "Go home, why are you fooling around there some place."

Happiest Tax Form Filler-Outer in U.S.
. . . gleeful Mark Perks, held by mother

He Comes Out Ahead On the Income Tax

DETROIT —(AP)— Just because you're only nine months old don't think you can flee the country and avoid paying income tax.

Ask little Mark Perks. He was nabbed by the Internal Revenue Service on the eve of his departure for England.

But the agents let him go without paying a cent. He even came out 25 cents to the good.

Mark accompanied his mother, Mrs. Phyllis Jean Perks, to the Federal Building. Mrs. Perks, an American by birth, is leaving Detroit to return to England to live. Her husband, Peter, a British engineer, already is working in Birmingham.

Mrs. Perks was told that as a U.S. citizen she needed no tax clearance.

But, said the agents, Mark does. He is a British citizen.

So a form was duly filled out. After studying the situation, the agent waived the signature, patted Mark on the head and gave him a quarter.

Mark left, clutching the quarter, his passport — and his income tax clearance.

Cites Tape To Prove Jet Attack

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The U.S. offered dramatic proof Thursday that Russian fighter planes deliberately shot down an unarmed American transport plane last September. It practically accused Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan of lying about the incident.

Seventeen Americans were aboard the four-engine transport. Russia returned only six bodies, saying it had no information about the 11 other men aboard.

The State Department to back up its charges, released a transcript of what it said was an intercepted radio conversation among Soviet fighter pilots who attacked the C130 transport over Soviet Armenia near the Russian-Turkish border Sept. 2.

The English translation quoted the Red pilots as saying:

"I am attacking the target . . . There's a hit . . . The target is falling . . . The tail assembly is falliing off . . . He will not get away, he is already falling . . . I will finish him off boys."

Four of the six bodies returned by the Russians were identified. The other two, whose identities still are not known, will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery here today with full military honors.

The State Department did not say how it intercepted the radio conversation among the Soviet pilots.

The Soviet government has insisted the American plane crashed and burned after it was intercepted and taken under escort by the Russian fighters. It flatly denied the transport was fired upon.

State Department documents released with the transcript showed that Mikoyan stuck to this story during his visit to the U.S. last month. When he was questioned about the incident by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Jan. 16, the documents said, Mikoyan "denied the plane had been shot down, asserting that it had crashed."

The department said Mikoyan "expressed the Soviet government's lack of understanding and irritation over the U.S. government's insistence concerning this case."

The department also quoted Mikoyan as telling Vice President Richard M. Nixon Jan. 7 that "the Soviet government had given all the information it had" on the plane.

He also told Nixon, the department said, that "there was no sense in their (the Russians') trying to hide anything and (that he) wondered why the Americans were so suspicious about this."

The department's documents showed that Mikoyan's statements came about two

Ike Asks for U.S. Laws Against Segregation Mobs

Submits Program For Civil Rights

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Eisenhower asked a divided Congress Thursday to make it a federal crime to use force or mob violence to block racial integration of schools under court orders.

The President also asked the legislators to strengthen the FBI's hand in dealing with school and church bombing cases and to authorize federal funds and advice to help states make the change to desegregated schools.

These were key proposals in a seven-point civil rights program submitted to Congress in a brief, special message. The Justice, Welfare and Labor Departments immediately followed through with the dispatch of seven bills to the capitol.

This is what the program would do:

1. Make it a federal crime to use force or threats of force to obstruct court orders in school desegregation cases. The punishment would be up to two years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Eisenhower said this would plug a gap in present law and provide "a valuable enforcement power on which the government could rely to deter mob violence and such other acts of violence or threats."

2. Make it a federal offense — with a maximum penalty of $5,000 fine and five years imprisonment — for anyone who bombs or tries to bomb schools, churches or similar institutions to flee across state lines. This would open the way for the FBI to step in.

3. Provide financial and technical help to make it easier for states and communities to make the changeover from segregated to integrated schools. The cost for the next two fiscal years is estimated at $4,895,000. The bulk of the money would have to be matched by the states. Grants would pay for extra professional people — supervisors and administrators, but no teachers.

4. Let the government educate children of military personnel who had been attending public schools that were closed in integration disputes. The government would be able to take over schools built with the aid of federal funds, although it would pay rental on them.

5. Require preservation of federal election records and authorize the Justice Department to inspect them. Eisenhower said a gap in the 1957 civil rights law, designed to safeguard voting privileges, needs to be plugged because some state and local authorities have refused to allow inspection of voting records.

6. Give a basis of law rather than presidential executive order to a government committee which polices non-discrimination clauses in government contracts. The committee, now headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, would become a commission with somewhat broader powers, such as authority to hold hearings.

7. Continue the Civil Rights Commission for two years beyond its September expiration date.

Reaction was cut to a familiar pattern — the Eisenhower civil rights program either goes too far or not far enough, depending on whether a Southern segregationist or a Northern liberal is talking. And then there are the in-betweens, largely staunch administration supporters from GOP ranks, who said it was just right.

Southerners called the program offensive, a form of bribery and an intrusion into a field where the federal government has no business. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), a leader of Senate Southerners, said Eisenhower offers political legislation.

He predicted significantly that "a vigorous effort will be made to amend any civil rights bill that reaches the floor with punitive provisions requesting that the South be patrolled, policed and punished."

From the opposite camp, Chairman Emanuel Celler (D., N.Y.), of the House Judiciary Committee, commented:

"An empty gesture so far as the schools are concerned. It provides a snail's pace for enforcement."

Various Republicans called the program temperate and moderate, as Eisenhower himself did in advance of its submission.

From State Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas came assurances the Eisenhower suggestions "will be considered on their merits by fair-minded men seeking to resolve — rather than sharpen — the conflicts within our country."

Fans Rush Diana Dors At Funeral

LONDON — (UPI) — The funeral of Dennis Hamilton, estranged husband of Actress Diana Dors, was turned into bedlam by fans who crawled over church pews and demanded autographs from the mourning film star.

Four photographers who entered St. James Roman Catholic Church while a requiem mass was being said were ordered out. They took flash pictures of Miss Dors as she knelt praying and sobbing.

When the mass was over, Miss Dors tried to leave the church, but scores of women, many of them clutching children, jostled around and poked autograph books and pencils at her. One woman grabbed Miss Dors by the arm.

Miss Dors attended the funeral mass alone. She wore a mink coat, black scarf and dark glasses. She sat opposite Hamilton's family.

Hamilton, 34, died Saturday of a heart ailment. Miss Dors, separated from him for more than a year, was in the U.S. at the time.

A 'Great' Season, With Some 'Ifs'

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

The winter tourist season hit its full stride Thursday and found itself in better shape than last year in many respects.

But so far there's no positive pattern that can label the 1958-59 season as either a whopping success or a dismal failure. It seems to be somewhere in between those extremes.

TOURIST TRAVEL into the area is heavier than last year, but betting and attendance at Hialeah—usually a prime economic indicator—is off.

HOTELS AND MOTELS on Miami Beach appear to be enjoying a healthy business, but garbage collections are down six per cent from last year at this time.

THE BEACHES have been crowded on these sunny days and dog track business is up, but if any really big spenders are here they are few.

THE BIG NIGHT CLUBS have good crowds at show time, but generally the owners are complaining that business could be a lot better.

* * *

Many Favorable Factors

"There's every reason for this to be a good season," said Miami Beach's publicity chief, Hank Meyer. "The weather, the stock market and national economic conditions are all on our side."

Last year was the season of the big cold that kept tourists away in droves and led to a number of hotel bankruptcies. But new hotels opened this year, following a familiar pattern, causing many hotelmen to shake their heads and say, "The Beach is overbuilt."

Beach merchants are reported to be doing "not too well," another indication of what cautious spenders are the current crop of tourists.

In the first 16 days of Hialeah's season, attendance was off 6.7 per cent and wagering off 3.5 per cent.

House OKs Extension Of Draft

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House approved one of the key points in President Eisenhower's military program Thursday by overwhelmingly passing a bill to extend the draft for four years beyond June 30.

By voice vote, it sent the measure to the Senate after rejecting an attempt by Rep. Leonard G. Wolf (D., Iowa) and several other members to limit the extension to two years.

Wolf argued that a two-year extension would let Congress maintain its power over military conscription while it sought a way to maintain U.S. military strength without a draft.

Wolf's two-year amendment was opposed by Democratic and Republican House leaders alike. Democratic Leader John W. McCormack, (Massachusetts) said approval of the proposal would be viewed abroad as a sign of weakness on the part of the U.S.

Besides extending the draft for another four years, the measure would continue the authority of the armed forces to induct physicians and dentists and would extend the Dependents' Assistance Act for the same period.

months after Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, gave Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov a full transcript of the intercepted radio conversation among the Russian pilots.

In addition to this transcript, the department Thursday handed newsmen photostats and translations of two articles — dated Sept. 19 and 10 — for "Soviet Aviation," official Russian air force newspaper.

The second described the "attack" on the "enemy" transport plane and identified four Russians who took part — Fighter Pilot Officers Lopatkov and Gavrilov and Senior Lieutenants Kucheryaev and Ivanov.

It also reported than an unidentified Soviet general met the pilots after the attack and "shook their hands warmly and thanked them for their successful execution of the mission."

The first article carried photographs of two Russian ground crew members shown "tracking the target" on what appeared to be a radar screen.

The department documents said that when Murphy insisted on Nov. 13 that Menshikov listen to a tape recording of the conversation among the Soviet fighter pilots, Menshikov refused.

He maintained "he was not competent to assess it from a technical point of view," the document said.

He still refused after Gen. Mikhail N. Kostiouk, Soviet air attache and an aviation expert, was invited to listen with him.

But finally, at Murphy's insistence, the department said, Menshikov accepted a transcript of the conversation in Russian and promised to send his government full details of Murphy's protest over the plane incident.

Murphy told Menshikov bluntly that Soviet fighters had shot down the American plane "without regard to the rules of civilized international practice," the department said.

Murphy also "emphasized that some or our men had been killed and that there were certain rules of conduct in the civilized world, and that the U. S. government hoped the desired information regarding the 11 missing men would be promptly forthcoming."

BEFORE ME is the most fantastic scheme of modern times. Automatic Remote Systems Inc. is ready to open our defunct movie theaters, pay our taxes and build our roads, all six-lane.

This is to be done with off-track betting. They've got it all figured: 76 theaters, each seating 1,000 patrons means 9,576,000 patrons during the 126 days of Florida horse racing. Each patron's to bet $80 a day, making $766,080,000 total, with the state getting $49,795,200. The tracks are to get $65,116,800, purses will be increased, dog tracks will come into the theaters at night, and of course we'll go year 'round, with northern tracks to help us.

They're even figuring $1 admission per bettor per day. The plan is on the desk of Gov. LeRoy Collins (unless he has done something else with it) and it's in the hands of our legislators.

If this goes in effect the residents of Florida will be so busy betting that no work will be done, business will fold, tracks will go broke and we'll be right back to 1920.

$20 Million Research Plant Set

Center Planned On Isle of Pines

By BERT COLLIER
Herald Staff Writer

Establishment of a 20-million-dollar research center on the Isle of Pines off Cuba, financed by Americans and headed in its initial stages by a Miami Beach physician, was announced Thursday in Miami.

"It will be like nothing else in the world," said Dr. Rudolph T. Wagner, Miami Beach, who will be visiting head of the research institute.

Watson and Deutschman, Miami architectural firm, have been commissioned with Dr. Carlos Perez, widely known Colombian architect, to prepare the plans. Work is well advanced.

Construction is expected to start as soon as conditions in Cuba stabilize after the recent government unheaval, backers said. The isle belongs to Cuba.

H. Samuel Kruse, partner in the Watson and Deutschman firm, said the project is expected to be extended within a two-year period to embrace a 50-million-dollar program intended to make the Isle of Pines "the most advanced and progressive center of its kind in the world."

The unique enterprise will have an international staff dedicated to pure research in every field of medicine. It will also call on allied fields of physics, mathematics, electronics and engineering to solve some of the complex problems. It will resemble in its program and approach the famous Institute of Advanced Studies at Princeton University.

Dr. Wagner said plans have been five years in the making and are financed chiefly by a group of wealthy Americans interested in this unusual approach to medical problems.

Almost three years have been spent in the search of a site, with most of the Western Hemisphere being under consideration. The Isle of Pines was chosen because of its climate and its proximity to medical skills of all kinds.

"We were interested in a good working climate that would attract scientists from various parts of the world," said Dr. Wagner. "The research program will be so vast that its prospects are practically unlimited."

A handful of picked men—all trained scientists — have been picked as a nucleus for a staff that eventually will include members from many countries. There will be no political or national affiliations.

For the early stages of the program, Dr. Wagner will serve as actual head, while continuing his Miami Beach practice. Later a director will be selected to guide the work of the staff and the visiting consultants. Dr. Wagner will then continue as visiting head, as consulting director of cardiovascular research and consultant cardiologist.

Key West Manager Says

Power Rate 'Compares' To Other Florida Cities

$11.03 Bill Less Than Average

By HARRY CAICEDO
Key West Bureau Chief

KEY WEST—Just how high are electricity rates in Key West?

Phil O'Connell, state's attorney charged in his answer to the city's improvement bond validation lawsuit that they are "among the highest in the U.S."

And the City Commission, on the basis of that official declaration, has called for a public hearing on the 1959-60 budget of the City Electric System — an unprecedented action.

Merville E. Rosam, manager of the System, told The Herald Tuesday that Key West's rates compare "favorably" with other Florida cities.

According to a bulletin issued by the Federal Power Commission, only 21 Florida communities out of 121 listed send smaller light bills to their customers than the Key West utility.

The typical residential electric bill for a 500 kilowatt-hour monthly consumption is $11.03 in Key West, the bulletin shows.

Cities of comparable size and their charges for the same amounts of power are listed as:

Gainesville, $14.60; Daytona Beach, Coral Gables and Hollywood, $12.80 each; Lakeland, $12.20. Miami's rate averages $12.80.

The 21 communities which are cheaper than Key West, averaged about $10.65 for the 500 KWH. These are Auburndale, Brent, Brownsville, Chipley, Crestview, Dade City, DeFuniak Springs, Ferry Pass, Fort Walton Beach, Jacksonville, Lynn Haven, Marianna, Niceville, Panama City, Pensacola, Plant City, Springfield, Tampa, Valparaiso, Winter Haven and Warrington.

Electric power in Florida is almost exclusively produced with fuel-oil or bunker "C." This accounts in part for the state having one of the highest electricity rate schedules in the country.

Only eight other states have higher rates than Florida. The Florida average bill for 250 KWH is $8.21. The national average is $7.30.

Ocala power users get the biggest bills of any town in the state — $14.50 for 500 KWH a month. Average residential consumption in a town the size of Key West runs between 250 KWH and 500 KWH.

The country's cheapest rates are found in regions rich in hydroelectric power. In Washington state, for example, the highest average bill for 500 KWH is $7.32, the lowest $3.20.

Well yes, in more ways than the obvious. This sad-eyed mule is quite curious as to what happened to her master. She was wandering around 207th St. and S. Caldwell's Side-Swapping Riles Miccosukee Faction

By STEPHEN TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

Leaders of the Miccosukee branch of the Seminole Indian tribe were out Thursday after the scalp of former Gov. Millard Caldwell.

They charged that the ex-governor, who was one of their attorneys for a time in their efforts to get title to 200,000 acres of Everglades land, now is violating a verbal agreement with them and is trying to "change sides."

The charge is based on a petition filed by Caldwell's law firm in Tallahassee asking the court to determine whether he now can represent the opposing, or Muskogee faction of the tribe, who seek a huge cash settlement.

Caldwell, out of Tallahassee on a speech making engagement in the Tampa Bay area, could not be reached for comment.

The Miccosukee faction, sometimes known as the "Trail Seminoles," wants the land. Caldwell, in a petition filed in Leon County (Tallahassee) Circuit Court, asks if he can withdraw from that case and represent the Muskogee, or "Reservation" Indians.

The reservation faction wants cash, lots of it. The sum of $50,000,000 has been asked from the federal government by Attorney John O. Jackson of Jacksonville, with whom the former governor now seeks to associate himself.

Silver would not discuss the recent development, saying it would be "improper" to do so while the case is in court. He referred questions to Tiger. The phone at Tiger's camp was reported to be "temporarily disconnected." His wife, reached in Miami, talked readily.

The petition asks the state to "allow for reasonable attorney fees" in the settlement—a line that drew sharp and adverse criticism from Gov. LeRoy Collins.

Cash payments asked by the Jacksonville attorney for the other faction is based on an old treaty, but one which he contends was legal and ratified by the U.S. Senate. This one gave the Seminoles a huge slice of Florida, northward from Lake Okeechobee through the Ocala region.

KEY WEST—Don't be alarmed by a siren blast from the Naval Base tonight. It signals the beginning of the "Mothers' March of Dimes."

Some 200 volunteer workers will canvas house-to-house between 7 and 8 p.m. from Key West to Big Pine Key for donations in the local drive.

Co-chairmen of the operation in Key West are Mrs. Howard Wilson and Mrs. George Cucry. Mrs. Wesley Gibson heads the drive on Big Pine Key.

March of Dimes officials are hopeful of topping the $7,000 mark scored last year. The big climax of the drive comes Monday at a gala March of Dimes Ball at the Key West Yacht Club.

Food, drinks, entertainment and dancing are being offered at the price of $15 a couple. Organizers of the ball emphasized that everything for the evening was included in the $15 ticket.

For Birthday

'Collect' Call Man Freed

Herald Bureau

NAPLES—A birthday present — his freedom — was given a 72-year old Negro Thursday in City Court by Judge Harold S. Smith. The man was charged with being drunk and disorderly, tongue-lashing a phone operator and telling police he was calling "long distance collect and there's nothing you can do about it."

The defendant, John Broxton, a restaurant cook, pleaded guilty but declared he had voluntarily been treated at Chattahoochee for alcoholism and was unaware of what he had done when drunk.

"It's my birthday today your honor," said Broxton. "In 40 years of public service I've never given any trouble. I'd like to retire to my home in Graceville."

"Go," said the judge, with a wave of his hand, "and sin no more."

New Delay Forecast For Lodge

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES — Restarting the stalled $1.5 million Tahitian Lodge project appeared Thursday as likely to be delayed at least another month. The job was shut down six months ago, idling several hundred carpenters and laborers.

The project is one by Dudley R. Gallahue, Indianapolis insurance millionaire, calling for a large motel and several nearby apartments on the Tamiami Trail.

Handley W. Caraway, Hollywood contractor who built Gallahue's home and the Howard Johnson restaurant adjoining the Tahitaian Lodge, was supposed to resume the lodge project Feb. 2 but dropped the job this week.

Archie Turner, vice president of Gallahue's realty firm, said Caraway had been recalled to the East Coast to handle a 100-home low-cost housing project Gallahue has there. Turner denied published reports quoting him as saying Caraway had been "unable to arrange a contractor's bond."

Local contractors claimed Caraway dropped the job because it was too difficult to figure the exact amount of work to be done and what portions of the work would have to be replaced due to deterioration.

Bids by Naples contractors will be received Feb. 23 and it is understood three firms, Wiggs & Maale, Hugh Bremerman and Sons, and R. W. Wood will enter offers. Work may resume March 1.

Gallahue, recipient of the Chamber of Commerce "man of the year award" in 1958, has bought up almost all large commercial tracts still vacant in Naples. His holdings now are estimated to lie between $5 and $8 million.

In addition to the Tahitian Lodge, his first project, he has announced plans for a shopping center including a Public Market to begin May 1, and has offered to build the county a $65,000 branch courthouse. The courthouse would be paid for through rent; its site would be free at the end of 10 or 20 years although Gallahue "reserved the right" to give it sooner.

The lodge was shut down after a strike of carpenters protesting working hours and then a financing requirement that sewer facilities be installed by the city. The sewers are now ready.

The city is also planning a $550,000 refunding revenue issue based on cigaret taxes which will provide a sewer extension to the main business are and the Gallahue shopping center.

Vote Registrars Show 'Poor' Form

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES—They're registering voters on a yellow pad at the Branch Courthouse here instead of the regular forms. There's a very good reason, too—no forms.

Mrs. Eleanor Mullins, deputy clerk, said that with circulation of the county seat petitions several people have come in to register. Unfortunately no regular forms were on hand here or in Everglades although they are being ordered, reported Mrs. L. D. Iles, deputy supervisor of registration.

"To help out these people who come in good faith," said Mrs. Mullins, "I've had them sign this pad and give their addresses. I don't know if its legal but it's the best we can do till the forms arrive."

A hundred registration blanks are being sent down from adjoining Lee County and should be available today.

Naples JC's Cite Rogers For Petition

NAPLES — Jaycees named President John Rogers as "Jaycee of the Month" for his work in circulating the petition calling for an election on movement of the county seat. The petition gathered 2,308 names and has been given the County Commission for checking.

County Board members have decided to request a declaratory court decree on exactly what qualifications are required for petition signers. The matter is unclear in the state law.

Members of the board will also pass on any names rejected from the petitions. More names are still being sought for presentation next week.

In another Jaycee activity, the lagging minstrel show, members were told only half enough persons have turned out and the show is now at a "do or die" point.

Feb. 18 was set as the date for a "Wives' Night" dinner.

Collier Tax Lure Offered Roy Rogers

Herald Bureau

EVERGLADES — If Roy Rogers wants to come to Collier County and establish a "frontier town" then the County Commission wants to help him.

Chairman Winford Janes on Tuesday obtained board approval of a telegram to the "king of the cowboys" urging him to consider locating his proposed tourist attraction at or near Naples.

The wire said Janes would recommend "tax concessions" to the commissioners if the proposal were carried out.

Chairman Janes did not amplify what concessions would be made. The Naples Chamber of Commerce has begun a drive to have local civic groups urge Rogers to consider the Naples area for his project because Naples is on the main West Coast highway, the Tamiami Trail, and the county is a cattle raising area.

Brevard Road Work to Start

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The Road Department said Tuesday work will begin Feb. 14 on rebuilding State Road 3 in Brevard County.

Tamiami Smashup Kills Pair

A service station attendant at Monroe Station in Collier County and another Seminole Indian were killed early Thursday in a single-car smashup 15 miles west of Miami on the Tamiami Trail.

Duke Billy, 18, and James Chestnut, 34, of Miami, the driver, became Dade County's 25th and 26th traffic fatalities this year when their auto skidded several hundred feet and hit a tree.

The victims were returning to Miami after visiting Billy's brother, Bobby Billy, at the John Pool Camp on the Trail. The accident occurred between 2 and 3 a.m., according to Highway Patrolman Charles W. Johnson.

Trooper Johnson estimated the car's speed at about 70 mph and said it swerved off the wrong side of the road, rolled over several times and sideswiped a tree. The 1954 Ford sedan was demolished.

Chestnut was a driver for Maule Industries in Miami. Neither man was married, according to Bobby Tiger, a Seminole who knew the victims.

They will be buried while fellow tribesmen chant an Indian ritual, according to a spokesman for Reed-Gautier Funeral Home in Miami. Arrangements were not announced.

$575 Stolen As Visitors Take Stroll

Herald Bureau

NAPLES — Robbery of $575 in cash from a locked room in a luxury apartment was reported Thursday to city police according to Chief S. B. Caruthers.

Lt. Sam Bass, investigating officer, said the victims were Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Neuer, 5159 Mercier St., Kansas City, Mo., guests at the Beachcomber.

Bass said the money was locked in the room while the Neuers went for a walk and the loss was not discovered until they were ready to check out.

The lock on the room apparently was untouched. About $400 of the money was in one hundred dollar bills.

Museum Opens Feb. 9

MARATHON — The Southeast Museum of the North American Indian will present its first exhibition to the public Monday, Feb. 9.

The first showing will contain representative examples from the museum collection, which number more than 5,000 objects used by the Indians in war, tribal ceremonies and everyday life.

The building will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays, 1-6 p.m. Sundays and holidays.

USS Huse Host to Mariners

8 Lasses Visit Destroyer Escort

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — Eight Mariner Girl Scouts from Homestead got a first-hand glimpse of shipboard life on the destroyer escort USS Huse based here.

They toured the ship from stem to stern, inspected the armament, peered into compasses, checked the signal flags and lights and other navigational equipment.

In the ship's messhall, the young Scouts, from Mariner Scout Ship 686, were treated to ice cream — and a demonstration on how to cook at sea.

They were accompanied by their scout ship's skipper, Mrs. Donald Gann of Perrine.

Sounds in Night

KEY WEST — The midnight caller from 311 William St. excitedly reported to the Police desk sergeant that someone was screaming for "help" next door.

Within two minutes, three squad cars rushed to the scene. Officers crowed into the house at 309 William St.

They found a television set loudly tuned in to a lively melodrama with frequent cries of "help, help."

Two Acquitted

KEY WEST — Two men of a trio charged with breaking and entering and grand larceny in the burglary of the Brown Derby bar here last October were found not guilty Thursday in Criminal Court.

The third man, Joseph R. Cook, 33, 1417 Leon St., pleaded to the two charges and was not tried. Judge Thomas Caro postponed sentencing Cook.

Two separate six-men juries returned the not guilty verdicts on Woodrow C. Niles, 32, 1401½ Newton St. and Carl S. F. Fabel, 36, 800 Caroline St. They were tried separately.

The three were accused of breaking into the Brown Derby Bar, 601, Whitehead St., on Oct. 26 and taking cash, jewelry and liquor valued at several hundred dollars.

Henderson served as base commander in Key West from Jan. 1955 to May, 1956. The admiral and his staff expect to be here on this visit until Saturday.

Play Equipment Sought For New Day Nursery

Herald Bureau

NAPLES — Toys and play equipment of all kinds, indoor and outdoor, suitable for children age two to five, is needed for the new day nursery for children of working Negro mothers.

Mrs. Eleanor DeWilde, of the Naples Welfare Association, said donations may be left at the recreation center in the old post office behind Carver School. Small toys in useable condition and swings or slides would be welcome.

Mothers wishing to register children for the nursery are asked to sign up at the center at 8 p.m. Feb. 12 for the opening Feb. 16.

Mrs. DeWilde reported loan of a refrigerator for the nursery from the Macedonia Missionary Baptist Church across the street. Lunches will be served the children whose mothers will provide some food and pay a fee for the service.

Tony Curtis and She Refuse a Script a Day, Says Janet Leigh

LYNN FONTANNE and Alfred Lunt, Ozzie and Harriet, Mel Ferrer and Audrey Hepburn, Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy and the other husband-and-wife acting teams can breath easier now. The warm, pursuing breath of Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis is no threat to their standing. And that, in spite of their current success as a romantic team in "The Perfect Furlough," now showing at the Carib, Miami and Miracle Theaters.

Resting at the Saxony Hotel after a flight from Key West where she is acting only as an interested bystander while Tony plies his thespic art in "Operation Petticoat" opposite Cary Grant, Mrs. Curtis — Janet Leigh that is — says that there is no intention of making it a professional thing.

"I suppose we turn down a script a day," she says of the teaming offers. "We have made four films together — 'Houdini,' 'Black Shield of Falmouth,' 'The Viking' and the current 'The Perfect Furlough' — each about a year or a year-and-a-half apart."

But when Janet makes a movie with Tony she lives the part to a degree that goes beyond the requirements of the most advanced disciple of Stanislavsky. The script of "The Perfect Furlough," for instance, concerns a rumor that Miss Leigh is pregnant. You guessed it — she gave birth to her latest child nine months after the picture was filmed! This teaming realism can go too far!

Wonder if Leonard Levinson will mind if we work on a story called "The Plot to Shave Castro." He has a similar title about Jerry Colonna in the anniversary Variety mag.

Biggest laugh out of Ben Novack during the Jack Benny opener at the Fontainebleau Hotel La Ronde Room was when Benny, in a penny-pincher characterization, looked about the lavish premises and said: "I'll be, a hotel like this could cost all of $70,000."

Rumor has it that only a few hours earlier Novack and his associates had been handed an $18,000,000 offer by a hotel chain for Benny's $70,000 hotel." . . . Hotel above the 90's" on theocean is changing hands for something like $2,000,000—and we don't mean Russian rubles. And you'd need $1,000,000 cash to swing a deal on a well-known hostelry in the 30's.

Drummer Rides Bicycle Seat

"KNOW HOW Chris Columbo gets all that bounce when he's drumming away at Ciro's Lounge? He doesn't sit on a regular chair — he uses a saddle-type bicycle seat." A new departure? . . . "Tubby Boots, 365-pound comedy star of the Gaiety, gets big laughs when he tells the audience he never "grew up' — he 'blew up." Tubby jokes good like a comedian should.

In what Louis Fiskin tells us will be a world premiere, the Lincoln Theater will offer "The Black Orchid" on Wednesday night as a benefit for the Greater Miami Heart Fund. Eugene Weiss is chairman for the sponsoring committee. The film will open at the Flamingo, Trail and Loew's 170th St. Theaters Thursday.

There are people in Cuba who tell you they've seen a check for $100,000 allegedly given by Errol Flynn to indicate good intentions in the actor's intent to film a movie in which he would play 32-year-old Fidel Castro! It will be a character role, no doubt . . . Elana, whose last name is Nelson and not something like Tokaruaimatauaia as you'd expect from a specialist in Hawaiian music and dancing is at the Vagabond club currently. And that lengthy monicker we used for comparative purposes is the legit name of a movie actor known on screen as Adam West! We don't blame him.

Britches Bardot has quit the Ringling Circus after four seasons of performing with an act that featured dogs, ponies and a llama. She's now working at the Admiral Vee lounge — but not with the animals, the race-horse Admiral Vee, for whom the spot is named won't permit it. Sa Britches is doing a rope act.

Riot Room's Lynn Taylor almost started a riot and almost got into a Miss America preliminary as Miss Greater Philadelphia some years ago. But sponsors found out she was only 15 . . .Guess Betty Grable is a star's star. She had Paul Whiteman, Dioso Costello and Keefe Braselle watching her on a recent night at the Latin Quarter.

How Close Whirling Blades Came to Driver Andrew Bird

He Just Wanted to See 'Em Landing

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Seventy-year-old Andrew Bird, who just "wanted to watch the planes come in," had a brush with one of them while driving his car on the runway at Cleveland Hopkins Airport.

The aircraft, a huge four-engine Air Force Hercules C130A, whacked six neatly spaced gashes in the steel top of the car, inches above Bird's head.

Bird had arrived early to pick up his wife, Lida, who works for a catering firm. Instead of going to the airport parking lot he headed down a ramp leading to the field.

Apparently becoming confused, Bird drove the length of a 6,000-foot runway, only to find his way blocked by a fence.

"How do I get out of here?" he asked a startled guard in a shack.

"How did you get on it?" gasped the guard.

While the guard alerted the control tower, Bird was already on his way back along the runway, where the C130A had been warming up.

Bird explained later that he did not see the Air Force plane but had seen another plane coming in for a landing. Naturally, he stepped on the gas.

"My God, he's going to hit us!" cried Capt. William M. Bailey Jr. inside the plane.

Propeller tips ripped through the car, which continued on past the plane, turned around again and stopped near the C130A.

"I was afraid to look in the car," said Capt. Bailey, "for fear we'd find a decapitated body."

Bird, calm and uninjured, said it took him many minutes to realize what had happened.

Pending a detailed examination of the turbo-prop plane, Air Force officials said damage could run anywhere from $35,000 to $170,000.

Bird was released after a search of the city code turned up little that might pertain to driving on an airport runway.

Tempers Flare Over Spending

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Battle of the Budget flared on the Senate floor Thursday with Sen. Barry Goldwater (R., Ariz.), branding Democrats as "wild-riding spenders" and Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson shouting a denial.

Addressing GOP senators as "you Republicans," Johnson said "a lot of this talk about (President Eisenhower) balancing the budget is pure bunk."

Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson said, meanwhile, that the nation "could live with higher taxes" if it had to, and that the administration would ask for them "if there develop real requirements for additional revenue" for national defense.

Testifying before the Joint Congressional Economic Committee, Anderson said such a need has not arisen. He also indicated there is no likelihood of an early tax cut. He said tax relief must depend on the rate of the nation's economic growth, the degree of government spending, reduction of the federal debt and avoidance of inflation.

Anderson denied a suggestion by Committee Chairman Paul Douglas (D., Ill.), that he is "obsessed with inflation." He said he was concerned about it, not obsessed.

He said inflation may revive "if we do not finally close the budget gap."

On the Senate floor, Johnson said neither Democrats nor Republicans have "a monopoly on saving or spending." He said the last Congress, which also was controlled by the Democrats, cut $5,600,000,000 from Eisenhower's budget.

He also recalled that Eisenhower last year asked him to work to "add several hundred million dollars" for foreign aid. Johnson said he succeeded in doing so, but "I didn't get on television and say he (Eisenhower) is a spender."

"I defended his aid bill last year," Johnson shouted. "Who was the spender then?"

Debbie Reynolds Enters Hospital

U.S. Probes Case Of Yank in Cuba

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

The U.S. State Department opened an investigation Thursday into Cuban government claims that a "gentleman soldier" from Miami has confessed a plot to assassinate Fidel Castro.

National Police in Havana announced that Alan Robert Nye, formerly of 107 Calabria Ave., Coral Gables, admitted he was promised $100,000 by the forces of Fulgencio Batista if he killed the revolutionary hero.

Nye, described as "the type elderly ladies like," earlier denied from his Havana prison cell any implication in such a plot. He claimed he went to Cuba to help the rebels in their fight against Batista.

In Washington an official of the State Department told The Herald by telephone:

"We have received no confirmation of an alleged confession. Consular officials in Havana are now looking into it."

He added that the State Department is in touch with Nye to see that he is treated fairly."

According to Cuban police, the Batista plotters contacted Nye through Daniel Vasquez, a Cuban refugee who lives at 727 E. DiLido Dr., Miami Beach.

Vasquez and his wife, Marisol Alba, called the "Mata Hari of Cuba," rank high on the revolutionary government's list of traitors.

In Miami, neighbors and acquaintances of Nye offered their opinions of his personality.

Mrs. L. L. Gardner, who lived next door to him, called him "a perfect gentleman . . . a nice personality; he didn't seem to be that type of fellow."

She said he was frequently visited by Cuban friends.

Mrs. Paul Mickler, who lives in the same apartment where Nye lived, declared:

"I can't believe it. He didn't look very strong for that sort of thing."

Officials of Nye's former employer, the American Airmotive Corp, said he was dismissed from the firm last October after working there 10 months.

Reported an executive:

"He was just another aircraft salesman that come and go. He left here with mutual consent. We were dissatisfied with his work and he seemed unhappy, like he wanted something of a bigger scope."

He added that Nye frequently made trips to Latin American countries for the air cargo company.

Tall, slender and blond, Nye was reported to be a talented painter and pianist.

Havana police gave his age as 31. Neighbors in Coral Gables, however, said he told them he was 40.

In Whiting, Ind., his mother, Mrs. Helen Lynch, said, "I'm positive my son is innocent."

FBI Hunts Milkman, Girl, 14

MADISON TOWNSHIP, N.J. —(AP)—The FBI has been called in to help locate a 38-year-old milkman who is believed to have run off with the 14-year-old daughter of a friend, state police said.

They said Ernest Corrao, father of three, disappeared Jan. 21 alone with Barbara Plaisted.

State police at the nearby New Brunswick Barracks called in the FBI after a 12-state police teletype alarm had failed to turn up any trace of the two.

They said Corrao and the girl are believed to have gone to either Arizona, California or Florida.

Corrao struck up a friendship with the blonde, blue-eyed girl during the eight-month period he delivered milk to her home, police said. The families have been friends for three years.

Frequently, police said, Corrao would drive Barbara and her nine-year-old sister, Sharon, to school.

On Jan. 21, according to the state police, he picked up the girls, dropped off Sharon and disappeared with Barbara.

Corrao has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. His wife has filed additional charges of desertion and non-support.

'Overwhelming' Virus Attack Fatal to Hollywood Boy Scout

By RICK TUTTLE
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD—An 11-year-old sports-loving Boy Scout died at Memorial Hospital Wednesday of a deadly virus infection similar to the swift pneumonia attacks that claimed several lives here last year.

Michael A. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Phillips, 2515 Harding St., died three days after being admitted.

The disease is not contagious, a doctor said.

"The virus strikes so fast there was nothing we could do to save him," the boy's doctor said. "It is an overwhelming infection for which there is no cure as yet."

Dr. Jack Mickley, county medical examiner, said final reports on the case would not be ready for two days.

"I know the virus affected his brain and lungs," he said. "We have three or four cases similar to this every year."

"He was active in every kind of sport," Michael's father said.

"A week before he got sick he was out with the Scouts," Phillips said. "It was cold and his feet got wet but it wasn't until last Friday that he complained of feeling sick."

The Phillips thought he had a cold.

Services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. John's Episcopal Church. Burial will be at Hollywood Memorial Gardens with Wadlington Funeral Home in charge.

In addition to his parents, Michael is survived by a brother, Charles; a sister, Mary; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Farquhar of Hollywood.

U.S. Cites Denial of Attack

Mikoyan Branded Liar About Plane

Come, See Us, Nikita Invites Ike

President Mum For the Present

MOSCOW — (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Thursday publicly invited President Eisenhower to come to the Soviet Union, bring "anyone he likes" and go anywhere he wants.

(The White House had no immediate comment on the invitation. Press Secretary James Hagerty said no announcement will be made until the President receives the transcript of the invitation through regular channels.)

The invitation climaxed a long final speech to the 21st Congress of the Communist Party in which Khrushchev professed the Soviet Union wants nothing but to end the cold war and compete against the West on economic grounds, in peace.

But he remained adamant on two points which have been big stumbling blocks in East-West relations.

He said the Soviet Union will "never agree" to permit foreign inspectors on Soviet soil even though the U. S. and Britain are willing to accept them on their territory.

Secondly, he said Russia never will accept "liquidation" of Communist East Germany in any plan to reunite Germany.

It was announced in London and Moscow simultaneously a few hours after Khrushchev spoke that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will fly to Moscow Feb. 21 for talks on these and other cold war subjects.

Khrushchev decried the "discrimination" that keeps him from visiting the U. S. but he said he will not insist on going there in return for Eisenhower coming to Russia.

"Should the President decide to come to our country he would be met with sincere hospitality both by our government and the Soviet people," Khrushchev said.

"A visit of this kind would undoubtedly be useful to both countries and would meet with the approval of the peoples of the U. S. A. and the Soviet Union."

He said Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's trip to the U. S. in January "provided the reasons to hope for a further thaw in relations between our countries."

Khrushchev, who opened the congress of 1,296 voting delegates a week ago Tuesday with a six-hour speech, drew ovation after ovation with his closing speech Thursday.

The delegates voted unanimous approval of his report, his policies and of his seven-year design to catch up with the U. S. economically.

Khrushchev said Soviet claims to mass production of intercontinental ballistic missiles are "not just rhetoric."

But he insisted this is just stating the facts, not making a threat, and that the Soviet Union wants an end to the cold war.

Addressing a remark to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, he said, "We are even prepared to admit your victory in this war that is unwanted by the peoples . . . but end it quickly."

'I'll Finish Him,' Said Soviet Pilot To His Partners

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The tape recording of radio conversations between the Soviet fighter pilots, accused of shooting down an unarmed U.S. transport plane, was filled with chit-chat about altitudes and positions. But the key portions dwelt on an attack.

They went like this:

"582, I see the target, to the right.

"I see the target, a large one . . .

"I am 201, I see the target, attack!
"I am 201, I am attacking the target . . .

"Attack, attack, 218, attack . . .

"The target is a transport, four-engined . . .
"Roger. 201, I am attacking the target . . .
"The target is burning.
"There's a hit . . .
"The target is burning, 582 . . .
"The target is banking . . .

"Open fire . . .

"218, are you attacking?
"Yes, yes . . .
"The target is burning . . .

"The tail assembly is falling off the target . . .

"Look!
"Oh?

"Look at him, he will not get away, he is already falling.

"Yes, he is falling, I will finish him off, boys, I will finish him off on the run.

"The target has lost control, it is going down . . .

"The target is falling . . .

"Yes . . . form up, go home.

"After my third pass, the target started burning . . .

"Well, let's form up, follow. Let's go . . ."

From study of the recorded conversations, Pentagon and State Department experts concluded that five Soviet jet fighters "scrambled" aloft to attack the U. S. transport and that four made passes at it. The fifth apparently arrived too late to take part in the attack.

From the recording, the Soviet aircraft numbers were 577, 582, 583, 201, and 218.

It appeared that 577 was a late arrival. At one point the transcript records a message to 577 to this effect: "Go home, why are you fooling around there some place."

Happiest Tax Form Filler-Outer in U.S.
. . . gleeful Mark Perks, held by mother

He Comes Out Ahead On the Income Tax

DETROIT —(AP)— Just because you're only nine months old don't think you can flee the country and avoid paying income tax.

Ask little Mark Perks. He was nabbed by the Internal Revenue Service on the eve of his departure for England.

But the agents let him go without paying a cent. He even came out 25 cents to the good.

Mark accompanied his mother, Mrs. Phyllis Jean Perks, to the Federal Building. Mrs. Perks, an American by birth, is leaving Detroit to return to England to live. Her husband, Peter, a British engineer, already is working in Birmingham.

Mrs. Perks was told that as a U.S. citizen she needed no tax clearance.

But, said the agents, Mark does. He is a British citizen.

So a form was duly filled out. After studying the situation, the agent waived the signature, patted Mark on the head and gave him a quarter.

Mark left, clutching the quarter, his passport — and his income tax clearance.

Plays Tape To Prove Jet Attack

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The U.S. offered dramatic proof Thursday that Russian fighter planes deliberately shot down an unarmed American transport plane last September. It practically accused Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan of lying about the incident.

Seventeen Americans were aboard the four-engine transport. Russia returned only six bodies, saying it had no information about the 11 other men aboard.

The State Department to back up its charges, released a transcript of what it said was an intercepted radio conversation among Soviet fighter pilots who attacked the C130 transport over Soviet Armenia near the Russian-Turkish border Sept. 2.

The English translation quoted the Red pilots as saying:

"I am attacking the target . . . There's a hit . . . The target is falling . . . The tail assembly is falliing off . . . He will not get away, he is already falling . . . I will finish him off boys."

Four of the six bodies returned by the Russians were identified. The other two, whose identities still are not known, will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery here today with full military honors.

The State Department did not say how it intercepted the radio conversation among the Soviet pilots.

The Soviet government has insisted the American plane crashed and burned after it was intercepted and taken under escort by the Russian fighters. It flatly denied the transport was fired upon.

State Department documents released with the transcript showed that Mikoyan stuck to this story during his visit to the U.S. last month. When he was questioned about the incident by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Jan. 16, the documents said, Mikoyan "denied the plane had been shot down, asserting that it had crashed."

The department said Mikoyan "expressed the Soviet government's lack of understanding and irritation over the U.S. government's insistence concerning this case."

The department also quoted Mikoyan as telling Vice President Richard M. Nixon Jan. 7 that "the Soviet government had given all the information it had" on the plane.

He also told Nixon, the department said, that "there was no sense in their (the Russians') trying to hide anything and (that he) wondered why the Americans were so suspicious about this."

The department's documents showed that Mikoyan's statements came about two

Ike Asks for U.S. Laws Against Segregation Mobs

Submits Program For Civil Rights

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower asked a divided Congress Thursday to make it a federal crime to use force or mob violence to block racial integration of schools under court orders.

The President also asked the legislators to strengthen the FBI's hand in dealing with school and church bombing cases and to authorize federal funds and advice to help states make the change to desegregated schools.

These were key proposals in a seven-point civil rights program submitted to Congress in a brief, special message. The Justice, Welfare and Labor Departments immediately followed through with the dispatch of seven bills to the capitol.

This is what the program would do:

1. Make it a federal crime to use force or threats of force to obstruct court orders in school desegregation cases. The punishment would be up to two years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Eisenhower said this would plug a gap in present law and provide "a valuable enforcement power on which the government could rely to deter mob violence and such other acts of violence or threats."

2. Make it a federal offense — with a maximum penalty of $5,000 fine and five years imprisonment — for anyone who bombs or tries to bomb schools, churches or similar institutions to flee across state lines. This would open the way for the FBI to step in.

3. Provide financial and technical help to make it easier for states and communities to make the changeover from segregated to integrated schools. The cost for the next two fiscal years is estimated at $4,895,000. The bulk of the money would have to be matched by the states. Grants would pay for extra professional people — supervisors and administrators, but no teachers.

4. Let the government educate children of military personnel who had been attending public schools that were closed in integration disputes. The government would be able to take over schools built with the aid of federal funds, although it would pay rental on them.

5. Require preservation of federal election records and authorize the Justice Department to inspect them. Eisenhower said a gap in the 1957 civil rights law, designed to safeguard voting privileges, needs to be plugged because some state and local authorities have refused to allow inspection of voting records.

6. Give a basis of law rather than presidential executive order to a government committee which polices non-discrimination clauses in government contracts. The committee, now headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, would become a commission with somewhat broader powers, such as authority to hold hearings.

7. Continue the Civil Rights Commission for two years beyond its September expiration date.

Reaction was cut to a familiar pattern — the Eisenhower civil rights program either goes too far or not far enough, depending on whether a Southern segregationist or a Northern liberal is talking. And then there are the in-betweens, largely staunch administration supporters from GOP ranks, who said it was just right.

Southerners called the program offensive, a form of bribery and an intrusion into a field where the federal government has no business. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), a leader of Senate Southerners, said Eisenhower offers political legislation.

He predicted significantly that "a vigorous effort will be made to amend any civil rights bill that reaches the floor with punitive provisions requesting that the South be patrolled, policed and punished."

From the opposite camp, Chairman Emanuel Celler (D., N.Y.), of the House Judiciary Committee, commented:

"An empty gesture so far as the schools are concerned. It provides a snail's pace for enforcement."

Various Republicans called the program temperate and moderate, as Eisenhower himself did in advance of its submission.

From State Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas came assurances the Eisenhower suggestions "will be considered on their merits by fair-minded men seeking to resolve — rather than sharpen — the conflicts within our country."

Fans Rush Diana Dors At Funeral

LONDON — (UPI) — The funeral of Dennis Hamilton, estranged husband of Actress Diana Dors, was turned into bedlam by fans who crawled over church pews and demanded autographs from the mourning film star.

Four photographers who entered St. James Roman Catholic Church while a requiem mass was being said were ordered out. They took flash pictures of Miss Dors as she knelt praying and sobbing.

When the mass was over, Miss Dors tried to leave the church, but scores of women, many of them clutching children, jostled around and poked autograph books and pencils at her. One woman grabbed Miss Dors by the arm.

Miss Dors attended the funeral mass alone. She wore a mink coat, black scarf and dark glasses. She sat opposite Hamilton's family.

Hamilton, 34, died Saturday of a heart ailment. Miss Dors, separated from him for more than a year, was in the U.S. at the time.

A 'Great' Season, With Some 'Ifs'

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

The winter tourist season hit its full stride Thursday and found itself in better shape than last year in many respects.

But so far there's no positive pattern that can label the 1958-59 season as either a whopping success or a dismal failure. It seems to be somewhere in between those extremes.

TOURIST TRAVEL into the area is heavier than last year, but betting and attendance at Hialeah—usually a prime economic indicator—is off.

HOTELS AND MOTELS on Miami Beach appear to be enjoying a healthy business, but garbage collections are down six per cent from last year at this time.

THE BEACHES have been crowded on these sunny days and dog track business is up, but if any really big spenders are here they are few.

THE BIG NIGHT CLUBS have good crowds at show time, but generally the owners are complaining that business could be a lot better.

* * *

Many Favorable Factors

"There's every reason for this to be a good season," said Miami Beach's publicity chief, Hank Meyer. "The weather, the stock market and national economic conditions are all on our side."

Last year was the season of the big cold that kept tourists away in droves and led to a number of hotel bankruptcies. But new hotels opened this year, following a familiar pattern, causing many hotelmen to shake their heads and say, "The Beach is overbuilt."

Beach merchants are reported to be doing "not too well," another indication of what cautious spenders are the current crop of tourists.

In the first 16 days of Hialeah's season, attendance was off 6.7 per cent and wagering off 3.5 per cent.

House OKs Extension Of Draft

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House approved one of the key points in President Eisenhower's military program Thursday by overwhelmingly passing a bill to extend the draft for four years beyond June 30.

By voice vote, it sent the measure to the Senate after rejecting an attempt by Rep. Leonard G. Wolf (D., Iowa) and several other members to limit the extension to two years.

Wolf argued that a two-year extension would let Congress maintain its power over military conscription while it sought a way to maintain U.S. military strength without a draft.

Wolf's two-year amendment was opposed by Democratic and Republican House leaders alike. Democratic Leader John W. McCormack, (Massachusetts) said approval of the proposal would be viewed abroad as a sign of weakness on the part of the U.S.

Besides extending the draft for another four years, the measure would continue the authority of the armed forces to induct physicians and dentists and would extend the Dependents' Assistance Act for the same period.

U.S. Cites Transcript Of Attack

Charges Mikoyan With Lying

months after Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, gave Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov a full transcript of the intercepted radio conversation among the Russian pilots.

In addition to this transcript, the department Thursday handed newsmen photostats and translations of two articles — dated Sept. 19 and 10 — for "Soviet Aviation," official Russian air force newspaper.

The second described the "attack" on the "enemy" transport plane and identified four Russians who took part — Fighter Pilot Officers Lopatkov and Gavrilov and Senior Lieutenants Kucheryaev and Ivanov.

It also reported than an unidentified Soviet general met the pilots after the attack and "shook their hands warmly and thanked them for their successful execution of the mission."

The first article carried photographs of two Russian ground crew members shown "tracking the target" on what appeared to be a radar screen.

The department documents said that when Murphy insisted on Nov. 13 that Menshikov listen to a tape recording of the conversation among the Soviet fighter pilots, Menshikov refused.

He maintained "he was not competent to assess it from a technical point of view," the document said.

He still refused after Gen. Mikhail N. Kostiouk, Soviet air attache and an aviation expert, was invited to listen with him.

But finally, at Murphy's insistence, the department said, Menshikov accepted a transcript of the conversation in Russian and promised to send his government full details of Murphy's protest over the plane incident.

Murphy told Menshikov bluntly that Soviet fighters had shot down the American plane "without regard to the rules of civilized international practice," the department said.

Murphy also "emphasized that some or our men had been killed and that there were certain rules of conduct in the civilized world, and that the U. S. government hoped the desired information regarding the 11 missing men would be promptly forthcoming."

$20 Million Research Plant Set

Center Planned On Isle of Pines

By BERT COLLIER
Herald Staff Writer

Establishment of a 20-million-dollar research center on the Isle of Pines off Cuba, financed by Americans and headed in its initial stages by a Miami Beach physician, was announced Thursday in Miami.

"It will be like nothing else in the world," said Dr. Rudolph T. Wagner, Miami Beach, who will be visiting head of the research institute.

Watson and Deutschman, Miami architectural firm, have been commissioned with Dr. Carlos Perez, widely known Colombian architect, to prepare the plans. Work is well advanced.

Construction is expected to start as soon as conditions in Cuba stabilize after the recent government unheaval, backers said. The isle belongs to Cuba.

H. Samuel Kruse, partner in the Watson and Deutschman firm, said the project is expected to be extended within a two-year period to embrace a 50-million-dollar program intended to make the Isle of Pines "the most advanced and progressive center of its kind in the world."

The unique enterprise will have an international staff dedicated to pure research in every field of medicine. It will also call on allied fields of physics, mathematics, electronics and engineering to solve some of the complex problems. It will resemble in its program and approach the famous Institute of Advanced Studies at Princeton University.

Dr. Wagner said plans have been five years in the making and are financed chiefly by a group of wealthy Americans interested in this unusual approach to medical problems.

Almost three years have been spent in the search of a site, with most of the Western Hemisphere being under consideration. The Isle of Pines was chosen because of its climate and its proximity to medical skills of all kinds.

"We were interested in a good working climate that would attract scientists from various parts of the world," said Dr. Wagner. "The research program will be so vast that its prospects are practically unlimited."

A handful of picked men—all trained scientists — have been picked as a nucleus for a staff that eventually will include members from many countries. There will be no political or national affiliations.

For the early stages of the program, Dr. Wagner will serve as actual head, while continuing his Miami Beach practice. Later a director will be selected to guide the work of the staff and the visiting consultants. Dr. Wagner will then continue as visiting head, as consulting director of cardiovascular research and consultant cardiologist.

Frankie Nearby; Beauty Is Mum

PALM SPRINGS, Calif.—(AP)—Among the visitors in this desert resort is England's Lady Beatty. Among the resort's notable residents is Frank Sinatra.

But whether the singer and the 36-year-old British beauty will stage a sequel to their romantic interlude in England last fall remains to be seen.

"No comment," said Lady Beatty when she arrived here and checked into a hotel for a week's stay. "No comment," echoed Sinatra, whose home is a short distance away.

Driftwood Folk Protest Bedlam

No–Yawn–Sleep for the Weary

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

WEST HOLLYWOOD — The crowing of roosters and pounding of hammers are sounding an unwelcome reveille in Driftwood Acres.

Bleary-eyed residents complained — between yawns — to the Homeowners Association Thursday that nagging nocturnal noises are robbing them of their sleep.

One resident, a butcher by trade, moaned of fitful slumber caused by the persistent cackle of a neighborhood rooster.

"I'd even buy the blasted thing to get rid of him," said Bert Burger, a meatcutter, of 2021 NW 68th Ave.

"It starts crowing long before dawn — gets me up about 4 a.m.," He said. He has dreams of taking the bird to market and displaying him—upside down, without feathers.

Other residents hammered away at builders, working around the clock by the light of floodlamps at an adjacent development.

"It's giving the neighborhood insomnia," declared Mrs. Bernard Prince of 6820 NW 20th St.

For two nights now she has slept with her head under the pillow to muffle the banging of carpenters, nailing on rooftops.

Then there's the matter of afternoon snoozes.

Last week cat naps were blasted by a promoter setting off firecrackers to advertise a brand new model home — and free helicopter rides for the kiddies.

"It sounds more like dynamite and scared one poor man into a faint," said Mrs. Prince.

The helicopter drones over the housetops each weekend, added William Adams of 2615 NW 66th Ave.

"We're getting up a committee to write the County Commission," said Mrs. Prince, a trifle sleepily.

Rule's Port Payment Still To Be Withheld

Grand Jury Fails To Set 'Fair Rate'

By ART ROBINSON
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE—Port Authority members said Wednesday they will continue to withhold full payment of a contract with Frank M. Rule, although a Grand Jury investigation of the contract has ended.

Rule is suing the Port Board for $45,738 which he contends is still due him under the contract. A check for the disputed amount was posted Wednesday with Circuit Court, which will hold it until Rule's suit is settled.

The Grand Jury report, issued Thursday, was critical of the action of the Port Authority in granting Rule two change of work orders totaling $87,743.17.

"Your Grand Jury cannot condone the awarding of two contracts totaling $87,743,17 by the port commissioners under the pretense that they were change of work orders," the Grand Jury report stated.

It recommended charter changes that would make it a misdemeanor to violate the charter. At present, the members are subject only to removal by the governor.

The port charter says bids should be taken on all contracts exceeding $1,000. A change of work order is an extension or addition to an original contract, and is granted to facilitate changes in that contract.

Rule's original contract was to build one warehouse. One of the change of work orders he received was for the installation of sprinkler systems in that warehouse and another nearby. It was for $53,272. According to Port Commissioner Ed Crowells, Rule then sublet that contract to the Automatic Sprinkler Co. of America for $30,600, leaving Rule a margin of more than $22,000.

The other change of work order was for paving around one of the warehouses, and called for payment of $29,302. Rule then sublet that contract to R. H. Wright and Son Inc. Crowells said that Rule paid Wright $21,173 for the paving work, leaving a margin of more than $8,000.

Thus, Rule picked up a margin of somme $30,000 on the two change of work orders. Presumably, the two subcontractors still were able to make a profit in doing the work for Rule.

The two change of work orders total $82,574. Assistant State Attorney Quentin Long said there were nearly $5,000 in "extras" on them, accounting for the $87,743.17 grand total.

The Herald disclosed the awarding of the change of work orders in a series of articles by Staff Writer Peter Laine.

The awarding of Port Insurance also came under the scrutiny of the jury, and it recommended in addition that the Port Board award insurance contracts amounting to more that $1,000 only by competitive bidding.

Crowells said he was disappointed that the Grand Jury did not spell out what it might feel was a fair settlement with Rule since taxpayers' money was involved. He said the jury had all of the figures on Rule's costs before it.

Crowells said he feels a contractor is entitled to 15 per cent profit on work handled by a subcontractor.

Here's Text of Report

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — Here's the text of the Grand Jury's report on its investigation of the previous Port Board's awarding of change of work orders and insurance.

"The expenditure of public funds by public officials is one of the most sacred rights given to an office-holder, and to violate this trust is in effect a violation of his oath of office. Your Grand Jury feels that a violation of the public trust should carry with it a penalty. The Broward County Port Authority charter provides no penalty for the violation of said charter. For the aforesaid reasons your Grand Jury recommends to the Broward County legislative delegation and to the Broward County Port Authority that:

"(1) The charter of the Broward County Port Authority be amended to provide that in the future a violation of the port charter by any member of the Port Authority shall constitute a misdemeanor and subject said member to be recalled or removed by the governor.

"(2) Future lettings on insurance for the port be handled the same as the letting of a public contract over $1,000.

"Your Grand Jury cannot condone the awarding of two contracts totaling $87,743.17 by the port commissioners under the pretense that they were change-of-work orders. That in view of the fact that change-of-work orders are many times used to defeat the primary purpose of the letting of contracts after public bids, it is futher recommended that future development of the port should be planned far enough in advance so as to eliminate the change-of-work order.

"This is an interim report of the fall term Grand Jury of Broward County for 1958, and your Grand Jury stands in recess.

"Respectfully submitted,

"Harold A. Robertson, Foreman."

5 a.m. – Time For Sleeping

Residents of the neighborhood around the Federal Hwy. tunnel site probably will find most of the town sympathizing with them in their complaints about the all-night noise. We need that tunnel, but running bulldozers and draglines until 5 a.m. is outrageous.

Perhaps the construction people forget that the area they're operating in is predominantly residential, though highway frontage makes it look commercial . . .

No Solution for Title Ills?

FROM THE DISCUSSIONS here regarding better protection for property buyers in the matter of titles and such, there emerges an apparent feeling among real estate people and persons closely associated with real estate that there really is no solution beyond the laws that already exist.

Buyers probably will not agree. Any rate, here's the thought of one qualified observer:

"You can't regulate or legislate intelligence into people. I can give you example after example of crazy deals that could not be regulated. And some of them appear to be stupid yet workout to lucrative ends."

He contends that a law requiring a seller to deliver a marketable title would not work unless it included provision that the requirements could be waived with the consent of both parties (for the benefit of people who are willing for their own reasons to buy questionable titles). And if there were a waiver clause, it could be exploited by a fast-talking seller able to convince a buyer that a title was really all right, the law was ridiculous, the price was cheap, the time to buy was right now, "and if you'll just sign this waiver we'll step over to the courthouse and I'll give you a deed."

He cites an instance of a man who bought a piece of Pompano Beach farm land some years ago knowing that the title was bad. He bought it because the down payment was low and the crop on the land would pay off the balance and give him a profit.

Now he wants to sell it. The title's still bad and he's trying to get it fixed . .

Protection Must Be Statewide

NOW THEN, HERE'S A LETTER from Dr. and Mrs. Henri Males, whose trouble with the title to a lot in Coral Ridge started all the talk:

"My husband and I earnestly hope that the new approach which you suggest . . . will be adopted, giving full protection to all future buyers of real estate, not only in Broward County but in the entire state."

That's the objective, and surely there's some way that it can be done . . .

Tug Firm Will Equip Boat to Fight Oil Fires

FORT LAUDERDALE — The Port Everglades Towing Co. agreed Wednesday to equip one of its tugs immediately with expensive fire fighting equipment to reduce the fire hazard at the port.

It will cost the company $10,500 to buy and install equipment to shoot foam and water under high pressure, Hans Hvide, president, told E. J. Crowells, Port Board chairman.

Under its franchise, the company agreed to "give us satisfactory fire fighting equipment," Crowells said. Each of the company's two tugs are now equipped with heavy deck nozzles for shooting water, but Security Chief Julius Straub said they would be ineffective in an oil fire.

Foam equipment is needed, he said.

The Port Authority permitted the company to increase some of its charges to finance the fire fighting equipment. The second tug will be equipped later, Crowells said.

Tunneleers Promise Some Quiet

Nighttime Digging Halted by Compaints

By PAT MANGAN
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Night work on the seven and a half million dollar Federal highway Tunnel will be closed down for at least six more weeks.

City officials and James Hood, project manager for Thorington Construction Co., agreed Thursday to suspend 24-hour-a-day operations in the face of mounting complaints from residents.

Around-the-clock work will have to be resumed when the contractors begin pouring concrete for the sub-floor of the tunnel, but the pouring operation will be broken down into two 40-hour work periods, Hood said.

Unitl then, work will cease from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. daily.

Hood explained that once concrete-pouring operations start, they have to be continued.

Hood agreed to consider installing an electric motor in the pump taking water out of the tunnel. City officials said it would be quieter than a gasoline or diesel motor.

The new schedule "will set us back pretty strongly," Hood said, and added that it may mean working through three seasons instead of two. Construction of the tunnel will take from two to three years.

Cith Manager William J. Veeder pointed out that residents probably would prefer three seasons' daytime work to two seasons without sleep.

Of Junior College

Hopes Dim For Fall Opening

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Opening the county's proposed junior college this September would be almost impossible, Dr. Thord Marshall, assistant superintendent in instruction, said Thursday.

Dr. Marshall's views were expressed in connection with the School Board's decision to shoot for a September opening.

A survey report issued by Dr. Marshall's office two months ago recommended that the college open in September 1960.

"It would be almost imposible to set up a faculty, acquire classroom equipment, and enroll students in the short time we'd have," the educator said.

"It's very important that we obtain good personnel and place them in proper positions," Dr. Marshall added.

He pointed out that money needed to finance the college — if appropriated by the Legislature — wouldn't be available before June 1.

He also said special equipment and supplies are needed for college students, and pointed out that many high school seniors are now making preparations to enter other colleges this fall.

Dr. Marshall indicated it would take several months to select a president for the college. Some educators believe an out-of-state man should be chosen, a person who has had experience with a junior college.

Whose 'Closeup' Order?

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

WEST HOLLYWOOD — A trailer park owner who says the County Building and Zoning Department ordered him to "clean up or close up within 48 hours," was still operating Thursday—and no one could be found who admitted giving the order.

Milford Tissot said the "close" edict on his park at 820 N. State Rd. 7 came after a check Monday by investigators for Building Inspector H. A. Leonard.

Leonard says he has been told "not to discuss the case with anyone." He declined to say who gave him his order.

His boss, Thomas A. McInnis, claims he didn't give him the command. McInnis also denied that his office had ordered the electricity turned off unless the park was cleaned up.

He said the Broward County Sheriff's Department asked him to inspect the camp. The park is located behind the West Hollywood Gardens Restaurant, which was closed down Saturday by sheriff's deputies.

"We reported that the park needed cleaning up and some electrical and plumbing repairs," said McInnis.

Tissot claims the electrical facilities were approved last summer by building inspectors. He said he singed a new contract with Florida Power and Light Aug. 11 after spending around $600 on repairs.

County Commissioner J. Herbert Burke, who represents Tissot, said he did not know why Tissot was told to close, either.

"If the Building and Zoning Department has that right it is news to me. The commission has been trying to get condemnation powers for two years," Burke said.

Tissot said he blames his troubles on the shut-down of the nearby restaurant which he leases to Mrs. Roland Walsh.

The Florida Hotel and Restaurant Commission suspended the tavern's license after a health inspection this week. Three weeks ago the commission had given it a clean bill of health.

"Apparently a lot happened in a short time. We found conditions unsatisfactory Monday," said Charles Strachan, Hotel Commission inspector.

Asks $1,260 Be Spent

He'd Tell the North True Weather Facts

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — A city official proposed Thursday that $1,260 be spent in the next three weeks to counter "misleading and unfavorable" temperature reports being circulated in the North.

Forrest Crane, city publicity director, recommended that 50 telegrams "with the right information" be sent daily to radio and television news commentators in 25 key cities.

He suggested that 3 p.m. temperature readings from the Bahia-Mar weather station be taken and wired to the stations for 6 and 11 p.m. newscasts.

In letters to City Manager William Veeder and City Commissioner Edward Johns, Crane said transmission details have been worked out with the local Western Union office.

He said the service would cost $60 a day.

Parking Ban Brings Gripe

POMPANO BEACH — Merchants along a four-block stretch of Hammondville Rd. are dissatisfied with the city reducing their curbside parking 50 per cent, and expect to take the matter before the meeting of the Downtown Merchants Association next week.

The City Commission recently authorized the change in parking from diagonal to parallel on Hammondville from Dixie Hwy. to NW Fourth St., for safety and to reduce congestion.

When a similar move was made several years ago, strong objection from merchants resulted in abandonment of the parallel parking idea.

There are people in Cuba who tell you they've seen a check for $100,000 allegedly given by Errol Flynn to indicate good intentions in the actor's intent to film a movie in which he would play 32-year-old Fidel Castro! It will be a character role, no doubt . . . Elana, whose last name is Nelson and not something like Tokaruaimatauaia as you'd expect from a specialist in Hawaiian music and dancing is at the Vagabond club currently. And that lengthy monicker we used for comparative purposes is the legit name of a movie actor known on screen as Adam West! We don't blame him.

Britches Bardot has quit the Ringling Circus after four seasons of performing with an act that featured dogs, ponies and a llama. She's now working at the Admiral Vee lounge — but not with the animals, the racehorse Admiral Vee, for whom the spot is named won't permit it. Sa Britches is doing a rope act.

Riot Room's Lynn Taylor almost started a riot and almost got into a Miss America preliminary as Miss Greater Philadelphia some years ago. But sponsors found out she was only 15 . . .Guess Betty Grable is a star's star. She had Paul Whiteman, Dioso Costello and Keefe Braselle watching her on a recent night at the Latin Quarter.

Report Leaves Details Unanswered

Navy Cautiously Says It Hasn't 'Sighted' Red Subs Near Our Coast

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Navy says it has made no verified sightings of Soviet submarines within 500 miles of American coasts.

In a carefully phrased statement, the Navy also said there have been no indications of extensive Soviet sub activity in the South Atlantic.

The Navy would not expand on the statement. This left uncertain whether "sightings" mentioned referred only to visual sightings or included contact by listening devices and electronic or magnetic detection systems.

President Eisenhower, asked about the Russian sub matter at his news conference Wednesday, bounced the query to the Navy. The President said most of his information is based on confidential briefings.

The Navy said most of the reports "of varying validity" of contact with unidentified submarines can be attributed to friendly submarines, surface vessels or marine life.

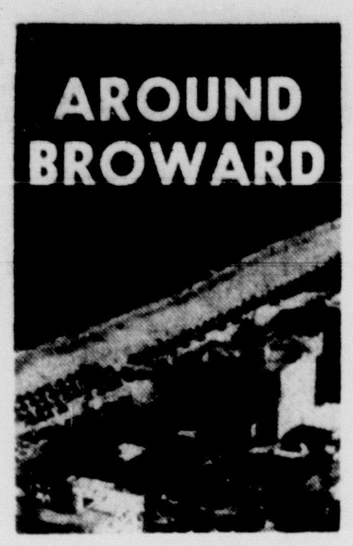
Migrant Workers Sought for X-Rays

A free chest X-ray campaign for all migrant farm laborers in Broward County got underway Thursday night and is to continue one month.



Dr. Robert Steinborg, chairman of the Broward County Tuberculosis and Health Association's case finding committee, said his group hopes to X-ray 2,000 laborers.

A total of 1,653 persons were X-rayed in last year's drive.

Laborers participating in the current campaign will receive general physical examinations and be given health cards that will be honored throughout the U.S.

Dr. Steinborg said mobile units will visit at each of the county's 67 labor camps.

Cooperating with the TB Association is the County Health Department, the Fort Lauderdale Junior Chamber of Commerce, the sheriff's office, and other groups.

Bill Session

Broward County legislators have asked county commissioners to meet with them next Thursday for a discussion of local bills proposed for the forthcoming session of the Legislature.

Sen.-Elect George W. Tedder said Thursday he had invited the commissioners to confer. The meeting will be at 2 p.m. in the county commission room.

Candidates in the Pompano Beach City Commission race will appear before members of the Junior Woman's Club at 8 p.m. tonight in an open meeting at the Pompano Beach courtroom.

Candidates Richard Tyrholm, Howard Reed, Dwight Miller and Joseph Finnegan agreed to appear, as has Commissioner G. T. Hull, and automatically won a new term without opposition.

Pipes Leaking

The leaks in one of three water mains leading to HOLLYWOOD BEACH are of major proportions, City Manager Joseph W. Watson said Thursday.

Crews are working round the clock to repair the pipe, which goes beneath the Intracoastal Waterway at Washington St. Pressure has been stepped up in two other mains but is still too low on South Beach, Watson said.

"A concrete anchor has apparently been damaged and every joint in a 200-foot strip will have to be checked," Watson said.

Turbulence caused by barges passing at the narrows, coupled with the damaged anchor, apparently caused the main to leak, he said.

Mrs. Pearl Edrington, owner of the Florida Sands Motel, 1920 S. Federal Hwy., told police Thursday two men rented separate rooms for $12.62, then left unnoticed with two of the motel's portable televisions, valued at $139 each.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Council Chief 'Heartily Approves'

2nd Lowest Bid Supported

Herald Bureau

WILTON MANORS — Robert C. Schmidt, president of the City Council, said Thursday he "heartily approved" of the council passing over a low bidder in awarding a paving contract.

The contract went to the second low bidder.

E. C. Thompson, president of the paving company which submitted the low bid, called the action "irregular."

Schmidt said the successful bidder, Di-Mar Paving Co. of Hollywood, was favored because it already had done some engineering and assisted with installing a drain in the parking lot to be paved.

There was $75 difference in the bids of the two firms. Schmidt said Di-Mar already had done $100 to $125 worth of work for nothing.

The work was advertised without mention of the Di-Mar advantage, and sealed bids were asked.

Complaints centered about the fact that the other bidders had no knowledge of the engineering and drain work already performed by Di-Mar.

Schmidt said Di-Mar was recommended by Wallace Wakeley, street superintendent, because of the company's previous cooperation and help.

Population Of Pompano Area Gains

Herald Bureau

POMPANO BEACH — The Greater Pompano Beach area now has a population estimated at about 36,485.

The figure is based on statistics outlined by Florida Power and Light Co. Manager George Pugh to about 65 Chamber of Commerce members at a monthly "Kaffee Klatch" Thursday.

Pugh said the number of FP&L customers in the area increased 49.5 per cent in the past two years. The firm now serves 15,863 customers.

Two years ago there were only 10,682 customers in the area, which extends from SE 15th St. on the south to the South Deerfield Beach limits, and includes Hillsboro Beach. Margate and Broadview Country Club Estates are also a part of this district.

Pugh said that in 1940 there were only 694 customers in the area. Within the following 10 years the number jumped to 2,483.

FP&L figures population on the basis of 2.3 persons per electrical connection.

From 1950 to 1955 the annual increase was from 600 to 1,000 customers a year, Pugh said.

From 7,236 connections in 1956, the total grew to 10,682 in 1957, and 12,882 in 1958.

The number of present customers represents a 2,781 increase during the past year.

Business Still Good On Stills

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — Sheriff's deputies Thursday cracked down on their fifth moonshine still in the last two weeks.

Led by Sheriff J. A. Lloyd, the "moonshine squad" found 24 partially-filled barrels of mash at a frame residence near NW Seventh Ct. and 22nd Rd. Each barrel had a 55-gallon capacity.

The still operator was not present when raiders converged on the three-room dwelling, said deputies. The still was being run in the house, with holes cut through the walls through which tubes ran from barrel to barrel, they said.

With Lloyd on the raid were Deputies Joe Pierce, Jack Harris, James O'Toole, Pat Blackmore and James Walsh.

The '100' Due Here Next Month

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE—Between 250 and 300 of the country's top retired and semi-retired industrialists will be here Feb. 17 for the Committee of One Hundred's annual outing.

The group will leave Miami at 9 a.m. aboard a chartered boat and arrive at Pier 66 for lunch at noon. Mayor John Russell and other city officials will welcome the visitors.

Plans for the outing, the fourth to be held here, were advanced Thursday at a meeting attended by Russell, Forrest Crane, city publicity director; Robert George, vice chairman of the club's arrangement committee, and Leonard Roy, executive secretary.

Roy described the club as one that's "serious" 51 weeks a year. "This outing is the one day we let down our hair and really have a fling," he said.

In past years the group has had its "flings" at Bahia-Mar.

School Board Has Line On Buyer for Boats

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — There's a chance today that the School Board will get out from under those two "free," 79-foot Navy training boats, which have cost it nearly $9,000.

The Florida Conservation Department may take over the boats, which were acquired from the Navy three months ago.

Harold Carter, school maintenance superintendent, said he expected "something conclusive" from E. C. Mitts, conservation director, who has expressed interest in the vessels.

If the department takes over the boats it would reimburse the School Board for the estimated $9,000 spent in bringing them here and maintaining them.

Carter was asked by the board Wednesday to file a complete report on the boats at next week's meeting.

While board members have defended the acquisition, several department heads have termed the vessels "impractical and too expensive."

They say it's impossible for students to learn much from equipment on the former patrol boats.

Mitts, according to reports, is doubtful that his department can stand the cost of operating and maintaining the vessels.

Caldwell's Side-Swapping Riles Miccosukee Faction

By STEPHEN TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

Leaders of the Miccosukee branch of the Seminole Indian tribe were out Thursday after the scalp of former Gov. Millard Caldwell.

They charged that the ex-governor, who was one of their attorneys for a time in their efforts to get title to 200,000 acres of Everglades land, now is violating a verbal agreement with them and is trying to "change sides."

The charge is based on a petition filed by Caldwell's law firm in Tallahassee asking the court to determine whether he now can represent the opposing, or Muskogee faction of the tribe, who seek a huge cash settlement.

Caldwell, out of Tallahassee on a speech making engagement in the Tampa Bay area, could not be reached for comment.

The Miccosukee faction, sometimes known as the "Trail Seminoles," wants the land. Caldwell, in a petition filed in Leon County (Tallahassee) Circuit Court, asks if he can withdraw from that case and represent the Muskogee, or "Reservation" Indians.

The reservation faction wants cash, lots of it. The sum of $50,000,000 has been asked from the federal government by Attorney John O. Jackson of Jacksonville, with whom the former governor now seeks to associate himself.

Silver would not discuss the recent development, saying it would be "improper" to do so while the case is in court. He referred questions to Tiger. The phone at Tiger's camp was reported to be "temporarily disconnected." His wife, reached in Miami, talked readily. council is incensed over the Caldwell action.

The Tiger group, through Attorney Silver, has filed both state and federal petitions for

She said there were "several witnesses" at a meeting last summer in the Tamiami Trail headquarters when Caldwell asked to withdraw. She said her husband's group agreed only when he said he would not "change sides."

She said that the entire the 200,000 acre tract, which would stretch from the Tamiami Trail northward almost to the Big Cypress Reservation.

The petition asks the state to "allow for reasonable attorney fees" in the settlement—a line that drew sharp and adverse criticism from Gov. LeRoy Collins.

Cash payments asked by the Jacksonville attorney for the other faction is based on an old treaty, but one which he contends was legal and ratified by the U.S. Senate. This one gave the Seminoles a huge slice of Florida, northward from Lake Okeechobee through the Ocala region.

Officer Uninjured

Driver Edges Police Car Off Road

Herald Bureau

HOLLYWOOD — A policeman speeding to the scene of an accident was forced off the road Wednesday night by another car and crashed into a power pole.

The other car involved sped away and has not been located. It had a Broward County license tag.

Patrolman Enoch Aparicio, 30, of 5710 NW 26th Ct., West Hollywood, was not injured when his squad car skidded 198 feet at Riverside Circle on Hollywood Blvd. and slammed into the pole.

Aparicio told investigating officers he was headed east at between 35 and 40 miles an hour with his siren and red lights on. When he tried to pass the other car, it cut in front of him and he lost control.

He tried to chase the violator but had a flat tire.

The three-car mishap Aparicio was going to was minor, but the patrolman did not know it at the time, officers said.

Passport Office To Be in Bank

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The State Department has selected the new First National Bank building in downtown Miami as the site for a new passport issuing office, it was learned Wednesday.

The department's Passport Division is seeking 2,500 square feet of ground floor space in the building to house the nation's eighth issuing office.

It was reported that the General Services Administration, "landlord" agency for the federal government, is negotiating for a lease with the First National Building owners.

The Passport Division's second choice for a Miami site is the Ainsley Building on Flagler St. However, no ground floor space is presently available there.

The new office will cut the time for processing a passport application from the present 10 or more days to two or three days.

Passport applications are now filed in the Federal Court Clerk's office. The application is mailed to Washington, where the passport is prepared and mailed to Miami.

All this will be done in Miami under the new setup.

It is hoped to have the Miami office in operation within two months. It will be staffed by about five employes.

An Airplane Propeller Did This

How Close Whirling Blades Came to Driver Andrew Bird

He Just Wanted to See 'Em Landing

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Seventy-year-old Andrew Bird, who just "wanted to watch the planes come in," had a brush with one of them while driving his car on the runway at Cleveland Hopkins Airport.

The aircraft, a huge four-engine Air Force Hercules C130A, whacked six neatly spaced gashes in the steel top of the car, inches above Bird's head.

Bird had arrived early to pick up his wife, Lida, who works for a catering firm. Instead of going to the airport parking lot he headed down a ramp leading to the field.

Apparently becoming confused, Bird drove the length of a 6,000-foot runway, only to find his way blocked by a fence.

"How do I get out of here?" he asked a startled guard in a shack.

"How did you get on it?" gasped the guard.

While the guard alerted the control tower, Bird was already on his way back along the runway, where the C130A had been warming up.

Bird explained later that he did not see the Air Force plane but had seen another plane coming in for a landing. Naturally, he stepped on the gas.

"My God, he's going to hit us!" cried Capt. William M. Bailey Jr. inside the plane.

Propeller tips ripped through the car, which continued on past the plane, turned around again and stopped near the C130A.

"I was afraid to look in the car," said Capt. Bailey, "for fear we'd find a decapitated body."

Bird, calm and uninjured, said it took him many minutes to realize what had happened.

Pending a detailed examination of the turbo-prop plane, Air Force officials said damage could run anywhere from $35,000 to $170,000.

Bird was released after a search of the city code turned up little that might pertain to driving on an airport runway.

Tempers Flare Over Spending

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Battle of the Budget flared on the Senate floor Thursday with Sen. Barry Goldwater (R., Ariz.), branding Democrats as "wild-riding spenders" and Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson shouting a denial.

Addressing GOP senators as "you Republicans," Johnson said "a lot of this talk about (President Eisenhower) balancing the budget is pure bunk."

Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson said, meanwhile, that the nation "could live with higher taxes" if it had to, and that the administration would ask for them "if there develop real requirements for additional revenue" for national defense.

Testifying before the Joint Congressional Economic Committee, Anderson said such a need has not arisen. He also indicated there is no likelihood of an early tax cut. He said tax relief must depend on the rate of the nation's economic growth, the degree of government spending, reduction of the federal debt and avoidance of inflation.

Anderson denied a suggestion by Committee Chairman Paul Douglas (D., Ill.), that he is "obsessed with inflation." He said he was concerned about it, not obsessed.

He said inflation may revive "if we do not finally close the budget gap."

On the Senate floor, Johnson said neither Democrats nor Republicans have "a monopoly on saving or spending." He said the last Congress, which also was controlled by the Democrats, cut $5,600,000,000 from Eisenhower's budget.

He also recalled that Eisenhower last year asked him to work to "add several hundred million dollars" for foreign aid. Johnson said he succeeded in doing so, but "I didn't get on television and say he (Eisenhower) is a spender."

"I defended his aid bill last year," Johnson shouted. "Who was the spender then?"

Debbie Reynolds Enters Hospital

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Actress Debbie Reynolds was hospitalized Thursday for treatment of a potentially serious blood clot in her left knee, a spokesman for 20th Century Fox studios disclosed.

Miss Reynolds, whose suit for divorce from husband Eddie Fisher goes to court Feb. 17, was told she must remain in the hospital for at least three days. She dislocated the knee last Monday when she stepped on a cable while rehearsing an intricate dance step.

Accused in Plot

U.S. Probes Case Of Yank in Cuba

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

The U.S. State Department opened an investigation Thursday into Cuban government claims that a "gentleman soldier" from Miami has confessed a plot to assassinate Fidel Castro.

National Police in Havana announced that Alan Robert Nye, formerly of 107 Calabria Ave., Coral Gables, admitted he was promised $100,000 by the forces of Fulgencio Batista if he killed the revolutionary hero.

Nye, described as "the type elderly ladies like," earlier denied from his Havana prison cell any implication in such a plot. He claimed he went to Cuba to help the rebels in their fight against Batista.

In Washington an official of the State Department told The Herald by telephone:

"We have received no confirmation of an alleged confession. Consular officials in Havana are now looking into it."

He added that the State Department is in touch with Nye "to see that he is treated fairly."

According to Cuban police, the Batista plotters contacted Nye through Daniel Vasquez, a Cuban refugee who lives at 727 E. DiLido Dr., Miami Beach.

Vasquez and his wife, Marisol Alba, called the "Mata Hari of Cuba," rank high on the revolutionary government's list of traitors.

In Miami, neighbors and acquaintances of Nye offered their opinions of his personality.

Mrs. L. L. Gardner, who lived next door to him, called him "a perfect gentleman . . . a nice personality; he didn't seem to be that type of fellow."

She said he was frequently visited by Cuban friends.

Mrs. Paul Mickler, who lives in the same apartment where Nye lived, declared:

"I can't believe it. He didn't look very strong for that sort of thing."

Officials of Nye's former employer, the American Airmotive Corp. said he was dismissed from the firm last October after working there 10 months.

Reported an executive:

"He was just another aircraft salesman that come and go. He left here with mutual consent. We were dissatisfied with his work and he seemed unhappy, like he wanted something of a bigger scope."

He added that Nye frequently made trips to Latin American countries for the air cargo company.

Tall, slender and blond, Nye was reported to be a talented painter and pianist.

Havana police gave his age as 31. Neighbors in Coral Gables, however, said he told them he was 40.

In Whiting, Ind., his mother, Mrs. Helen Lynch, said, "I'm positive my son is innocent."

FBI Hunts Milkman, Girl, 14

MADISON TOWNSHIP, N.J. —(AP)—The FBI has been called in to help locate a 38-year-old milkman who is believed to have run off with the 14-year-old daughter of a friend, state police said.

They said Ernest Corrao, father of three, disappeared Jan. 21 alone with Barbara Plaisted.

State police at the nearby New Brunswick Barracks called in the FBI after a 12-state police teletype alarm had failed to turn up any trace of the two.

They said Corrao and the girl are believed to have gone to either Arizona, California or Florida.

Corrao struck up a friendship with the blonde, blue-eyed girl during the eight-month period he delivered milk to her home, police said. The families have been friends for three years.

Frequently, police said, Corrao would drive Barbara and her nine-year-old sister, Sharon, to school.

On Jan. 21, according to the state police, he picked up the girls, dropped off Sharon and disappeared with Barbara.

Corrao has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. His wife has filed additional charges of desertion and non-support.

Big Enrollment Hike Crowds Schools; No Relief in Sight

More Palm Beach News, 24A, 25A, 1B, 2D

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Palm Beach County's school system, which had one of the highest enrollment increases in the state, is overcrowded with little relief in sight.

Supt. Howell Watkins reported that the public system, with a total enrollment of 40,000-plus, is short 71 classrooms. He said this means there are many overcrowded classrooms now.

Enrollment increased about 13.5 per cent this year and the same increase, if not more, is expected in the 1959-60 school year. Populous Dade County, for example, had expected an increase of 11 per cent in its public schools but actually had less than 7 per cent.

Fifty new classrooms will be ready by September, 1959, the superintendent said.

Faced with a spiraling enrollment, the school system, despite the new classrooms, will still be pinched for space. Watkins estimates that when the new school year rings in next fall, the system will be 111 classrooms short.

A building progress report issured this week shows that 30 projects are now under construction for the public school system.

The construction program includes a new junior high school in Golfview, a new high school in Forest Hills and several additions, cafetoriums and gyms.

Carrier Joins Search

HAMILTON, Bermuda — (UPI)—Planes from the carrier Tarawa joined five land-based aircraft Thursday in a search for a U.S. Air Force weather plane reported to have crashed in flames midway between New York and Bermuda with 12 men aboard.

The Coast Guard in New York said the Tarawa, escorted by six destroyers, was coordinating the search for the missing WB-50 which vanished Wednesday shortly after sending in a routine report on its weather reconnaissance mission.

The cutter Mackinac also joined the hunt for the missing converted bomber.

The Coast Guard said the ships and planes mapped out a search area of 75,000 square miles, centered several hundred miles east of Norfolk, Va.

U.S. Cites Denial of Attack

Mikoyan Branded Liar About Plane

Come, See Us, Nikita Invites Ike

President Mum For the Present

MOSCOW — (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Thursday publicly invited President Eisenhower to come to the Soviet Union, bring "anyone he likes" and go anywhere he wants.

(The White House had no immediate comment on the invitation. Press Secretary James Hagerty said no announcement will be made until the President receives the transcript of the invitation through regular channels.)

The invitation climaxed a long final speech to the 21st Congress of the Communist Party in which Khrushchev professed the Soviet Union wants nothing but to end the cold war and compete against the West on economic grounds, in peace.

But he remained adamant on two points which have been big stumbling blocks in East-West relations.

He said the Soviet Union will "never agree" to permit foreign inspectors on Soviet soil even though the U. S. and Britain are willing to accept them on their territory.

Secondly, he said Russia never will accept "liquidation" of Communist East Germany in any plan to reunite Germany.

It was announced in London and Moscow simultaneously a few hours after Khrushchev spoke that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will fly to Moscow Feb. 21 for talks on these and other cold war subjects.

Khrushchev decried the "discrimination" that keeps him from visiting the U. S. but he said he will not insist on going there in return for Eisenhower coming to Russia.

"Should the President decide to come to our country he would be met with sincere hospitality both by our government and the Soviet people," Khrushchev said.

"A visit of this kind would undoubtedly be useful to both countries and would meet with the approval of the peoples of the U. S. A. and the Soviet Union."

He said Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's trip to the U. S. in January "provided the reasons to hope for a further thaw in relations between our countries."

Khrushchev, who opened the congress of 1,296 voting delegates a week ago Tuesday with a six-hour speech, drew ovation after ovation with his closing speech Thursday.

The delegates voted unanimous approval of his report, his policies and of his seven-year design to catch up with the U. S. economically.

Khrushchev said Soviet claims to mass production of intercontinental ballistic missiles are "not just rhetoric."

But he insisted this is just stating the facts, not making a threat, and that the Soviet Union wants an end to the cold war.

Addressing a remark to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, he said, "We are even prepared to admit your victory in this war that is unwanted by the peoples . . . but end it quickly."

'I'll Finish Him,' Said Soviet Pilot To His Partners

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The tape recording of radio conversations between the Soviet fighter pilots, accused of shooting down an unarmed U.S. transport plane, was filled with chit-chat about altitudes and positions. But the key portions dwelt on an attack.

They went like this:

"582, I see the target, to the right.

"I see the target, a large one . . .

"I am 201, I see the target, attack!

"I am 201, I am attacking the target . . .

"Attack, attack, 218, attack . . .

"The target is a transport, four-engined . . .

"Roger. 201, I am attacking the target . . .

"The target is burning.

"There's a hit . . .

"The target is burning, 582 . . .

"The target is banking . . .

"Open fire . . .

"218, are you attacking?

"Yes, yes . . .

"The target is burning . . .

"The tail assembly is falling off the target . . .

"Look!

"Oh?

"Look at him, he will not get away, he is already falling.

"Yes, he is falling, I will finish him off, boys, I will finish him off on the run.

"The target has lost control, it is going down . . .

"The target is falling . . .

"Yes . . . form up, go home.

"After my third pass, the target started burning . . .

"Well, let's form up, follow. Let's go . . ."

From study of the recorded conversations, Pentagon and State Department experts concluded that five Soviet jet fighters "scrambled" aloft to attack the U. S. transport and that four made passes at it. The fifth apparently arrived too late to take part in the attack.

From the recording, the Soviet aircraft numbers were 577, 582, 583, 201, and 218.

It appeared that 577 was a late arrival. At one point the transcript records a message to 577 to this effect: "Go home, why are you fooling around there some place."

Happiest Tax Form Filler-Outer in U.S.
. . . gleeful Mark Perks, held by mother

He Comes Out Ahead On the Income Tax

DETROIT —(AP)— Just because you're only nine months old don't think you can flee the country and avoid paying income tax.

Ask little Mark Perks. He was nabbed by the Internal Revenue Service on the eve of his departure for England.

But the agents let him go without paying a cent. He even came out 25 cents to the good.

Mark accompanied his mother, Mrs. Phyllis Jean Perks, to the Federal Building. Mrs. Perks, an American by birth, is leaving Detroit to return to England to live. Her husband, Peter, a British engineer, already is working in Birmingham.

Mrs. Perks was told that as a U.S. citizen she needed no tax clearance.

But, said the agents, Mark does. He is a British citizen.

So a form was duly filled out. After studying the situation, the agent waived the signature, patted Mark on the head and gave him a quarter.

Mark left, clutching the quarter, his passport — and his income tax clearance.

Plays Tape To Prove Jet Attack

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The U.S. offered dramatic proof Thursday that Russian fighter planes deliberately shot down an unarmed American transport plane last September. It practically accused Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan of lying about the incident.

Seventeen Americans were aboard the four-engine transport. Russia returned only six bodies, saying it had no information about the 11 other men aboard.

The State Department to back up its charges, released a transcript of what it said was an intercepted radio conversation among Soviet fighter pilots who attacked the C130 transport over Soviet Armenia near the Russian-Turkish border Sept. 2.

The English translation quoted the Red pilots as saying:

"I am attacking the target . . . There's a hit . . . The target is falling . . . The tail assembly is falliing off . . . He will not get away, he is already falling . . . I will finish him off boys."

Four of the six bodies returned by the Russians were identified. The other two, whose identities still are not known, will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery here today with full military honors.

The State Department did not say how it intercepted the radio conversation among the Soviet pilots.

The Soviet government has insisted the American plane crashed and burned after it was intercepted and taken under escort by the Russian fighters. It flatly denied the transport was fired upon.

State Department documents released with the transcript showed that Mikoyan stuck to this story during his visit to the U.S. last month. When he was questioned about the incident by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Jan. 16, the documents said, Mikoyan "denied the plane had been shot down, asserting that it had crashed."

The department said Mikoyan "expressed the Soviet government's lack of understanding and irritation over the U.S. government's insistence concerning this case."

The department also quoted Mikoyan as telling Vice President Richard M. Nixon Jan. 7 that "the Soviet government had given all the information it had" on the plane.

He also told Nixon, the department said, that "there was no sense in their (the Russians') trying to hide anything and (that he) wondered why the Americans were so suspicious about this."

The department's documents showed that Mikoyan's statements came about two

Ike Asks for U.S. Laws Against Segregation Mobs

Submits Program For Civil Rights

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Eisenhower asked a divided Congress Thursday to make it a federal crime to use force or mob violence to block racial integration of schools under court orders.

The President also asked the legislators to strengthen the FBI's hand in dealing with school and church bombing cases and to authorize federal funds and advice to help states make the change to desegregated schools.

These were key proposals in a seven-point civil rights program submitted to Congress in a brief, special message. The Justice, Welfare and Labor Departments immediately followed through with the dispatch of seven bills to the capitol.

This is what the program would do:

1. Make it a federal crime to use force or threats of force to obstruct court orders in school desegregation cases. The punishment would be up to two years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Eisenhower said this would plug a gap in present law and provide "a valuable enforcement power on which the government could rely to deter mob violence and such other acts of violence or threats."

2. Make it a federal offense — with a maximum penalty of $5,000 fine and five years imprisonment — for anyone who bombs or tries to bomb schools, churches or similar institutions to flee across state lines. This would open the way for the FBI to step in.

3. Provide financial and technical help to make it easier for states and communities to make the changeover from segregated to integrated schools. The cost for the next two fiscal years is estimated at $4,895,000. The bulk of the money would have to be matched by the states. Grants would pay for extra professional people — supervisors and administrators, but no teachers.

4. Let the government educate children of military personnel who had been attending public schools that were closed in integration disputes. The government would be able to take over schools built with the aid of federal funds, although it would pay rental on them.

5. Require preservation of federal election records and authorize the Justice Department to inspect them. Eisenhower said a gap in the 1957 civil rights law, designed to safeguard voting privileges, needs to be plugged because some state and local authorities have refused to allow inspection of voting records.

6. Give a basis of law rather than presidential executive order to a government committee which polices non-discrimination clauses in government contracts. The committee, now headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, would become a commission with somewhat broader powers, such as authority to hold hearings.

7. Continue the Civil Rights Commission for two years beyond its September expiration date.

Reaction was cut to a familiar pattern — the Eisenhower civil rights program either goes too far or not far enough, depending on whether a Southern segregationist or a Northern liberal is talking. And then there are the in-betweens, largely staunch administration supporters from GOP ranks, who said it was just right.

Southerners called the program offensive, a form of bribery and an intrusion into a field where the federal government has no business. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), a leader of Senate Southerners, said Eisenhower offers political legislation.

He predicted significantly that "a vigorous effort will be made to amend any civil rights bill that reaches the floor with punitive provisions requesting that the South be patrolled, policed and punished."

From the opposite camp, Chairman Emanuel Celler (D., N.Y.), of the House Judiciary Committee, commented:

"An empty gesture so far as the schools are concerned. It provides a snail's pace for enforcement."

Various Republicans called the program temperate and moderate, as Eisenhower himself did in advance of its submission.

From State Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas came assurances the Eisenhower suggestions "will be considered on their merits by fair-minded men seeking to resolve — rather than sharpen — the conflicts within our country."

Fans Rush Diana Dors At Funeral

LONDON — (UPI) — The funeral of Dennis Hamilton, estranged husband of Actress Diana Dors, was turned into bedlam by fans who crawled over church pews and demanded autographs from the mourning film star.

Four photographers who entered St. James Roman Catholic Church while a requiem mass was being said were ordered out. They took flash pictures of Miss Dors as she knelt praying and sobbing.

When the mass was over, Miss Dors tried to leave the church, but scores of women, many of them clutching children, jostled around and poked autograph books and pencils at her. One woman grabbed Miss Dors by the arm.

Miss Dors attended the funeral mass alone. She wore a mink coat, black scarf and dark glasses. She sat opposite Hamilton's family.

Hamilton, 34, died Saturday of a heart ailment. Miss Dors, separated from him for more than a year, was in the U.S. at the time.

A 'Great' Season, With Some 'Ifs'

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

The winter tourist season hit its full stride Thursday and found itself in better shape than last year in many respects.

But so far there's no positive pattern that can label the 1958-59 season as either a whopping success or a dismal failure. It seems to be somewhere in between those extremes.

TOURIST TRAVEL into the area is heavier than last year, but betting and attendance at Hialeah—usually a prime economic indicator—is off.

HOTELS AND MOTELS on Miami Beach appear to be enjoying a healthy business, but garbage collections are down six per cent from last year at this time.

THE BEACHES have been crowded on these sunny days and dog track business is up, but if any really big spenders are here they are few.

THE BIG NIGHT CLUBS have good crowds at show time, but generally the owners are complaining that business could be a lot better.

* * *

Many Favorable Factors

"There's every reason for this to be a good season," said Miami Beach's publicity chief, Hank Meyer. "The weather, the stock market and national economic conditions are all on our side."

Last year was the season of the big cold that kept tourists away in droves and led to a number of hotel bankruptcies. But new hotels opened this year, following a familiar pattern, causing many hotelmen to shake their heads and say, "The Beach is overbuilt."

Beach merchants are reported to be doing "not too well," another indication of what cautious spenders are the current crop of tourists.

In the first 16 days of Hialeah's season, attendance was off 6.7 per cent and wagering off 3.5 per cent.

House OKs Extension Of Draft

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House approved one of the key points in President Eisenhower's military program Thursday by overwhelmingly passing a bill to extend the draft for four years beyond June 30.

By voice vote, it sent the measure to the Senate after rejecting an attempt by Rep. Leonard G. Wolf (D., Iowa) and several other members to limit the extension to two years.

Wolf argued that a two-year extension would let Congress maintain its power over military conscription while it sought a way to maintain U.S. military strength without a draft.

Wolf's two-year amendment was opposed by Democratic and Republican House leaders alike. Democratic Leader John W. McCormack, (Massachusetts) said approval of the proposal would be viewed abroad as a sign of weakness on the part of the U.S.

Besides extending the draft for another four years, the measure would continue the authority of the armed forces to induct physicians and dentists and would extend the Dependents' Assistance Act for the same period.

U.S. Cites Transcript Of Attack

Charges Mikoyan With Lying

months after Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, gave Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov a full transcript of the intercepted radio conversation among the Russian pilots.

In addition to this transcript, the department Thursday handed newsmen photostats and translations of two articles — dated Sept. 19 and 10 — for "Soviet Aviation," official Russian air force newspaper.

The second described the "attack" on the "enemy" transport plane and identified four Russians who took part — Fighter Pilot Officers Lopatkov and Gavrilov and Senior Lieutenants Kucheryaev and Ivanov.

It also reported than an unidentified Soviet general met the pilots after the attack and "shook their hands warmly and thanked them for their successful execution of the mission."

The first article carried photographs of two Russian ground crew members shown "tracking the target" on what appeared to be a radar screen.

The department documents said that when Murphy insisted on Nov. 13 that Menshikov listen to a tape recording of the conversation among the Soviet fighter pilots, Menshikov refused.

He maintained "he was not competent to assess it from a technical point of view," the document said.

He still refused after Gen. Mikhail N. Kostiouk, Soviet air attache and an aviation expert, was invited to listen with him.

But finally, at Murphy's insistence, the department said, Menshikov accepted a transcript of the conversation in Russian and promised to send his government full details of Murphy's protest over the plane incident.

Murphy told Menshikov bluntly that Soviet fighters had shot down the American plane "without regard to the rules of civilized international practice," the department said.

Murphy also "emphasized that some or our men had been killed and that there were certain rules of conduct in the civilized world, and that the U.S. government hoped the desired information regarding the 11 missing men would be promptly forthcoming."

BEFORE ME is the most fantastic scheme of modern times. Automatic Remote Systems Inc. is ready to open our defunct movie theaters, pay our taxes and build our roads, all six-lane.

This is to be done with off-track betting. They've got it all figured: 76 theaters, each seating 1,000 patrons means 9,576,000 patrons during the 126 days of Florida horse racing. Each patron's to bet $80 a day, making $766,080,000 total, with the state getting $49,795,200. The tracks are to get $65,116,800, purses will be increased, dog tracks will come into the theaters at night, and of course we'll go year 'round, with northern tracks to help us.

They're even figuring $1 admission per bettor per day. The plan is on the desk of Gov. LeRoy Collins (unless he has done something else with it) and it's in the hands of our legislators.

If this goes in effect the residents of Florida will be so busy betting that no work will be done, business will fold, tracks will go broke and we'll be right back to 1920.

$20 Million Research Plant Set

Center Planned On Isle of Pines

By BERT COLLIER
Herald Staff Writer

Establishment of a 20-million-dollar research center on the Isle of Pines off Cuba, financed by Americans and headed in its initial stages by a Miami Beach physician, was announced Thursday in Miami.

"It will be like nothing else in the world," said Dr. Rudolph T. Wagner, Miami Beach, who will be visiting head of the research institute.

Watson and Deutschman, Miami architectural firm, have been commissioned with Dr. Carlos Perez, widely known Colombian architect, to prepare the plans. Work is well advanced.

Construction is expected to start as soon as conditions in Cuba stabilize after the recent government unheaval, backers said. The isle belongs to Cuba.

H. Samuel Kruse, partner in the Watson and Deutschman firm, said the project is expected to be extended within a two-year period to embrace a 50-million-dollar program intended to make the Isle of Pines "the most advanced and progressive center of its kind in the world."

The unique enterprise will have an international staff dedicated to pure research in every field of medicine. It will also call on allied fields of physics, mathematics, electronics and engineering to solve some of the complex problems. It will resemble in its program and approach the famous Institute of Advanced Studies at Princeton University.

Dr. Wagner said plans have been five years in the making and are financed chiefly by a group of wealthy Americans interested in this unusual approach to medical problems.

Almost three years have been spent in the search of a site, with most of the Western Hemisphere being under consideration. The Isle of Pines was chosen because of its climate and its proximity to medical skills of all kinds.

"We were interested in a good working climate that would attract scientists from various parts of the world," said Dr. Wagner. "The research program will be so vast that its prospects are practically unlimited."

A handful of picked men — all trained scientists — have been picked as a nucleus for a staff that eventually will include members from many countries. There will be no political or national affiliations.

For the early stages of the program, Dr. Wagner will serve as actual head, while continuing his Miami Beach practice. Later a director will be selected to guide the work of the staff and the visiting consultants, Dr. Wagner will then continue as visiting head, as consulting director of cardiovascular research and consultant cardiologist.

"No comment," said Lady Beatty when she arrived here and checked into a hotel for a week's stay. "No comment," echoed Sinatra, whose home is a short distance away.

PB Election Filing Dates Approaching

By ED PFISTER
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — The political picture in this section of the east coast is expected to take on a sharper focus in only a matterofabout 10 days.

On Feb. 16, candidates for expiring terms on the West Palm Beach City Commission can begin filing for office.

The initial filing date in Lake Worth is March 9.

Candidates in Riviera Beach can file now, the only limitation being that the deadline must be 30 days before the municipal election, which would make it March 7. Both Riviera Beach and Lake Worth hold their municipal elections April 7.

All three commission or council contests are expected to create some excitement.

It is an "off-year" election in West Palm Beach, with only two commissioners involved, while in Lake Worth and Riviera Beach, a majority of the members of the board have expiring terms.

No opposition has developed yet for the two West Palm Beach Commission seats filled by Mayor Horace S. Miller and L. W. Kelloway, but there were few here naive enough to believe the opposition won't develop, despite the $150 filing fee, highest in the area.

A bangup political fight appears to be shaping up in Lake Worth, where an interim mayor was appointed only Monday of this week. The new mayor, Carl Leverenz, and Commissioners James Stafford and Zell Altman, will be up for election.

Leverenez has indicated he will seek to be elected to the mayor's post he now holds by appointment but Karl Propper, president of the Utilities Advisory Committee, which favored leasing of the municipal light plant, has hinted he will oppose Leverenz.

Altman may not be a candidate but it is probable Stafford will seek reelection as a commissioner or run for mayor.

Riviera Beach will not only elect three commissioners, it will also name a mayor who does not vote at commission meetings, which are directed by a chairman selected from among the councilmen.

The terms of Mayor B. Fox Thomas Holland, Foster Brown and H. N. Wells, the latter a veteran member of the council, all expire April 7.

There appeared to be little liklihood that the municipal contest in Riviera Beach will be a time affair. Up to now it has never failed to generate a lot of enthusiasm.

Peculiarly, Lake Worth collects a $15 filing fee from its candidates for the commission while Riviera Beach requires a stiff $50 from its council candidates.

Policy On Ads Put Off

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — A proposed discussion to set advertising policy at a City Commission workshop Thursday night "blew up" in precisely the same manner such debates have wound up at regular board meetings.

BURDICK

Commission Sylvan Burdick, who asked for the discussion, drew fire from other members who maintained they couldn't understand what he was driving at.

They accused him of "picking on" local promotions, instead of trying to set policy.

Burdick tried to explain he would just like to draw a line as to where advertising money should be spent.

When a half dozen arguments broke out among commissioners, Burdick asked to have the same question brought up at a workshop meeting next week, or that a special meeting be arranged with the Ad Board. That appeared to be the conclusion.

The debate, if it did nothing else, disclosed Burdick will try at the board meeting Monday to have city commissioners made voting members of the Ad Board. Mayor Horace S. Miller said he will support the motion.

Commissioner Kelloway wanted to avoid all further debate until after the election. He told Miller "you and I are lame ducks."

Holzapfel Day in Court Scheduled

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Floyd A. Holzapfel, former bartender here and one-time hotel security chief in Miami Beach, is scheduled to be arraigned Friday on a $4,000 forgery charge, the sheriff's office reported.

Holzapfel surrendered here after the holidays when the Sheriff's Office put out an order for his arrest on the forgery charge and for investigation in connection with the death of Lew Gene Harvey, whose body was found in a canal.

Holtzapfel was held under $5,000 bond on the forgery charge which was sworn to by a deputy sheriff.

It originally cropped up in the County Solicitor's office but was never pressed because the parties allegedly involved refused to make an affidavit.

No action was taken in the Harvey case.

When Hoizapfel appeared with his counsel before Peace Justice Robert H. Eaves for the hearing, the case was set back because the County Solicitor's Office was not represented.

Solicitor Charles A. Nugent was in Bartow at the time prosecuting the retrial of former State Sen. Harry E. King on a perjury charge.

Nugent is expected to attend the hearing Friday which has been scheduled before Eaves at 10 a.m.

Offstreet Facilities Urged

Just Let Her Park – She'll Buy Out City

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — The housewife — that much-maligned fender-scraping, money-spending creature.

ALLEGATO

Don't underestimate her, fellas. She makes the business world go 'round.

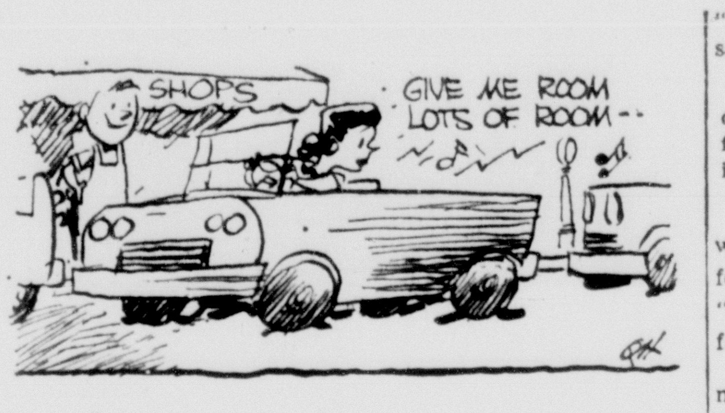
The little lady of the house — that gal who busts the budget every time she goes to town for just let's say a pair of stockings and returns with bundles piled higher than her head.

Get this gal on your side and your worries are over — or almost.

An Orlando parking official gave West Palm Beach businessmen pointers on the power of the housewife this week.

In a capsule, he advised: get women on your side and you can mow down any opposition to a municipal parking program.

Claude Wolfe, Orlando Parking Commission chairman, says city off-street parking facilities are a favor to the little lady of the house.



SHOPS
GIVE ME ROOM LOTS OF ROOM--
GH

The harried but unhurrieding housewife delights in tripping from store to store, looking, comparing, and oh, yes, spending. The community shopping center, with its oodles of parking spaces, can never fulfill the feminine shopper's penchant for "variety and comparison," he said.

The gals still want to come downtown and will if they can find a place to park the family chariot.

"The shopper doesn't want to walk more than 500 to 600 feet," he warned in urging "prime" locations for parking facilities.

The little woman may troop miles once she alights from her car and travels in and out downtown stores but that's beside the point. She doesn't want to walk many feet to the first store.

City officials and businessmen are attempting to launch a low-cost parking program. Wolfe was invited here to tell of Orlando's successful program.

He warned officials not to look upon the program as merely a protection of downtown interests.

It's also — and more importantly — a favor to the little lady of the house. The power of women, he said, helped Orlando's program to succeed.

At WPB Workshop Session

Mott Clashes With Kelloway Over Public Works Action

WEST PALM BEACH—City Manager James J. Mott Thursday night let down his reserve in the first heated clash with a city commissioner since he took office in mid-December.

In a lively workshop session, Mott tangled with Commissioner L. W. Kelloway — the man who vigorously opposed his appointment.

Kellowa,y who has publicly needled Mott at past commission meetings, laid the groundwork for the open tiff when he questioned recent promotions in the Public Works Department.

Mott merged the city garage with the Public Works Department and promoted Harold Stevens to assistant sueprintendent. Alfred Oatway was promoted to public works inspector.

Mott, declaring he had been under "terrific pressure" from Kelloway, defended the promotions and said they met with "wide reception" in the Public Works Departments.

"The promotions have boosted morale in the Public Works Department," he said.

He added that the department felt it was finally getting recognition and felt "for the first time City Hall is not being run by a bunch of women."

MOTT

KELLOWAY

The City of West Palm Beach has three women in key city positions.

Mott said he wanted to see the Public Works Department stand up on "its hind legs" and stop being "pushed around" by the City Engineering Department. The Engineering Department, he said, had taken all of PW's parking spaces away and Supt. Dave Foust was forced to park in a no-parking zone.

Mott also revealed he had received a confidential memo from Kelloway, apparently dealing with various city employes. Mott dared Kelloway to make it public.

Kelloway declared he had never gone over the city manager's head. He said he felt Oat way deserved a better promotion than Stevens.

Commissioner Sylvan Burdick broke up the heated clash by declaring he was satisfied with Mott's explanation and commented: "We have a good chain of command. I think Mr. Mott is doing a good job of reorganization." Other commissioners agreed.

Legal Vice Proposed

WEST PALM BEACH — A workshop session of the City Commission Thursday heard a former Belle Glade city commissioner suggest West Palm consider licensing a house of prostitution on a one-year trial basis.

J. H. Livingston, Belle Glade father of four, who pictured himself as a church and civic leader, made the proposal.

Commissioners were caught by surprise except L. W. Kelloway, who invited Livingston over.

"I don't say it is right," Livingston said. "Maybe it is a necessary evil. You can't stamp it out. You will put it in hotels and taxicabs."

He recalled the days when three houses were operating in West Palm and contended that rape was almost non-existent then.

Mayor Horace E. Miller and Burdick spoke out against the proposal, calling it "insane, ridiculous and crackpot."

Panhandler Totes Gun

BOCA RATON — Mrs. Verna Williams was alone in her home at 320 S. Dixie Hwy. Wednesday when a man knocked at the door and asked for food.

She said no. He said yes, and whipped out a gun to add weight to his argument.

At this point, Mrs. Williams took off screaming out the back door. The panhandler exited by the front door at an even greater rate of speed.

Police said they were hunting for a hungery man about six feet tall and wearing a khaki shirt and a gray cap.

Attacks Daughter's Will

Man, 91, Sues Kin for Estate

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — A 91-year-old man filed suit in Circuit Court Thursday against his daughter and grandson in a family estate fight.

James M. Spradling, Palm Beach, is contesting the will of another daughter, Elizabeth Manning, 69, who died Aug. 3, 1958.

Spradling in his Circuit Court suit alleges his grandson, James K. Siebrecht, obtained Mrs. Manning's power of attorney by "undue influence and duress."

He said his daughter, at the time she signed the power of attorney, was afflicted with a cancerous brain tumor and was "mentally incompetent."

He called the power of attorney a "creature of fraud."

Spradling also charged that on June 3, 1958, his grandson conveyed title of Mrs. Manning's home at 232 Sanford Ave., Palm Beach, to Mrs. Hess Schroeder, Spradling's other daughter.

The property was transferred for less than $100, he alleged, and was worth at least $45,000.

He asked Circuit Court to declare the power of attorney invalid and to declare the warranty deed recording the property transfer invalid.

Spradling is attacking the will in a separate action in probate court. He contends he would be his daughter's sole heir without the will, which he claims is fradulent.

The will provides Spradling with $250 a month for life and makes religious bequests of $66,000.

PTA's Program On Delinquency Wins Approval

Robbins, Murray Hail Plan

By ED PFISTER
Herald Bureau Chief

WEST PALM BEACH — County Judge Richard P. Robbins Thursday generally endorsed recommendations of a Parent - Teachers Association committee for more facilities to combat the juvenile delinquency problem.

ROBBINS

Alton Murray, chief juvenile counselor, also approved the nine-point program laid before a meeting of the county PTA council 24 hours earlier by the survey team.

Lake Lytal, chairman of the County Commission, which would have to finance some of the proposals wholly or in part, said he would have to study the recommendations before deciding what action would be needed.

The recommendations, made after a year of study and consultation with interested agencies and individuals, put the proposal for an added county judge at the head of the list.

The survey committee said the additional county judge would provide "more judicial time" for the juvenile problem.

In addition, the committee proposed there be added assistant juvenile counselors, maximum security detention facilities to take juveniles out of county jail, and the assistance of a psychologist.

Judge Robbins said it was his opinion that the proposal for an added county judge was a good recommendation.

He said it would be better to have a second county judge than only a juvenile judge whose work would be restricted to juvenile cases.

The local jurist pointed out that the state judicial council has incorporated a smiliar recommendation in its survey.

He classified as good the recommendations for detention facilities, psychological aid and more assistant juvenile counselors.

Murray agreed that an added county judge would better meet requirements than a juvenile judge. He said that when Judge Robbins was stricken and other judges were assigned here, juvenile judges could handle juvenile cases only, not other county problems.

He said, "We must have the maximum detention facilities to get children out of the county jail," and endorsed the other proposals.

Lytal said precisely what is needed to meet the recommendations of the PTA group will require considerable thought and study before the commission can reach a conclusion. He said, "I only now have had a chance to look over the recommendations."

Sentence Withheld

Male Nurse Guilty Of Bilking Employer

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Charles Hall, 44, a male nurse from Delray Beach, Thursday was convicted by a Criminal Court jury on four counts of grand larceny, which provide a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison.

Judge E. G. Newell withheld sentence and gave the defense the customary four days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

Hall was charged with obtaining money by false representation from Mrs. Daisey Herb, 58, Delray Beach, who had employed him as a nurse for her invalid husband.

Testimony at the trial indicated that after receiving close to $5,000 from Mrs. Hall, he abruptly left her employ and thereafter was surly to her.

Nightlife with George Bourke

Tony Curtis and She Refuse a Script a Day, Says Janet Leigh

LYNN FONTANNE and Alfred Lunt, Ozzie and Harriet, Mel Ferrer and Audrey Hepburn, Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy and the other husband-and-wife acting teams can breath easier now. The warm, pursuing breath of Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis is no threat to their standing. And that, in spite of their current success as a romantic team in "The Perfect Furlough," now showing at the Carib, Miami and Miracle Theaters.

Resting at the Saxony Hotel after a flight from Key West where she is acting only as an interested bystander while Tony plies his thespic art in "Operation Petticoat" opposite Cary Grant, Mrs. Curtis — Janet Leigh that is — says that there is no intention of making it a professional thing.

"I suppose we turn down a script a day," she says of the teaming offers. "We have made four films together — 'Houdini,' 'Black Shield of Falmouth,' 'The Viking' and the current 'The Perfect Furlough' — each about a year or a year-and-a-half apart."

But when Janet makes a movie with Tony she lives the part to a degree that goes beyond the requirements of the most advanced disciple of Stanislavsky. The script of "The Perfect Furlough," for instance, concerns a rumor that Miss Leigh is pregnant. You guessed it — she gave birth to her latest child nine months after the picture was filmed! This teaming realism can go too far!

Jack Teagarden in Hospital

JACK TEAGARDEN, who is to play several South Florida dates this spring, has been in Glendale Hospital in California with an abdominal obstruction . . . Roger Stevens is prepping "Motel," a play by Thomas W. Phipps, for a fall showing on Broadway . . . Oops! that ad in Variety erred in stating that Monte Cristo is in Fort Lauderdale — it's in Palm Beach.

Wonder if Leonard Levinson will mind if we work on a story called "The Plot to Shave Castro." He has a similar title about Jerry Colonna in the anniversary Variety mag.

Biggest laugh out of Ben Novack during the Jack Benny opener at the Fontainebleau Hotel La Ronde Room was when Benny, in a penny-pincher characterization, looked about the lavish premises and said: "I'll be, a hotel like this could cost all of $70,000."

Rumor has it that only a few hours earlier Novack and his associates had been handed an $18,000,000 offer by a hotel chain for Benny's $70,000 hotel." . . . Hotel above the 90's" on theocean is changing hands for something like $2,000,000—and we don't mean Russian rubles. And you'd need $1,000,000 cash to swing a deal on a well-known hostelry in the 30's.

Things - We - Never - Knew - Until - We - Opened-the-Mail: "Decorating the walls of the Venus (ladies) Room of Out of This World Inn are life-sized photos of musclemen." Vim-up boys? . . . "Janie Thomas, dancer in the Latin Quarter revue, 'Sky High,' vows that she will marry a poor guy. Claims that life has greater fulfillment when two people struggle towards common goals." Now in polo they have goal handicaps.

Drummer Rides Bicycle Seat

"KNOW HOW Chris Columbo gets all that bounce when he's drumming away at Ciro's Lounge? He doesn't sit on a regular chair — he uses a saddle-type bicycle seat." A new departure? . . . "Tubby Boots, 365-pound comedy star of the Gaiety, gets big laughs when he tells the audience he never "grew up' — he 'blew up." Tubby jokes good like a comedian should.

In what Louis Fiskin tells us will be a world premiere, the Lincoln Theater will offer "The Black Orchid" on Wednesday night as a benefit for the Greater Miami Heart Fund. Eugene Weiss is chairman for the sponsoring committee. The film will open at the Flamingo, Trail and Loew's 170th St. Theaters Thursday.

There are people in Cuba who tell you they've seen a check for $100,000 allegedly given by Errol Flynn to indicate good intentions in the actor's intent to film a movie in which he would play 32-year-old Fidel Castro! It will be a character role, no doubt . . . Elana, whose last name is Nelson and not something like Tokaruaimatauaia as you'd expect from a specialist in Hawaiian music and dancing is at the Vagabond club currently. And that lengthy monicker we used for comparative purposes is the legit name of a movie actor known on screen as Adam West! We don't blame him.

Britches Bardot has quit the Ringling Circus after four seasons of performing with an act that featured dogs, ponies and a llama. She's now working at the Admiral Vee lounge — but not with the animals, the racehorse Admiral Vee, for whom the spot is named won't permit it. Sa Britches is doing a rope act.

Riot Room's Lynn Taylor almost started a riot and almost got into a Miss America preliminary as Miss Greater Philadelphia some years ago. But sponsors found out she was only 15 . . .Guess Betty Grable is a star's star. She had Paul Whiteman, Dioso Costello and Keefe Braselle watching her on a recent night at the Latin Quarter.
